WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 30th April ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report, which was inclosed, of the 1st February, 1873, relative to the claim of Lloyd's Salvage Association against the German Government for the insurance paid on account of the German vessel "Turandot" in consequence of her capture during the late Franco-German war, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further letter, with its inclosures, from the Salvage Association requesting a reconsideration of the circumstances of the case; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the previous papers in the case, which were also inclosed, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we may have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have read the correspondence between the Association and the German authorities.

The underwriters cannot claim to be in a better position than the owner of the ship, a German subject, and as the German Government could not be called upon, under German law, to repay the owner, we are of opinion that your Lordship, knowing the grounds of refusal to pay the underwriters put forward by the German Government, cannot properly support the claim of the Association.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 81.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 12.)

My Lord, 3, Paper Buildings, Temple, September 8, 1874.

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st August, 1874, stating that he was requested by your Lordship to to forward to me certain papers respecting the Brunswick succession.

That I should see from the letter of General Ponsonby of the 17th August that the Queen desired that a case should be drawn up for submission to the Emperor of Germany.

That this would require careful preparation and attention, and some one should, Lord Tenterden presumed, be specially employed upon it.

Lord Tenterden added that your Lordship would be glad of my opinion as to how this had better be done.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have carefully considered the papers transmitted to me, and have the honour to report—

That the proper manner of submitting the matter to the Emperor of Germany would, in my opinion, be by a note tendered by Her Majesty's Representative at Berlin to the Emperor of Germany.

This note should set out—

The difficulty which may arise in the succession on the death of the present Duke of Brunswick should he, as probably will be the case, die without nearer heirs than the ex-King of Hanover or his son.

That should the ex-King of Hanover or his son not succeed to the Duchy of Brunswick, or, succeeding, die without nearer heirs, His Royal Highness the Duke of Cambridge and his heirs, failing whom Her Majesty, will be the next in succession to the Duchy of Brunswick.

Hence Her Majesty has, in support of the rights of near relations as well as of her own rights, an interest in having the risk of any future difficulty as to the succession avoided by now settling the succession, and is anxious to consider and make such arrangements for the future as may be found consistent with the rights of all the persons interested, and the integrity of the German Empire under its existing Constitution.

The German Government having as yet shown no intention of changing the course of succession, except with reference to the ex-King of Hanover and his son, it would, I conceive, be prudent to stop with the last paragraph and leave the legal and constitutional arguments suggested for a reply, the object of the present note being to ascertain the views of the German Government.

But as the note will when drafted be sent to the Law Officers for their opinion, and it is more easy to strike out what is needless or imprudent than to add fresh facts or arguments, I think that the draft should also embody the arguments which are in the paper prepared by Dr. Trieps.

To those arguments I do not refer in any detail, because I could only repeat them here in the same or in similar words and order with those used by Dr. Trieps.

Your Lordship will know better than I can who should be employed in the preparation of the note; but I take the liberty of suggesting that it should be some gentleman in the Foreign Office.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

1874

No. 82.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 2.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 2, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 26th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 15th May last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin* relative to the claim of the underwriters against the German Government for the insurance paid on account of the German vessel "Turandot" in consequence of her capture during the late Franco-German war.

That the previous correspondence in the case was also inclosed, and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such further observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we see no reason to alter the opinion which we formed upon this case, and had the honour of submitting to your Lordship, to the effect that your Lordship cannot properly question the decision of the German authorities.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 83.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 1, 1875.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 29, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 16th October ultimo, stating that General Ponsonby, in a letter dated the 17th August last, informed your Lordship that it was the wish of Her Majesty that a proper Case should be drawn up by us, putting forward the contingent claims of the Royal Family of England to the succession to the Duchy of Brunswick, which should be laid by the Ambassador at Berlin before the Emperor of Germany.

Mr. Lister stated that Dr. Deane, who was consulted on the 21st August as to the mode in which the Case should be prepared, suggested that it should be drawn up in the Foreign Office, and at the same time advised that the matter should be brought before His Imperial Majesty, not in the form of a Case, but in a note to be addressed by the Ambassador to the Emperor, in which he should represent the present state of the succession question, and should inquire His Imperial Majesty's views, but should omit allusion to the legal and constitutional points involved.

Mr. Lister stated that your Lordship so far concurred in this view that you directed a Case to be prepared in the Foreign Office, but, as regards Dr. Deane's further suggestions, your Lordship decided that it would be more fitting that the matter should be submitted to the Emperor in the form of a Case than in the form of a note; and, also that it would be essential that the Case should discuss in detail the political and constitutional considerations by which the ultimate decision in the case may be affected. In accordance, therefore, with your Lordship's instructions the inclosed Case† has been prepared, and Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to submit it to us with the request that we would, without paying special attention to those parts of the arguments employed which come within the province of political discussion, specify any points which may strike us as being defective in the legal arguments, especially in those parts bearing upon the prominence in the line of succession of the Royal Family of England, this being the point which it is of the greatest importance to place as far as possible beyond dispute.

Mr. Lister inclosed such papers as would assist us in forming a judgment.‡

---

* Messrs. Smith, Sandins, and Co., September 16; to Messrs. Smith, Sandins, and Co., September 24; Messrs. Smith, Sandins, and Co., October 17, 1874.

† Memorandum.

‡ List.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, having regard to the decision of your Lordship, communicated to us by Mr. Lister's letter, that it was essential that the case submitted to the Emperor of Germany should discuss in detail the political and constitutional considerations by which the ultimate decision in the matter of the Brunswick succession may be affected, and to the wish of your Lordship that we would, without paying special attention to those parts of the arguments employed which come rather within the province of political discussion, specify any points which might strike us as being defective in legal argument, we have thought it desirable to make our observations upon the Case, the draft of which has been submitted to us, in the form of a running commentary.

After various statements of historical facts, as to which there appears to be little room for dispute or difference, the Case sets out in extenso a family pact entered into in 1836 by King William the IVth of England and the reigning Duke William of Brunswick, the then heads of the two branches of Luneburg and Wolfenbuttel, into which the original stem had been for many years divided, and by which pact provision was purported to be made for the succession in the not improbable event of the extinction of the male lineage in either or both of those branches; but, after suggesting doubts as to the validity of this pact, the conclusion is arrived at that the question of its validity is but of slight importance, and that for all immediate practical purposes it might be left out of consideration.

Under these circumstances, we do not, as at present advised, see any advantage to be derived from introducing into the Case a statement of this pact; on the other hand, we doubt the expediency of directing attention to the provisions of section 6, which, if they have been acted upon, may give rise to complications. We are, consequently, of opinion that the pact itself and all reference to the pact should be omitted from the Case.

We would, however, suggest that, if the original letter of enfeoffment by the Emperor Frederick the IInd in the year 1235, mentioned in section 4 of the pact, is still extant, or proof can be adduced of its contents, it would be desirable to introduce a substantive statement of it into the Case, as, from the reference to it in the pact, it would appear to regulate the order of female succession, a question in which the Royal Family of England are particularly interested.

The Case, as submitted to us, next proceeds to discuss the question whether the nominal dynastic succession is affected by any disturbing causes, and, after showing (and, as it appears to us, satisfactorily) that the reigning Duke of Brunswick cannot, of his own initiation and free will, without the consent of the agnates, alter the succession as established by law, and that consequently, so long as the autonomy of the Duchy remains intact, there is no reason to apprehend the occurrence of any internal disturbing cause, it proceeds to a consideration of the further question whether, since the accession of the reigning Duke in 1830, circumstances have occurred of such a nature as to threaten the extinction of the independence of the Duchy.

The events to which, with this view, attention is directed are the following:—

(a.) The creation of the North German Confederation in 1867.
(b.) The formation of the German Empire in 1871.
(c.) The conquest and extinction of Hanover in 1866.

The circumstances of these events are separately discussed, and it appears to us to be shown, by the arguments adduced in the Case, that neither by the Constitution of the North German Confederation, nor by the subsequent Constitution of the German Empire, nor by the absorption of the Kingdom of Hanover, has the autonomy of the Duchy of Brunswick, and, consequently, the principle of its dynastic succession, been endangered.

It does not occur to us that we can usefully suggest any addition to the legal arguments which are put forward in the Case in respect of this part of the subject. How far it is expedient to suggest in the Case the possibility of rights or claims being asserted, for the purpose of showing by argument that, if asserted, they would not be sustained, is a question with which, having regard to your Lordship's decision, we feel that it would be beyond our province to deal, and we should not now allude to them but for a doubt which we entertain whether we may not have given a more limited construction to your Lordship's directions than was contemplated by your Lordship. We refer to suggestions such as that, on pp. 6 and 7, of the reigning Duke of Brunswick seeking of his own will to alter the succession without the consent of the agnates, and that, on p. 15, of a claim on behalf of the King of Prussia to have acquired, as one of the rights of the ex-King of Hanover, a contingent title to the Throne of Brunswick.

1874

Having thus discussed the more general questions, and arrived substantially at the conclusion that the normal dynastic succession of the Duchy is not at present affected by either internal or external disturbing causes, the Case, recognizing the possibility, if not the probability, that certain of the male heirs in the chain of succession may be, from circumstances, permanently or temporarily disqualified, proceeds to a consideration of the question, what is the Tribunal which will have to decide upon the question of disqualification, and to provide provisionally, by the appointment of a Regency or otherwise, for the government of the country and its security as an independent State of the Empire, during the temporary disqualification of an heir.

This question also appears to us to be satisfactorily answered in the Case by an argument which, after showing that no direct provision is made by the Constitution of the German Empire for the settlement of questions relating to succession, affirms, as a general proposition, that questions of this class are left to be dealt with separately by the members of the Empire, and that, except under exceptional circumstances, the Empire would not interfere, but that, if interference should become necessary, Imperial legislation would override separate legislation.

The general result arrived at by the statements in the Case, after full consideration of the various questions to which we have referred, is, that the question of succession in Brunswick should be settled by the Head of the House, with the assent of the agnates, and that any arrangement so made would be valid and unassailable, provided that it neither violated the Constitution of the Duchy nor any fundamental principle of the Constitution of the German Empire; but that, in the event of the death of the reigning Duke without any such arrangement having been come to, the solution of the question would have to be sought for outside the Duchy, inasmuch as its Constitution provides no remedy for such a contingency, and that, in such event, the question would have to be referred to the Council of the Confederation, and, failing a settlement by that body, to Imperial legislation.

This, we presume, is the proposition which it is deemed proper to bring under the consideration of the Emperor of Germany; the Case, as drawn, does not in any way indicate in what way it is desired that the Emperor should act in the matter, when brought under his consideration, and, unless it is intended that the wishes of Her Majesty's Government in this respect should in some other form be communicated to the Emperor at the same time as the Case is laid before him, we would suggest that the course of action which it is desired that he should adopt should be more directly referred to in the Case, inasmuch as it appears to us that, in its present form, the Case rather suggests to the Emperor that he should postpone any action or expression of opinion respecting the succession to the Duchy until the necessity for interference shall have arisen, whereas, if we rightly apprehend the wish of Her Majesty's Government, it is that the question of succession should be settled at as early a period as possible.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Hayti.

No. 84.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 10.)

My Lord, Temple, January 10, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Enfield's letter of the 7th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Port-au-Prince,* relative to an arrangement proposed for the settlement of certain claims and counter-claims between the Haytian Government and the assignees of the bankrupt estate of Messrs. Brown, Ross, and Co.

He was also to inclose a previous despatch from Mr. St. John,† covering the Report of the second Anglo-Haytian Commission, by which Messrs. Brown, Ross, and Co.'s claims were admitted to the amount of 10,293 dol. 60 c., being slightly in excess of the sum mentioned in Mr. St. John's later despatch.

He was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the arrangement proposed by Mr. St. John can properly be sanctioned.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the expediency of taking the course suggested by Mr. St. John is matter rather for the determination of Messrs. Brown's assignees than for your Lordship; and if they think it advisable to make the arrangement mentioned in Mr. St. John's letter, we see no reason why your Lordship should interfere.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Italy.

No. 85.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 6.)

My Lord, Temple, January 6, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, in which the question is raised, "Whether a Roman Catholic Bishop or Archbishop, in his episcopal quality, is entitled to hold real property in the United Kingdom;" and he was to request that we would have the goodness to inform your Lordship what answer should be given to Sir A. Paget on this subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that an English or Irish Roman Catholic Archbishop or Bishop is not entitled, in his episcopal capacity, to hold real property in the United Kingdom. He is not, like the Prelates of the Established Church, a Corporation sole; and in respect of his tenure of property, he can hold only as any other layman.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. St. John, No. 70, November 24.

† Mr. St. John, No. 30, November 9.

1874

No. 86.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 9.)

My Lord, Temple, March , 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th February ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers marked in the margin,* relative to steps taken by the Italian Government for the purpose of levying income tax, under the circumstances therein stated, on the profits of certain British steamers, and to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Italian Government appears to justify the imposition of income tax upon foreigners in certain cases, under a law an extract from which is set out in the third sheet of the translation of the Italian Minister's letter. The tax is claimed from foreigners "upon the revenues they may possess within the State," which is defined as revenue accruing from commerce exercised in the kingdom, and every species of revenue not arising from real property produced in the State. It seems to us at least doubtful whether the interpretation put on this law as against British shipowners is satisfactory; but it appears to us that the shipowner who feels himself aggrieved should take legal advice as to his position and the applicability of the law to his own case, and act according to such advice. We presume that the decision of the tax agents in Italy may be questioned before the Tribunals there, and there is no reason to suppose, at present, that justice may not be done, where it can be shown that the case of any particular foreigner does not fall within the terms of the law.

We think that the Association should be informed that the grounds upon which the Italian Government impose the tax are those stated in the Minister's despatch inclosed in Sir A. Paget's letter of the 20th February last.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 87.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 14.)

My Lord, Temple, April 13, 1874.

WE are honoured with the letter of Lord Tenterden, dated the 6th day of February last, stating that on the 4th August last the then Law Officers favoured Lord Granville with a Report respecting the case of Mr. Mercer, a British subject who, whilst travelling in Italy, had been arrested in consequence of an altercation with some boatmen by Italian carabinieri, and after being secured with thumbscrews, had been locked up in the town gaol at Castellamare, the case having formed the subject, on the representation of Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, of a judicial inquiry in regard to the proceedings of the carabinieri, and subsequently of legal proceedings against Mr. Mercer himself, who, however, had been fully acquitted, and that the particular points on which the opinion was then asked, and which had been raised by Mr. Mercer, were whether he was entitled to the payment by the Italian Government of his expenses in the matter, and to the payment of a money indemnity for the treatment to which he had been subjected, to be claimed on his behalf by Her Majesty's Government; and the opinion being favourable in regard to Mr. Mercer's pretensions under both heads, Sir A. Paget was instructed, in a despatch of which the draft was therewith inclosed,† to make the necessary representation to the Italian Government.

Lord Tenterden also further stated that he inclosed a communication from the Italian Minister at this Court,‡ from which it would be perceived that the Italian Government, for the reasons which were therein fully set forth, declined to entertain the claim, whilst they stated that the Italian Courts are and will at all times be open to Mr. Mercer to substantiate his claims, even against the Italian Government.

Lord Tenterden further said that the previous papers in the case were also annexed; and that he was to request that the Law Officers would take into their consideration the reply which had been returned by the Italian Government to the representations from your Lordship's Department on Mr. Mercer's behalf, and that they would favour Lord Granville with their opinion whether the reasons assigned by that Government for declining to entertain Mr. Mercer's claims are or are not sufficient, and such as to preclude Her Majesty's Government from urging them any further on the Italian Government, and, finally, what answer should be returned to the Italian Government, or what communication should be made to Mr. Mercer, who would naturally expect to hear the result of the representation which he was told on the 12th August last that Sir Augustus Paget had been instructed to make to the Italian Government on his behalf.

Lord Tenterden also addressed a further letter to the then Law Officers, dated the 14th day of February last, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 6th of that month, he was directed by Earl Granville to transmit the accompanying letter from Mr. Mercer respecting his claim against the Italian Government, which he was to request would be taken into consideration with the other papers.

In obedience to the request contained in Lord Tenterden's letters, we have the honour to report—

That, as far as Mr. Mercer is concerned, the substance of Count Cadorna's despatch should be conveyed to him with an intimation that, it being open to Mr. Mercer to substantiate his claim, even against the Italian Government, for any wrongs done to him, and for which the Italian Government may be legally responsible, Mr. Mercer must resort to those Tribunals (if he be advised to do so) for redress.

The Italian Minister maintains that the law of Italy has been properly administered by the Italian Tribunals, and this being so, a claim for compensation for suffering and injury caused to Mr. Mercer cannot be pressed against the Italian Government.

It will probably be deemed sufficient by your Lordship to avoid giving any definitive reply to Count Cadorna's letter until sufficient time has been given to enable Mr. Mercer to make a further communication to Her Majesty's Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Liverpool Steam-ship Owners, January 30; to Sir A. Paget, No. 4, Commercial; Sir A. Paget, No. 10, Commercial.

† No. 179, August 12, 1873.

‡ January 20, 1874.

---

No. 88.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 20.)

My Lord, Temple, April 18, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th March ultimo, stating that he was directed to transmit to us the accompanying papers, as marked in the margin,* referring to a collision between the English vessel the "Oberon" and the Italian ship the "Chiavari" in the month of November last in the Irish channel, whereby the "Chiavari" was sunk by the English vessel, the latter proceeding on her course without taking any steps to ascertain what damage she had done to the Italian ship, which disappeared some five minutes from the time of the collision, having, as it is believed, gone down with all hands on board, excepting two sailors, who saved themselves by climbing on board the English vessel at the moment of the collision.

The case having been made the subject of the usual form of investigation in this country, the captain of the "Oberon" has been sentenced merely to a suspension of his certificate for six months, being exonerated from blame as far as the collision is concerned.

The Board of Trade, however, expressed the opinion that the circumstances of the desertion of the Italian vessel were such as would justify criminal proceedings against the captain, but they had been advised that, for reasons which are fully stated, this could not be done.

---

* M. Cadorna, Memorandum, November 24; to Board of Trade, December 6; Board of Trade, December 11; to M. Cadorna, December 15, 1873; Board of Trade, January 3; to Board of Trade, January 30; Board of Trade, March 3, 1874.

1874

Her Majesty's late Secretary of State (Earl Granville) entirely agreeing with the Board of Trade as to the inadequacy of the sentence passed on the captain of the "Oberon," suggested that, if such a step had not already been taken, the Law Officers should be consulted as to whether further proceedings could not be instituted against Captain Towill with a view to insuring some punishment which might be adequate to an offence of so grave a nature.

The Board of Trade, in their reply of the 3rd instant, inclosing a copy of the Law Officers' opinion, state that, "having regard to the opinion of the Queen's Advocate" (Dr. Deane), "and to the hesitation expressed in that of the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General, and looking also to the facts of the case, and to the great improbability, in the opinion of the Board of Trade and of their adviser" (who is believed to be the Solicitor to the Customs), "of a successful result, the Board do not think it desirable to proceed further against Mr. Towill."

In view of the diversity of opinion which appears to exist on the part of the Board of Trade and their adviser and the late Law Officers on this subject, the Attorney- and Solicitor-General having stated that after some doubt they had "come to the conclusion that a prosecution should be instituted," Lord Tenterden was pleased to state that your Lordship would be glad, before acquiescing in the proposed abstention from further proceedings, to be favoured with our opinion, at our early convenience, whether there are or are not sufficient grounds for such further proceedings, and, in the former case, if we consider a conviction would be probable.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, under all the circumstances of this case, we think that the captain should be prosecuted. If this course be adopted it will be open to him to show, if he can, that he had reasonable cause for not staying by the "Chiavari," but upon the evidence before us we think that the jury ought to find him guilty. It is possible that they may take a merciful view of the captain's conduct, but we think that, notwithstanding this contingency, the Board of Trade will probably agree in the opinion that we have expressed—that it is a proper case in which to institute a prosecution.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 89.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 28.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, April 27, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 7th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report dated March, respecting the income tax levied in Italy upon the profits of British steamers trading with Italian ports, Lord Tenterden was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous correspondence, a further letter from the Liverpool Steam-ship Owners Association on the subject; and Lord Tenterden was pleased to request that we would take the same into consideration, and favour your Lordship with such further observations as we may have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the matter into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the letters from the Secretary of the Liverpool Steam-ship Owners Association to your Lordship dated the 27th March and the 2nd April, 1874.

We are of opinion that, apart from Treaty stipulations, a country has the right to impose any tax upon those who resort to the ports of that country for the purposes of trade. The policy of imposing such a tax is a totally different question, upon which different ideas may exist.

In the case before us the question is one of the construction of an Italian law; that question must, in our opinion, be decided by the Italian Tribunals; and we are of opinion that there is no ground for your Lordship's interference.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 90.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 16.)

My Lord,
Temple, May 15, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 27th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a correspondence on the subject of an application made by the Italian Consul at Malta, in September last, for the extradition of an Italian subject, named Mendólia, accused of having committed homicide in the year 1864.

That upon that application the accused had been apprehended and brought before the magistrate at Malta, when it appeared in evidence that at the original proceedings against him he had been admitted to bail, and that in June 1867 his trial took place, when, not putting in an appearance, he was sentenced, in contumaciâ, to a term of imprisonment.

That the object of the application for extradition was, as we would perceive, to make the accused undergo the sentence passed upon him, but contained no provision for a trial. That the Italian Code, it must be observed, provided for the trial, de novo, of any person sentenced in contumaciâ for serious crimes entailing heavy sentences, upon the voluntary surrender or arrest of such person; and in case of a slighter offence and sentence, the accused might claim the same privilege on observing certain formalities, which in the case under consideration the accused had neglected, and the execution of the sentence had accordingly been pronounced in contumaciâ.

That the Extradition Ordinance between Malta and Italy of 1863 providing only for the surrender of criminals with a view to their trial on British or Italian territory (Articles 3, 5, and 11 of Ordinance), the magistrate released the accused, not feeling justified in surrendering him, a course which was approved by the Crown Advocate of Malta, who represented that as he proposed to submit some amendments in the Ordinance in the next session of Council, he would be glad to know whether any alteration was considered advisable in regard to the principle which had thus come under discussion; and the Secretary of State for the Colonies having inquired what was Lord Granville's opinion as to whether the Ordinance should be amended so as to include cases such as the one above referred to, his Lordship was informed in the letter of the 15th November last, therewith sent, of the reasons why, in Lord Granville's opinion, such a concession should not be made.

That the Italian Minister at that Court having besides entered a protest against the principle which had been applied by the magistrate of Malta to that case, the Colonial Office had obtained from the Crown Advocate of Malta a full report on the matter, accompanied by a reply to the arguments used by the Italian Government, and in which he expressed the opinion that the magistrate was completely justified in ordering the release of the Italian from custody.

That other points had, as we would perceive, been raised in that correspondence, including the question of the extradition of a prisoner for the act of escaping from his prison; but that, after discussing this and other points, the Crown Advocate limited himself to the suggestion, in regard to any alteration of the Ordinance of 1863, that to avoid any difficulty, it would be well to amend the Ordinance in such a manner as to authorize the Governor to surrender to the Italian Government any person sentenced in Italy after a trial in contradictoris (that is to say, at which the accused has been present) for an extradition offence, adopting for that purpose, as near as possible, the words of the Imperial Extradition Act of 1870.

That the Colonial Office having asked for the opinion of that Department as to whether the Ordinance should be amended in the manner suggested by the Crown Advocate, Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take that case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our views upon that subject, and as to the instructions with which the Crown Advocate should be furnished thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Extradition Ordinance (that of 1863) at present in force in Malta applies only to the surrender of persons charged with the commission of certain specified offences, with the view to their being tried for such offences in the Kingdom of Italy; and it is proposed by the Crown Advocate in Malta that the provisions of such Ordinance should be extended so as to provide for the surrender of persons who have been convicted in contradictorio (i. e., after a regular trial in the presence of the accused) of the like offences.

The surrender of persons convicted of extradition offences, as well as of those charged with the like offences, is recognized both by the Extradition Act of 1870 and by our Treaty with Italy of the 5th February, 1873, in the former of which it is provided that the terms "conviction" and "convicted" shall not include or refer to a "conviction for contumacy;" and in the latter, that the demand for extradition must not be founded upon a sentence in contumacid.

1874

The proposal of the Crown Advocate, while it would extend the provisions of the Maltese Ordinance to persons convicted of extradition offences, would, equally with the Treaty with Italy and with the provisions of our Extradition Act, exclude their application to sentences in contumacid; and we are therefore of opinion that the Ordinance may properly be amended or supplemented in the manner suggested by him. We think, however, that the Italian Government should come under reciprocal obligations.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No 91.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 30.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 30, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd instant, stating that on the 13th April last we favoured your Lordship with our Report on certain questions put to us in regard to the case of Mr. Mercer, who had been arrested in Italy in consequence of an altercation with some Italian boatmen, and after having been secured with thumbscrews had been detained in gaol and subjected to certain legal proceedings, though subsequently acquitted.

Lord Tenterden inclosed the draft of a letter which had been addressed to Mr. Mercer (May 2, 1874) in consequence of the recommendation contained in our Report, acquainting him with the decision of the Italian Government on his claim for compensation, and with the consequent inability of Her Majesty's Government to press that claim.

Lord Tenterden further inclosed Mr. Mercer's rejoinder to the above communication (May 14, 1874), from which we would perceive that he is desirous that his remarks might be submitted to us; and that he was accordingly to request that we would take his letter, and the previous papers which were annexed, into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations which might occur to us thereupon, and that we would inform your Lordship whether there was anything therein contained to cause us to alter our opinion upon the case as already communicated to Mr. Mercer.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have read the letter and inclosure from Mr. Mercer, and we see no reason to alter the opinion which we had the honour of submitting to your Lordship upon his case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 92.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 13.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 12, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 24th July ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a correspondence, as marked in the margin,* respecting the case of the Rev. Edward Douglas, who is described as a member of the Redemptorist Congregation at Rome, and who appears to have become involved in legal proceedings with the Italian authorities in consequence of the Italian Government having applied the law of expropriation to the garden and vineyard attached to certain property claimed by Father Douglas at Rome, the whole of the purchase-money of this property being stated to have been advanced by him for the benefit of the congregation to which he belonged, and the property having been subsequently hypothecated by the congregation to him as security for the advance.

Father Douglas' claim on the Italian Government for a pecuniary compensation for the expropriation of this property appears to have been resisted under the circumstances stated in the correspondence.

The details of the proceedings in this case are very intricate, and scarcely admit of being epitomized. Sir A. Paget's despatch No. 79 of the 6th May is devoted to giving, as he says, a more accurate account of the transactions complained of than that contained in the original statement received from the Duke of Norfolk.

The fact is, however, therein confirmed of the acquisition by the congregation of Redemptorist Fathers in 1855 from the Duke of Sermonela of an estate consisting of a house and land known as the Villa Caserta; the money for the original purchase, certain incidental expenses, and the subsequent building of a church, amounting altogether to 100,000 scudi, having, there is every reason to believe, been advanced by Father Douglas out of his private means, of which the rules of his order permitted his retaining possession.

As security for the money thus advanced, he took in 1867 an "ipoteca" on the estate, the difference between this "ipoteca" and a mortgage being pointed out by Sir A. Paget as an important point in the question, the "ipoteca" being only a security for a debt, but, unlike a mortgage, constituting no conveyance of property. Father Douglas, it would therefore appear, has never been the actual owner of the property in question, while some further advances by him were only secured by simple receipts given by the Superior-General of the congregation.

The subsequent transactions, briefly stated, appear to have been as follows:—

In 1870 the Redemptorist congregation applied unsuccessfully to the Government to sanction their cession of the whole Villa Caserta estate to Father Douglas.

In 1872, just before the introduction of the Corporation Suppression Bill, Mr. Douglas sued the congregation for two items of alleged debt, including interest, to the amount of 867,038 Italian lire, when the Court gave judgment for the plaintiff with costs. In 1873, the legal term for appeal against such sentence having expired, the judgment should have become final, Father Douglas' admitted claim at this time being 1,426,501 lire. About this time the expropriation took place, 1,089,820 lire 98 c. being awarded as compensation payable by the Municipality to the congregation; against this award, however, the Municipality appealed.

In 1873 the congregation by deed assigned to Father Douglas in part payment the whole of the compensation money due from the Municipality, when application was made on Father Douglas' behalf to the Prefect of Rome for a deposit on account of such compensation, and after some months' delay, the Corporation Suppression Bill having been passed in the meantime, Father Douglas was informed that he must address himself to that authority, which he did, but without success, and Sir A. Paget, Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, having been informed that the judgment of the Civil Court was opposed by the Board, has remonstrated with the Minister for Foreign Affairs (Inclosure 3 in Sir A. Paget's No. 79) in a note containing a history of the case, but has been informed that the matter could not be settled administratively, and had been carried before the ordinary Tribunals, a course which, owing to certain weak points in Father Douglas' case, want of documentary evidence, and for other reasons stated by Sir A. Paget, he felt he could no longer oppose.

The Liquidation Board, it further appears, in consequence of certain irregularities and omissions in the conduct of Father Douglas' case, applied on the ground of fraud in the Civil Court for a reversal of their own judgment in his favour and for an annulment, on the ground of collusion, of all acts executed between Father Douglas and the Redemptorist congregation.

On the 5th May last the Court announced its decision, by which the former judgment in Father Douglas' favour was revoked, the deed of "ipoteca" for 100,000 lire annulled, and payment of costs decreed against Father Douglas and the representative of the Redemptorist congregation.

The arguments by which the Court seek to make good this sentence, as well as those which Father Douglas brings forward in support of his claim to compensation as the veritable owner of the funds advanced in the purchase of the Villa Caserta estate, are stated in full in the accompanying papers.

---

* Duke of Norfolk, April 12; ditto, April 15; to Duke of Norfolk, April 22; to Sir A. Paget, No. 70, April ; Sir A. Paget, No. 79, May 6; Mr. Herries, Private, May 8; ditto, No. 17, June 18; ditto, No. 20, June 22, 1874.

1874

There has, as we would perceive, been some delay in obtaining a copy of the judgment of the Civil Court, which is now inclosed, with a translation, in Mr. Herries' despatch No. 17 of the 28th ultimo, and these papers, together with Mr. Herries' later despatch No. 20 of the 22nd ultimo, complete the case.

Mr. Herries appears to have an intimate knowledge not only of the late but also of past transactions connected with this case, and whatever circumstances the Italian Government may point to as being, in their opinion, of a doubtful or unsatisfactory character, Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires is, as we would perceive, strongly of opinion that Father Douglas is the victim of an act of gross injustice on the part of the legal Tribunals of Rome.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take this case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon, and whether, and to what extent, it would be right and proper that Father Douglas should receive the support of Her Majesty's Government through Her Majesty's Legation at Rome.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the question for consideration in this case must be looked at entirely as they are affected by Italian law.

The fact that Mr. Douglas is a British subject cannot give him personally a better right than if he were an Italian subject.

And if such evidence of purchase and advance of money (principal and interest) as Mr. Douglas brought forward would not, in the absence of confirmation by documentary evidence, such as the conveyance, receipts, and so forth, sustain the claim of Mr. Douglas if he were an Italian, Her Majesty's Government could not properly give any support to the claim because he happens to be a British subject.

We do not suggest that the judgment of 1872 in favour of Mr. Douglas was obtained by collusion, but it seems that that judgment was subject to revision, and we can very well conceive that the Court of Revision may not have been satisfied with the evidence upon which that judgment was obtained in 1872, and have consequently set it aside.

For these reasons, and as matters now are, we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot support the claim of Mr. Douglas, but, as both Sir A. Paget and Mr. Herries have a strong opinion upon the merits of the case, we think it would be very desirable that Sir A. Paget should be instructed to take the opinion of a leading Italian lawyer upon the law of Italy applicable to the whole facts of the case.

If that opinion should be adverse to the claim of Mr. Douglas, your Lordship, we presume, would decline to give the assistance of Her Majesty's Government. If, on the other hand, the opinion should be in favour of Mr. Douglas, the interference of Her Majesty's Government would be interposed with greater effect.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 93.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from the Italian Chargé d'Affaires in London, inclosing a copy of the will of M. Gerolamo Ponti, by which he had bequeathed a part of his property to the Academy of Science ("Academica delle Scienze") of London.

That your Lordship was of opinion that the Royal Society best corresponded to the meaning of the testator, but before communicating with that Society, your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion on the subject, and also as to the proper steps to be taken by the Foreign Office in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That assuming the will of M. Ponti to be established in favour of the legatees as against the claims of the testator's relations and the amount applicable to the gift in favour of the "Academica delle Scienze di Londra" to be ascertained, the parties or the Tribunal having the distribution of the estate of the testator would probably have regard to the view which would be judicially taken in England as to the particular Society intended to benefited.

What view would be so taken it is impossible to say without further information.

There is no public body in England known by the name or description mentioned in the will. Your Lordship has suggested the Royal Society, but the Society of Arts, if aware of the will, might possibly claim to be the Society indicated, and there may possibly be other bodies who might put in their claims.

In such cases, the Court of Chancery allows of evidence being adduced (within certain limits) for the purpose of assisting it in arriving at a proper conclusion, e.g., if the testator had been a member of one and not of the other claiming parties, that circumstance might with propriety be taken into consideration.

Under these circumstances, your Lordship will probably think it right to make the bequest public by means of advertisement, and perhaps also to inform the two above-named Societies of the communication your Lordship has received, and to inform the Italian Legation of the course which your Lordship has adopted.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 94.

The Attorney-General to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 15, 1874.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 9th instant, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report of the 27th ultimo, on the subject of the will of the late M. Gerolamo Ponti, of Milan, in which they suggested that the bequest of a portion of his property to the "Academy of Science of London" should be made public by means of an advertisement, and that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to the Law Officers a draft of a notice on the subject which your Lordship proposed to publish in the "London Gazette," and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that the Law Officers would take the notice into their consideration, and favour your Lordship, at their earliest convenience, with their opinion as to whether it is right and proper.

The letter from the Italian Chargé d'Affaires, inclosing a copy of the will, which accompanied Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th ultimo, together with three despatches on the subject from the Acting British Consul at Florence, were sent therewith in case the Law Officers should wish to refer to them.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to report—

That, in my opinion, the draft notice is quite right and proper. I would, however, suggest that the notice should be inserted in the "Times" newspaper, as well as in the "Gazette," as that journal is more generally read. It appears desirable that any institution claiming the legacy should do so at as early a period as possible; I have therefore forwarded this Report, in the absence of my colleagues, but, if it be desired, will obtain their views upon the subject.

I have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.

---

No. 95.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 22nd August ultimo, stating that an application was made last year by the Italian Consul at Malta for the extradition of an Italian accused of homicide in 1864, and was refused by the Malta authorities on the ground that sentence had been pronounced against him, and that there was no apparent intention to give him a new trial.

1874

The Extradition Ordinance between Malta and Italy of 1863 provided only for the surrender of persons charged with extradition offences with a view to their trial, whereas the surrender of persons convicted of such offences, as well as of those charged with them, is recognized by the Extradition Act of 1870, and by the Treaty with Italy of the 5th February, 1873. In the Act of 1870, however, it is provided that the terms "conviction" and "convicted" shall not include or refer to a "conviction for contumacy," and, in the Treaty with Italy, that the demand for extradition must not be founded upon a sentence in contumaciâ.

The result of the correspondence which took place relative to the application of the Italian Consul was, that it was decided to amend the Malta Ordinance so as to make its provisions correspond with those of the Extradition Act of 1870 and the Treaty with Italy.

Instructions were accordingly sent to Malta by the Secretary of State for the Colonies, and an Ordinance has been passed by the Malta Government to amend the Ordinance of 1863. A copy of this Ordinance, together with a Report thereon by the Crown Advocate of Malta, is inclosed in a letter from the Colonial Office (August 7), which Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith.

Mr. Lister was also to transmit to us a further letter from the Colonial Office (August 7), inclosing a memorandum by the Crown Advocate of Malta, together with a copy of a correspondence which had passed between him and the Italian Consul-General at Malta.

From this correspondence we would see that the Italian Government entertained a serious doubt as to the true import of the last section of Article IX of the Anglo-Italian Treaty of February 1873, which stipulates that "the demand for extradition must not be founded upon a sentence in contumaciâ." The Italian Government consider that this stipulation prevents them from demanding the surrender of an individual on the mere production of a sentence passed on him in Italy in contumaciâ, but that it offers no obstacle to a demand for his surrender on production of depositions or other evidence of criminality, though their ultimate object may be not to try the accused in his presence (in contradictorio), but to put him at once, without any such trial, to undergo the punishment awarded by his sentence in contumaciâ. The Italian Government take the section of Article IX to provide only that a sentence passed in contumaciâ is insufficient to prove the criminality of the person whose surrender is applied for, but that on the necessary proofs being produced, though they may be the same on which he had already been condemned in contumaciâ, no objection to the surrender can under the Treaty be raised on the ground that the accused would not have the benefit of a new trial.

The question thus raised by the Italian Government might, as pointed out by the Malta Advocate, also arise on the various Articles of the Extradition Treaties between this country and foreign States which contain an agreement similar to that of the Italian Treaty, and in an aggravated form in the case of the Brazilian Treaty, in which the words are (Article IX): "The requisition cannot, however, be founded on a sentence passed in contumaciâ, that is to say, where the deliquent has not been personally cited to defend himself."

Copies of the various Extradition Treaties between Great Britain and foreign States were also transmitted therewith; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and furnish your Lordship with our opinion whether under these Treaties, or any of them, Her Majesty's Government may be legally called upon to surrender a person for an offence for which he has already, in the country where that offence was committed, been sentenced in contumaciâ, when such sentence has become final or would become so before the person in question can arrive at the place to which it is proposed to take him, and on surrender he would unavoidably be subject to undergo the punishment awarded by that sentence, without any trial in his presence.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the answer to your Lordship's question is, in our opinion, to be sought for in the principles upon which extradition is founded. Upon those principles, and under the Extradition Treaties between Great Britain and other countries, before any fugitive criminal can be surrendered by this country, proof according to the law of this country is required sufficient to have justified the arrest of the person whose extradition is demanded had the crime charged been committed here.

The legislation of several countries, however, admits of convictions in contumaciâ, a proceeding unknown to English law, and affording no evidence of guilt which would be received here, and in the Extradition Treaties with such countries it has been the practice, at any rate since the Extradition Act of 1870, to insert a provision to the effect that a requisition for extradition cannot be founded on sentences passed in contumaciâ.

We are of opinion that this provision, viz., that the demand for extradition must not be founded upon a sentence in contumaciâ, means that such sentence will for the purpose of extradition be deemed a nullity, and that other proof according to the law of Great Britain such as would justify the committal of the person accused if the crime had been committed here must be given.

And we are further of opinion that Her Majesty's Government is not concerned with the consequences of the sentence pronounced in contumaciâ, nor called upon to inquire whether such sentence has become final or would become so before the person surrendered could arrive at the place to which it was proposed to take him, or whether he would be subject to undergo the punishment awarded by such sentence in contumaciâ without any trial in his presence.

These are matters to be determined by the law of the place where the crime was committed, and cannot properly be entertained by Her Majesty's Government.

The only questions for the consideration of Her Majesty's Government are whether the crime be an extradition crime, and whether the proof given would justify the arrest of the fugitive had the crime been committed here.

And although the words in Article IX of the Treaty with Brazil describing a sentence passed in contumaciâ are not free from obscurity, we think they may be explained by the previous paragraphs of the same Article consistently with the similar provision in other Treaties.

In forming the opinion which we have the honour of submitting to your Lordship, we have not overlooked the argument of the Crown Advocate in paragraphs 7 to 10, inclusive, of his memorandum to the Governor of Malta, and paragraphs 3 to 8, inclusive, of the Crown Advocate's note to Sir Victor Houlton.

We regret that we differ from the Crown Advocate in his construction of the Extradition Act, 1870, and the Articles in the several Treaties in which sentences in contumaciâ are named.

The construction put by the Crown Advocate upon the Extradition Act, 1870, would, in our opinion, be utterly inconsistent with the corresponding Article in the Treaties, and would be a snare and a delusion to the Governments who have made Treaties upon the subject with Her Majesty, and who knew, and would know, nothing of the interpretation clause in the Extradition Act 1870.

Again, we consider that the construction of the 26th section of the Extradition Act, 1870, by the Crown Advocate is forced. The more natural sense of that section is, in our opinion, simply that a conviction in contumaciâ is no more under the Act than a charge on accusation upon which alone, and without further proof, the person in question shall not be surrendered; this view appears to us to be borne out by the general tenour of the Act, which throughout (c. 9 in section 8) maintains a distinction between persons accused and persons convicted, including in the former class persons whose convictions have been in contumaciâ only.

Lastly, the distinction between the effect of a sentence in contumaciâ "in pene criminale" and a sentence in contumaciâ "in pene corregionale" according to Italian law, shows the inconvenience and difficulty of applying the construction suggested by the Crown Advocate, for, in each case where a conviction in contumaciâ is brought to the knowledge of Her Majesty's Government, an inquiry into the law of the country whose Government demand the extradition becomes necessary, an inquiry which neither the Extradition Act nor the Treaties provide for.

In our opinion, the 3rd clause of the Malta Ordinance is not in correspondence with the Extradition Act of 1870 and the Treaty with Italy. Your Lordship, or Lord Carnarvon, will be able to form the best opinion whether any circumstances peculiar to Malta may make it desirable not to retain in its present form the Ordinance so far as it applies to conviction in contumaciâ.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 96.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 25, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 24th August ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 27th April last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers in the case, two despatches, with their inclosures, from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rome, relative to the income tax charged in Italian ports on the profits of British shipping; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any further observations which we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That three questions appear to us to be suggested by the despatches referred to in Mr. Lister's letter, and the other papers which have been forwarded to us:—

1. Are British shipowners, according to the letter of the Italian law, liable to the payment of income tax in respect of profits arising out of freight contracts entered into in Italian ports?

2. If so, is the Italian Government precluded by Treaty stipulations from enforcing such payment?

3. If the British shipowners are so liable, and the Italian Government is not precluded from enforcing payment, is it, as a matter of policy, desirable that the Italian Government should be urged to amend the law so far, at least, as it affects British interests?

As regards the first question, we think it must be assumed that the liability exists; the question is one to be decided according to Italian law, and the Italian Tribunals have decided in favour of the liability in the cases referred to in Mr. Herries' despatches of the 5th and 16th August. We gather, also, from the unwillingness of the Steam-ship Owners Association to adopt the course suggested by the Law Officers' Report of the 9th March, 1874 (as such unwillingness is expressed in their letters of the 27th March and 2nd April), that they are under the impression, if they have not been actually advised, that the construction of the law is against them. If, however, the Association are not prepared to admit that such is the true construction of the law, we can only repeat the recommendation, which we have already made, that they should obtain the opinion of some Italian lawyer upon the merits of their own case, and, if so advised, obtain a decision from the Italian Tribunals upon it.

With respect to the second question, a new view of the subject is presented in Mr. Herries' despatch of the 16th August. It has heretofore been assumed that the Italian Government were not precluded by Treaty from imposing or enforcing the tax as against British shipowners, but Mr. Herries refers to a Treaty between Austria and Italy, which, if the portion of it quoted in his despatch is not affected by other portions, would exempt from Italian income tax Austrian Shipping Companies and individuals trading between Austrian and Italian ports; and a British Shipping Company or owner would apparently be entitled to a like exemption, by virtue of the most-favoured-nation clause. The decisions in the cases of the Austrian Lloyd's Company and the Peninsular and Oriental Company, referred to by Mr. Herries, would not be adverse to this view, for, in neither case, was the trading between an Italian port and a port of the other Contracting Party; but, in each case, between an Italian port and an Egyptian port. There must, however, we think, be some error in Mr. Herries' despatch, either as regards the dates of the final decision in these cases, or the date of the alleged Austro-Italian Treaty, for the latter is stated to bear date the 23rd April, 1874, whilst the final decision in the cases of the two Companies, whose defence is alleged to have been founded on the Treaty, is stated to have been pronounced on the 22nd April, 1872. Supposing such a Treaty as that above referred to to be in force, we are inclined to think that it might be made available for the exemption of the Ship Owners Association in their carrying trade between Liverpool and Italian ports, but, before expressing any decided opinion, we should desire to be more fully informed as to the text of the Treaty, the particulars of the decisions in the above-mentioned cases, and the precise nature of the trading of the Association between Liverpool andItalian ports.

The question of the policy of endeavouring to obtain some amendment of the Italian law it is beyond our province to enter into; but we may observe that Mr. Herries' note to Chevalier Visconti Venosta of the 14th August, 1874, appears to us to express all that can be said against the conduct of the Italian Government in persisting to levy the tax. We may, perhaps, also be permitted to suggest that the apparent acquiescence in the decisions of the Italian Tribunals of the French, Austrian, and British Companies, referred to by Mr. Herries, is a circumstance for consideration whenever the general question is entertained.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 97.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 25, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 24th ultimo, respecting income tax levied on British Shipping Companies in Italy, he was to inclose a further despatch on the subject from Her Majesty's Minister at Rome for our consideration.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have fully considered the despatch from Mr. Herries, under date the 3rd September, and we see no reason to modify the views expressed by us in our Report of yesterday's date.

If the exemption of British shipowners from payment of income tax is to be pressed upon the Italian Government, we deem it of importance that it should be first determined, whether it is to be so pressed upon the ground of the true construction of the Italian law, or of existing Treaty stipulations, or of policy. Upon each of these views we have expressed our opinion in our Report of yesterday's date.

We gather from Mr. Herries' last despatch that great difference of opinion exists among British Shipping Companies, not only as to the construction of the law, but as to the course to be pursued by them, and that some of them (and those apparently the leading Companies), have deemed it expedient to come to terms of arrangement with the Italian Government, a circumstance which probably explains the smallness of the assessment in the cases mentioned by Mr. Herries.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 98.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 6.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 6, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 18th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a letter from Messrs. Newman, Dale, and Stretton, the Solicitors of an English Mining Company established at Val Barbina, in North Italy, together with a Report thereupon from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rome, respecting the injuries and losses which were alleged to have been inflicted upon the Company by the action of the Provincial Council and Prefect of Novara in prohibiting the smelting of the ores during a certain portion of the year, on account of its injurious effect upon the health of the neighbouring inhabitants.

That it appeared, however, from the Report of Mr. Herries, that that prohibition had since been withdrawn by the Italian Government, and that permission had been given for the reopening of the works; but that the Company declared it to be their intention to claim from the Italian Government, or from the Prefect of Novara, damages on account of the alleged illegality of the proceedings of the latter; and that Mr. Herries stated that the Company would look for the support of Her Majesty's Government in supporting that claim.

That Mr. Lister was to request, therefore, that we would take those papers into our consideration, and that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the validity of that claim for compensation, and also as to the course which Her Majesty's Government should adopt in the matter.

1874

That a copy of the Treaty of Commerce and Navigation between this country and Italy of the 6th August, 1863, was annexed for facility of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That an English Company carrying on business in Italy is exactly in the same position, in regard to rights, wrongs, and legal proceedings, as an Italian Company.

The question of the validity of the claim for compensation put forward by the Val Barbina Company properly belongs to the Italian Tribunals, and Her Majesty's Government cannot therefore, in our opinion, interfere in the matter.

The XIVth and XVIIth Articles of the Treaty of the 6th August, 1863, are the only Articles at all relating to the matter in question, and these have no bearing upon the immediate question which can be regarded as favourable to the Company.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 99.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 14, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence respecting an application made by M. de Rosaz for information relative to Antonio Mangini which is required in connection with proceedings in Chancery, together with a memorandum on the subject;* and Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether such information as the Foreign Office can supply, as well as copies of any documents which may be required, can properly be communicated to M. de Rosaz.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, referring to the memorandum, which states that, according to the usage in the Foreign Office, the correspondence between the years in question, 1781 to 1862, may be seen, and that the documents contain nothing which may not safely be seen, we are of opinion that M. de Rosaz may be supplied with the information and copies of documents which he applies for.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 100.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 21.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 20, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 24th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch, and its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rome relative to the claim advanced by the Italian Revenue authorities to tax the profits of freights of British Navigation Companies, in which he reports that the Court of Appeal at Naples had given a decision adverse to the claim; and that he was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, together with those inclosed in his letter of the 24th ultimo, and favour your Lordship with our opinion on the question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the only additional information afforded by Mr. Herries' despatch of the 14th ultimo is to the effect that the Provincial Income Tax Commissioners at Naples have decided against the claim of the Italian Government to tax the freight profits of British Shipping Companies, but that an appeal has been lodged against such decision to the Central Commissioners at Florence.

As against this decision of the Provincial Court at Naples in favour of British shipowners, it appears from Mr. Herries' letters of the 5th and 16th August that the Provincial Court at Genoa have decided against a French Company, and that the Central Court has reversed decisions of the Provincial Court at Brindisi in favour of the Peninsular and Oriental Company and the Austrian Lloyd's. Mr. Herries appears to anticipate that a similar reversal will be arrived at in the appeal from the Neapolitan Court.

Under these circumstances, we see no reason to modify or add to our Reports of the 24th and 25th September, beyond observing that, if the British shipowners really desire to have the question of law decided, the pending appeal affords a favourable opportunity of obtaining a judicial decision, inasmuch, as it would appear from Mr. Herries' despatch, that if the anticipated reversal of the Neapolitan Court should occur, the whole question can be brought under the consideration of the Civil Tribunals of the country.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 101.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 29.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 27, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 2nd instant respecting M. de Rosaz's application for information regarding Antonio Mangini, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit the accompanying volumes, which contain all the correspondence in the possession of the Foreign Office relating to that gentleman.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we see no objection to M. de Rosaz being allowed to see the correspondence marked in the volumes forwarded to us with Mr. Lister's note of the 3rd instant.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 102.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 8.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, December 7, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th October ultimo, stating that the Law Officers of the Crown had, on various occasions, had submitted to them, for their consideration, questions which had arisen in regard to the claims of certain religious establishments in Rome, threatened with expropriation, to the protection of Her Majesty's Government, as being in point of fact British establishments.

That, on the 15th September of last year, a Report was received from the Law Officers on the subject, with especial reference to the claims of the so-called English, Scotch, and Irish Colleges to such British protection, and the opinion of those Officers was adverse to their claims.

That the particular papers on which the Law Officers were then requested to report was a despatch from Sir Augustus Paget, Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, inclosing a very full and detailed Report from Mr. Herries, Her Majesty's Secretary of Legation, on the subject.

That we would perceive from a further despatch from Sir Augustus Paget (No. 87), which he (Mr. Lister) was to transmit to us, that the question having been raised whether the time had not arrived for informing the Italian Government that Her Majesty's

---

* M. de Rosaz, August 20; to ditto, September 10; Count de Jarnac, September 16; Memorandum, September 24, 1874.

1874

Government no longer recognized the claims of the establishments to British protection, it was decided that it would be desirable, in the first instance, to afford an opportunity to the persons interested in the Colleges to reply to the statement of facts furnished by Mr. Herries.

That it was further considered advisable, before that statement was communicated as above proposed, that it should be recast by Mr. Herries, and put in such a form as might render its communication less open to objection.

That that had now been done, and that the revised statement accompanied Sir A. Paget's despatch No. 87 sent therewith. That some further modifications of that paper had, however, been made in your Lordship's Department since its receipt, and in that form it had been printed with the object of being communicated as above stated.

That before furnishing the interested parties with copies of that document, he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take it into our consideration in its revised form, and that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion whether the arguments and statements therein contained were good and sufficient to justify Her Majesty's Government in withholding further support from the three Colleges as British institutions, and whether we saw any objection to the proposed communication; and that we would at the same time furnish your Lordship with any further observations on the subject, should we have any to offer.

That Sir Augustus Paget's despatch (No. 279), with Mr. Herries' original Report, was annexed in case we should desire to refer to it, together with a memorandum by Lord Tenterden on the subject, and the Law Officers' Report of the 15th September, 1873, above referred to.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the following appears to be the result of the facts stated in the accompanying printed memorandum, as regards the establishment now known as the "English College":—

The original foundation was English, and its purposes were the relief of English travellers and sick.

In 1579 this English Hospital was turned by the Pope into an English College for the maintenance and instruction of fifty scholars.

The former endowments were diverted to this purpose, and some new endowments added by the Pope, with a reservation that, if at any time the College should be dissolved, the property or endowment should revert to the Hospital.

The Pope (Gregory XIII) claimed to be the founder of this College.

Further Papal grants appear to have been subsequently made to the College, and other benefactions contributed by British subjects.

The management of the College and the education of the students (these last seem to have been exclusively English or Welsh) were in the hands of Jesuits, who also were (if not always yet generally) English.

This English College, so founded, endowed, and governed, was dissolved in 1798, and its property confiscated; but in 1818 the College was revived and the property restored.

In or about 1855 a "Collegio Pio Inglese," which had been for some time established, became, to some extent, a part of the older institution, and was placed under the same Rector.

Such being the material facts respecting the "English College" stated by Mr. Herries, he argues from them:—

1. That the change of purpose and assumed foundership, effected and claimed by Gregory XIII, put an end to the nationality of the older establishment, and did not give an English character to the College.

2. That the education afforded by the College was conducted with the object of injuring, and in fact resulted in attempts to injure, the succession to the Crown of England, and the established laws and religion of this country; and that, as the whole constitution and aim of the institution is opposed to the interests of England, the College is not entitled to claim an English character.

3. That as the College was put an end to in 1798, it can only claim to have existed since the date of its restoration in 1818, and therefore all pretensions on the ground of antiquity are without foundation.

4. That, whatever the College may have been before 1855, it has since then been joined with another institution, and has lost whatever claim it may formerly have had as a place of education.

We do not altogether agree with these conclusions.

But we think that it is a fallacy to call the College an English institution because it is, or may be, administered by British subjects and affords education to British subjects. The proper and true legal meaning of the words "English College," or "Anglorum Collegium," we conceive to be a Roman or Italian College, in which British or other persons are allowed to educate English subjects; that is, a College or place of education which the Roman or Italian Government, as the case may be, has from time to time recognized as the place where English subjects go for education. The institution in question is, as it seems to us, an Italian or Roman institution, subject to the laws of Italy or of Rome, and not an English institution; but, at the same time, entitled, from its recognized existence for a great length of time (for we consider the break from 1798 to 1818 immaterial), to the most favourable consideration and the utmost forbearance from the Italian Government, and no more.

As regards the Scotch and Irish Colleges, Mr. Herries has, we think, shown that the Scotch College has a Roman foundation, out of Roman Church property, and comes distinctly within the observations already made as to institutions existing in Rome for the benefit of foreigners.

The Irish College is in the same legal position with the Scotch and English Colleges, and is entitled to the same, but no greater, protection on the part of Her Majesty's Government, and to the same, and no greater, forbearance on the part of the Italian Government.

Upon the whole, then, though not altogether concurring in the line of argument adopted in the draft, we are of opinion that there is sufficient in the facts of the case to justify Her Majesty's Government in withholding further support from these Colleges.

As regards the further question, whether we see any objection to the proposed communication of the printed memorandum to the interested parties, we would observe that we entirely agree with Lord Tenterden that the original draft prepared by Mr. Herries could not be given to a Roman Catholic to read; and although the printed draft now transmitted to us is, to some extent, less objectionable, we are of opinion that, even in its present form, it is hardly such as should be shown to the persons interested in the preservation or protection of the establishments in question, with a view to their answering its contents.

Mr. Herries prepared his Report for the information of Sir A. Paget and Her Majesty's Government, and he evidently feels very strongly on the subject with which he is dealing. For both reasons he is probably less guarded and more free in the remarks which he makes upon the language and conduct of the persons who support the English, Scotch, and Irish nationality of these establishments, than he would have been had he borne in mind the fact that his Report would be communicated to those whom, or whose predecessors, he charges with ignorance or suppression or perversion of the truth.

We also think that a document which Her Majesty's Government places before a certain portion of Her Majesty's subjects, with the object of obtaining their answer to it in support of their alleged claim to protection, should be confined to facts and to the arguments which may be drawn from or suggested by those facts, and should not, if it can possibly be avoided, contain anything which can be regarded as a personal attack. The document in question appears to us to contain several passages of a character to cause unnecessary offence to the parties interested; and we think that, if communicated to them, it would most probably lead to a retort (which would be a false issue), and to lengthened controversy.

Under these circumstances, we would suggest for your Lordship's consideration whether, in the event of your Lordship being of opinion that these establishments are in fact Italian, and English only in the sense which we have given to them, it might not be sufficient to assign that as the reason why your Lordship cannot go so far as you have been asked in their defence.

We will only add that, whatever may be, in one respect, the national character of these Colleges, they are not entitled to be more protected against the operation of Italian law than purely Italian establishments; and that British subjects in Italy cannot claim greater privileges or larger exemptions than the Government of Italy gives to Italian subjects.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 103.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 22.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 18, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 11th instant, stating that on the 13th April last the Law Officers favoured your Lordship with a Report on the case of Mr. Mercer, a British subject, who, whilst travelling in Italy, had been arrested, in consequence of an altercation with some boatmen by Italian carabinieri, and after being secured with thumb-screws had been locked up in the gaol of Castellamare, those occurrences having been followed by certain legal proceedings, and a subsequent representation by Her Majesty's Government to that of Italy in support of Mr. Mercer's claim to compensation for the treatment which he had experienced, and to the repayment by the Italian Government of the legal expenses to which he had been put in this matter.

That the answer of the Italian Government to that representation having been received, and being unfavourable to Mr. Mercer's claim, the papers were referred to us for our consideration, and, in conformity with the opinion expressed in the Report above referred to, Mr. Mercer was informed that as it was open to him to substantiate his claim, even against the Italian Government, for any wrongs done to him, and for which the Italian Government might be legally responsible, he should resort to the Italian Tribunals, if he was so advised, for redress, and furthermore, that under the circumstances a claim for compensation for suffering and injury caused to him could not be pressed by Her Majesty's Government against that of Italy.

That Mr. Mercer having replied to that communication, and further reference having been made to us on the subject, he was informed, on receipt of our Report of the 30th June, that we had been again consulted and saw no reason to alter our previous decision, and that consequently your Lordship was unable to take any further step in the way of a direct representation to the Italian Government in his favour in the present state of the case.

That since that period a further correspondence, therewith annexed, had passed between Mr. Mercer, Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, and the Foreign Office, from which we would perceive that Mr. Mercer having, in his letter of the 20th October last, transmitted an opinion upon his case by an Italian advocate, who maintains that he has a valid claim against the Italian Government; that those documents had been in the first instance sent to Her Majesty's Minister in Rome for any observations he might have to offer upon Mr. Mercer's case as put by the Italian lawyer, and his Report had been received and is contained in his despatch No. 109 of the 23rd ultimo.

Lord Tenterden was pleased to add that he was now to request that we would once more take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations which might occur to us, arising out of the view taken of the case by the Italian lawyer, and with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Mr. Mercer's last communication; and that the previous papers were again annexed in case we should desire to refer to them.*

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the opinion of the Italian advocate is probably well founded upon the facts submitted to him.

Mr. Mercer may, we think, be answered that Her Majesty's Government cannot comply with his request and bring his case again to the notice of the Italian Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* M. Cadaros, January 20; Memorandum, January 31; to Law Officers, February 6; Mr. Mercer, February 3; to Law Officers, February 14; to Mr. Mercer, February 14; Law Officers, April 13; Mr. Mercer, April 20; to Mr. Mercer, May 2; Mr. Mercer, May 14; to Law Officers, June 22; ditto; Law Officers, June 30, 1874.

---

Japan.

No. 104.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 10.)

Temple, January 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 30th December ultimo, stating that, with reference to our letter of the 18th December, suggesting the insertion in the revised Order in Council for China and Japan of a provision sanctioning the proposed Regulations as to foreigners travelling in Japan, he (Lord Tenterden) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. Goodwin, the Assistant Judge of the Supreme Court, expressing his concurrence in our proposal and suggesting the form in which the insertion should be made; and Lord Tenterden was pleased further to say that he was to request that we would take that letter into our consideration, and report to your Lordship whether we approved the words suggested by Mr. Goodwin.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the amendment of the 91st Article of the draft Order in Council which is suggested by Mr. Goodwin may be approved.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 105.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 14.)

Temple, January 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Enfield's letter of the 6th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Sir Harry Parkes (No. 83), forwarding a Code of Quarantine Regulations agreed upon between the foreign Representatives in Japan and the Japanese Government, and he was to request that we would report to your Lordship our opinion as to whether these Regulations are such as may properly be enforced on British subjects if an occasion for establishing them should arise.

A copy of the Order in Council and of a letter from the Colonial Office (January 1), to which Sir H. Parkes' despatch was referred, were inclosed therewith.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report.

That in substance the "Scheme for Quarantine Regulations at the Treaty Ports of Japan" appears to be unobjectionable, but that it will be necessary that regulations should be made by Her Majesty's Minister in Japan for enforcing observance of the Regulations in the case of British subjects.

Such Regulations should include provision for penalties, and they must (unless declared to be urgent) be approved in the usual manner, and must otherwise be in accordance with the Order in Council. (See sections 4, 6, 85, and 90 of Order in Council.)

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 106.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 1.)

My Lord, Temple, March 31, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd March instant, stating that, with reference to the Report from the Law Officers of the Crown of the 28th August last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister in Japan (No. 117), inclosing a Report by the Assistant Judge at Yokohama relative to the Marriage Law recently promulgated in that country; and Lord Tenterden was also pleased to request that we would take this despatch into consideration, together with the previous papers, which were returned for convenience of reference, and favour your Lordship with any observations we may have to offer thereupon.

Lord Tenterden was also pleased to inclose a copy of the Treaty between this country and Japan.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in answer to Sir H. Parkes' letter, we think that an Englishwoman marrying a Japanese in England, Japan, or elsewhere (if no Treaty affects the case), would become, by virtue of such marriage, amenable to Japanese jurisdiction when in Japan. Our own Statute, 33 Vict., cap. 14, which enacts, section 10, sub-section (1), "A married woman shall be deemed to be a subject of the State of which her husband is for the time being a subject," is express upon this point, and is probably only declaratory of general law.

A British subject marrying a Japanese woman in Japan or elsewhere would not, we think, become, by virtue of such a marriage, amenable to Japanese jurisdiction.

But for the Treaty, he might be; but any Japanese law, claiming jurisdiction over a British subject, or attempting to do so, would be inoperative so far as it is in conflict with the Treaty.

We observe that the law already proposed is to be reconsidered. Upon this law we may remark that the clause providing that foreign women married to Japanese must submit to Japanese laws, and shall acquire the position of Japanese, is simply harmless, as far as Englishwomen are concerned, for by our own laws they would become Japanese. The clause which provides that foreigners who have become the adopted sons-in-law of Japanese must obey the laws of Japan and will acquire the position of Japanese, would be, we think, inoperative against British subjects so far as it conflicts with the Treaty, but might be operative so far as it conferred benefits by succession or otherwise upon the British subject.

It is extremely desirable that Sir H. Parkes should, with a view to future legislation in Japan in laws affecting the rights of foreigners by reason of marriage to Japanese, obtain an accurate and authoritative exposition of the laws relating to marriage and divorce existing in that country.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 107.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 9.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, June , 1874.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 27th May last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister in Japan (No. 62), and a telegram from Her Majesty's Minister at Peking (April 24), relative to an expedition which the Japanese Government are sending to Formosa; and to request us to take those papers into our consideration, and to report to your Lordship our opinion whether the course pursued by Sir Harry Parkes in regard to the employment of British vessels as transports should be approved.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That in the uncertainty which prevails respecting the right of China over that part of the Island of Formosa against which the Japanese expedition is said to be more immediately directed, we think the course pursued by Sir Harry Parkes in regard to the employment of British vessels as transports may properly be approved.

In all probability the expedition will have started before any further communication can reach Sir Harry Parkes, but if the information in Mr. Wade's telegram of the 30th April, that the whole Island of Formosa is declared to be Chinese territory, be correct, it is, in our opinion, desirable that British subjects should be cautioned against joining any expedition against Formosa, and that measures should be taken to prevent any breach of the Foreign Enlistment Act.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Madagascar.

No. 108.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 16.)

My Lord, Temple, February 14, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 31st ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, and its inclosures, relative to a difficulty which it was feared might arise in getting evidence for the prosecution of prisoners sent from Madagascar for trial in Mauritius under the Order in Council of the 4th February, 1869.

That with a view to avoiding that difficulty, it was suggested that either the Foreign Jurisdiction Act should be amended, or the power of the Madagascar Consular Court enlarged.

That Mr. Lister was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any change in that direction was desirable.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we quite recognize the evil that may exist through the non-attendance of Malagasy witnesses in Mauritius, and it doubtless is desirable to find, if possible, a remedy for that which may cause a failure of justice.

Two ways suggest themselves of improving the present state of things: first, by giving increased powers to the Mauritius Court of receiving evidence; and, secondly, of improving and extending the powers of the local Tribunals of Madagascar.

We think that it would not be expedient to allow a person accused of a grave offence to be tried on documentary evidence without the production of witnesses before the Court in which the trial takes place.

It would be an innovation we should be unwilling to sanction.

We suggest that the more expedient remedy is either by appointing a Consul at Madagascar with legal experience, and with extended powers, or by causing a Judge from Mauritius to visit Madagascar to try prisoners as occasion may require.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 109.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 20th March ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch and its inclosure from Her Majesty's Consul in Madagascar, and to request that we would be so good as to draw up a form of notice, as therein suggested, which may be issued to British and British-Indian subjects resident in Madagascar, warning them of the penalties to which they will be liable should they be discovered to be in any way implicated in slave-dealing transactions.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That in obedience to your Lordship's directions we have drawn up a Notice to British subjects in Madagascar, warning them against being implicated in the Slave Trade, or illegally in possession of slaves.

This notice should be hung up in the Consul's office, and published in the papers, if any, circulating in Madagascar.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

Annex.

Notice.

Her Majesty's subjects being within the dominions of the Queen of Madagascar, are hereby warned that in case any of Her Majesty's said subjects shall be accused before any of Her Majesty's Consuls residing in the dominions of the Queen of Madagascar, of engaging in, or being accessory to, the purchase or sale of slaves, or having slaves illegally in his, her, or their possession, the person or persons so accused will be forthwith proceeded against, and if convicted punished according to law.

---

Monte Video.

No. 110.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 5, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 13th April last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, and its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Consul at Monte Video,* requesting that the sanction of Her Majesty's Government might be accorded for the sale of certain land belonging to the British Church Establishment in that city, together with previous papers bearing upon the subject,† and to request that we would have the goodness to favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what answer should be returned to the application in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, assuming the terms of the deed of gift to be correctly described in Mr. Hertslet's memorandum of March last, Her Majesty's Government may properly accord its sanction for the proposed sale of the land belonging to the British Church Establishment at Monte Video.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 111.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 19, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 28th July ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 5th May last, in which we advised that Her Majesty's Government might properly accord their sanction for the proposed sale of a certain portion of the land belonging to the British Church Establishment at Monte Video, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further despatches, and their inclosures, from Her Majesty's Consul at Monte Video,* calling attention to certain claims which had arisen in regard to the British cemetery property, together with previous papers, as marked in the inclosed list, relating to the same subject; and Mr. Bourke was pleased further to state that he was to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Representative at Monte Video can be made personally responsible for claims on the land by former proprietors or pretended proprietors, the land in question having been formally made over to Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it would appear from the papers before us that the land in question is, according to the laws of Monte Video, vested in Her Majesty's Representative, and if such be the case, he would probably be the proper person against whom an action should be brought in that country for the recovery of the land or any part of it, but having regard to the circumstances under which the land was acquired, we think that the Monte Video Government should be called upon to protect and make good their own act in conveying the land, or to give a full and complete indemnity in respect of it.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 112.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 5, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th August ultimo, stating that, with reference to the papers sent to us on the 28th ultimo, in regard to the claims on the British cemetery property at Monte Video, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our information, the acompanying despatch, and its inclosure, from Her Majesty's Consul in that city, conveying further information upon the subject; and to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, together with those already before us.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have taken into our consideration the despatch of Mr. Munro, under date the 15th July last, and see no reason to alter or add to our Report of the 19th ultimo. We note that Mr. Munro expresses the hope that, in his next despatch, he will be able to make a satisfactory Report.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Consul Munro, No. 6, Consular, February 7, 1869.

† Volume of Correspondence, Monte Video, January to December, 1869.

---

* Major Munro, No. 31, Consular, June 9, 1871; ditto, No. 32, Consular, June 15, 1874.

1874

Morocco.

---

No. 113.

The Lam Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 15.)

Temple, January 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 31st December ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 9th October last, respecting Consular jurisdiction in Morocco, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch which your Lordship had received from Sir John D. Hay (No 77), stating that, in obedience to the orders which he had received from the Foreign Office, founded upon the above-mentioned Report, it was his intention to inform the parties interested in the suit to which our Report had reference that the decision of the Vice-Consul at Mogador had been cancelled, and that it was to be considered as having had no effect, inasmuch as the Vice-Consul had no jurisdiction in the matter; and, further, that it was his intention to issue a Circular to all British Consular officers in Morocco, desiring them not to exercise jurisdiction in future in civil cases in which one of the parties was a foreigner.

It would, however, be seen that Sir John D. Hay points out the serious inconvenience which is likely to arise to British interests unless some steps be speedily taken to define clearly the duties of British Consular officers in Morocco in civil and criminal cases where one of the parties is a foreigner, and to place them upon the same footing as the Consuls of other nations.

A copy of the General Treaty with Morocco of the 9th December, 1856, of the Order in Council of the 27th August, 1857, and memoranda drawn up in the Foreign Office,* by Mr. Hertslet, upon the subject, were also sent to us therewith; and he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion upon them at our early convenience.

The papers previously sent to us were also inclosed for reference.†

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that the Order in Council of the 27th August, 1857, makes no provision for the exercise of jurisdiction in matters arising between English subjects and foreigners not being subjects of Morocco. And we do not think that the defect can be supplied by operation of Article XIV of the Treaty of the 9th December, 1856.

If it is thought expedient to make provision for such cases, it should be done by a new Order in Council, which might proceed upon the principles adopted in the case of the Ottoman Empire, as set forth in Mr. Hertslet's memorandum of the 8th December, 1873. The 78th Article of Order in Council of the 9th March, 1865, applicable to the Ottoman dominions, appears to us to be founded on sound principle.

We wish, however, to point out that even if power to the Consular Court to hear cases between English subjects and foreigners not being subjects of Morocco be given by Order in Council, it must be by Treaty with the Governments of such foreigners, or by the personal consent of the foreign suitor, that the Consular Court can claim to exercise any jurisdiction over them.

We beg to call attention to the fact that, though our opinion is now asked in special reference to the Report of the late Law Officers of the 9th October, 1873, no copy of that Report is furnished to us; this is a course which is productive of much delay and inconvenience, and we trust that in future we may be supplied with the former Reports, which constitute a material element in the consideration of such cases.

We have, &c.

(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Memorandum, December 8; ditto, December 30; ditto, December 31, 1873.

† Sir J. D. Hay, No. 65, Consular, September 15, 1873.

---

No. 114.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

Temple, May 12, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 20th ultimo, stating that he was directed to transmit to us the accompanying petition from Messrs. Morris and Co., of Doncaster, complaining of the conduct of Her Majesty's Minister in Morocco, and of several Consular officers in that country, for alleged failure of duty in neglecting to protect their interests, and praying for redress at the hands of Her Majesty's Government. That Mr. Bourke was also to transmit to us two despatches, with their inclosures, from Sir John Drummond Hay, containing his replies to the charges preferred against him.

That although Messrs. Morris' petition embraced numerous charges, the principal matter of complaint appeared to be that justice had not been done them in a question between them and a Moor, named Booshaib, respecting the tenancy of a house which Messrs. Morris and Co. obtained on lease from the Moor in question, but the rent of which they refused to pay, on the ground that the whole of the premises referred to in the lease had not been made over to them, and that a wall or parapet had been erected on the adjoining premises which interfered with their light and deteriorated the value of the property.

That that case had been the subject of litigation in the Consular as well as in the native Courts in Morocco, in both of which decisions had been given against Messrs. Morris and Co., but that they would appear to have set the decisions of those Courts at defiance, and refused to pay the rent of the premises, of which they still retained possession; and that under those circumstances he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and report to your Lordship whether, in our opinion, the complaints preferred by Messrs. Morris and Co. were well founded, and that if not, what answer should be returned to their petition, and what instructions should be given to Her Majesty's Minister in regard to their refusal to pay the rent of the premises which formed the subject of litigation.

That previous papers were inclosed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are unable, in the very complicated narrative of Messrs. Morris and Co., to fix upon any specific complaint against Sir John Drummond Hay or either of the Vice-Consuls with whom Messrs. Morris have been concerned, though the supine conduct of one or more of these official persons is said to be the reason why the bones were not exported, and their negligence or corruption the cause of the alleged grievances in respect to the house.

On the other hand, the Reports of Sir John Drummond Hay, and the inclosures transmitted by him, as well as the probability of the case, lead us to the conclusion that Messrs. Morris have no pretence for asking your Lordship's interference.

Indeed, we are at some loss to make out in what direction, or to what extent, Messrs. Morris desire that interference.

We should therefore be inclined to advise your Lordship that those gentlemen should be answered that, upon due inquiry being made into the circumstances of which they complain as affecting themselves, no reason can be found which would justify any censure of Sir John Drummond Hay, or call for your Lordship's action to obtain any redress for the petitioners.

But as this answer would probably lead to a very lengthened and useless correspondence, and in justice also to the Messrs. Morris, we are of opinion that the proper course will be to inform them that Sir John Drummond Hay has been communicated with on the subject of their petition, and has reported in answer that they may inspect his Reports and the documents transmitted by him to the Foreign Office, and reply upon the statements therein contained, if they are so advised.

Her Majesty's Minister should, we think, be instructed not to interfere with the premises or rent which form the subject of litigation, but leave the settlement of these matters to the proper Tribunals having jurisdiction over the subject-matter.

We have, &c.

(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 115.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 18.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May , 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 4th May instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 20th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Tangier* bearing on the case of Booshaib v. Messrs. Morris and Co., of Doncaster.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have read the despatch and inclosure from Her Majesty's Minister at Tangier, and have nothing to add to our Report of the 11th instant on the subject referred to in the despatch and inclosure.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHH HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 116.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 29.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 28, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 2nd September instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires and Consul at Tangier,† asking for an explanation of an expression in an instruction addressed to Sir John Hay, and founded on our Report of the 12th May last, respecting Mr. Morris' complaint.

Mr. White also asked for instructions as to the length of time which may be allowed to elapse before giving notice of appeal in a suit between British and Moorish subjects.

Our Report above alluded to, and the instructions founded on it,‡ were inclosed in connection with the first point, and Mr. Bourke was to transmit the Morocco Treaty and Order in Council,§ in order to assist us to form an opinion on the second.

Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answers which should be returned to Mr. White's questions.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That in expressing the opinion, in our Report of the 12th May last, "that Her Majesty's Minister should be instructed not to interfere with the premises or rent which formed the subject of litigation, but to leave the settlement of these matters to the proper Tribunals having jurisdiction over the subject-matter," it was not our intention to recommend either that the questions at issue between the two parties should be referred to the proper Tribunals for new trials, or that the decisions already pronounced might be carried into effect; we simply meant that Her Majesty's Minister should not interfere in any way, but should leave the parties interested to take whatever course they might be advised or think fit.

As regards the other matter referred to in Mr. White's despatch, we are of opinion that the term of fifteen days, fixed, by Article 10 of the Order in Council of the 27th August, 1857, as the period within which an appeal must be presented, must be limited to the suits, &c., between British subjects mentioned in that Article, and have no application to the suits which form the subject of Articles 8 and 9.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Sir J. D. Hay, No. 25, April 17, 1874.
† No. 42, August 4, 1874.
‡ Law Officers, May 12; to Sir John Hay, No. 10, May 26, 1874.
§ Treaty of December 9, 1856; Order in Council of August 27, 1857.

No. 117.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 16, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 23rd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would take the inclosed letter from the Board of Trade (September 15) into our consideration, together with those sent to us on the 20th August, respecting the overcrowding of pilgrims' ships.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the letter from the Board of Trade confirms the opinion which we had the honour of submitting to your Lordship on the 24th ultimo.*

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 118.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 29.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 27, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers, as marked in the margin,† relative to a resolution passed by the Morocco Board of Health that, with a view to preventing the introduction of plague into that country, a representation should be made by each of the foreign Representatives on the Board to their respective Governments, recommending that authority be given to Consular officers in the East to refuse to deliver bills of health to vessels conveying pilgrims from the Hedjaz to Morocco, and that Consular officers in Morocco be authorized to refuse to issue bills of health to vessels carrying pilgrims from Moorish ports.

That he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the papers into our immediate consideration, and favour your Lordship with our early opinion as to the power of Her Majesty's Government to authorize Consuls to refuse bills of health to vessels carrying pilgrims.

That copies of the Orders in Council which applied to the Ottoman dominions and to Morocco were also inclosed.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government has not the power to authorize Consuls to refuse bills of health to vessels carrying pilgrims merely because they carry pilgrims as passengers.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 118*.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 7.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, November 4, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 14th October ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires and Acting Consul-General in Morocco (No. 18), with its inclosures, which again raised a question which formed the subject of Reports by the late Law Officers in 1871 and 1872 respecting the jurisdiction possessed by the Supreme Court of Gibraltar over British Consular officers and other British subjects in Morocco.

* See Tunis.
† No. 49, September 28; Board of Trade, October 12; Council Office, October 9.

1874

That in the previous case of "Haire v. Stokes" the question arose on account of an action of trespass brought against a British Vice-Consul, and though he was sued for ordinary trespass as a private individual, as a matter of fact, the proceedings constituting the alleged trespass were taken in the fulfilment of Consular duties under the provisions of the Order in Council.

That this did not appear to have been the case in the present instance.

That he, Mr. Lister, was to request that we would take Mr. White's despatch and its inclosures, together with the papers in the case of Vice-Consul Stokes, which were therewith sent,* into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions which should be sent to Mr. White on the subject, and whether, in the event of the action having arisen out of matters unconnected with Mr. Lapeen's Consular duties, your Lordship was called upon to interfere in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in the event of the action having arisen out of matters unconnected with Mr. Lapeen's Consular duties, your Lordship is, in our opinion, not called upon to interfere in the matter.

And Mr. White may properly be instructed to that effect.

Upon the general question of the jurisdiction of the Court of Gibraltar, we agree with the opinion of the Law Officers of the 23rd September, 1871, that that Court has not power to issue process against persons not within its local jurisdiction.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 119.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 9.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, November 9, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 9th October ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 28th September, he was directed by your Lordship to state to us that your Lordship did not clearly apprehend what instructions might properly be sent to Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Tangier in regard to the length of time which might elapse before notice of appeal was given in suits between British and Moorish subjects.

That he (Mr. Lister) was accordingly to request that we would again take the inclosed papers† into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether there is any limit in this respect, or whether an appeal can be instituted at any time whatever after the hearing of a suit between a British and a Moorish subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That no time is fixed, either by the Treaty with Morocco of the 9th December, 1856, or by the Order in Council of the 27th August, 1857, within which appeals may be brought in suits between British and Moorish subjects, but the reason of the thing requires that there must be some limit beyond which an appeal should not be allowed, and this limit, we think, must be left to the regulations (if any) of the Tribunal of Appeal, or, in the absence of any such regulations, to its judicial discretion.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* See List.

† Mr. White, No. 42; Treaty, December 9, 1856; Order in Council, August 27, 1857.

No. 120.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 10.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, November 9, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 31st August last, stating that, with reference to our predecessors' Report of the 13th January, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers relative to the competency of British Consular Courts in Morocco to try suits between British subjects and foreigners not being Moorish subjects.

That those papers comprised a memorandum by Mr. Reilly, with the draft of a new Order in Council which it was proposed to issue on the subject, together with a memorandum on the wording of the Treaty with Morocco, and also memoranda by Her Majesty's Minister in Morocco; and that Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion, both on the general subject of the terms of the Treaty, and as to whether the Order proposed by Mr. Reilly might properly be issued.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, apart from the Order in Council of the 27th August, 1857, the difficulty under the Treaty, with respect to appeals in suits between British and Moorish subjects, would not, in our opinion, have existed, for though we agree with Mr. Reilly that his interpretation of the IXth Article of the Treaty, viz., that the British litigant appealing shall appeal to the British Chargé d'Affaires or British Consul-General, and the Moorish litigant to the Moorish Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, is the more obvious, and was officially adopted when the Order in Council was framed, yet we think that a construction consistent with the principle, "Actor sequitur forum rei," might have been put upon this provision of the IXth Article without any undue strain, and such a construction would have been more in accordance with the other provisions in the Treaty.

As the case now stands, this Article IX of the Treaty should be amended or explained, and so much at least of the Order in Council as applies to the appeals in question be revoked.

We doubt whether a Mixed Appellate Court would work satisfactorily, but, if that course be adopted as the least inconvenient alternative, some provision should, we think, be made in the constitution of that Court for a difference of opinion between the Commissioners.

We rather incline to an explanation of the Article which shall carry out the principle of "Actor sequitur forum rei" in appeal cases as the most simple and least objectionable mode of getting rid of the existing anomaly.

The XIVth Article of the Treaty can only bind the two Contracting Parties; it cannot be applied to the subjects of other foreign Powers, and it is a mere surrender, on the part of the Moorish authorities, of their right to interfere in the views specified, nor can Her Majesty, by Order in Council, confer on British Consuls a jurisdiction over the subjects of foreign Powers except by Treaty with, or consent of, such foreign Powers.

But if, as Article XIV of the Treaty seems to suggest, and Sir J. D. Hay says a practice exists under which the different Consuls in Morocco exercise a jurisdiction in suits between persons of their own nationality and foreigners, it is, in our opinion, quite proper that a similar jurisdiction should, by Order in Council, be conferred on British Consuls.

But we agree with the opinion of the Law Officers of the 13th January, 1874, that an arrangement with foreign Powers is most desirable, if not absolutely necessary to the full working of such Order in Council, and the action of the Italian Government which, it is said, is about to be taken, seems to us a favourable opportunity for opening the requisite negotiations.

The second Article of the Order in Council before us is a logical consequence of the first Article, and is consistent apparently with the practice of the French in sending appeals to Aix, and of some other countries, but as this provision results in sending a foreigner out of Morocco into a British Colony, and before a British Tribunal, for the decision of his case, we cannot advise that it will be operative without the consent of the Government whose subject the foreigner may happen to be.

We are for these reasons of opinion, on the general subject of the Treaty, that Article IX should be explained in the sense which we have pointed out.

That Article XIV has no application to Consular jurisdiction over foreigners othe than Moorish subjects.

And that unless there be a well-admitted rule of Consular jurisdiction in Morocco, applicable to suits between a foreigner and a subject of the nation whose officer the Consul may be, the proposed Order in Council should not be issued till an arrangement with the several foreign Powers has been made, or the Order be so framed that it may come into operation as soon as the consent of each foreign Power interested has been obtained.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 121.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 15.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, December 14, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th November ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Tangier, requesting to be informed whether claims of the Moorish Government on the estate of the late Mr. W. Grace, of Mogador, have precedence over private claims on the estate.

Papers as marked in the margin,* respecting debts owing to Mr. Grace and his firm by Moorish subjects, were also inclosed, from which it appears that the Moorish Government are to some extent responsible for the payment of these debts; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion as to the answer which should be sent to Sir J. D. Hay.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That in the absence of any Treaty or Convention on the subject—and we are not aware of there being any such—the question whether the claims of the Moorish Government on the estate in Morocco of the late Mr. Grace, of Mogador, have priority over private claims on the estate, is one of Moorish law or usage, as to which we have no information. We should infer, however, from Sir J. Hay's despatch of the 24th December, 1873, that such a priority is recognized in Morocco.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 122.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 22.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, December 21, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 25th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 9th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to state to us that your Lordship thought it advisable to postpone the consideration of the points adverted to in Mr. Reilly's memorandum of the 3rd August, which affected the wording of the Treaty with Morocco, till the proposed Order in Council was settled to give British Consular Courts in that country the power to adjudicate in suits between British subjects and the subjects of States other than Morocco.

That on that point Lord Tenterden was to transmit to us a further letter from Mr. Reilly, containing remarks on that part of our Report which spoke of the necessity for the consent of foreign Governments to the arrangement contemplated in the draft Order in Council being obtained, before the Order could be issued. That, in accordance with Mr. Reilly's suggestion, Lord Tenterden was to call our attention to the clause in the draft Order which ran as follows:—

"Provided that the Consul shall not proceed therein" (that was in a suit of the nature under consideration) "unless and until the foreigner obtains and files in the Court of the Consul the consent in writing of the competent authority of the foreigner's own nation to his submitting, and does submit, to the jurisdiction of the Consul."

That that was couched in similar language with the clause in the Ottoman Order in Council which was stated by our predecessors in their Report of the 13th January, to which we referred, to be "founded on sound principle." That if any foreign Government should be unwilling that a British Consular Court should have jurisdiction in a case in which one of their subjects was interested, they would have merely to instruct the Representative to decline to file his consent in order to prevent the Court proceeding in such suit. Lord Tenterden was also to direct our attention to the judgment of Dr. Lushington, referred to by Mr. Reilly in the case of the "Laconia" (2 Moore P.C., N.S., 161).

That previous papers relating to that question which had already been before us were again inclosed for facility of reference; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that we would favour your Lordship, after a reconsideration of the subject, with our opinion as to whether the necessary consent of foreign authorities would not be effectually provided for by the above-quoted clause of the proposed Order.

That Lord Tenterden was to add that it was essential that British Consular Courts should be empowered, without unnecessary delay, to deal with the class of cases under consideration, and that it would therefore be preferable that that should be done by Order in Council, if possible, in the manner above indicated, instead of waiting till the terms of a Treaty with the various foreign Powers interested could be settled.

That for that reason also your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our Report at our early convenience.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That "the consent in writing of the competent authority of the foreigner's own nation to his submitting," and his own submission "to the jurisdiction of the Consul," will no doubt be sufficient in each case to give the Consul jurisdiction over that particular case.

The objection, as it appears to us, to leaving the matter there is that the exercise of Consular jurisdiction will depend upon the submission of the individual foreigner, and the will of the "competent authority of the foreigner's own nation" in each case.

The individual foreigner will probably not submit where he has a bad case. The "competent authority" may from caprice, national jealousy, dislike of the British Consul, or any other motive, refuse to give his consent. The action of the British Consul may in this manner be fettered or entirely set aside at any time, and would be certainly in those cases where the British subject was in the right.

Nor does it appear who is to be the "competent authority" to give the written consent.

For these reasons we doubt whether the necessary consent of foreign authorities would be effectually provided for by the clause of the proposed Order in Council quoted in Lord Tenterden's letter.

The case of the "Laconia," to which Mr. Reilly refers, was carefully considered by us when we made our last Report on this subject to your Lordship, and, having again considered it, we remain of opinion that whilst it supports the view that the object desired may, to some extent, be attained in the manner suggested by Mr. Reilly, it in no way supports the view that it can be as effectually attained as by the course which we suggested. We would further observe that in the case of the "Laconia" the Order in Council provided for the consent of the "Consul," and not of the "competent authority."

We entirely agree with the opinion of our predecessors in their Report of the 13th January, 1874, stating that the 78th Article of the Order in Council of the 9th March, 1865, applicable to the Ottoman Empire, appeared to them to be founded on sound principle, but they added, and we agree with them in this also, that, if power to the Consular Court to hear causes between English subjects and foreigners not being subjects of Morocco were given by Order in Council, it must be by Treaty with the Governments of such foreigners, or by the personal consent of the foreign suitor, that the Consular Court can claim to exercise any jurisdiction over them. We have above indicated why the former of these courses appears to us more likely to effectually secure the desired object; but it may well be that reasons of policy or convenience, as to which it is beyond our province to express an opinion, may render it desirable, in your Lordship's judgment, to adopt the latter.

---

* List.

1874

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Netherlands.

No. 123.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 6.)

My Lord, Temple, February 5, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 28th January ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a note which he has received from the Netherlands Minister at this Court claiming exemption from income tax on his movable property in this country.

That Count Bylandt complained in his note that, during his residence in England as Netherlands Minister, he has experienced very great difficulty in recovering the income tax deducted from his dividends, and that, although he has hitherto endeavoured to settle this matter unofficially with the Board of Inland Revenue, he had failed to arrive at any definite result which would establish in a clear and precise manner his position and rights.

That Count Bylandt therewith inclosed a Report which he had lately received from the Board of Inland Revenue, in which the reasons for that Board declining to to exempt him from income tax on certain shares which he holds in the Dunaberg and Witepsk Railway Company were explained.

That the Netherlands Minister, however, questioned the right of the Board of Inland Revenue to define the position of a foreign Minister, or the immunities which he should enjoy, and declined any longer to accept exemption from income tax on the ground of being in the position of a foreigner non-resident in England, on which ground, according to the Report of the Board of Inland Revenue, foreigners were in certain railway stocks exempt from the payment of income tax.

That Count Bylandt claimed this exemption in virtue of his official diplomatic character on the principle of reciprocity of international usage, which, he added, was observed in every country where a Diplomatic Body resided.

That Count Bylandt stated that by such usage no foreign Minister was ever forced to pay to the Government of the country where he is accredited any tax whatever on his movable property.

That had Count Bylandt been called upon to pay income tax on any dividends paid to him in full the present difficulty would not have arisen, because he would have been practically exempt from the payment of such tax by the Act of Queen Anne, which renders any person taking proceedings against a foreign Minister guilty of a criminal action.

When, however, the income tax was deducted previously to the dividends reaching the hands of the foreign Minister, the Act above-mentioned ceased to be of any value to him in this respect, as in that case there was no need for proceedings being taken against him, and, therefore, no question of violation of his diplomatic privilege.

That Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the inclosed note, together with its inclosures, into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether, either by international law or by courtesy, foreign Ministers should be for the future exempt from the payment of such taxes, and whether in this particular case the income tax deducted from the dividends of his shares in the Dunaberg and Witepsk Railway should be returned to the Netherlands Minister.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Netherlands Minister is not entitled on the ground of diplomatic privilege to exemption from income tax on the dividends declared upon his shares in an English Company and paid to him in England.

Most authorities on international law agree in limiting his exemption from taxation to his person and personal effects necessary for his service as a Minister, and particularly in denying him any immunity in respect of property employed in trade, which certainly includes property arising from a trading Company.

Moreover, from a merely legal point of view, the question appears to be concluded by the Income Tax Act, 5 & 6 Vict., cap. 35, which concedes to Ministers an exemption from income tax payable under Schedule (C), but does not include Ministers among the persons exempted under Schedule (D), which is the schedule in question in the present case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 124.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 6.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 3, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 20th ultimo, stating that he was directed by his Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Rotterdam, together with previous correspondence, as marked in the margin, relating to a point which had been raised by the Committee of the British Episcopal Church at Rotterdam to the effect that a grant of Queen Anne's Bounty towards the expenses of that establishment was, in 1825, surrendered for the benefit of the Consular Act; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether, under the circumstances of the recent withdrawal from British Church Establishments abroad of the grant hitherto made to them under the Act of Parliament 6 Geo. IV, cap. 87, whether the Rotterdam Church had an equitable claim to revert to the allowance formerly made to them from the Queen Anne's Bounty Fund, or to receive any compensation from Her Majesty's Government for its withdrawal.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it appears from the papers transmitted to us that the 100*l*. was at no time paid out of "Queen Anne's Bounty" properly so called, and that the Committee is in error in supposing that to have been the source from which the payment was made.

It seems to us that the grant was in the nature of a pension granted by the Crown, and that when the payment was charged upon the Consular funds, under 6 Geo. IV, cap. 87, no obligation was created, or security given that when the payment ceased to be made out of the Consular funds, the pension granted from time to time by the Crown should revive.

In this state of things, we see no reason for advising your Lordship that the Rotterdam Church has any claim, equitable or otherwise, for reverting to the allowance formerly made, as erroneously supposed from the "Queen Anne's Bounty Fund," or to receive any compensation from Her Majesty's Government for its withdrawal.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 125.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 17.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, November 14, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 31st October ultimo, stating that the inclosed papers referred to the mode of working of the prize law by the Netherlands authorities in Batavia in cases of captures of vessels charged with breach of blockade of the ports of Acheen. That it was stated that hardship was caused to individuals by unnecessary delays in the proceedings, and that a case was instanced in which the entire crew of a captured vessel was detained for nearly a year without the case being tried.

That before making representations on the subject to the Netherlands Government, your Lordship would wish to learn our views on the general question of the right of a belligerent to detain neutrals captured on board ships accused of breach of blockade, and to be favoured with our opinion whether such representations would be advisable.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the detention of the whole crew of a vessel captured for breach of blockade is not an act of which the neutral Government under whose flag the ship was sailed can properly complain.

There is, according to the general practice of Prize Courts, no limit as to the number of the persons on board the captured vessels whose evidence "in preparatory" shall be given.

But it is the duty of the captors and of their Government to see that no unnecessary delay occurs in taking the evidence of these persons.

In the case now under consideration the capture took place off the coast of Acheen in the month of July 1873, and the prize was at once sent, with her crew, to Deli, a Dutch settlement on the east coast of Sumatra, and were there detained until March of the present year, when they were sent to Batavia, the nearest Netherlands Prize Court. It further appears, from the letter of the Dutch Secretary at Batavia of the 17th June last, that, though proceedings had then been commenced in the Prize Court, they were not likely to be concluded for "a long time;" and we gather from the papers before us that these proceedings are still in progress, and that the whole of the ship's crew, with the exception of two young Malays who were set at liberty in June, are still detained as prisoners.

It is possible that some explanation may be afforded which may account for and justify the delay, and the letter of the Dutch Secretary indicates the line of defence which will probably be adopted by the Dutch Government. The Dutch officials appear to have acted with great courtesy in relation to the capture, and it would appear from their representations that their Government have under their consideration the adoption of rules and regulations which may prevent the happening of similar delays for the future; but, under all the circumstances of the case, we think that your Lordship might with propriety address the Dutch Government upon the subject, with the view of inviting such explanations as that Government may think proper to afford.

In answer to the general question submitted to us by your Lordship's letter, we are of opinion that a belligerent has the right to detain, for a reasonable time and for the purpose of taking their evidence, neutrals captured on board a ship accused of breach of blockade.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

Pacific Islands.

No. 126.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 13.)

My Lord, Temple, March , 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 3rd February ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us despatches, as marked in the margin,* regarding the laws for the Navigators' Islands which it is proposed to bring into force next November; and with reference to any opposition which may be made to those laws by a British subject, Mr. Bourke requested that we should take these papers into consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what instructions should be sent to the Acting Consul.

Mr. Bourke was at the same time to inclose, for our consideration and remarks, a letter from the Admiralty† inclosing a Report from the Commodore on the Australian Station in regard to his visits to the Samoan group of islands.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That it appears from the papers before us that the rude Code of Laws promulgated by the Governing Body or Taimua of the Samoan Islands came into operation on the 3rd November last, and it also appears from the letter of Captain and Commodore Goodenough that he had saluted the flag of the Government, "and had assembled the British residents and reminded them of their obligations to the Government now constituted" (paragraph 5 of letter). It also appears that the foreign Consuls and some of the British residents were consulted upon and approved these laws, but it seems that the Consul (letter of the 30th October, 1873) anticipates opposition on the part of a few British subjects in regard to the laws.

We think that it will be inexpedient for Her Majesty's Government to express publicly further approval of these laws, which are of a very rudimentary character, and which may or may not be effectually carried out in practice. But we think that the Consul may properly be directed to intimate privately to any British subjects who are disposed to treat these laws with contempt that they must not calculate on any support or assistance from Her Majesty's Government in the event of their doing so. The Consul, we think, should also be directed to watch the operation of these laws, and to report, from time to time, to Her Majesty's Government on the subject.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Acting Consul Williams, No. 13, October 30; ditto, No. 14, November 27, 1873.

† Admiralty, February 20, 1874.

1874

Persia.

---

No. 127.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 6.)

My Lord, Temple, January 5, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 26th December ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 5th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further letter from the India Office, dated the 19th December, 1873, requesting a reconsideration of the decision come to by your Lordship that Her Majesty's Government could not properly demand from the Persian Government compensation for the murder of Sergeant Collins near Shiraz in 1872; and he (Lord Tenterden) was pleased to request that we would cause your Lordship to be informed whether we are of opinion that the view taken by the India Office could properly be adopted.

Lord Tenterden was pleased to annex the former papers for reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that, according to ordinary international right, Her Majesty's Government cannot claim that money compensation should be paid by the Persian Government to the family of Sergeant Collins.

If this right were to be supported it must involve the consequence that if a Persian subject, or any other foreigner, were murdered in this country, Her Majesty's Government would have to make compensation to his relatives.

We observe that in Mr. Merivale's letter of the 24th October, 1873, it is stated "that compensation is granted by the Persian authorities to Russian, Turkish, and other foreign subjects when robbed on the highway." As we have no further information on this subject than that which is contained in the above statement, we find it difficult to advise your Lordship how far you should act upon it; but we think you should not instruct Mr. Thomson to make any claim as of right upon this ground without being further informed what is the general law of Persia upon the subject, and how far it has been acted upon.

In his despatch of the 18th August, 1872, Mr. Thomson states that "the Sadi Ajen has informed me that a sum of money will be exacted from Eelkhanee, the Chief of the Kushkai tribe, to which these men belong, and that this will be paid to Sergeant Collins' relatives. The amount has not yet been fixed by his Highness, but it will not, I imagine, exceed 500*l.*, and possibly there may be some difficulty in obtaining even that sum from the Kushkai Chief."

We do not read this as conveying any promise that the Persian Government will either itself pay, or in any event exact from the delinquent tribe, any sum of money, and the most we think your Lordship can do is to instruct Mr. Thomson to remind the Persian authorities of this conversation, and to urge upon them that measures should be taken to obtain some compensation from the Kushkai Chief, but this should not be put forward as any claim of right.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 128.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 28.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April , 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. Hill, executor of the late Mr. Alison, Her Majesty's Minister at Tehran, requesting that Mr. Thomson may be allowed to act as Special Commissioner to the Court of Chancery, in cross-examination of witnesses at Tehran in the case of Hill v. Ongley.

Lord Tenterden was pleased to inclose a memorandum with reference to the regulations enabling British Diplomatic and Consular Agents abroad to administer oaths and do notarial acts, together with a copy of the Act 18 and 19 Vict., cap. 42, relative to this question; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Minister at Tehran can properly be instructed to undertake this duty, which might, under the circumstances, place him in a very difficult position, or whether it would not be better that a Special Commissioner should be sent out for the purposes required.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this matter into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship could not properly instruct, that is, officially instruct, Her Majesty's Minister at Tehran to act as Special Commissioner for the purpose of taking evidence under a Commission from the Court of Chancery.

Possibly, in some cases, your Lordship, or the Foreign Secretary for the time being, might think it right for some public interest to interfere in such a matter; but, as a general rule, the accepting the duties of a Commissioner is quite voluntary, and in the present instance we are of opinion that your Lordship may leave the matter for the option of Her Majesty's Minister at Tehran; but Mr. Hill should be informed that Her Majesty's Legation will not incur any expense, and that Her Majesty's Minister will act as to his own personal remuneration, and in every other respect, as any private unofficial person would if he were appointed a Commissioner for the same purpose.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 129.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 9, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th April ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the inclosed despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Tehran (No. 29 of the 6th February, 1874), inclosing copies of correspondence respecting the ill-treatment of Mr. Oswald, Agent of the British Indian Steam Navigation Company at Bunder Abbas, at the hands of certain pilgrims at that port; together with the counter-complaint of the pilgrims themselves; and

That on a perusal of those papers we would perceive that the "Patna," a steamer belonging to the Company, had been duly advertised to convey passengers from Bunder Abbas to Mecca, and a large number of pilgrims secured tickets by that vessel.

That on their arrival at Bunder Abbas, however, they were not allowed on board, and the vessel proceeded on her voyage without them.

Lord Tenterden further said that it was stated that no blame could be attached to the Company in the matter, as they seemed to have been willing to take the passengers on board, but were prevented from doing so by Persian pilgrims shipped at Bassorah and Bushire, who rose in mutiny against the captain and crew, and forcibly prevented the Bunder Abbas pilgrims from embarking.

That upon the departure of the "Patna" a fierce attack was made on Mr. Oswald, the agent, who was forced to fly from the place to save his life.

That the Company have now preferred a claim of 20,000 roubles against the Persian Government, and, on the other hand, the Persian Government demand compensation for the sufferings and losses sustained by the pilgrims.

Lord Tenterden added that he was to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the proper course for Her Majesty's Government to take in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the case into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

1874

That, in our opinion, the Persian Government cannot properly be held liable for the misconduct of the persons on board the "Patna," who prevented the pilgrims from getting on board.

The passage-money should have been at once returned to the pilgrims, and then, possibly, there would have been no riot, and Mr. Oswald would have run no risk and incurred no inconvenience.

The Company should, we think, either secure sufficient accommodation or receive no passage-money, except with notice that the money shall be returned if, from any reason, the passenger who has paid his money cannot be carried.

We are therefore of opinion that the pilgrims, or the Persian Government as representing the pilgrims, are or is entitled to compensation for the losses (and suffering, if any) sustained by the pilgrims, but the proceedings must be against the Company and not against Her Majesty's Government.

That the Company have no claim which Her Majesty's Government could properly support.

And, as respects Mr. Oswald, that a strong representation may properly be made to the Persian Government respecting the conduct of the Governor, who either had or ought to have had the means of protecting Mr. Oswald, who was, notwithstanding the injury done to the pilgrims, entitled to protection.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Peru.

No. 130.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 9.)

Temple, April 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 23rd ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Report of the Law Officers, therewith inclosed, dated the 15th December last, relative to the right of the Peruvian Government to establish a monopoly in the sale of nitrate of soda, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers in the case, a letter from Messrs. Dawson, Bryant, and Dawson, urging a reconsideration of the grounds upon which Earl Granville decided that the complaint of Messrs. Clark, Eck, & Co., in regard to the above matter was not one for the interference of Her Majesty's Government; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That there is nothing in the letter of Messrs. Dawson, Bryant, and Dawson which leads us to differ from the opinion of the Law Officers, dated the 15th December last.

Your Lordship cannot, in our opinion, properly interfere with, or remonstrate against, the legislation of a foreign country on the ground that some law has not been legally passed and sanctioned, and put in force (if such were the case) according to the Constitution of that country.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Peru.

No. 130*.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Derby.—(Received April 10.)

My Lord, Temple, April , 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 23rd March ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister and Consul-General at Lima, asking whether, in the case of a Consular mixed marriage between a British subject and a person not a subject of Peru, he is to require a certificate to the effect that the Marriage Law of the country of the non-British subject had been complied with.

Mr. Bourke also stated that he inclosed copies of two Circulars from the Foreign Office referred to by Mr. Jerningham, as well as a copy of the Consular Marriage Act, and the draft of a despatch which your Lordship proposes to address to him;* and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the draft is correct.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft despatch which your Lordship proposes to address to Her Majesty's Minister and Consul-General at Lima is correct. We suggest, however, the slight alteration made by us.

We do not find the despatch of Her Majesty's Minister and Consul-General at Lima with the papers furnished to us.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Annex.

The Earl of Derby to Mr. Jerningham.

(No. . Consular.)
Foreign Office, March , 1874.

Sir,

I HAVE received your despatch No. 7, Consular, of the 31st of January, enquiring whether it is necessary, in cases of marriages celebrated under the Consular Marriage Act, when one of the parties is neither a British subject nor the subject of the State in which the marriage takes place, that the Consular officer should require a certificate that the Marriage Law of the country of the non-British subject has been complied with.

In reply, I have to inform you, that the warning in such cases, "that the marriage is not necessarily valid out of Her Majesty's dominions," is only intended for the information of the persons concerned, in order that they may see the necessity of taking their own measures for securing the recognition of the marriage in any country in which this may be important to them. It rests with them to take such measures or not, but whatever they do in this matter the validity of the marriage in this country† is not affected in any way.

There is, therefore, no necessity that you should require such a certificate in the cases under consideration, but it is most important that you should not omit to give the prescribed warning.

I am, &c.
(Signed) DERBY.

---

* November 28, 1872; November 21, 1873; Marriage Act; draft of despatch to Mr. Jerningham.

† Altered to "within Her Majesty's dominions" by Law Officers.

1874

No. 131.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 11, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to our predecessors' Report of the 10th January, 1873, Lord Tenterden was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister Resident at Peru (No. 27), inclosing a copy of a note which he had received from the Peruvian Government respecting Mr. Watson's claim.

Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to us the previous correspondence connected with this claim;* and he was to request that we would take all these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we may have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That some regret must be felt for the time which the Peruvian Government has allowed to elapse before offering any explanation of the circumstances which led to the arrest and caused the lengthened imprisonment of Mr. F. Watson.

Mr. Jerningham makes no observation upon the letter addressed to him by the Peruvian Minister for Foreign Affairs, and transmitted to your Lordship by Mr. Jerningham. We assume that the contents of that letter are true.

It is not improbable that Mr. F. Watson may have been imposed upon and made use of by some political partisans, and been the bearer of letters which had a meaning not known to himself. But a conspiracy existed, as it appears, and Mr. F. Watson is found to be the bearer of letters to the chief of the alleged conspirators.

By the law of the country it seems to be illegal for a private individual to carry letters, as that act is an injury to the revenue.

He, therefore, cannot complain that the letters were seized, nor that the contents were such as properly led to his arrest and confinement.

The imprisonment certainly extended over a very long period, but the explanation of the Peruvian Minister on that head seems to us sufficient.

We do not deem it necessary to consider whether the Company which Mr. F. Watson was to join was actually formed or not, because in any case the imprisonment would have brought about a loss to Mr. F. Watson; and we think his imprisonment was justified by the circumstances.

Mr. F. Watson is apparently in error when he vouched Mr. Jerningham to the amount, 25,000*l.*, which he claimed for indemnity; and we are inclined to think he was mistaken in referring to the case of an American citizen, who, according to Mr. F. Watson, had, in circumstances similar to his own, received a large sum by way of compensation.

We further think Mr. F. Watson's claim for legal expenses exaggerated; this, however, is immaterial, since, in our view, he was liable to trial.

Upon the whole case, as it now stands, we are of opinion that the explanation of the Peruvian Minister is a satisfactory answer to the claim of Mr. F. Watson, and that your Lordship cannot properly press that claim further.

Your Lordship will best judge whether Mr. Jerningham should be instructed to that effect; and whether, in informing Mr. F. Watson of the result, that gentleman should be furnished with a copy of the letter from the Peruvian Minister.

We have, &c.

(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 131*.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 15th July ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Report of the Law Officers of the Crown of the 6th December, 1872, upon a case referred to them respecting the conduct of Mr. Vines, at that time Her Majesty's Consul at Islay, in which they advised that Lord Granville might properly cancel Mr. Vines' commission, he was then directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Vines, in which he takes exception to a statement made by the Parliamentary Under-Secretary of State for the Foreign Department in the House of Commons, having reference to his case, and also to the manner in which the charges preferred against him by Mr. Swann were investigated by Mr. Nugent; and he requested that those charges may form the subject of a full and further inquiry. And Mr. Lister added that he was to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Mr. Vines has any just grounds for requesting that this case may be the subject of further investigation.

---

* List.

1874

That the former papers relative to the case were also annexed.*

We are also honoured with a letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 11th August, 1874, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us for our consideration, together with the papers which were sent to us on the 15th ultimo, a letter from Mr. Vines, dated the 3rd August, 1874, giving further particulars in his case against Mr. Swann.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That Mr. Vines, who resigned his appointment when his conduct had been the subject of inquiry and he was on the point of being dismissed, has not, in our opinion, any just ground for requesting that his case may be the subject of further investigation.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 132.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 7.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 4, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 8th August ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 11th July ultimo, Lord Tenterden was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. F. Watson (August 1874), containing further arguments in support of his claim against the Peruvian Government; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether this letter contains anything that would induce us to alter the opinion on Mr. Watson's claim expressed in our above-mentioned Report; the papers previously laid before us are sent herewith,* together with our Report and a draft of the letter to Mr. Watson founded thereon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have read and considered Mr. Watson's letter to your Lordship of the 3rd ultimo, and find nothing in it which induces us to alter the opinion already given by us in our Report of the 11th July last on his claim against the Peruvian Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 133.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 30.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 29, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Lima, reporting the circumstances under which Lawrence Higginson, a British subject, was taken out of the steamer "Santiago" in the Bay of Callao on the 10th July last, under an order from the Captain of the Port, and thrown into prison, where he was detained until the 24th of the same month.

That we should see from that despatch that Higginson was not even accused of having committed an offence within Peruvian jurisdiction, the occurrence which led to his arrest having admittedly taken place in the Bay of Panama, in the United States of Colombia.

That in those circumstances Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government should take any, and, if so, what, steps in order to obtain redress from the Peruvian Government for what appeared to your Lordship to have been an unjustifiable and illegal outrage upon a British subject.

That Mr. Lister was to add that your Lordship had approved the steps taken by Mr. Nugent to obtain Higginson's release.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister, bearing date the 21st instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 8th instant, he was directed to transmit to us a despatch, with its inclosures, from Mr. Nugent, Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Lima, respecting the case of Mr. Higginson; and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, together with the previous ones upon the same subject which were then before us.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken those papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that the conduct of the Peruvian authorities in their treatment of Lawrence Higginson, as detailed in Mr. Nugent's despatch of the 27th July, and which does not appear to be denied by the Peruvian Minister in his note to Mr. Nugent, was a gross outrage upon a British subject, and calls for the strongest remonstrance on the part of Her Majesty's Government, with a demand for an immediate ample apology, as also for full compensation to Mr. Higginson, and that Mr. Nugent should be instructed accordingly. The note of the Peruvian Minister merely states that he had given orders for the release of Higginson, and in no way repudiates the charges made by Mr. Nugent, though it would appear from Mr. Nugent's despatch of the 10th August that the Minister has, in conversation, denied the responsibility of his Government. Until it is seen upon what grounds the Peruvian Government refuse the demand which Mr. Nugent may be instructed to make upon them, we are unable to advise what particular steps should be taken for obtaining redress.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No 134.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 7.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 6, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 22nd September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, with its inclosures, from Mr. Nugent, Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Lima (No. 52 of the 13th August, 1874), in regard to the case of Captain Hall, commander of the Pacific Steam Navigation Company's steamer "Arequipa;" and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should be adopted in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the despatch and inclosures of Mr. Nugent show that the charge against Mr. Hall was an attempt to murder within Peruvian territory.

If so, the Peruvian Tribunal would have jurisdiction, and although it might be a matter of observation that great delay has occurred in inquiring into apparently a very simple matter, we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly interfere.

---

* List.

1874

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Portugal.

No. 135.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 4.)

Temple, February 3, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 31st January, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying telegram from Her Majesty's Minister at Lisbon (dated the 31st January) inquiring whether the British Consul at that port may authorize the arrest by a local detective of a German swindler on board a British steamer in the Tagus.

Lord Tenterden further stated that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the answer that should be returned to Sir Charles Murray on the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, no authority can possibly be given by the British Consul for the arrest of an alleged fugitive criminal on board a British ship. If the ship be a vessel of war, we think that no surrender can take place in Portugal, but the fugitive may be brought to England, where he can be dealt with under the Extradition Acts. If the ship be a private vessel in Portuguese waters for the purpose of trade, the public authorities in Portugal must act on their own responsibility, but the British Consul should not interfere in the matter.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 136.

Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 4.)

February 4, 1874.

My Lord,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Lord Tenterden's letter of the the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me a letter from the Colonial Office relative to the offer of Mr. H. Nourse to place at the disposal of Her Majesty's Government the journal of his uncle, the late Commodore Nourse, which contained entries relating to Delagoa Bay; and that he was to request that I would inform your Lordship whether I would wish to see the journal in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's request I have the honour to inform your Lordship—

That, as the proceedings relating to Delagoa Bay of which entries are made in Commodore Nourse's journal are fully detailed in the two volumes published by Captain Owen, R.N., I believe that the journal will not give any information which I should desire to have.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 137.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 18.)

Temple, February 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report, dated December 1873, respecting the question of the taxation of British subjects in Portugal, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith two despatches on that subject from Her Majesty's Minister at Lisbon, to whom the matter was referred by your Lordship, before returning an answer to the Duc de Saldanha's note of the 6th November last.

That the former papers in that case were also inclosed; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our early convenience, with such further observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Sir C. Murray states that "the 'decima industrial' which existed in 1842 was indeed modified by the law passed in 1860, but the only change made in it was in the mode of assessment, and by altering the name to an 'équivalent synonyme';" but he does not explain what was the change which was made in 1860 in the mode of assessment, and as the answer to the question whether the "contribução industrial" is or is not substantially the same as the "decima industrial" may depend upon the nature of that change, we think that further information on this point is necessary.

Sir C. Murray further expresses an opinion that the expression "just proportion" in the Treaty of 1842 does not mean equality, and we should be glad to be informed what is the meaning which, in his opinion, should be assigned to it.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 138.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 18.)

Temple, February 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. Hutchinson and Mr. John Payne, together with a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul in Madeira, relative to a claim of the Presbyterian community there to receive a share of the accumulated funds of the British cemetery, under the charge of the British Church Committee, when that ceases to be supported by Her Majesty's Government.

That the circumstances under which it had been considered right to withdraw, from the end of the current year, the Government contributions to certain British Church establishments abroad were fully set forth in the accompanying copy of the Circular which formed the subject of our Report of the 29th August last.

That Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the facts as set forth in those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether, on the withdrawal of the grants, Her Majesty's Government would have any right to interfere in the appropriation of the funds of the churches affected by it, or in that case, in the disposal of the burial-ground funds, and, if so, what proportion of those latter funds, if any, should be apportioned to the Presbyterian community at Madeira.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Circular referred to by Mr. Lister, and stated to accompany these papers, is not sent. But we must assume that the approbation of Her Majesty will be necessary to the appropriation of the accumulated fund, under the Consular Act 6 Geo. IV, cap. 87.

We see many objections to any attempt to distribute the fund rateably amongst particular denominations.

It appears that the burial fees have been enormously high, and as it seems from Consul Hayward's letter that a new burial-ground will shortly be required, we would suggest that it might be well to point out to the British Consul at Madeira that it should be considered whether the funds should not be employed in the purchase and maintenance of a public cemetery available for the burial of English subjects of all creeds on moderate terms.

1874

Her Majesty's Government cannot, however, originate any scheme, but can only allow or disallow those which may be suggested by British residents.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 139.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 10.)

Temple, March 10, 1874.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me a copy of a letter from the Colonial Office, inclosing a copy of one from Mr. Thompson, stating his ability to afford information with reference to the disputed claim of Delagoa Bay.

That Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to me a copy of the reply which your Lordship had caused to be returned to the Colonial Office.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to state to your Lordship—

That I shall be glad to be put in communication with Mr. Thompson at the earliest time which will suit that gentleman.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 140.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 8.?)

Lincoln's Inn, April 20, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 21st ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Lisbon, containing the further information respecting the industrial tax levied on British subjects in Portugal which was asked for in the Law Officers' Report of the 17th February, also inclosed, and that he likewise transmitted to us the former papers in that case; and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it appears from the information afforded by Sir C. Murray (and particularly by his despatch of the 10th March last) that the tax at present in force, under the name of "contribuigao industrial" is substantially the same tax in its objects and in its incidents as the "decima industrial" which was in force at the date of the Treaty of July 1842, and that consequently British subjects are entitled to limit their contributions to the former to 20 per cent. specified in the rider to the Treaty.

Had there appeared to us to be any question as to the correctness of the views taken by Sir C. Murray, we should have been disposed to recommend your Lordship to direct that an opinion should be taken upon it from the Portuguese legal adviser of Her Majesty's Minister at Lisbon, but the views of Sir C. Murray are so fully supported by the terms of the Law of 1860, imposing the tax which is at present in force, and appear to have been so generally recognized by the Courts of Law in Portugal, that we deem it unnecessary to do so.

We think also that the comment of Sir C. Murray, in his despatch of the 16th January, 1874, upon the letter of M. de Saldanha of the 6th November, 1873, are well founded, and that your Lordship may properly answer such letter by stating that your Lordship cannot agree with the interpretation which the Portuguese Government seek to put upon the Treaty of 1842, but that, on the contrary, the 20 per cent. specified in the rider to that Treaty is the maximum tax to which British subjects are liable.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 141.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 16.)

Temple, May 15, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 4th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers relative to the alleged infraction of Article XIII of the Anglo-Portuguese Treaty through the exaction of duties on English bonded goods at the Cape Verde Islands;* and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should be pursued in that matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the words of Article XIII of the Anglo-Portuguese Treaty are not very clear.

Articles for home consumption or for re-exportation are to be received and warehoused.

These articles shall not in the meantime be liable to any of the duties with which they would be charged if they were entered for consumption on their arrival.

The word "meantime" implies, we think, necessarily that the duties shall not be charged while the articles are warehoused or when they are received, but that if subsequently delivered for home consumption they will become liable to duties on articles imported for home consumption, and so, if re-exported, there is nothing in the words which makes the imposition of an export duty an infraction of the Treaty.

The practice, however, of the Portuguese Customs authorities in not levying the duty when the goods are to be taken somewhere else for sale, tends to show that they themselves do put a wider construction on the Treaty than the words in themselves bear.

This is an argument which Sir C. Murray might very properly use in any further communication on the subject with the Portuguese Government, and the construction put upon the Treaty by the British Customs authorities may fairly be urged by Sir C. Murray.

But whilst the Portuguese Government is, as Sir C. Murray states, considering the whole subject, we are of opinion that the proper course to be pursued by Her Majesty's Government is to instruct Sir C. Murray to keep the question before him, and as occasions offer themselves, press upon the Portuguese Government the expediency of giving the Treaty a large construction consistent with that placed upon it in this country.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 142.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 6.)

Temple, June 6, 1874.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th instant, stating that, with reference to my letter of the 20th April, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Paris, inclosing a French translation of the British Counter-Case in the Delagoa Bay question.

That Lord Tenterden was to request that I would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether the translation appeared to me to be satisfactory, especially as regarded the passages to which attention was called in Lord Lyons' despatch; and also whether I saw any objection to the insertion of three numbers in the last page as suggested by the translator.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to inform your Lordship—

That at p. 22 of the MS. translation, line 4, the figures "21" should be restored.

P. 25, line 3 from the foot, the words "La terre" would with advantage be altered into "Le territoire en litige," and the dependent words be in conformity made masculine.

---

* To Mr. Hodgson, May 2; Sir C. Murray, No. 27, Commercial, April 13, 1874.

P. 26, line 12 from the foot, for "s'imaginaient" I would suggest the word "estimaient."

P. 28, line 6 from the foot, for "quelques" I would use the word "des."

P. 38, line 5 from the foot, I should be glad if the translator would introduce the words "en définitive" between the words "juger" and "si."

P. 46, MS., line 14 from the foot, I should prefer instead of the words "pour le besoin," the words "dans le dessein."

Your Lordship will see that these suggested alterations are independent of those referred to in the despatch of Lord Lyons.

With respect to the passages in the MS. on which doubts are expressed in that despatch—

I think the translation, p. 29, MS., of p. 11 in the English print, is right.

But pp. 38 and 39, MS., would more clearly give the meaning of pp. 14 and 15 of the English print if for "ainsi nommée" the words "aussi nommée Lorenço Marques" were substituted.

P. 40, MS., is correctly translated.

I entirely agree with the suggestion that the three numbers should be added, as pointed out by Lord Lyons, and perhaps still greater precision would be given to the conclusion if the passages were broken up into separate paragraphs marked by these three numbers.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 143.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 1.)

Temple, June 30, 1874.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 26th instant, stating that, with reference to my letter of the 6th instant, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Paris, relative to the translation of the British Counter-Case in the Delagoa Bay question.

That I should see that the translator had adopted all the alterations suggested by me in the translations, with one or two verbal corrections which he had made for the sake of euphony; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that I would inform your Lordship whether I had any further remarks to make before the translation was put into print.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to report—

That the translation as it now stands may, in my opinion, be put into print; but I think the heading should have the word "Britannique" added after the word "Majesté."

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 144.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Temple, July 13, 1874.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me, for my consideration, a letter from the Colonial Office, inclosing copy of a despatch from the Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, upon the subject of the Delagoa Bay question.

That the documents referred to in the Governor's despatch were among those furnished to me for the preparation of the British Case.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have taken these papers into my consideration, and have the honour to inform your Lordship that—

In preparing the Case and Counter-Case on behalf of Her Majesty's Government in the matter of the "Delagoa Bay Arbitration," I carefully considered the effect of the occupation of a part of the territory south of the St. Esprit River by the Dutch, and also the alleged grant of land to the Wesleyan missionaries by the King of Tembe.

The occupation by the Dutch was partial and temporary, and though so long as it lasted, and to the small extent over which it reached, hostile to and repugnant as a fact to the Portuguese occupation, yet as a matter of right was not inconsistent with the Portuguese claim.

Besides the Dutch occupation was in contradiction to the argument of the continued independence of the natives, and this independence is the main ground on which the claims of Her Majesty's Government can be rested.

The grant to the Wesleyan missionaries seemed to me rather to weaken than strengthen the argument founded upon Captain Owen's Treaties.

For these reasons I passed over those matters.

If the endeavour of the Portuguese Government to purchase the Island of Inyack from the natives in 1870, which is the third point mentioned by Sir Henry Barkly in his despatch to Lord Carnarvon, was before me, I am entirely in the wrong for not having relied upon that very important fact, which should certainly have been relied upon.

I have, however, no recollection of having received that information, and whether I am to blame or not, hope that there is now time to supply the defect, which may be done by the addition of a few lines and taking the facts from the Report of Lieutenant-Governor Musgrave.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 145.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 30.)

Temple, July 29, 1874.

My Lord,

I HAVE the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Lord Tenterden's letter of the 28th instant, stating that, with reference to my letter of the 13th instant, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office upon the subject of the alleged attempt by the Portuguese authorities to purchase the Island of Inyack from King Nosingala.

That the letters of the 22nd March and the 9th May, 1873, referred to in the inclosed letter, would be found at the places marked in the accompanying volume.

That they were forwarded to me on the 27th March and the 22nd May.

Until I read the despatches of Lieutenant-Governor Musgrave and the letters of Mr. Straker, in the volume sent to me with Lord Tenterden's letter, I had entirely forgotten the contents of those documents.

I now remember having considered whether it would be desirable or not to refer to Mr. Straker's letters, and that I came to the conclusion that, although the occupation by Mr. Straker (and, I think, by Mr. Corkindale), also might be of use as against the Portuguese claim, such occupation under an alleged grant from the native Chief told with equal effect against the British claim.

I did not think that, upon an expected conflict of evidence as to the offer to purchase Inyack, the testimony of Mr. Straker would outweigh that which the Portuguese would bring forward in contradiction.

On these grounds I thought, and still think, that the information given by Mr. Straker should not be used in support of the British Case.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 146.

Dr. Deane to Mr. Lister.—(Received August 11.)

Temple, August 11, 1874.

(Telegraphic.)

THE Counter-Case is ready if there is no reason for its being betrayed.

1874

No. 147.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 21.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 19, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Reports of the 17th February and the 20th April, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further note from the Portuguese Minister at that Court relative to the question of taxation of British subjects in Portugal.

That the previous papers were likewise therewith inclosed; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take that matter again into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have considered the several papers transmitted to us, and particularly the draft to Sir C. Murray, dated the 15th July, 1874, the draft to the Duke de Saldanha of the same date, and the answer to the latter from the Duke de Saldanha, dated the 12th September, 1874.

Notwithstanding the reasons given by the Duke de Saldanha for differing from the interpretation put upon the Treaty of 1842 from that adopted by your Lordship in the draft of the 15th July, we are of opinion that the latter construction is in every sense the right construction.

We see no inconsistency in the condition that Portuguese and British subjects should be taxed in just proportion, and the provision that, in the case of British subjects, the maximum should never go beyond 20 per cent. In fact, as it seems to us, the only meaning of this provision is to secure British subjects from a rate of taxation exceeding 20 per cent., to which Portuguese subjects may be liable.

The arguments on the taxation of British subjects under the Treaty are, as we think, brought to a close, and the two Governments are in direct opposition the one to the other.

The Portuguese Government, however, may, by putting an end to the Treaty of 1842, decide the question for the future against the present existing rights of British subjects. The surrender of these rights might therefore be made without loss of dignity or advantage in the prospect of a new Treaty.

Your Lordship, in view of the observations of the Duke de Saldanha on the expiration of the Treaty of 1842, and the future financial schemes of the Portuguese Government, will best judge what answer Her Majesty's Government should give to that part of his note of the 12th September, 1874.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Russia.

No. 148.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 20.)

Temple, January 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Enfield's letter of the 15th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Nicolaieff, forwarding the request of Mr. H. C. Lawton to be furnished with a certified copy of a contract entered into between Mr. Baxter and himself in 1865, which it was stated could be procured from Messrs. Easton and Amos; and that your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion whether he could properly take any steps in that matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Consul Stephens may properly be informed that Lord Granville is unable to assist Mr. Lawton further than by referring him to the Act of the 19th and 20th Vict., cap. 113.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 149.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, November 24, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin,[*] relative to a complaint on the part of Messrs. Fenwick and Co. of the inadequacy of the award granted by the Russian Government on account of services rendered to a Russian gun-boat by the British steamer "Ernest;" and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether it was a matter which called for further intervention on the part of Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship cannot properly intervene any further in this matter on the part of Her Majesty's Government.

We entirely agree with Messrs. Fenwick that the misconduct of the Russian officer in no way detracts from the merits of the service, and the sum awarded appears to us quite inadequate as a salvage reward.

But Messrs. Fenwick, by their letter of the 9th October, 1873, to M. de Berg, "left the compensation with perfect confidence in the hands of His Imperial Russian Majesty's Government," and they are, we think, bound by that letter.

In this country a salvage suit might, in similar circumstances of salvage by a Russian steamer to a British gun-boat, have been brought nominally against the officer in command of the gun-boat, in reality against the Government. We are not aware whether Messrs. Fenwick can have any legal redress in Russia, but the case, in our opinion, clearly does not call for or admit of diplomatic interference.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 150.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 15.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, December 14, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 27th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to call our attention to the Report of our predecessors of the 10th April, 1872, which was therewith inclosed, relative to the mode of dealing with the estates of British subjects dying intestate in Russia.

That in that Report they stated that the Treaty of 1859 between this country and Russia did not give to British Consuls the power which they ought to possess over the property of British subjects dying intestate in Russia, and they expressed an opinion that such power should be given to them by Treaty, and that Consuls should represent the family of such of their countrymen who might die intestate.

That in consequence of that Report Her Majesty's Government expressed a wish to come to an understanding with the Russian Government as to the course to be pursued with a view of placing the question on a satisfactory basis; but the Russian Government, whilst they at that time declined to discuss the general question, expressed their readiness to enter into an arrangement in regard to the effects of seamen dying on board ship or in hospital on shore.

---

[*] Messrs. Fenwick, November 11, 1873; Lord A. Loftus, Nos. 20 and 43, Commercial, April 22 and September 29; Messrs. Fenwick, October 31, 1874.

1874

That, after considerable discussion, the inclosed declaration relative to the effects of British and Russian seamen was submitted to the Russian Government.

That that Government had, however, now proposed that in lieu of that limited declaration, a "Succession Convention," relating to the property of British and Russian subjects dying in Russian and British territory respectively, should be concluded between the two countries, similar to that which had lately been entered into between France and Russia, a copy of which, together with the despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at St. Petersburgh, forwarding it, was therewith inclosed.

That that Convention, although conferring increased powers on the Consuls of the Contracting Parties, in regard to the management of the property of their subjects dying in the respective countries, appeared to your Lordship to contain certain stipulations with reference to local authorities which could not be carried out in this country.

That under those circumstances your Lordship would submit for our consideration whether, in entering into an arrangement of that nature with the Russian Government, it would not be advisable, in preference to adopting the Convention proposed by that Government, to take as a model the more simple form employed in the Vth Article of the proposed Consular Convention with the United States, which was drafted by the Law Officers, and communicated to your Lordship in our Report on that subject of the 21st May last, copy of which was therewith inclosed.

That as that Article, however, did not deal with the effects of deceased seamen, your Lordship apprehended that it would be necessary to insert a further Article somewhat similar to Article XIII of the Convention between France and Russia.

That Lord Tenterden was therefore to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the nature of the stipulations which should be embodied in a Convention between this country and Russia, for regulating the general question of succession to property.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the object which we apprehend your Lordship wishes to attain is the protection of property rather than the regulation of succession to property. For this reason, and also because many of the provisions in the Convention between France and Russia could not be carried out in this country, we think that Convention could not usefully or practically be adopted as a form for the proposed Convention between this country and Russia.

But we see no objection to adopting the course suggested by your Lordship of taking as a model the simple form employed in the Vth Article of the proposed Consular Convention with the United States, and of introducing into it words which shall make provision for dealing with the effects of deceased seamen similar to that contained in the XIIIth Article of the Convention between France and Russia.

To effectuate this purpose we have amended the copy forwarded to us of the Vth Article of the proposed United States Convention.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Inclosure in No. 150.

Article V of the Proposed Consular Convention with Russia, as drafted by the Law Officers.

WHENEVER any subject of the Russian Empire shall die within Great Britain or Ireland, or on board a British ship, or a subject of Great Britain or Ireland shall die in Russia, or on board a Russian ship, and there shall be no person rightfully entitled to administer to the estate of such deceased person in the country within which he may die, or to which the ship on which he may die shall belong, the Consul-General, Consul, Vice-Consul, or Consular Agent of the nation to which the deceased belongs, acting at the place of the death of such subject, or at the port in Great Britain or Ireland or Russia respectively at which the ship on board of which the death shall have taken place shall first arrive after such death, may take possession and have the custody of the personal property of the deceased, and apply the same in payment of his or her debts and funeral expenses, and retain the surplus for the benefit of the persons entitled thereto; but such Consul or Consular Agent shall, if necessary, immediately apply for and shall be entitled to obtain from the proper Court, letters of administration of the effects of such deceased person, limited in such manner and for such time as to such Court shall seem fit.

---

Spain.

No. 151.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 6.)

Temple, January 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd January instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of December ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid (No. 651) reporting a conversation which he had held with the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs on the subject of the "Virginius," and the proceedings of the Jamaica authorities in connection with that vessel; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take that paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the bearing which Señor Carvajal's acknowledgment of the friendly action of the Jamaica authorities may have upon the case.

Lord Tenterden also stated that the papers transmitted in his letter of the 5th ultimo were also inclosed for convenience of reference.*

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the statements of Señor Carvajal are satisfactory so far as they go; but we see no reason to alter the opinion which we expressed in our Report of last December on this matter.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 152.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 8.)

Temple, January 7, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 31st December ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office (dated the 22nd December, 1873), and its inclosures, detailing the circumstances under which certain arms and ammunition found on board a vessel called the "Village Bride" were seized and detained by the authorities of Jamaica.

He also stated that, before replying to the above letter, your Lordship would be glad to have our opinion upon this case in connection with that of the "Virginius," to which we should see that it in some degree relates, M. de Cordova, the person interested in the "Village Bride," having been also the consignee of the "Virginius."

---

* Six papers.

1874

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this matter into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have not before us either the local laws relating to the importation of arms at Jamaica or the Proclamation forbidding the exportation of arms without licence from the Governor, but we assume it is a Proclamation against the export of arms generally.

We think it right to point out to your Lordship that the difficulty which has arisen in this case occurs through the existence of a Proclamation forbidding the export of arms from a British possession, a policy contrary to that which is now firmly established with the express approval of the House of Commons in relation to the United Kingdom, and it may be for your Lordship to consider whether there are any exceptional circumstances in connection with Jamaica or our relations with Spain which render it advisable to depart from that policy by allowing the Proclamation to continue in force.

But, assuming such a Proclamation to be in force in Jamaica, we are of opinion that the Spanish Government would have a right to regard a special licence given by the Governor for the exportation of arms by a person whose conduct has been such as that of M. de Cordova as a most unfriendly act.

The history both of the "Virginius" and the "Village Bride," and his connection with these vessels, show distinctly that such an exportation, whatever colour may be put on the transaction, could have no other destination than that of Cuba.

In our opinion, the nature of the transaction cannot be in the least degree altered by giving a licence for the exportation in some other vessel for a port ostensibly innocent, whilst there exist reasonable and almost incontestable grounds for suspecting that the ultimate destination is Cuba.

To allow the exportation of these arms in some other vessel to some port in Hayti or elsewhere, when there can be no doubt that they are exported there to be transshipped for Cuba, is a merely colourable evasion, and would practically be the same thing as to give a licence for their direct exportation to Cuba.

There appears to us to be only two courses proper to be taken—

1. To withdraw the Proclamation altogether, and then the traffic in arms in Jamaica would, as it is in Great Britain, be an innocent traffic in respect of which the Government would accept no responsibility.

2. Whilst the Proclamation remains in force, we are of opinion that no licence should be given to M. de Cordova upon any condition to export the arms.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 153.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 16.)

Temple, January 16, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying telegram from Her Majesty's Minister at Washington, stating that Henry King, late engineer of the "Virginius," is on his way to this country; and he (Lord Tenterden) was pleased to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what steps, if any, should be taken with regard to Henry King.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That there have been no facts brought under our consideration up to this time in respect of the British subjects being part of the crew of the "Virginius" which would call for or justify any action in respect of them on the part of Her Majesty's Government at present.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 154.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 10.)

Temple, January 19, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 15th January instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letters, as marked in the margin,* from which it appeared that there was reason to suspect that the steam-ship "Deerhound," at Dartmouth, was preparing for another expedition hostile to the de facto Government of Spain, and that another steamer, the "Edith," was also fitting at the same port for a similar expedition.

That your Lordship had requested the Commissioners of Customs to cause the vessels in question to be watched, and any suspicious circumstances connected with them to be immediately reported.

Lord Tenterden added that he was to request that we would take the papers into our immediate consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any, and if so what, further action should be taken in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that the facts at present laid before us are not sufficient to justify the detention either of the "Deerhound" or the "Edith." But we advise that both vessels should be carefully watched, in case there should prove to be any reasonable ground for believing that the vessels are about to be dispatched in the military or naval service of the enemies of Spain, or that the vessels are intended to form part of a military or naval expedition. In which case immediate action should be taken under the 23rd section of the Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 155.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 26.)

Temple, January 26, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, and its inclosures, from the Colonial Office, relative to the proceedings of the Spanish authorities in the Sulu Archipelago; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the papers forwarded to us on the 16th ultimo and 1st and 17th instant.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we take the occasion of your Lordship's letters of the 17th and 19th instant, inclosing a despatch from Mr. Layard of the date of the 31st December, 1873 (which communicates the letter of the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs addressed to the German Representative at Madrid), to review the whole transactions contained in the voluminous papers which have at various times been submitted to us in reference to the capture, in the waters of Sulu, of the German brigs "Marie Louise" and "Gazelle." By the light of these later despatches, the transactions seem to have at length assumed a shape in which it is possible for Her Majesty's Government to deal with them in a practical manner.

We do not understand your Lordship to ask us to pronounce a definite opinion upon the claims asserted on the part of the Spanish to exclusive jurisdiction in the islands of the Sulu Archipelago, as set forth in various notices and proclamations published at various periods.

Nor, as the matter involves no question of law, do we offer any opinion on the draft despatch from the Foreign Office relating to the inadvertent publication of one of these notices in the "London Gazette."

We shall confine this Report exclusively to the circumstances attending the capture of the "Marie Louise." The question relating to the ship, which was a German vessel, concerns the German Government.

---

* Mr. Farrer, January 9; Mr. Gray, January 13 and January 15, 1874.

1874

The matters with which Her Majesty's Government are concerned are the treatment of the British subjects on board the "Marie Louise" and the condemnation of the cargo seized on board that vessel. An account of the proceedings relating to the treatment of Mr. Field and other British subjects and their servants on board the "Marie Louise" by the Spanish authorities will be found in the despatch addressed by Consul Coates on the 26th September, 1873, to the Governor of Hong Kong. The conduct of the Spanish authorities as there related appears to us to call for the strongest remonstrance on the part of your Lordship. The Spanish Captain-General and Admiral appear to have refused to allow all intervention on the part of Her Majesty's Consul. They are said to have declared their pretended Court of Prize, in which the ship and cargo were condemned, to have been a secret Court. They refused to allow the British Consul to communicate with the British subjects.

It is stated by Consul Coates that five of Mr. Field's private servants, apparently Chinese or men of colour, were placed in irons and some of them flogged to extort evidence.

All this violent and unjustifiable conduct being, as alleged by Señor Carvajal, grounded upon a capture of the "Marie Louise" upon three distinct charges: (1) that she was guilty of breach of a lawful belligerent blockade; (2) that she was seized under belligerent right as carrying contraband of war; (3) that she was seized for breach of a municipal prohibition to trade within the asserted exclusive jurisdiction of Spain in Sulu waters.

Now, the first point to which we will direct your Lordship's attention is that, if each and all these charges were well founded, the conduct of the Spanish authorities was illegal and without justification.

There is no principle of international law more clear, or which requires more rigidly to be enforced, than that a belligerent shall provide, for the protection of neutrals with whose rights he claims to interfere, fit and competent Courts of Prize. The violation of this rule was one of the greatest outrages committed at the end of the last century by the Revolutionary Government of France. The Tribunal of the "Apostaders of Manila," as described by Mr. Layard in his despatch to your Lordship of the 31st December, 1873, and the account given of its proceedings by Consul Coates in the despatch above referred to, is a Court which had no pretension to claim the jurisdiction of a Court of Prize. The mere fact that it sat as a secret Tribunal, and that communication was refused to the British Consul with the British subjects interested in its decision, are circumstances which, in our opinion, would justify your Lordship in treating its sentence as ab initio void, as pronounced by an incompetent Court of Prize.

But even apart from the illegal constitution of the Court, the alleged grounds of condemnation appear from the letter of Señor Carvajal to be absolutely unsustainable.

The Proclamation of the 2nd August, 1873, which is set forth in the despatch of Governor Bulwer to Lord Kimberley of November 1873, has no vestige of belligerent declaration which could lay a foundation for the exercise of belligerent rights.

As regards the pretended condemnation for breach of blockade, Señor Carvajal himself, in his despatch, practically abandons the defence. Indeed, the first Proclamation which even suggested a blockade was that notified to Sir H. Ord by the Spanish Consul on the 28th October, 1873, more than two months after the seizure of the "Marie Louise." The pretence of condemnation for carriage of contraband equally falls to the ground in the absence of any evidence of such a state of legitimate war as would justify the exercise of belligerent rights against neutral traders.

The third ground relied on, viz., confiscation for breach of a municipal prohibition against trade with Sulu, might have raised the question of the validity of the title of the Spaniards to make and enforce such a prohibition. But even if that right were as unquestionable as it is doubtful, it could only be exercised within the territorial jurisdiction. But the English owners deny, and Señor Carvajal evidently doubts, whether the vessel seized was within the territorial limits of Spanish waters.

For each and all these reasons we recommend your Lordship to instruct Mr. Layard to declare to the Spanish Government that Her Majesty's Government will not recognize the sentence of the Court of Manila condemning the cargo of the "Marie Louise," and to demand reparation for the ill-usage of the British subjects and their servants on board that vessel, which, even had she been justly condemned by a competent Court, would have been treatment wholly inconsistent with the principles of international law and the practice of civilized nations.

We recommend that the attention of the Spanish Government should be especially directed to the conduct of the authorities at Manila in refusing to allow the British Consul to communicate with British subjects whose persons or property were placed in jeopardy.

If there is any reason to believe that conduct of this violent character is still practised, we concur in the recommendation that a British vessel of war should be sent to maintain the just authority of the British Consul, and the due protection of the rights of British subjects in those waters.

Señor Carvajal states at the close of his despatch that the proceedings of the Court of Manila are shortly to reach Madrid, and that they will there be reviewed by the Consultation Committee of the Navy, and will then be submitted to the definite approval of the Executive Government.

The occasion, therefore, now arises for protesting against the whole proceedings.

It will be for Mr. Layard, in his discretion, to determine whether this protest shall be entered by way of absolute denial of the Court in Manila or by way of appeal from its unjust procedure and unfounded sentence. In the latter case, precaution should be taken to represent the interests of the British owners, who probably will not be at hand to defend themselves and their property unfairly condemned.

We have, &c.
(Signed) W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 156.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 29.)

My Lord, Temple, January 29, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 26th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying copy of a telegram from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid relative to the probable condemnation to death of Peters, the Englishman concerned in the Carthagena insurrection; and he was to request that we would favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the instructions that should be sent to Mr. Layard on the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Layard's action may be approved, and he may be instructed to request the Spanish Government to afford to Peters the necessary facilities for his defence, and, in the event of Peters' condemnation, to ask that execution of his sentence may be postponed until Her Majesty's Government have had an opportunity of considering the charges made against him, and the evidence and judgment in the case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 157.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 31.)

My Lord, Temple, January 30, 1874.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 27th January instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letters from the Board of Trade,* inclosing communications from a Mr. Palmer, who represents himself to be an Agent of the Spanish Government, urging that proceedings should be taken against certain persons named therein, said to be Carlist agents, whom he accuses of having conspired together to obtain by fraud and perjury a British register for the French brig "Malfilâtre" to enable them to ship with greater ease on board that vessel a cargo of arms and munitions of war for the use of the Carlists.

---

* January 26 and January 27, 1874.

1874

Lord Tenterden further stated that he was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether it would be advisable for Her Majesty's Government to take any, and if so what, proceedings in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it does not appear to us that upon the facts now placed before us there is any case for a prosecution against the persons accused by Mr. Palmer apart from the provisions of the Merchant Shipping Act. Whether such a prosecution should be instituted under that Act is a matter for the consideration of the Board of Trade.

Whilst we think that no steps should at present be taken by the Foreign Office, yet if the vessel, which we understand to be at present under the control of Mr. Palmer, should be released, it may be well that she should be watched in order to see that she is not dispatched in the naval service of the enemies of Spain within the meaning of section 8 of the Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870. If there is any reasonable ground for such belief she should be detained under the provisions of section 23 of that Act.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 158.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 4.)

Temple, February 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 31st ultimo, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 29th ultimo, and to previous correspondence relating to the case of the "Malfilâtre" and the arms at Newport suspected of having been intended for the use of the Carlists, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further letter from Mr. Palmer, again urging that the four persons named by him should be prosecuted under the Foreign Enlistment Act, and stating the evidence which he was prepared to produce in support of the charges.

That Lord Tenterden was then to request that we would take that letter into our consideration, together with the papers inclosed in his above-mentioned letter of the 29th ultimo, and inform your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, whether they contained anything which would cause us to modify the opinion expressed in our Report of the 30th ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the letter and papers now placed before us do not cause us to alter the opinion expressed by us in our Report of the 30th ultimo.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 159.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 7.)

Temple, February 5, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 31st ultimo, respecting the vessel "Malfilâtre" and the arms at Newport suspected of being intended for the use of the Carlists, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying copy of a further letter from the Board of Trade* stating that it is not the practice of that Board to direct prosecutions for infringements of those clauses of the Merchant Shipping Act referred to in the present case. The Board consider that the propriety of instituting a prosecution in this case is a question of foreign policy on which they can express no opinion.

Mr. Lister further stated that he was to request that we would take this letter into our consideration, together with the papers already before us, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the steps that should be taken in the matter to which they refer.

Mr. Lister also stated that a further letter just received from Mr. Palmer* upon the same subject was also inclosed; and he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer that should be returned thereto.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That your Lordship should not, in our opinion, take any further steps at present in the matter of the "Malfilâtre."

Mr. Palmer may properly be informed that, if he has any further communications to make, your Lordship will give them due consideration.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 160.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 7.)

Temple, February 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying copies of two telegrams from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,† reporting that a great part of the north coast of Spain has been declared in a state of blockade, to commence from the 20th instant.

Lord Tenterden further stated that the accompanying map will show the portion of the coast affected by this announcement, which is apparently intended to prevent supplies reaching the Carlists by sea.

Lord Tenterden also stated that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the course that should be followed by Her Majesty's Government with regard to the blockade now declared, bearing in mind that the Carlists have not been recognized as belligerents.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, assuming the blockade to be effective, Her Majesty's Government must, in our opinion, recognize the fact that it exists de facto and de jure.

The result, however, will be that the Carlists henceforth become belligerents.

The parts of the coast to which the blockade is applied was, we presume, in the hands of the Carlists, for the Madrid Government cannot establish a municipal blockade of its own ports or coast.

It would be well that Mr. Layard should be instructed to inform the Spanish Government that such a course must lead to the issuing of a Proclamation of Neutrality.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 161.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 9.)

Temple, February , 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 19th ultimo, relative to the vessels "Deerhound" and "Edith," suspected of being intended for the use of the Carlists, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a copy of a letter from the Board of Customs, inclosing a Report upon those vessels; and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether

---

* February 2, 1874.

* February 3, 1874.

† Mr. Layard (Telegraphic), February 2, 1874.

1874

that Report contained anything which would justify Her Majesty's Government in taking any steps with regard to either of the vessels in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Customs authorities should be requested to instruct their officers to watch the "Deerhound," and to report immediately any alterations of or additions to her equipment.

We think, further, that in view of the state of war declared in Spain, and of the known antecedents of the "Deerhound," the attention of the Customs authorities should be called to the 24th section of the Foreign Enlistment Act, 1870, and they should be requested to exercise the powers given by that section if, upon a representation being made to them as mentioned in that section, they think that there is reasonable and probable cause for believing that an offence against the Act is intended to be committed.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 162.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 11.)

Temple, February 11, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 5th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, to be taken into our consideration, together with the papers forwarded to us in his letter of the 3rd instant, a further letter from Mr. Palmer relative to the "Malfilâtre" and the arms at Newport suspected of being intended for the Carlists.

We have also the honour to acknowledge the receipt of Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit a letter from the Board of Trade relative to the statements of Mr. Palmer in regard to the case of the "Malfilâtre."

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have perused the further papers submitted to us, including the letter of the 6th February, and we see no reason to alter our former opinions on this case.

Mr. Palmer may properly be informed that any further communications must be addressed to your Lordship through the Spanish Minister.

Mr. Palmer's conduct as described by himself appears to us to be such that no reliance can be placed upon his unsupported statements.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 163.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 13.)

Temple, February 12, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us despatches, and their inclosures, from Her Majesty's Consul at Manila, relative to the imprisonment by the local authorities of a British seaman without the intervention of the Consul; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether you would be justified in making a representation to the Spanish Government respecting the proceedings of the Manila authorities on account of the XIXth Article of the Treaty of 1667 or on any other ground.

That the Article in question would be found at p. 372 of the accomanyping Blue Book.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship will be justified in making a demand on the Spanish Government to order that the British seaman should be handed over to the British Consul.

We think that there is no ground of complaint against the Spanish authorities for having, at the request of the captain of the British vessel, taken and detained Michie in custody, but whilst the captain might, for the protection of himself and crew, have desired this to have been done, as soon as the British Consul interfered and demanded his release, his request should have been complied with.

It appears to us that there has been no offence committed against Spanish authority so as to justify the sailor's present detention, and we do not understand that any charge on such ground is preferred against him.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 164.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 14.)

Temple, February 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 24th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 27th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further papers, as marked in the margin, respecting the case of the "Virginius;" and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to make thereon.

That your Lordship more especially wished to be informed whether the papers now sent to us enabled us to form a decided opinion as to the right of Her Majesty's Government to claim compensation from the Spanish Government for the families of the British subjects executed at Santiago de Cuba.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government would be justified in demanding reparation from the Spanish Government for the execution of the British subjects forming part of the crew of the "Virginius," both in the form of a national recognition of the wrong done, and also of compensation to the relatives of the persons executed.

We do not advise that Her Majesty's Government should take the ground of complaining of the seizure of the "Virginius," or of the detention of the passengers and crew.

The real ground of complaint, in our opinion, is that, even assuming the vessel to have been lawfully seized, and the crew properly detained, there was no justification for their summary execution after an irregular proceeding before a drum-head Court-martial. No possible aspect of the character of the "Virginius" and her crew could authorize or palliate such conduct on the part of the Cuban authorities. There was no pretence for treating such an expedition as piracy jure gentium.

If the "Virginius" was to be regarded as a vessel practically engaged in a hostile or belligerent enterprise, such treatment would not be justifiable. Much may be excused in acts done, under the expectation of instant damage, in self-defence by a nation as well as by an individual. But after the capture of the "Virginius" and the detention of the crew was effected, no pretence of imminent necessity of self-defence could be alleged, and it was the duty of the Spanish authorities to prosecute the offenders in proper form of law, and to have instituted regular proceedings on a definite charge before the execution of the prisoners.

In our opinion, there was no charge either known to the law of nations or to any municipal law under which persons in the situation of the British crew of the "Virginius" could have been justifiably condemned to death.

They were persons not owing allegiance to Spain, the acts done by them were done out of the jurisdiction of Spain, they were essentially non-combatants in their employment, and they could by no possible construction be liable to the penalty of death.

1874

Under these circumstances, we think that Her Majesty's Government may properly insist on full reparation for the execution of these British subjects from the Government of Spain.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 165.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 14.)

Temple, February 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 11th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 7th instant, relative to the proposed blockade of the northern coast of Spain, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, to be taken into our consideration together with papers already before us, a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,* inclosing a copy of Blockade Regulations issued by the Spanish Government on the 26th November, 1864, and referred to in the Decree inclosed in Mr. Layard's No. 106.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That if the Spanish Government is prepared to accept the consequences which will follow of raising the Carlist insurgents to the status of recognized belligerents by a declaration of belligerent blockade, we see no objection to the Regulations of the 26th November, 1864, so far as they relate to the matter of blockade. Upon other points, however, the Regulations contain serious errors, against which we think Her Majesty's Government should at once protest, if it is proposed to put these Regulations in force.

Article 12, which deals with the question of the recapture from the enemy of neutral vessels, is directly at variance with the established rule of the law of nations. The Spanish Regulation claims to treat neutral vessels recaptured from the enemy after twenty-four hours' possession by the latter as enemies' property. The exact converse of this proposition is the true rule of the law of nations. Primâ facie, and before condemnation, a neutral vessel in the hands of the captors, if recaptured, is to be restored to the neutral owner without salvage (vide Dana's Wheaton, p. 458; Valin's Traité de Prises, vol. ii, tit. 7, cap. 2 (Pistoye and Duverdy), and cases there cited, particularly the "Statira," p. 122, and "l'Esther," p. 130).

It is unnecessary at present to enter on the exceptions to this rule; it is enough to say that the proposition laid down in the Spanish Regulations, Article 12, is inadmissible.

Article 14 of the Regulations, which relates to contraband, is equally erroneous. That Article, in the case where one half of the cargo of a neutral vessel is contraband, claims to condemn the residue of the cargo and the ship. This is contrary to the established law of nations as practised in modern times. The presence of one-half (or any other proportion) of contraband cargo does not justify the condemnation of the innocent residue, or of the ship. (Vide Dana's Wheaton, p. 665, note, and "Ortolan," Règles Internationales, vol. ii, l. iii, cap. 6.)

The claim in the same Article to condemn the ship and cargo on the ground of carriage of "official despatches" generally without limitation, is also unfounded. It is not the fact that the carriage of all official despatches work a condemnation. On the contrary, diplomatic despatches are lawfully carried by a neutral vessel (vide case of "Caroline," 6, Robinson's Reports, and Dana's note to Wheaton, p. 643); and the mere fact that despatches are found on board a neutral vessel, in the absence of fraud or actual interposition in the service of the enemy, is no ground of confiscation (Hallech, p. 643).

We therefore advise that Her Majesty's Government should object to the belligerent claims asserted in the above-mentioned Articles.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 125, February 6, 1874.

No. 166.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 21.)

Temple, February 20, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, inclosing a copy and translation of a note addressed to him by the late Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs complaining of the High Court of Admiralty having taken cognizance of the suit instituted against the "Murillo" by the owners of the "Northfleet."

That printed papers were also inclosed bearing on the case, and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what answer should be returned to Señor Carvajal's note.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Señor Sagasta may properly be informed, unofficially, that the terms in which the note of Señor Carvajal is expressed preclude Her Majesty's Government from making any reply to it, but that Her Majesty's Government will be ready to consider any communications which may be addressed to them by Señor Sagasta on the subject of the condemnation of the "Murillo."

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 167.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 27.)

Temple, March 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Consul-General in the Havana, respecting the claims of Messrs. Ruthven, Whitman, and Co. against the Government of Cuba; and that he was to request that we would take that case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That there seems to be little doubt that Mr. Whitman has been greatly prejudiced by the suspension of payment in specie by the Bank, but upon the facts disclosed we think that there is no proper foundation for any interference on his behalf by your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 168.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 2.)

Temple, March 31, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office respecting the claim of Mr. Kynock against the Spanish Government for compensation on account of the seizure of his property by the authorities, arising out of the Cuban insurrection.

That Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to us a despatch upon that subject from Her Majesty's Consul-General at Havana, to whom the letter from the Colonial Office was referred; and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

1874

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Kynock, the memorialist, appears to have managed the estate of Figueredo Brothers in Cuba, under arrangements that he should receive a salary from them. In September 1868 the salary was in arrear, and there was due to him on that and other accounts about 20,000 dollars. He received from Figueredos a notarial document, and by virtue of this became a preferential creditor, having a charge on the estate for the payment of his claims.

On the breaking out of the insurrection, in which Figueredos was seriously compromised, he got together the stock, &c., on the estate, and handed them to the Spanish authorities. He obtained judgment in a suit against his employers, and in part satisfaction of his judgment received from the Spanish authorities the proceeds of the stock, &c., which had been sold by them, thus reducing his debt to something over 14,000 dollars, for which he still had a charge on the estate, with the buildings, machinery, &c., thereon.

By Royal Decree the estates of insurgents were confiscated, the estate of Figueredos amongst the rest, and no doubt the estate and the property thereon have seriously deteriorated in value by the state of things arising out of the insurrection.

The Spanish Government have not, as far as we can gather the facts, realized any moneys from this estate. They recognize Mr. Kynock's claim, and say that if any funds accrue from the estate, which is said to be at present abandoned, Mr. Kynock's demand would be perhaps favourably considered. (See Mr. Dunlop's letter.)

Mr. Dunlop further states "that were the Commission on embargoed estates to act with liberality, with equity towards foreigners, they would pay Mr. Kynock out of the aggregate funds of the general embargoed property in the island, but this they hitherto demur to doing," &c.

This course, it appears to us, might be liberal, but we doubt whether it would be equitable; for each embargoed estate should be liable rather for the debts secured on it than for those secured on others.

According to Mr. Dunlop the Spanish authorities might be willing to give up the estate to Mr. Kynock, but he says, "Mr. Kynock might not be induced to accept this."

We fail to see that, under these circumstances, any claim can be properly made against the Spanish Government by Her Majesty's Government.

Mr. Dunlop, however, says that he is informed the Spanish Government have paid some almost similar claims due to American citizens, and we think that further information should be obtained as to the nature of these claims, or circumstances under which they have been satisfied; this information might enable Her Majesty's Government to make a representation to the Spanish Government that they should satisfy Mr. Kynock's claim (he giving up all interest in the property charged with his debt) in the same way that the American claims have been settled.

Mr. Dunlop refers to a case of Messrs. Baring, recently before the Foreign Office, as to which we have no information.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 169.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 11.)

Temple, April 10, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 23rd March last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* with reference to the murder of a British subject, James Roberts, which occurred at Huelva, in Spain, in 1871; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what steps can properly be taken in the matter.

---

* List.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we do not clearly understand whether an appeal againt the Seville sentence has or has not been prosecuted, though it appears by a memorandum on No. 269 that Lord Granville thought that it should be proceeded with.

But whether this appeal has or has not been prosecuted, we see no ground upon which Her Majesty's Government can apply to the Spanish Government to make compensation to the widow of Mr. Roberts on account of her sufferings and poverty consequent upon and resulting from the death of her husband.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 170.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received April 20.)

Temple, April 18, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th ultimo, stating that, with reference to a Report which was received in December last from our predecessors, in regard to the proceedings of the authorities at Jamaica with regard to the steamer "Virginius," he was directed by the Earl of Derby to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office, forwarding a Report from the Governor of Jamaica upon the subject.

That Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to us the accompanying printed correspondence in the matter, which, for our convenience, had been marked with reference to the papers alluded to by the Governor in his Report, together with certain papers connected with the case of the "Edgar Stewart," a vessel to which he also referred.

That he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the proceedings of the Governor of Jamaica as regards the "Virginius" should be approved.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Governor of Jamaica was placed in a position of very considerable difficulty, for whilst, on the one hand, the circumstances which were brought to his notice were such as to give rise to very grave suspicions that an offence against the Foreign Enlistment Act was about to be committed, it is, on the other hand, difficult, if not impossible, to point out in what respect such an offence was committed as would have justified the detention of the "Virginius," and, so far as the materials before us enable us to judge, we are of opinion that, if the ship had been arrested, a conviction could not have been obtained.

Under all the circumstances of the case, we advise your Lordship that the approval of his conduct in relation to the "Virginius" should not be withheld.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 171.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 29, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 16th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid* respecting the claim of Pedro Cazacaro against the Government of Spain, on account of the double duty on some silver lead, his property, which he had paid to the late revolutionary Junta at Carthagena. Lord Tenterden was also pleased to transmit to us a memorandum which has been prepared in the Foreign Office† on the refusal of legitimate Govern-

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 248, March 23, 1874.

† April 11, 1874.

1874

ments to recognize the payment of customs duties made to de facto Governments, together with a letter from Mr. Kelly respecting his claim against the Mexican Government on account of duties paid twice over, and the reply which was sent to him after consultation with the then Law Officers of the Crown.*

Lord Tenterden was pleased to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we may have to offer thereupon, and with our opinion as to the instructions which should be addressed to Mr. Layard as regards M. Cazacaro's claim.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we are not aware of the kind of claims which the Acting Vice-Consul at Carthagena heads under Class 5.

But in reading the letter of Pedro Cazacaro's, on whose behalf the claim is put forward, we entertain very considerable doubt whether the payment enforced by the Junta can properly in any sense be called an export duty.

The imposition seems rather to have been a payment exacted from him for leave to remove his property from one place to another, merely for the sake of supposed greater security.

In this view of the case, we are of opinion that your Lordship cannot properly instruct Mr. Layard to support the claim.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 172.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 30.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 30, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the despatches, as marked in the margin,† relative to the wreck of the British vessel "Conflict" on the coast of Mindanao in the year 1864; and Mr. Bourke was pleased to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in making a claim upon the Spanish Government for the restoration to Lloyd's agent of merchandize in the custom-houses of Manila and Langoa stated to be a portion of the cargo of the "Conflict."

A letter from Lloyd's‡ requesting that steps may be taken by Her Majesty's Government towards procuring restoration of the goods in question was also inclosed.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the ship referred to in the letter of Mr. Coates of the 30th September, 1872, was certainly not the "Conflict," since the remaining letters of the ship's name were "tine," and the story of a tombstone with an inscription having been at any time put up in memory of persons murdered by or with the sufferance of the authorities is at the least very strange.

The goods said to be in the custom-house at Manila seem to have been identified as having formed part of the cargo of the "Conflict," whenever and under what circumstances she may have been lost, and so far we can gather from the correspondence, the authorities are disposed to give them up when satisfied of the rights of the claimants of those goods.

The ship was lost ten years ago, and though the British Consul might or ought to have been informed of her loss, we think that omission and the consequent (if consequent) delay cannot be made a ground of complaint, and that upon the whole Her Majesty's Government would not be justified in making a claim upon the Spanish Government.

But it is a case in which your Lordship might not improperly instruct Mr. Layard to bring the matter unofficially to the notice of the Spanish Government, that the property may be restored with as little delay as possible to the rightful owners.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Kelly, July 17; to Mr. Kelly, August 5, 1872.

† Mr. Ricketts, No. 21, January 14, 1874; Mr. Coates, No. 16, September 30, 1872.

‡ Lloyd's, April 19.

No. 173.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 9.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 8, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 18th April ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers, as marked in the margin,* having reference to the proceedings of the Spanish authorities at Porman in sending the British steamer "Robert Ingham" to Port Mahon to perform quarantine notwithstanding that she was provided with a clean bill of health; and that he was to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether, under the circumstances, Her Majesty's Government would be borne out in making a claim upon the Spanish Government for compensation for the owners of the "Robert Ingham" on account of the losses they may have sustained by reason of the detention to which their vessel was improperly subjected.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the case into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government will be fully borne out in making the claim referred to in Mr. Bourke's letter.

We beg to add that in the present state of affairs in Spain there may be great difficulty in exacting this payment; but we think that consideration is no reason against making the claim, since the misconduct of the Spanish officials is without excuse.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 174.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 9, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 29th April ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,† respecting the claims of British subjects arising out of the recent bombardment of Carthagena; and that he, Lord Tenterden, was also to inclose to us a Report‡ upon those claims by Mr. Pauli, Her Majesty's late Consul at Carthagena, then in this country, to whom Mr. Layard's despatches were referred; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions which should be addressed to Mr. Layard in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship cannot properly instruct Mr. Layard to make any representation to the Government at Madrid which would place British subjects who may have suffered loss at Carthagena in a better or different footing for compensation than that in which Spanish subjects similarly situated may stand.

As a matter of international right and a subject for diplomatic interference Government cannot be held responsible for injuries inflicted on the property or person.

---

* Mr. Layard, Nos. 2 and 3, January 2; No. 6, January 16; No. 12, February 21; No. 16, March 16; Board of Trade, January 20; Mr. Mathew Cay, March 28, 1874.

† Mr. Layard, Nos. 190 and 191.

‡ April 24.

1874

of foreigners resident in the country by insurgents engaged in armed hostility to the Government, and which injuries the Government had not the power to prevent.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 175.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 29th ultimo, inclosing, for our opinion, certain papers relative to the claims of British subjects against the Spanish Government on account of losses sustained by them during the insurrection at Carthegena, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two despatches from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,* showing the steps that have been taken with regard to similar claims brought forward by German and Italian subjects; and to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, together with the correspondence already before us.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have taken into consideration the letters of Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid showing the steps that have been taken by the Spanish Government with respect to the claims brought forward by German and Italian subjects on account of losses sustained by them during the insurrection at Carthagena, but it appears to us that there were special circumstances in connection with each of such cases which led to the claims being recognized by the Spanish Government, and we see no reason to alter the opinion expressed by us in our Report bearing even date with this, and made in answer to your Lordship's letter of the 29th ultimo.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 176.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 16.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 16, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd April ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,† respecting the circumstances connected with the seizure and detention of certain arms, &c., which were found on board a vessel named the "Village Bride" by the authorities of Jamaica.

Lord Tenterden was also to say that the case was referred to the late Law Officers of the Crown in December last, but as they expressed no opinion as to whether the proceedings of the Governor of Jamaica should be approved, he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion on that point.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the proceedings of the Governor-General of Jamaica in connection with the seizure and detention of arms on board the "Village Bride" may properly be approved.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 273, April 23; No. 283, April 27, 1874.

† Colonial Office, December 22, 1873; to Colonial Office, March 17; Colonial Office, March 27, 1874.

No. 177.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 27.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 26, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompaning papers, as marked in the margin,* relative to the proceedings of Spanish revenue vessels and revenue officers in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar, and the orders said to have been issued by the Spanish Government in regard to the seizure of vessels suspected of smuggling.

The case of the "Sol," to which reference is made in this correspondence, is submitted for our consideration in Lord Tenterden's other letter of this date.

As regards the "Jesu Nazareno," Lord Tenterden stated that your Lordship has not yet received sufficient information to enable your Lordship to lay the case before us.

But in addition to these special cases, Lord Tenterden stated that it appears to your Lordship that the general proceedings of the Spanish authorities in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar, taken in conjunction with their recent proceedings in other parts of the world, viz., the capture of the "Deerhound" in the Bay of Biscay, of the "Virginius" in the West Indies, and of the "Marie Louise" and "Gazelle" in the Sulu Archipelago, are such as to call for the serious attention of Her Majesty's Government; and Lord Tenterden was therefore to request that we would take the accompanying papers into consideration, together with those inclosed in his other letter of the same date, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should be pursued in the matter to which they relate.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That of the seven vessels referred to in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th instant, three, viz., the "Jesu Nazareno," the "Fuen Santa," and the "Sol," have been seized by Spanish cruizers on suspicion of being engaged in smuggling; we propose to consider the cases of those three vessels in the first instance.

The "Jesu Nazareno" was a Spanish vessel, on a voyage from Gibraltar to Melilla, and was seized on the 10th March last and taken to Algeciras for adjudication. It does not appear whether any adjudication has yet taken place. It is stated that the seizure took place in British waters, within half a mile of Gibraltar; if this be so, the seizure was altogether unjustifiable, and, in our opinion, affords sufficient grounds for strong remonstrance and for demand of compensation to the owners of the cargo, who were British merchants at Gibraltar.

The "Fuen Santa" was a British schooner on a voyage from Gibraltar to Oran, and was seized and taken to Almeria for adjudication on the 9th April last; she has been since condemned by the Almeria Court, and the decree of condemnation is under appeal at Madrid. As regards this vessel, it is stated that the seizure took place on the high seas; if this be so, her seizure by the Spanish cruizer was also unjustifiable, and, in like manner, affords sufficient grounds for remonstrance and claim for compensation.

It is stated that the Spanish revenue officers have openly avowed their intention of seizing suspected vessels, of whatever nationality and in whatever waters they may be, and have asserted that they have received the orders of their Government so to act; under ordinary circumstances, your Lordship would probably not deem it necessary to notice intemperate expressions on the part of revenue officers, but as in the two instances to which we have just referred the Spanish officers have acted in a manner consistent with their having received such orders, we would suggest to your Lordship that there exist sufficient grounds for requiring from the Spanish Government a disavowal of any such orders having been given, and an assurance that sufficient means should be taken to prevent for the future any similar infractions of the rules of international law.

The "Sol" forms the subject of a separate Report of even date herewith, but it may be convenient to state that she was a Spanish ship on a voyage from Gibraltar to Melilla, and was seized on the 14th May, 1873, and taken to Algeciras, where she was condemned, and such condemnation has been confirmed at Madrid; she was clearly out of British waters at the time of her seizure, and as she was sailing under the

---

* Mr. Layard, Nos. 271, 280, and 287.

Spanish flag, it is immaterial to consider whether she was within Spanish waters or on the high seas; there does not appear to us to have been any irregularity in her seizure on the ground of jurisdiction.

As regards each of these three vessels, the further question arises whether the suspicions upon which they were seized were well founded; it is asserted that each of them was freighted with perfectly legitimate cargo, shipped by highly respectable merchants at Gibraltar; in each case the presence of tobacco on board appears to have been the alleged ground for seizure; it is suggested that such tobacco was placed on board by connivance with the revenue officers, or at any rate under circumstances which should exonerate the shippers of legitimate cargo from the penalty of confiscation. The facts as to these suggestions are not as yet clearly ascertained; whatever they may eventually turn out to be, it appears to us that, apart from the circumstances indicating illegal seizure of the "Jesu Nazareno" and the "Fuen Santa," each of the three vessels has been brought before a competent Tribunal for adjudication, and if the proceedings before such Tribunals were conducted with justice and propriety, there could be no ground for doing otherwise than submitting to their decisions.

It is, however, alleged that a corrupt system prevails amongst the Customs authorities in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar, and is to some extent connived at by persons in authority at Madrid, by the operation of which system the innocent shippers of legitimate cargo are seriously damnified; this system and the reasons for believing that it very generally prevails are so fully detailed and explained in Mr. Layard's despatch of the 24th April, 1874, that we need not further allude to it, beyond drawing your Lordship's attention to the statement of Mr. Layard that the adjudication condemning a vessel and confiscating its cargo takes place in the Courts of Spain in the absence of the owners of cargo, who are not allowed to appear and support their interests, a course of proceeding which we think cannot but lead to injustice in cases in which the master of the vessel is in league with the revenue officer.

How far your Lordship may think fit to make these important matters, which have been brought to your notice by Mr. Layard's letter, the subject of diplomatic remonstrance or negotiation, it is not for us to suggest. We can only observe that if the system described by Mr. Layard really prevails, there is too much reason to fear that, notwithstanding the appearance of judicial proceeding, justice is substantially ignored.

We do not think that the cases of the four other ships substantially affect the questions to which we have above adverted, though in some of them there are to be observed like indications on the part of the Spanish Government of a disregard of the rules of international law and of the courtesies recognized between civilized nations.

The real facts of the capture of the "Deerhound" were never, we believe, accurately ascertained. She was restored, and Her Majesty's Government declined to ask for any compensation for her owners or crew.

The "Virginius" was not a British vessel, and all the circumstances affecting her were of a very special character.

The cases of the "Marie Louise" and the "Gazelle" are, we understand, still under the consideration of the Spanish Government, and of the Government to which these vessels belong.

But should your Lordship deem it right to pursue any course generally with reference to the conduct of the Spanish Government, or the officers of that Government, in seizing vessels on the high seas, or otherwise illegally, your Lordship might properly represent, either through Mr. Layard or to the Spanish Minister in this country, that in order to avoid the risk of misunderstanding between the two countries, you would desire and you would learn with pleasure that the Spanish Government had instructed Spanish officers to respect British waters and the British flag on the high seas.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 178.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 27.)

My Lord,

Temple, May 26, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence upon the subject of the claim of Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co., of Glasgow, to be compensated for the seizure and condemnation of certain goods belonging to them shipped on board the Spanish vessel "Sol," which vessel was seized near Gibraltar by a Spanish guardacosta on the 14th May last year.

That Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should be pursued in regard to Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co.'s claim.

That in considering that case Lord Tenterden was to request that we would also direct our attention to the despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid inclosed in his further letter of that day's date, which threw considerable light upon the probable causes of the proceedings of the Spanish authorities in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it is clear from the evidence furnished to the Governor of Gibraltar (No. 3, annexed to the letter of General Sir W. F. Williams of the 11th October, 1873), that the capture took place outside British waters. The vessel being Spanish, it is unimportant to consider whether she was on the high seas or in Spanish waters.

Further, she was carrying as part of her cargo tobacco, which it is stated she was not permitted by the law of Spain to carry, and the carrying of which made her and all the rest of the cargo liable to confiscation.

The real facts probably were (as given in Annex 3, above referred to) that she was designedly sailed into the hands of the captors by her master, and that this case is another instance of the dishonesty and corruption of Spanish traders and officials, described in the despatch (under date the 24th April, 1874) from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, as prevailing so much in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar.

But the dishonesty of the master, and the loss of British property occasioned by that dishonesty, do not of themselves, in our opinion, afford any ground for diplomatic interference or of complaint against the Spanish Government.

As regards the general conduct of the Spanish Government in relation to vessels alleged by them to be suspected of smuggling, we beg to refer your Lordship to our Report, bearing even date herewith, on the subject of the "Jesu Nazareno" and other vessels captured by the Spanish cruizers.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 179.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 28.)

My Lord,

Lincoln's Inn, May 26, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd March ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying papers, as marked in the margin,* relative to the claims of Spain to exercise sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, and to various questions arising out of that claim.

Mr. Lister said that a summary of what had passed on the subject would be found in the accompanying memorandum,† which also indicated the points which more particularly required consideration.

Mr. Lister also said that we would observe that, in accordance with the advice of the late Law Officers of the Crown, Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid was instructed, on the 9th ultimo, to make a strong representation to the Spanish Government relative to the proceedings of the Spanish authorities in Sulu and at Manila towards the British subjects and property seized on board the German vessel "Marie Louise," and that Mr. Layard had also been instructed to explain the inadvertent publication in the "London Gazette" of a notice of the blockade of Sulu ports which was communicated to Lord Granville by the Spanish Representative in this country in August 1871.

* Four bound volumes; Correspondence in 1874, unbound; list.

† Memorandum, July 1873; supplementary memorandum, February 1874.

1874

Mr. Lister also said that we would further see that Mr. Layard had been instructed to protest against the prohibition of the resort of vessels to the Sulu territories, and to call upon the Spanish Government to confine the prohibition to vessels engaged in illegal traffic.

That the Spanish Government, however, had as yet shown no disposition to relax the terms of the prohibition to trade, and that the recent proceedings of the Spanish officials with regard to the German vessels "Marie Louise" and "Gazelle" tend to show that the prohibition was being carried out in the most rigorous manner.

That in the circumstances your Lordship considered that it was very desirable that Her Majesty's Government should come to a decision upon the question of the Spanish claim to sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, which, as stated in Lord Granville's despatch to Mr. Layard No. 154 of the 20th October last, had never been acknowledged by Her Majesty's Government.

And that he (Mr. Lister) was therefore to request that we would take the accompanying papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion—

1. As to the validity of the Spanish claim to sovereignty.
2. As to the extent to which Her Majesty's Government would be justified in remonstrating against such claim, and interfering in regard thereto.
3. What steps Her Majesty's Government would be justified in taking for the protection of the persons and property of British subjects engaged in legitimate trade with Sulu.

Mr. Lister was also to add that her Majesty's Government were acting in the matter in communication with the Government of Germany.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Spanish claim to sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, if it can be maintained at all, must be rested on the Treaty of the 19th April, 1851. At the time when this Treaty was concluded, the rights of Spain in respect of the territories of the Sultan of Sulu were limited to a Protectorate under the Treaty of 1836, as any more extensive rights under earlier Treaties, if they ever existed, must be regarded as having been surrendered when that Treaty came into force.

Now the Treaty of 1851 was sufficient to confer upon Spain full sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, unless the Sultan was precluded from entering into such an arrangement by reason of his previous Treaty (29th May, 1849) with Great Britain; but as regards this latter Treaty, it is to be noted that it has never been ratified.

The two Treaties (those of 1849 and 1851) became the subject of a lengthened correspondence between the British and Spanish Governments, in the course of which the latter distinctly asserted their claim to sovereignty, and protested against the ratification (which was then contemplated) of the Treaty of 1849. This correspondence was closed in June 1852, without any definite arrangement being come to, it being deemed expedient by the British Government (see Lord Malmesbury's minute) that the matter should "sleep."

In 1860 Spain resorted to a very strong exercise of her asserted claim to sovereignty by giving notice of an intention to close the ports of Sulu against foreign trade. This led to remonstrance, in the course of which a proposal was made to place the Sulu Archipelago under the joint Protectorate of Great Britain, Spain, and Holland, but this proposal was not proceeded with, and the matter again dropped.

In 1865 the question of the relations between Spain and Sulu was referred by the Home Government to that of India, who reported that the Spanish Government had a right to the sovereignty of Sulu.

Under these circumstances, it appears to us that, whilst on the one hand it is quite true, as stated by Mr. Green in his memorandum, that Her Majesty's Government has never recognized the validity of the claims of Spain, it is, on the other, equally true that Her Majesty's Government, with a full knowledge of all the facts, has stood by and allowed the claims to be acted upon, and, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government would not now be justified in further remonstrating against such claims.

We further think that, upon the assumption that the Sulu territories are under the sovereignty of Spain, the Spanish Government has the right of prohibiting all or any trade with the ports in those territories, but that such right must be enforced against all nations alike, subject to such Treaty obligations (if any) as may be in force.

It is possible that the representations which have been made to the Spanish Government upon the subject of the excesses committed by the Spanish cruizers in connection with the capture of the "Marie Louise" may lead to some arrangement that may put an end to the present unsatisfactory state of the relations between the two countries as regards the Sulu territories, and the interest which Germany has in the matter may aid in bringing about such an arrangement. Should any negotiations with such an object be entered into, the affording reasonable trading facilities to British subjects, and their protection in such trading, would of course be brought under consideration.

In the meanwhile, Her Majesty's Government will be justified in taking such steps for securing the persons and property of British subjects engaged in legitimate trade with Sulu as are usually taken in similar cases where the subjects of friendly States are concerned.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 180.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 1, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th May ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,* relative to the liability of British subjects resident in Spain to be called upon to pay over again to the Republican Government taxes and contributions already exacted by the Carlists; and to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions that should be sent to Mr. Layard upon the subject.

That of the two previous despatches to which Mr. Layard referred, No. 191 was sent to the Law Officers on the 29th April with reference to the Carthagena claims; that No. 248 was sent to us on the 16th April with reference to M. Cazacaro's claim, and returned with our Report of the 28th April, that it was sent again therewith for convenience of reference, together with the other papers inclosed in his (Lord Tenterden's) letter of the 16th April.†

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid may properly be instructed to protest against the liability of British subjects resident in Spain to be called upon to pay over again to the Republican Government taxes and contributions which have been already exacted from them by the Carlists.

But Her Majesty's Minister should at the same time be instructed that he be careful not to interfere in cases in which the taxes and contributions levied by the Carlists have been paid voluntarily or without protest, or under circumstances from which it may fairly be inferred that they were aiding the Carlist movement, as in such cases the principle that payment to a de facto Government is a discharge of an obligation to the Government of the country could not with propriety be applied.

The principle applicable to the questions asked in Lord Tenterden's present letter is not the same with those upon which we framed our Reports to your Lordship in the matters of the Carthagena claims and M. Cazacaro's claim, to which Lord Tenterden also refers.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 269, April 22, 1874.

† Mr. Layard, No. 248, March 22; Memorandum, April 11, 1874; Mr. Kelly, July 17; to Mr. Kelly, August 8, 1872.

1874

No. 181.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 8.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 5, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th May ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Maclachlan[*] requesting to be furnished with copies of the despatches received at the Foreign Office from Her Majesty's Consul at Bilbao, showing the disturbed state of the district as affecting trade and commerce in the port of Bilbao in the month of August last.

Mr. Lister was at the same time to transmit to us the despatches from Her Majesty's Consul bearing upon the subject;[†] and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Mr. Maclachlan's request can be properly complied with.

In obedience with your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That since the despatches from Her Majesty's Consuls to the Foreign Office are confidential, we are of opinion that it may be prejudicial to the public service if their contents are communicated to private persons, and to serve private interests, and we think that the request of Mr. Maclachlan cannot therefore properly be complied with.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 182.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 26, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, with its inclosures, respecting the seizure and condemnation by the Spanish authorities of Algeciras of the British trading vessel the "Maria Tadeo;" and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That with the information before us we can only say that the conduct of Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid in the matter of the "Maria Tadeo" may properly be approved.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 183.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 6.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 23rd June ultimo, stating that on the receipt of our Reports of the 26th May ultimo, your Lordship addressed to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid instructions, drafts of which were inclosed,[‡] relative to the recent proceedings of Spanish customs cruizers in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar. That since those instructions were sent, the accompanying despatch had been received from Mr. Layard[§] reporting the seizure by two Spanish guardacostas on the 28th May ultimo of another British vessel, the "Volta," while on a lawful voyage from Gibraltar to Laraiche with a general cargo, and having her papers in perfect order.

That we would see that in the course of the case pretensions were put forward on the part of the Spanish authorities, first to the right of searching vessels of any nationality that might come within seven and a-half statute miles of the Spanish coast, although they might not be bound to any Spanish port; and, secondly, to the right to insist, under penalty of fine or confiscation, upon the production by such vessels of manifests drawn up in accordance with Spanish Customs Regulations.

That these pretensions appearing to your Lordship to be totally inadmissible, your Lordship had caused the accompanying draft to be prepared of an instruction to Mr. Layard approving the steps he had already taken in the matter, directing him to claim the payment of reasonable demurrage to the owners of the "Volta," and instructing him to address a strong protest to the Spanish Government against the unreasonable pretensions put forward by their Customs authorities, and warning them of the serious consequences which might ensue thereupon.

That a letter, with its inclosures, from the Colonial Office[*] upon the same subject was also sent therewith.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the papers into our immediate consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion upon the proposed instruction to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the proposed instruction to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid is, in our opinion, proper.

We have, &c,
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 184.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 6.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 26th May, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office,[†] together with a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,[‡] respecting the case of the vessel "Jesu Nazareno;" and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

For our convenience, Lord Tenterden also transmitted to us the previous correspondence connected with the case.[§]

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship properly approved of the letter from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid inclosed in his despatch No. 382 to your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 185.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 10, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd June last, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 26th May ultimo respecting the case of the "Sol," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit

---

[*] Mr. Maclachlan, May 25, 1874.

[†] Consul Young, Nos. 47 and 48, July 30, 1873.

[‡] Nos. 164 and 165, June 12.

[§] No. 385, June 8.

[*] Colonial Office, June 20.

[†] June 11.

[‡] Mr. Layard, No. 382.

[§] Mr. Whitelaw, M.P., April 13; to ditto, April 22; to Colonial Office, April 22; to Mr Layard, No. 174, June 15, 1874.

1874

to us the accompanying letter from Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co.,* the owners of that vessel, to whom your Lordship communicated the substance of our above-mentioned Report; and that he was to request that we would take this letter into our consideration, together with the previous papers connected with the case,† therewith returned to us, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer that should be returned thereto.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden of the 30th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 22nd June ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, to be considered together with the papers already before us, the accompanying letter from Mr. Whitelaw, M.P.,‡ inclosing a memorial from Messrs Pirrie, Foote, and Co., relative to the confiscation of the goods belonging to them which were seized on board the Spanish vessel "Sol" near Gibraltar.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the regular mode and course of trial, both in the Court below and in the Court of Appeal, would appear to have been observed, and the two Courts were competent.

The ship was beyond British waters at the time of seizure, and was a Spanish ship, and therefore amenable and subject to Spanish law whether in Spanish waters or on the high seas.

In this state of the case, we are of opinion that Messrs. Pirrie may properly be answered that your Lordship cannot interfere on their behalf.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 186.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 1st July instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Messrs. Beynon and Co.§ relative to a claim which they proposed to make upon the Spanish Government for the value of certain coal shipped by them on board the Spanish vessel "Teresita," which vessel, though bound from Cardiff to Barcelona, was, Messrs. Beynon state, forced by stress of weather to put into Bermeo, a small port to the eastward of Bilbao, at that time in the possession of the Carlists, by whom the cargo of the "Teresita" was seized.

Lord Tenterden was also to state that the case did not seem to your Lordship to be one in which Her Majesty's Government could properly support a claim against the Government of Spain; but, before answering Messrs. Beynon to that effect, that your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion upon the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the claim of Messrs. Beynon cannot, in our opinion, properly be supported by Her Majesty's Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 187.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th July instant, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report of the 10th April last, upon the subject of the murder at Huelva, in Spain, on the 2nd July, 1871, of Mr. James Frederick Roberts, a British subject, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two further despatches, and their inclosures, from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid* upon the subject; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take these despatches into our consideration, together with the previous papers which were sent therewith, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any, and if so, what, further steps should be taken in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That no further steps can, in our opinion, properly be taken in this matter.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 188.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st July ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid† upon the subject of a long-pending claim against the Spanish Government arising out of the capture, in 1860, off Cadiz, of the British schooner "Criticado," belonging to a Mr. Marcella, a British subject.

A memorandum upon the case is also inclosed,‡ from which we see that there is strong reason to suspect that, at the time of her capture, the "Criticado" was engaged in an illegal enterprise; but that, it having been proved that the capture took place out of Spanish waters, she was eventually acquitted and released, after a detention of twenty-three months, during which time both vessel and cargo suffered much deterioration, on account of which Mr. Marcella claims compensation.

The correspondence that has passed upon the subject is also inclosed,§ in case we should wish to refer to any of the papers mentioned in the memorandum.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion—

1. As to whether the claim of Mr. Marcella should be further pressed upon the Spanish Government; and

2. As to what notice should be taken of the principle laid down in the note from the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs to Mr. Layard of the 9th ultimo with regard to the general question of indemnity in cases of illegal capture.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the broad fact in this case is the seizure of a British ship on the high seas. This seizure, independent altogether of other circumstances, was illegal, and afforded grounds for insisting upon immediate redress from the Spanish Government, and that notwithstanding any rules or principles of Spanish procedure or Spanish law.

But the seizure was fourteen years ago, and though this delay is merely a matter for observation, yet a resort to strong measures now would not, in our opinion, be advisable on the part of Her Majesty's Government, particularly as the conduct of those connected with the ship and her voyage was entirely indefensible.

If the above were the only circumstances to be taken into consideration, we should be disposed to think that the claim of Mr. Marcella should not be further pressed upon the Spanish Government; but having regard to what we cannot but consider the extravagant and erroneous views put forward by the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs in his note of the 9th ultimo, we think that Mr. Layard may properly be instructed to state, in reply to that note, that Her Majesty's Government cannot recognize as consistent with international law the views put forward by him upon the general question of indemnity in cases of illegal capture, and that Her Majesty's

---

* June 16.

† List.

‡ Mr. Whitelaw, M.P., June 26, 1874.

§ June 24, 1874.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 397, Confidential, June 15; ditto, No. 398, June 18, 1874.

† Mr. Layard, No. 31, Commercial, June 11, 1874.

‡ Memorandum, June 24, 1874.

§ One volume in wrapper, 1860–70.

1874

Government will consequently, unless the practice of the Spanish Courts and action of the Spanish Government are at once changed, be compelled to secure a proper indemnity by the detention of Spanish ships in every case where a British vessel has been illegally seized on the high seas.

Until the effect upon the Spanish Government of such a representation has been ascertained, we think that the claim in respect of the "Criticado" had better not be prominently referred to.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 189.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 10.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 8, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th July ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 29th April, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to the claim of Mr. Pedro Cazacaro to be reimbursed the export duty levied on certain lead shipped by him from Escombreras in February last, on which he alleges he had already paid export duty to the insurgents at Carthagena.

We see that Mr. Cazacaro has now furnished a voucher in support of his statement that the payment made to the insurgents was on account of export duty; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether we see any reason to modify the opinion given in our Report above referred to.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That in Mr. Cazacaro's letter to the Vice-Consul at Carthagena, dated the 21st February, 1874, he stated that, considering his property (certain pigs of lead) to be unsafe at Carthagena, he determined to remove it to Escombreras, and there deposit it at the works of M. Roux, in whose possession he considered it "would be safe and obtainable at any time for shipment." He further stated that the insurgent Junta allowed him to "retire the lead to Escombreras on the terms that he paid the export duty on the same," and that he paid such duty accordingly. It further appears from the same letter that no steps whatever were taken by him to export the lead from Escombreras until the following month of February, when, upon his applying for permission to ship the lead to England, the Government required payment of the full export duty. From this statement one inference only could be drawn, viz., that the payment made in September was for the removal of his property from Carthagena to a place of greater safety. In his letter, however, of the 23rd May, 1874, he states that the amount paid by him was the full amount of the export duty from Carthagena to England, and he produces a voucher for such payment, which, on the face of it, appears to be a receipt for the export duty to Escombreras and England. It is to be observed that there was no continuous transit of the property from Carthagena to England, nor any explanation offered why the property, having been dispatched from Carthagena to Escombreras in September 1873, remained there without any attempt to forward it until the following month of February. These facts are certainly more consistent with the view put forward by him in his first letter than with that adopted in the second.

It does not at present appear whether the Spanish Government demanded the second payment of export duty on the ground that they did not recognize the payment made to the insurgents in September, or upon the ground that the payment so made was for transit from Carthagena to Escombreras only.

Upon the whole, we think that, having regard to the form of the receipt given in September for the payment then made, Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid might properly be directed to draw the attention of the Spanish Government to the claim of Mr. Cazacaro in respect of his having been called upon to pay the export duty for his lead a second time. The reply of the Government would probably indicate upon what ground the second payment was demanded.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 190.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 14th July ultimo, stating that upon receipt of the Law Officers' Report of the 31st March relative to Mr. Kynock's claim on the Government of Cuba, your Lordship addressed to Her Majesty's Consul-General at the Havana a despatch, draft of which was inclosed, informing him that under the circumstances Her Majesty's Government failed to see that any claim could properly be made by them on behalf of Mr. Kynock, but also instructing him to furnish a report upon certain American claims of a somewhat similar nature which were stated to have been paid, and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to transmit to us the reply which had been received from the Consul-General,* and to request that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether there is anything in that despatch which would induce us to modify the opinion expressed in the above-mentioned Report of the 31st March.

Lord Tenterden also stated that the previous papers submitted were therewith sent.†

We were also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden dated the 20th July ultimo, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 14th July, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter, and its inclosures, from the Colonial Office,‡ relative to the claim of Mr. William Kynock to compensation for property seized by the Spanish authorities in Cuba; and to request that we would take these inclosed papers into our consideration, together with those already before us.

We are also honoured with another letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 28th July last, stating that, with reference to his letters of the 14th and 20th July, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further papers § relative to Mr. Kynock's claim against the Spanish authorities at Cuba, and to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, together with those already before us.

Lord Tenterden was also pleased to forward a note, dated the 29th July, 1874, in which he stated that he begged to forward therewith some further inclosures in Sir J. Elphinstone's letter of the 24th July, relative to the claim of Mr. Kynock on the Spanish authorities in Cuba.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the statements in Mr. Dunlop's despatch, and in the further papers transmitted to us, very materially alter the position of Mr. Kynock's claim.

It appears that he had a claim on the estate recognized by Spanish law at the time when the estate was seized by the military authorities.

That by the military occupation of the estate the sale of part of the stock and general wreck of the property consequent upon the military occupation, Mr. Kynock was unable to realize or obtain a money value for his claim.

It also appears that the Spanish Government has derived a benefit from the embargoed estate, but has kept no separate account of the funds arising out of that estate.

Moreover, certain American claims, though under a Commission, have been satisfied in cases similar in principle to that of Mr. Kynock.

---

* List.

---

* Mr. Dunlop, No. 22, June 10, 1874.
† Colonial Office, November 19, 1872; Mr. Dunlop, No. 8, Consular, February 4, 1874.
‡ Colonial Office, July 17, 1874.
§ Inclosures in Sir J. Elphinstone, July 24, 1874.

We are of opinion that the Spanish Government cannot refuse to entertain Mr. Kynock's claim because no separate account has been kept of the estate, and that Mr. Kynock's loss was occasioned by the action of the Spanish Government and its officials, and consequently that his claim is one which Her Majesty's Government may properly support.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 191.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 29th July last, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 13th July, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Messrs. Beynon and Co.,* inquiring why Her Majesty's Government decline to support their claim against the Spanish Government on account of certain goods shipped by them on board the Spanish vessel "Teresita" for Barcelona, which goods were seized by the Carlists at Bermeo, on the coast of Biscay.

Lord Tenterden further stated that he also inclosed a draft of the answer which it is proposed to return to Messrs. Beynon; and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether it properly explains the grounds upon which the support of Her Majesty's Government is refused. Lord Tenterden was pleased to add in a postscript that the previous papers were also sent therewith.†

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the proposed letter, in our opinion, properly explains the grounds upon which the support of Her Majesty's Government has been refused.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 192.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th August instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, and its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Madrid, relative to the proceedings of Spanish Customs authorities near Gibraltar in searching British vessels beyond the usually recognized limits of 3 miles from the Spanish coast.

That, from this despatch, the Spanish Government maintain their right to search all vessels, of whatever nationality, coming within the distance of 6 miles from the coast, even though such vessels may be apparently bound to foreign ports.

That this claim was founded on a Royal Order dated the 17th December, 1760, confirmed by further Orders dated the 1st May, 1775, and the 3rd May, 1830, and that, according to the assertion of the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs, no protest or reclamation had been made against these Orders, all Maritime Powers had acquiesced therein.

That it was unnecessary to lay before us all the correspondence that had passed upon this long-pending question, the papers sent therewith being amply sufficient to show that, so far from having acquiesced in the pretension put forward by Spain to a maritime jurisdiction of 6 miles, Great Britain had uniformly and strenuously resisted such pretension.

That the undermentioned papers left no doubt upon this point:—

Mr. Aston to Viscount Palmerston, No. 81, July 18, 1840.
Viscount Palmerston to Mr. Aston, No. 45, September 7, 1840.
Mr. Aston to Viscount Palmerston, No. 69, April 4, 1841.
Viscount Palmerston to Mr. Aston, No. 60, April 29, 1841.
Mr. Aston to Viscount Palmerston, No. 119, June 13, 1841.
Lord Howden and General Leisundi, May 11, 1853 (inclosed in No. 102 to the Earl of Clarendon).
The Earl of Clarendon to Lord Howden, No. 35, May 31, 1853.
The Earl of Clarendon to Mr. Otway, No. 55, September 20, 1853.
The Earl of Clarendon to Lord Howden, No. 12, April 14, 1852.
The Earl of Clarendon to Mr. Otway, No. 13, June 30, 1852.
Lord John Russell to Mr. Buchanan, No. 153, November 30, 1859.
Lord John Russell to Mr. Buchanan, No. 177, December 26, 1859.

That the collection of Law Officers' Reports would show the views taken of the question by successive legal advisers of the Crown.

That, in the various cases of seizure of British vessels which had lately taken place near Gibraltar, Her Majesty's Government, acting upon our advice, had maintained the same view that had been held throughout by Great Britain, i.e., that Spain had no right to exercise maritime jurisdiction at a greater distance than 3 miles from her coasts seaward, or within bays of the Spanish shore, and they had warned the Spanish Government of the serious consequences that might ensue from a persistence in the claim to a 6-mile limit.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take all these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer that should be returned to the note of the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs inclosed in Mr. Macdonell's despatch No. 53 of the 4th August.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs may properly be answered that Her Majesty's Government cannot recognize the right of the Spanish Government to extend its maritime jurisdiction beyond the general acknowledged limits of 3 miles.

Her Majesty's Government does not think it necessary to refer to the authority of writers upon international law, or to the decisions of the Courts of various countries, all agreeing in fixing 3 miles as the limit of territorial jurisdiction.

Indeed, if some limit were not agreed upon by different nations, some nations might claim an unlimited jurisdiction, and assume the right to stop and search vessels sailing under a foreign flag on any part of the high seas.

Her Majesty's Government regrets that the Spanish Minister has been, by inadvertence, led into the assertion that no protest or reclamation whatever has been presented against Orders issued by the Spanish Government founded upon the claim of that Government to a maritime boundary extending beyond 3 miles, and that all Maritime Powers have acquiesced in such Orders.

Her Majesty's Government has always uniformly and strenuously resisted that pretension on the part of the Spanish Government.

And if that pretension is still persisted in, and a ship sailing under the British flag is, whilst more than 3 miles from the Spanish coast, stopped, visited, detained, or seized by a Spanish vessel of war or custom-house vessel, Her Majesty's Government will immediately give orders for the seizure and detention of Spanish vessels wherever found, till full compensation is made to the Government for the insult to the British flag, and to the owners of the ship and cargo for the loss or inconvenience which they may have sustained.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* July 23, 1874.

† Messrs. Beynon and Co., June 24; to Law Officers, July 11; Law Officers, July 13; to Messrs. Beynon, July 15, 1874.

1874

No. 193.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us representations which had been addressed to your Lordship relative to certain Consular fees which the Spanish Government had recently ordered its Consular Agents in England to levy on merchandize exported from this country to Spain; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would that matter into consideration at our earliest convenience, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the right of Spanish Consular officers in this country to levy the duties or fees in question.

That there did not appear to be any Treaty stipulations between this country and Spain which bore on that particular point.

We are also honoured with a further letter, bearing date the 9th instant, respecting fees of Spanish Consuls in England.

We have also the honour to acknowledge a further letter from Mr. Lister, of the 14th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 9th instant on the subject of the fees or duties levied by Spanish Consular officers in this country, he had the honour to inclose therewith a despatch from Mr. Macdonell, inclosing the Tariff of Consular fees recently established by the Spanish Government, Article 48 of which appeared to concern more immediately the matter under consideration.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Spanish Government has the right to require Consular certificates for goods shipped from this country for Spanish ports, a right which it may enforce by refusing admission into Spain of goods not so certificated.

For his certificate the Spanish Consul has a right to demand a fee.

The question, if we are right, is therefore, in the present case, not to be confused by calling the fee a tax levied in this country on exports to Spain; nor to be affected by the amount of the fee.

The amount may be excessive, and out of all proportion to the value of the goods, and impolitic as a discouragement to trade.

And the fee may in effect, and therefore practically, and especially if Spanish Consular officers are paid by salary and not by fees, be a tax on exportation.

But these, which are the consequences of the fee, do not affect the right to levy the fees.

It is possible that the Spanish Government has been induced to take this objectionable step with a view of preventing the importation of arms and ammunition and articles of warlike use from this country into Spain, and any representation on the part of Her Majesty's Government might provoke an answer to which it would be difficult to find a reply.

But we think your Lordship might not improperly instruct Her Majesty's Representative at Madrid to bring the subject officiously to the notice of the Spanish Government, and to point out the impolicy of the step that Government has taken, and the injury which the persistence in levying the fees will do to the trade between the two countries.

Should your Lordship think fit to adopt this course, you would probably think it advisable to inform the persons who have complained of the imposition of the fees that the matter will be inquired into.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 194.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 30.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 29, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 29th August ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 10th July, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co.,* containing inquiries as to the principles upon which Her Majesty's Government had acted in refusing to support their claim against the Spanish Government on account of the condemnation, by a Spanish Court, of certain goods shipped by them on board the Spanish vessel "Sol."

That he (Mr. Bourke) was also to inclose a draft of the reply which your Lordship proposed to return to Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co.;† and to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the draft properly expresses the principles by which Her Majesty's Government should be guided in the case of the "Sol," and in similar cases.

That the previous correspondence was inclosed for convenience of reference, if required.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft properly expresses the principles by which Her Majesty's Government should be guided in the case of the "Sol," and in similar cases.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 195.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 5, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 24th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, with inclosures, just received from the Lords Commissioners of the Treasury,† together with a letter also received on the 24th September ultimo from Mr. Palmer,† respecting the "Notre Dame de Fourvierès," said by him to be laden with a cargo of arms for the Carlist forces in Spain, and to be sailing under a false register; and

That we should observe that Her Majesty's Commissioners of Customs reported that their Solicitor had advised them that there was now sufficient evidence to justify the detention of the vessel; and

That the "Notre Dame de Fourvières" was, however, reported to have sailed for a French port; and that he (Mr. Lister) was therefore to request that we would take the papers into our immediate consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether any, and if so, what, action should now be taken with respect to the vessel, and, further, what instructions, if any, should be issued respecting her to Her Majesty's Consuls at the ports at which she might touch, and to the Commanders of Her Majesty's ships who might meet with her either in foreign waters or upon the high seas.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the evidence adduced to prove that the "Notre Dame de Fourvières" is not entitled to a British register, or to sail under the British flag, is so slight and so suspicious that it is, in our opinion, unnecessary to give any other instructions respecting that vessel either to Her Majesty's Consuls or Her Majesty's naval officers than that they should watch her proceedings, should she come under their cognizance, and report thereon, as circumstances may require.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* August 21, 1874.

‡ September 23, 1874.

† August , 1874.

1874

No. 196.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 8.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 8, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 22nd September ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 9th May last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying copy of a telegraphic despatch which had been received from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Madrid,[*] in regard to the settlement by the Spanish Government of the claims of British subjects arising out of the proceedings of the insurgents at Carthagena in November last; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the telegram, together with the previous correspondence in the matter, therewith returned to us, into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have no means of forming an opinion whether the deduction, which the Spanish Government proposes to make on account of exaggerated prices, is or is not right.

But the claims of British subjects should be admitted, and the amount of compensation calculated upon principles as similar as circumstances will allow with those principles upon which compensation has been made to Italian and German subjects.

Unless, therefore, there is some error in the proposed calculation, or some inconsistency in the principle of compensation applied to British claims as compared with the principle applied to Italian and German claims, we think Mr. Macdonell may properly be instructed to accept the offer as final, so far as supported claims are concerned.

We presume the claims disallowed for want of proof are not at present in question, but are suspended.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 197.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that, with reference to the correspondence which has passed in regard to the case of the vessel "Notre Dame de Fourvières," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter which your Lordship has received from the Board of Admiralty (dated the 24th September, 1874), inclosing a copy of one from Mr. Wigdahl, the alleged owner of the "Notre Dame de Fourvières," claiming compensation on account of the recent detention of his vessel at Southend; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take this application into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the Board of Admiralty in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the matter into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Board of Admiralty may properly, in our opinion, be answered that Mr. Wigdahl be informed that his claim for compensation for the detention of the ship "Notre Dame de Fourvières" will be taken into consideration on his proving to their Lordships' satisfaction that he is the owner of that ship, and that she is entitled to a British register.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] Mr. Macdonell, Telegraphic, September 17, 1874.

No. 198.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 2, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 26th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manila, inclosing the copy of a will of a British subject lately deceased there, and, with regard to the question raised by Mr. Ricketts respecting the validity of that will, Mr. Bourke was to state that your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion on the point, and as to what instructions should be sent to the Consul for his guidance in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the will of Mr. Honiss, although made in conformity with English law, is not therefore valid, unless Mr. Honiss had an English domicile at the time of his decease.

As regards property in Manila, the question of domicile would have to be decided by the Spanish Courts, and we presume that effect would not be given by them to the will unless they were satisfied that Mr. Honiss' domicile was English, and that his will was in conformity with English law.

Unless Mr. Honiss had personal property in England, there is no use in attempting to take out probate in the English Court. Such Court would only grant probate on proof that Mr. Honiss' domicile was English at the time of his death.

A Consul in the dominions of Spain has no power that we are aware of to grant probate of a will.

Under these circumstances, we think that Mr. Ricketts has acted quite properly in not interfering in the administration of the estate.

We see no objection to the letter addressed by Mr. Ricketts to Mrs. Gee, and we think that it may properly be sent to her.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 199.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 7, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th October ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from a Mr. W. H. Ross,[*] relative to certain taxes which he states have lately been ordered by the Captain-General to be levied in Cuba nominally for the purpose of suppressing the insurrection in that island.

Mr. Lister was also to inclose two despatches from Her Majesty's Consul-General at the Havana,[†] in which these taxes are alluded to; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government can properly claim for British subjects exemption from the payment of such taxes.

A memorandum upon the subject of forced loans and extraordinary contributions on British subjects in Spain was inclosed therewith, together with two Reports upon the subject,[‡] furnished to Earl Granville by the late Law Officers of the Crown.

We are also honoured with Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd October ultimo, stating that, with reference to Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th October, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two further despatches from Her Majesty's Consul-General at the Havana,[§] relative to the taxes lately ordered to be levied in that island; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration together with those already before us.

---

[*] Mr. Ross, September 30, 1874.

[†] Mr. Dunlop, No. 12, Political, July 15; ditto, No. 15, Political, August 11, 1874.

[‡] Printed Memorandum, October 23, 1868; Law Officers, September 15; ditto, December 24, 1873.

[§] Mr. Dunlop, Nos. 31 and 32.

1874

We are also honoured with Lord Tenterden's further letter of the 31st October ultimo, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 22nd October, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying copy of a telegraphic despatch which has been received from Her Majesty's Consul-General in Cuba, in regard to the exaction by the Spanish authorities in that island of a tax of 5 per cent. on the capital of foreign merchants.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the letter of Mr. Ross and the despatches of Mr. Dunlop, inclosed in Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th October last, did not afford sufficient information as to the nature and incidents of the taxes proposed to be levied in Cuba to enable us to satisfactorily reply to the question put to us, but since the receipt of Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd October we have carefully considered the two further despatches and other papers inclosed in it, and particularly the précis drawn up by Her Majesty's Consul-General, and the letters (A) and (B), and we are of opinion that neither the tax on incomes nor that on capital can be considered as a forced loan or a war contribution from the payment of which Her Majesty's subjects might claim exemption.

Both taxes are equally imposed on all persons resident in the island having incomes or capital beyond a certain amount, and as these persons all equally enjoy the protection of the Government of that island, we are of opinion that the taxes are in principle free from objection, and the imposition of them on Her Majesty's subjects legitimate, and that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly instruct the Consul-General to offer any opposition to them.

The questions of amount, whether it be excessive or not, of the mode and time of levying the taxes, and of the penalties to be inflicted for non-compliance with the Decree imposing the taxes, are immaterial, provided no distinction is made against British subjects in favour of the subjects of Spain or of other countries.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 200.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 9.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, November 9, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 30th October ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,* reporting a conversation with the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs relative to the recent proceedings of the British steamer "Notre Dame de Fourvières" in landing arms on the coast of Spain for the use of the Carlists, and that the Spanish Minister appeared to have admitted that it would be difficult for Her Majesty's Government to interfere with the export of arms from Great Britain, but he suggested that the false representations made as to the destination of the "Notre Dame de Fourvières" might afford sufficient ground for taking proceedings against her.

Lord Tenterden also stated that the point had already been raised in the letter from the Foreign Office to the Treasury, dated the 12th October last, the draft of which was inclosed, but we would see by the answer returned by the Treasury,† also sent therewith, that their Solicitor is of opinion that, on the evidence hitherto adduced, there is no tangible ground for a prosecution against the "Notre Dame de Fourvières."

That, under these circumstances, Lord Tenterden further stated that he was to transmit to us the whole of the correspondence that had passed upon the subject,‡ and to request that we would inform your Lordship whether we concur in the opinion of the Treasury Solicitor, and favour your Lordship with any further observations which we might have to offer on the case.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we agree with the opinion of Mr. Hamel transmitted to the Foreign Office by the Treasury, to the effect that there is no evidence at present in the possession of the Government and communicated to us which would justify the prosecution of the registered owner of the ship "Notre Dame de Fourvières."

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 436, October 12, 1874.

† October 15, 1874.

‡ List.

---

No. 201.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 8.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, December 7, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th November ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches (Nos. 456 and 482) from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, relative to the claims of certain British firms at Bilbao to be compensated by the Spanish Government for losses occasioned to them by the civil war in Spain, which losses appear to have been caused partly by Government troops and partly by Carlists.

Lord Tenterden was also to inclose a memorandum drawn up in the Foreign Office (November 13, 1874) upon the question of the liability of the Government of a country in which war is being carried on to make good such losses, together with various other papers, as marked in the margin,* relating to the subject; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take all these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions that should be sent to Mr. Layard with regard to the claims of the British firms above referred to.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the papers transmitted to us, and we are of opinion that British subjects carrying on their business or resident in Spain have no claim upon the Spanish Government for compensation for the losses which they may have sustained by the acts of the troops and insurgents during the civil war, except in the event of the Spanish Government compensating Spanish subjects who may have incurred similar losses.

That Mr. Layard may, therefore, properly be instructed that Her Majesty's Government cannot interfere on behalf of the British firms and subjects referred to in his despatches.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 202.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 11.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, December 9, 1874.

We are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st November ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. William Shaw (dated the 26th September, 1874), and a despatch (No. 32 of the 21st October, 1874), with inclosures, from Her Majesty's Consul at Cadiz, respecting the detention in quarantine of the British ship "Lindsay," notwithstanding that the ship had left Liverpool previously to the date on which quarantine was ordered on arrivals from that port.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in instructing Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid to press the claim for compensation which he has already made on the Spanish Government in reference to the matter.

---

* List.

1874

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Spanish Government having returned no answer apparently to Mr. Layard's letter, Mr. Layard may properly be instructed to bring the case again to the attention of that Government, with a view of obtaining either an explanation, or compensation if the act of the official authorities cannot be satisfactorily explained.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 203.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 22.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 19, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the correspondence, marked in the margin,* relative to a tax levied by the Municipality of Bilbao on iron ore exported from that place; and that he was to request that we would take the matter into consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon, with especial reference to the English interests concerned.

That the last Treaty engagements on matters of trade and navigation between this country and Spain are contained in the Additional Article of the 28th August, 1814, which, together with the Treaties previously existing and thereby renewed, would be found in the second volume of Hertslet's Treaties.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship cannot properly press this matter any further upon the Spanish Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 203*.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 1, 1875.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 31, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st December instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 25th September last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a note from the German Ambassador at this Court,† stating the views of the German Government with regard to the new Table of Spanish Consular fees.

Lord Tenterden also stated that he inclosed Mr. Macdonell's despatch transmitting a copy of that document,‡ together with the correspondence which had passed with Mr. Layard subsequent to the date of our above-mentioned Report;§ and that he was to request that we would take the matter again into consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer on Count Münster's note.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the papers transmitted to us, our former Report, and Count Münster's note; the only question seems to be whether the proposed charges are Consular fees rightly so called, in which case no objection in principle could be properly made to them, or whether they are in fact export duties, in which case they would be altogether inadmissible.

From Mr. Layard's last two despatches we see that the Spanish Governmen in some way modifying the original Tariff, and we think it is inexpedient, if not impossible, to say anything as to the legality of these proposed charges before they are finally settled by the Spanish Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Macdonell, No. 4, Commercial; to Mr. Macdonell, No. 24, Commercial; Cantabrian Iron Company, October 7; to Mr. Layard, No. 35, Commercial; to Cantabrian Iron Company, October 12; Mr. Layard, No. 42, Commercial; ditto, No. 51, Commercial.

† Count Münster, December 9.

‡ No. 7, Commercial.

§ To Mr. Layard, No. 32, Commercial; Mr. Layard, Nos. 44 to 53, Commercial.

---

Sweden.

No. 204.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 18.)

Temple, February 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 7th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, with its inclosure, from Messrs. Elmslie, Forsyth, and Sedgwick, in which the intervention of Her Majesty's Government was requested with regard to a decision of the Supreme Court of Norway in the matter of a suit arising out of a disputed claim for payment of freight on a cargo of coals shipped on board the Norwegian vessel "Esmeralda;" and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether that matter was one for the interference of Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, this matter is not one for the interference of Her Majesty's Government. The only reason which is suggested for such interference is that the Norwegian municipal authorities have acted in a private matter, properly within their cognizance, upon a mistaken view of the law in a difficult question of mixed law and fact; and even assuming that the views of the applicants are correct, we think that such an error as is alleged to have been committed constitutes no ground for diplomatic action.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 205.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 9.)

Temple, April 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands as signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th March ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report (therewith inclosed) of the 17th February ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers, a further letter from Messrs. Elmslie, Forsyth, and Sedgwick, relative to the legal proceedings in the Supreme Court of Norway relative to the vessel "Esmeralda;" and he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the decision of the Norwegian Tribunal, supposing that decision to have been founded on error or mistake, affords no ground for diplomatic interference, and we agree with the late Law Officers that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly take any action in the matter.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 206.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 4.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 25th May last, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report of the 16th June last, therewith inclosed, relative to the compensation claimed from the Swedish Government by the Tyne and Wear Iron Steam-ship Insurance Association on account of the damage caused to the steam-ship "Stagshaw" by the Swedish frigate "Vanadis," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, with its inclosures, from the above Association,* wherein it is stated that the Swedish Government decline to entertain the claim in question.

Mr. Lister also stated that the previous papers in the case were inclosed, and that he was to request that we would take the correspondence into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should be adopted by your Lordship in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Swedish Government has pointed out to the Tyne and Wear Iron Steamship Insurance Association the proper means of obtaining a remedy for the injuries alleged to have been received, namely, the institution of proceedings against the Swedish Government, and that the only course which your Lordship can, in our opinion, properly adopt is to inform the Association that Her Majesty's Government cannot interfere in the matter, which is a subject for legal proceedings and not diplomatic inteference.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Switzerland.

No. 207.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 13.)

Temple, June 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 29th May ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a printed copy of a Convention between Great Britain and Switzerland, for the mutual surrender of fugitive criminals, which was signed on the 31st March last, but which had not yet been ratified, and that he was to call our attention to Article XVI, which made the stipulations of the Treaty applicable to the Colonies and foreign possessions of Her Britannic Majesty.

That Mr. Lister was to observe that in the corresponding Article in the various Extradition Treaties which Great Britain had concluded with foreign Powers since the passing of the Extradition Act of 1870, it was stipulated that the requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who had taken refuge in a British Colony should be made to the Governor or Chief Authority of such Colony by the chief Consular officer in the Colony or the country making the demand for his surrender.

That as, however, Switzerland had no Consuls in any British Colony, with the exception of the Mauritius, the Swiss Government altered paragraph 2 of Article XVI so as to allow the requisition for a fugitive criminal who might have taken refuge in a British Colony to be made by the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, as in the case of a fugitive criminal supposed to be in some part of Her Majesty's dominions other than a Colony.

That as some doubts had arisen as to whether the Governor of a British Colony could, according to the Act of 1870, act upon a demand made by some person other than a Consular officer, Mr. Lister was to request that we would take that point into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion, at our earliest convenience, whether, as the word employed in the 17th section of the Extradition Act of 1870, which stated how the requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal was to be made in a British Colony, was "may" and not "shall," a Governor of a British Colony was precluded from acting upon a requisition made to the Secretary of State, as stipulated in Article XVI of the Treaty with Switzerland.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the 17th section of the Extradition Act, 1870, provides that the requisition for the surrender of a fugitive criminal who is in, or suspected of being in, a British possession, may be made to the Governor of that British possession by any person recognized by that Governor as a Consul-General, Consul, or Vice-Consul.

In our opinion, though the word used is "may," the clause is directory, and that the requisition must be made by and to the persons indicated by the Act.

The printed Convention between Her Majesty and the Swiss Confederation in its XVIth Article provides that the requisition for the arrest and surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of Her Majesty's Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London to the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

We think that this portion of the Article is not in accordance with the provisions of the Extradition Act, and should be omitted.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 208.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 6.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 7th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 13th June last, on the XVIth Article of the Convention of the 31st March last, between this country and Switzerland, for the mutual surrender of fugitive criminals, in which we state our opinion that the portion of the Article which provides that the requisition for the arrest and surrender of a fugitive criminal who has taken refuge in any of Her Majesty's Colonies or foreign possessions shall be made through the Swiss Consul-General in London, is not in accordance with the provisions of the Extradition Act, and should be omitted, and that he (Mr. Lister) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us copy of a Protocol which it was proposed to annex to the Convention; and that he was to request that we would take the Protocol into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion, at our earliest convenience, whether its addition to the Convention will be sufficient to cancel that portion of the XVIth Article which was not in accordance with the Extradition Act, and whether the stipulations contained therein will possess the same force as if they had been embodied in the original Article of the Treaty.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the addition of the proposed Protocol to the Convention will be sufficient to cancel that portion of the XVIth Article which is not in accordance with the Extradition Act, and that the proposed stipulations will have the same force as if they had been embodied in the Treaty of which they are a modification.

---

* Tyne and Wear Association, May 16, 1874.

1874

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Tripoli.

No. 209.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th August ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from the Colonial Office,* inclosing a copy of a Report by a Commission appointed to inquire into certain allegations made by the United States' Consul in Malta against the police there in regard to their alleged connivance in slave-dealing practices. A note and its inclosures from the United States' Chargé d'Affaires at this Court, which gave rise to the inquiry, is also inclosed.†

The Colonial Office letter also treats of the general question of the prevention of the passage of slaves through Malta, which we see by the accompanying correspondence,‡ amongst which are the Reports of the late Law Officers of the 16th December, 1872, the 22nd April, 1873, and the 24th January last, is a question of somedifficulty.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these matters into our consideration, and inform your Lordship whether we concur in the finding of the Commission in regard to the conduct of the Malta police, and favour your Lordship with our opinion on the Ordinance prepared by Sir A. Dingli with a view to stopping the transport of slaves through British territory.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these matters into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have not before us the details of the evidence which was adduced before the Commissioners at Malta, but upon the assumption that it was to the effect stated in their Report of the 6th June last, we are of opinion that it was sufficient to negative the allegations and suggestions of misconduct on the part of the police officers at Malta, contained in the depositions of the Janissary of the United States' Consul at Tripoli, and of the negro woman who accompanied him in his voyage to Malta in August 1873.

With respect to these depositions, we may perhaps be permitted to observe that they appear to us to have been obtained and made under circumstances of a most unusual character, and that, having regard as well to such circumstances as to the contents of the depositions themselves, they do not appear to us to be entitled to much, if any, credit.

We think, therefore, that the conclusion at which the Commissioners have arrived is correct, so far as it in effect finds that there is no foundation for the accusations made against the police officers (and particularly against Aloisio and Gerada) in the papers received from the United States' Chargé d'Affaires.

If, however, we correctly read the Report of the Commissioners, they go further than this, and find that there is no ground for any charge against any police or other public officer of connivance at or indifference to the slave traffic reported to be going on through Malta; as to what the facts as to this part of their Report may be, we are not in a position to express an opinion, but it appears to us that the evidence before the Commissioners, so far as we can judge of its effect, was substantially confined to the particular case referred to in the above-mentioned depositions, viz., the voyage of the "Trabulus Garb" to Malta in August 1873, and was not sufficient to support so general a finding, especially having regard to the fact that there undoubtedly exists a considerable slave traffic from Tripoli to Constantinople viâ Malta, and that the suspicions of connivance or complicity on the part of the Maltese officials is not confined to United States' authorities.

As regards the draft Ordinance prepared by the Crown Advocate at Malta, we feel great hesitation in differing from a legal adviser of the Crown, whose knowledge of the facts and of the practices to be dealt with, and consequently of the means of suppressing the slave trade, must necessarily be much greater than our own; but whilst agreeing with him as to the general principles of his proposed Ordinance (if it should be deemed necessary to issue one), we think that it is in some respects open to objection, and, at any rate, will require amendment.

1. We assume that the object of Her Majesty's Government in issuing such an Ordinance is to prevent the traffic in slaves, and that they have no intention of interfering with the existence of slavery as a domestic institution. And we make this assumption because the 1st Article of the draft Ordinance is directed against persons, "seemingly Africans," coming to Malta from Africa; but it is silent as to persons, "seemingly Africans," coming from any other part of the world, and also as to persons other than those "seemingly Africans" coming to Malta from any part of the world (including Africa), though the members of a Turkish family arriving at Malta from Constantinople may comprise not only black slaves, "seemingly Africans," but also white slaves who are not of negro origin.

If we are right in this assumption, it will be necessary that the expression "African" or "seemingly African" should be more strictly defined and limited; otherwise some such case as the following might occur. A Turk having black slaves in his family may travel with them from Constantinople to Malta, and thence to any African port between Egypt and Algeria, without any interruption by the Maltese authorities, but on his return to Constantinople by the same route and with the same slaves in his retinue, he would be liable, on his arrival at Malta, to all the penalties imposed by the Ordinance.

2. In our opinion, the draft Ordinance is not too stringent where the traffic in slaves exists, but we think that, instead of a variety of small fines or penalties being imposed under several heads (as for having the slaves on board, for their maintenance and clothing, and for their passage back, &c.), one larger penalty should be imposed, of such an amount as, on an average, would defray the expenses incurred by the Government.

3. We feel very strongly the difficulty of requiring a certificate of a free status as an absolute condition in all cases, though it may eventually become necessary to adopt such a rule should other means fail to check the traffic.

Upon the whole, however, we would suggest for your Lordship's consideration whether a strict examination of the ship's papers, and a careful inquiry conducted by competent persons, assisted by a good and independent interpreter, into the status of persons arriving for the first time at Malta from the African coast, may not be made effectual for the suppression of the traffic in slaves without the necessity of issuing any such Ordinance as that the draft of which is at present before us.

Should any changes be made in the regulations at Malta in respect to persons supposed to be slaves, your Lordship may probably think it proper to communicate the new regulations to foreign Governments, in order to obviate any complaints which might otherwise be made on the ground of detention of vessels or infliction of penalties.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* August 5, 1874.

† Mr. Moran, March 17, 1874.

‡ Volume; List of Papers.

Tunis.

---

No. 210.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received May 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th day of May instant, stating that with reference to the Report of the Law Officers of the 13th June last, on the subject of the establishment of Mixed Tribunals at Tunis for the purpose of deciding civil and commercial suits between natives and foreigners in that Regency, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a despatch from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General,* reporting that certain modifications had been introduced into the rules of procedure as originally proposed, and that the foreign Representatives had assented to them pending the sanction of their respective Governments; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the despatch into our consideration, together with the former papers which were inclosed therewith,† and advise your Lordship as to the answer which should be returned to Mr. Wood.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That the modifications suggested by Mr. Wood may, in our opinion, properly be approved by your Lordship, and Mr. Wood be answered to that effect.

We have, &c.

(Signed) WILLIAM BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 211.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 24, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 20th August ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Mr. Stanley, late Her Majesty's Consul at Alexandria,‡ relative to the overcrowding of pilgrim ships at that port; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the correctness of Mr. Stanley's views, as therein expressed, relative to the legal powers possessed by Her Majesty's Consuls under "The Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1843," "The Passengers Acts, 1855 and 1863," and the Orders in Council regulating the exercise of Consular jurisdiction in Tunis and Egypt.§

A copy of the Order in Council affecting Tunis, a letter from the Board of Trade, and a despatch and its inclosures from Her Majesty's Consul-General at Tunis relating to this subject,‖ were inclosed therewith for our information.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we entertain considerable doubt whether any of Her Majesty's Consular officers, either under the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, or the Passengers Acts, or any of the Orders in Council with which we are acquainted, could legally, in Egypt or at Tunis, detain a British ship on the ground that she was overcrowded, and we are unable

---

* No. 25, April 27, 1874.

† The List annexed.

‡ Consul Stanley, August 14, 1874.

§ See Hertslet's Treaties, vol. vi, p. 500; vol. x, p. 348; vol. xii, p. 1014.

‖ Order in Council, Tunis, June 29, 1871; Board of Trade, June 1; Mr. Wood, No. 9, Consular, March 10, 1874.

---

No. 209 A.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 23.)

Temple, February 21, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th December last, stating that early in that year, at the solicitation of the Bey of Tunis, Mr. Wood, Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General, put himself in communication with Mr. Ranking for the purpose of ascertaining whether or not it would be feasible to establish within the Regency a British Bank, which would be ready to advance money to Tunisian subjects upon the security of the produce of the country on terms more equable than they were then able to obtain it.

That Mr. Ranking thereupon applied to the Tunisian Government to ascertain the conditions upon which they would be willing to grant a Concession to a Bank established for that purpose.

That the Tunisian Government had replied, stating the terms which they would be prepared to grant.

That immediate steps were then taken to commence operations; a Board of Directors was chosen, and on the 5th September last the London Bank of Tunis (Limited) was started.

That much opposition had, however, taken place. The majority of the foreign Representatives in Tunis appealed to the Bey to withdraw the Concession, strongly objecting to any preferential privileges being granted to any particular Bank, and insisting that the Tunisian Government had no power to grant a Concession without the previous consent of the Finance Commission established in 1869 for liquidating the debts of the Regency to the subjects of foreign Powers.

That the French Ambassador in London had warmly opposed the scheme on the plea that a promise of preference to any particular Bank would lead eventually to the creation of a Government Deposit Bank, injurious to the public interest.

That numerous other objections had been raised by the enemies to the project, amongst whom might be numbered the two British Delegates to the Finance Commission.

That we would perceive that the chief opposition was aimed at the 3rd and 5th Articles of the Concession, a copy of which we would find in the inclosed papers now submitted to us, namely:—

"(3). To have the assistance of and the preference on the part of the Government as much as is in its power," &c.

"(5). The Government does not guarantee the papers (bank-notes), but should the Bank issue them, it will be on the credit of the Bank, signed by Moustapha, Prime Minister and Minister for Foreign Affairs."

That Lord Tenterden inclosed, together with all the papers on that question, a Memorandum on the case; and that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would take that matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer, more especially as regards the power to issue notes upon the sole credit of the Bank.

P.S.—That the Decree under which the Finance Commission above alluded to was established would be found at p. 134 of the accompanying volume of the "Archives Diplomatiques," and the negotiations which led to that Decree were set forth in the printed collection of correspondence also inclosed therewith.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are unable to give any opinion whether the Concession granted by the Tunisian Government is valid and binding according to the law of Tunis; but it having been given by the Chief Minister to Mr. Ranking, we think it is to be assumed, as against the Tunisian Government, to be valid.

It does not appear that if the Concession be acted on there will be any infraction of the Decree of the 5th July, 1869.

Tunisian finance will not in any way be affected.

We think your Lordship may make representations to the French and Tunisian Governments in support of Mr. Ranking's right in the sense expressed in Lord Lytton's despatch of the 17th October.

We have, &c.

(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 209 B.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 11.)

Temple, April 10, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with Lord Granville's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th February last, stating that he was directed by Lord Granville to transmit to us a despatch which he had received from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Tunis, on the subject of the proposed Commercial Treaty between Great Britain and Tunis.

That it appeared from that despatch that the Bey of Tunis wished that certain modifications should be made in the draft Treaty submitted to the Tunisian Government by Mr. Wood in August last; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and favour Lord Granville with our opinion as to whether those modifications should be allowed by Her Majesty's Government.

That, on referring to the draft of Treaty inclosed in Mr. Wood's despatch, we would observe that Article XXV established the mode of trial of all criminal and correctional cases and complaints, and of all civil and commercial suits arising between British and Tunisian subjects.

That the Bey, however, objected to that Article, and proposed to substitute for it Article XIV of the Treaty between Austria and Tunis of the 17th January, 1856, with the addition of the last paragraph of Article XXV of the British draft, which paragraph merely referred to the establishment in Tunis, at some future time, of Mixed Courts.

That as, however, Article XIV of the Treaty between Austria and Tunis only provided for the trial of civil and commercial cases, and did not deal with crimes committed in Tunis, the Bey consented, provided that the British Government accepted that Article in lieu of Article XXV of the British draft, to the insertion of a further Article, similar to Article XV of the above-mentioned Treaty between Austria and Tunis, but that he, at the same time, expressed a hope that Her Majesty's Government would not think it necessary to confirm a stipulation of so humiliating a character for the Chief of a State.

That the humiliation alluded to was that the Bey had passively to assist at the trial of a criminal by his Consul, without the right of interfering, except in concurring with the Consul as to the degree of punishment to be inflicted upon the prisoner.

That with regard to the Bey's admission, in his conversation with Mr. Wood, that he no longer exercised criminal jurisdiction over foreigners, and his assurance that he had no intention of altering the mode of trial actually in force, Lord Tenterden was to observe that although that might be His Highness' intention, it by no means followed that his successors would hold the same views, and that Lord Granville therefore thought that it would be more prudent to secure that arrangement by Treaty than to leave it dependent on the will of an individual.

That Lord Granville would be glad to hear if we concurred in that opinion.

That with reference to the question of the Bey's jurisdiction, he (Lord Tenterden) was to refer us to the inclosed Law Officers' Report on the case of the Maltese named Chircop, accused of the murder of a Tunisian, in which Report it was stated that, should the Bey claim to exercise his jurisdiction, Her Majesty's Government could not resist that claim, or exercise a jurisdiction over the accused person against the Bey; and that Lord Tenterden was to observe that although it was perfectly true that the present Bey did not claim to try the Maltese, Chircop, he might have done so; and that calling to mind the case of Paulo Xureb, who in the year 1844 was tried and condemned to death by the Government of the Bey for the murder of one of his subjects, it was clear that such power was vested in the Bey, and that it rested with him to exercise it or not, unless he was debarred from so doing by a stipulation such as that inserted in Article XV of the Treaty between Austria and Tunis.

That Lord Tenterden was further to call our attention to the fact that although provision was made in the draft Treaty with Tunis for the trial of suits arising between British subjects and between British subjects and Tunisians, there was no provision for the trial of suits arising between British subjects and other foreigners, not subjects of the Bey; and that Lord Tenterden was to observe that Lord Granville considered that that omission deserved especial attention in consequence of the recent case of the trial before the British Vice-Consul at Mogador of a suit between an Italian firm and an English Company.

That in the Law Officers' Report on that case it was stated that as the Order in Council of the 27th August, 1857, which gave effect to the Treaty of 1856 with Morocco, did not provide for the trial of cases between British and foreign, other than Moorish, subjects, the Vice-Consul at Mogador had no jurisdiction in the matter, and that his decision should be cancelled. But that Lord Tenterden was to observe that although there was no provision made in the Order in Council, such provision was made in Article XIV of the Treaty with Morocco, in the following words, which were inserted on the suggestion of the Law Officers of the day:—

"Such cases shall be decided solely in the Tribunals of the foreign Consuls, without the interference of the Moorish Government, according to the established usages which have hitherto been acted on or may hereafter be arranged between such Consuls."

That Lord Tenterden was therefore to request that we would take that point also into our consideration, and favour Lord Granville with our opinion whether it would not be expedient to make provision for similar cases in the proposed Treaty with Tunis, and, if so, that he was further to request that we would insert a clause to that effect in the draft Treaty inclosed in Mr. Wood's despatch No. 22 of the 4th August last.

In obedience to Lord Granville's commands we the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that it is necessary to make express provision in the Treaty for the trial by the British Consular Court of British subjects charged with having committed crimes on Tunisian territory.

With respect to the jurisdiction in civil cases between British subjects and the subjects of foreign States, we think that it will be desirable to follow the precedent of the Treaty with Morocco, and we have accordingly inserted a clause for that purpose in the XXIVth Article of the printed draft.

We see no objection to omitting in Article XXV (MS.) the words "in concurrence with His Highness the Bey." In fact, the power of the Consul will be enlarged, and that of the Bey diminished, by the omission of those words.

With respect to Article XVI, we desire to suggest, for your Lordship's consideration, that it may be desirable to introduce a provision expressly recognizing the existing Bank of Tunis, or, at any rate, stipulating that nothing in the Article shall prejudice any right or claim of the Bank of Tunis under any Concession given or alleged to have been given before the conclusion of the Treaty.

Subject to these observations, we are of opinion that the modifications proposed in the draft, and approved by Mr. Wood, may properly be made.

We have, &c.

(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

to agree with Mr. Stanley's views on the extent of Consular jurisdiction in those countries.

As the mischief is increasing, and the attention of foreign Governments has been called to it, we submit to your Lordship's consideration that the measures suggested by the Board of Trade (1st June, 1874) are the most proper and effective which can be taken to stop the evil.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 212.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received November 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th October ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 27th May last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit the accompanying despatches, as marked in the margin,* relating to certain observations which the Italian Chargé d'Affaires at this Court has been instructed to make to your Lordship respecting the proposed scheme of judicial reform in Tunis.

Mr. Lister was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, together with our Report of the 10th April last on the general Treaty which is now being negotiated with Tunis, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the Italian Chargé d'Affaires and the course to be taken by Her Majesty's Government.

The previous correspondence on this subject was inclosed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Italian Chargé d'Affaires may properly be answered that, admitting the general correctness of the principles of territorial and national jurisdiction to which he refers, those principles are not to their full extent applicable to the state of things existing at Tunis, where the Government is willing to give up some of the rights of territorial jurisdiction in favour of various nationalities.

That even if under the proposed system anomalies in theory may be found, the advantages in practice which will follow the adoption of the new system far outweigh such anomalies.

And that Her Majesty's Government hopes that on further consideration the Italian Government will take the same course which Her Majesty's Government is taking and adopt the proposed scheme.

And we are of opinion that whatever may be the policy and action of the Italian Government, Her Majesty's Government should go on with the proposed scheme of judicial reform.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* To Mr. Wood, No. 20, August 22; Mr. Wood, Nos. 44 and 45, September 22; ditto, No. 46, September 29, 1874.

1874

Turkey.

---

No. 213.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 6.)

My Lord, Temple, January 5, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Sailor,[*] who has a claim against the Egyptian Government for a sum of money which he states is due to him for salary.

He was also pleased to inclose a despatch from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Egypt[†] upon the case; and to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether this is a claim which Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General can properly be instructed to support officially or unofficially.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Major-General Stanton may be instructed to continue to use his good offices on behalf of Mr. Sailor, but this is not a case in which any formal demand should be made on the Egyptian Government.

We think that your Lordship must accept General Stanton's statement that he is unable to verify the order respecting dismissals mentioned by Mr. Sailor, and we observe that no example of any reinstatement or pension since its date, November 1870, is given by Mr. Sailor.

No representation in support of any right of Mr. Sailor should be made by General Stanton, but there is no reason why he should not unofficially exert his influence on Mr. Sailor's behalf.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 214.

The Attorney- and Solicitor-General to Earl Granville.—(Received January 20.)

My Lord, Temple, January 19, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 31st ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence regarding G. P. Costello, a Maltese subject, expelled from the Ottoman dominions by order of the Consular Court at Alexandria; and that Mr. Lister was to request that your Lordship might be informed whether we concurred in Sir P. Francis' opinion that the sentence must either be maintained or absolutely rescinded.

That a copy of the Levant Order in Council was also inclosed for reference if required.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, assuming the sentence of deportation to be legal, we do not concur in the opinion of Sir P. Francis that Her Majesty's Secretary of State has no power to relax the sentence unless such remission is unconditional.

We think that it is competent to the Secretary of State to give a remission limited in respect either of time or place, or subject to any other reasonable condition, and we are of opinion that effect may properly be given to the opinion of Mr. Lane.

Very serious questions appear to us to arise with respect to the legality of the practice of deportation itself, to which we have called your Lordship's attention in our

---

[*] November 3, 1873.

[†] No. 51, December 11, 1873.

214

No. ~~208~~ A.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 26.)

My Lord, Temple, January 24, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion on certain notices which it was proposed to issue to the owners and masters of vessels trading in the Mediterranean, with a view to putting a stop to a Traffic in Slaves which there was reason to believe was carried on between the North Coast of Africa and Constantinople, frequently through Malta, in British vessels.

That that subject was referred to the then Law Officers on the 8th April last, and their opinion was requested on the drafts of those notices inclosed in the accompanying letter from the Board of Trade, and on the question of the competency of Her Majesty's Government to prohibit the embarkation of any negroes, unprovided with Consular papers, on British vessels.

That the Law Officers, in their reply of the 22nd April, stated that the proposed notices were too wide in their terms, and inclosed a draft notice to be issued by Consuls on the North Coast of Africa, in regard to the necessity for Consular papers to negroes embarking on British ships.

That Mr. Lister was then to request that we would take those notices, together with the whole subject, into our consideration, and that we would state our opinion what alterations were necessary in the notices intended for ship-owners and ship-masters in order to bring them into accordance with the Slave Trade Statutes.

That when their form was settled they would be issued by the Board of Trade, and copies of the notices respecting Consular papers for negroes would be sent at the same time for publication at North African Consulates, and in other places where it might appear to be necessary.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft communications and notices prepared by the Board of Trade may properly be issued at once, with the corrections we have inserted in the margin. We do not think it necessary to limit the caution to the carrying of slaves for sale, since the communications are to be addressed to British subjects, and the Acts, so far as they affect British subjects (5 Geo. IV, cap. 113, sec. 2; 6 & 7 Vict., cap. 98), are not so limited.

With respect to the practical measures to be adopted to put an end to a traffic which is clearly carried on from the African ports, through Malta, and also by way of Egypt, there is considerable difficulty.

The circumstance that the supposed slaves declare themselves to be free, and to be satisfied with their condition, makes it extremely difficult to treat them, or those who are concerned with them, on the footing of slavery.

It will be obviously very difficult to obtain convictions under such circumstances, and the suggested expedient of stationing a vessel of war in the Dardanelles, though it might have a deterrent effect in the first instance, would probably soon become a brutum fulmen, as its only authority would be to bring vessels suspected of such traffic in for adjudication; nor is this a measure which we can recommend.

If any effectual security is to be obtained, we think it must be in the African ports. And we would suggest for the consideration of the Board of Trade whether, in the case of British ships, some provisions similar to those contained in "The Kidnapping Act, 1872," 35 & 36 Vict., cap. 19, might not be applied to those ports. It might be possible to insist, in the case of all negroes embarked in African Consular ports on British vessels (especially those trading to the Mediterranean or the Ottoman dominions), that bonds should be given (see the Act just cited, section 3), conditioned for the production of all such negroes at the port of delivery to the Consular officer there, in order to their being provided with letters of manumission in the manner now practised at Constantinople whenever the imported negroes can be found. It will be for the Board of Trade to consider how far such regulations would injuriously affect British trade. And precautions should be taken not so far to interfere with the domestic usages and social habits of the nations with whom we must necessarily have commercial relations in the Levant, as to obstruct persons bonâ fide travelling with their domestic servants from port to port in the Mediterranean on board British ships.

1874

With reference to foreign vessels trading at British ports, the case is much more difficult. We have not before us the Treaty stipulations applying to the matter in hand. But in case such stipulations are insufficient, application might be made to foreign States to adopt a similar system of bonds to that above suggested.

At all events, it might be provided that no negroes should be embarked or re-embarked (as appears to occur at Malta) in foreign vessels except on the condition of giving bonds, as in the case of African ports.

If the suggested system of bonds should be approved by the Board of Trade, it will require consideration how far it can be carried into effect in foreign Consular ports by Order in Council, and how far additional legislation may be required.

We have, &c.
(Signed) W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

P. S.—It has been thought better, in the absence of the Attorney-General from town, and the difficulty of communicating with him, to send in these papers.

W. V. H.

Report dated 12th instant, relating to the revised Order in Council for China and Japan.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.

---

No. 215.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 4.)

Temple, February 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 28th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter which had been received from Lord Henry Scott relative to the claim of a Miss Harris for compensation from the Egyptian Government on account of damage done to her house at Alexandria by the explosion of some gun-cotton which had been stored by the authorities in an adjacent building.

That we would perceive from the correspondence also therewith inclosed that Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Egypt and another claimant, a Mr. Wilson, were informed in 1871, on the advice of the then Queen's Advocate, that in the absence of any suggestion that the explosion of the magazine in question was the work of design the Egyptian Government would not be held responsible for the damage done by it.

That the present application was merely for unofficial support of a petition to be addressed by Miss Harris to the Khedive, but that as it was probable that the claim, if allowed, would be followed by others on the part of other sufferers from the same explosion, your Lordship would be glad to have our opinion whether the circumstances, as detailed in the papers, entail such a moral responsibility on the Egyptian Government as would justify Her Majesty's Government in supporting Miss Harris' petition unofficially.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we see no objection to an instruction to General Stanton that he may unofficially present Miss Harris' petition, with a request for its favourable consideration, if the terms of the petition appear to him to be proper.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 216.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 18.)

Temple, February 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 12th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople,* regarding the fees payable in Consular Courts in the Levant, together with a memorandum which had been drawn up on the subject by Mr. Reilly;† and that your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion upon the suggestions contained in those papers.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we concur in the views expressed by Mr. Reilly as to the expediency of altering the table of fees, and as to the necessity for an Order in Council for this purpose.

We are further disposed to think that there is no power either in the Secretary of State or in the Treasury to dispense with the payment of any fees which may have already become payable under the existing Order in Council in the particular matter now in question, but we believe that a similar question has been raised in several cases with respect to marriage and other fees, and before expressing an opinion upon this point we desire to be referred to any opinions or minutes relating to such cases.

---

* No. 11, January 19, 1874.

† February 3, 1874.

1874

We do not express any opinion as to the extent of the alteration which is desirable in the scale of fees except to observe that the amount suggested by Sir P. Francis will still leave the fees unnecessarily high.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 217.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 18.)

Temple, February 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two despatches, with their inclosures, from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Constantinople, relative to the proposed imposition of a stamp duty in Turkey.

That Mr. Lister also inclosed copies of the Capitulations and of the Commercial Treaty of 1861 between this country and the Porte; and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the imposition of the proposed law would be in contravention of the Treaty stipulations existing between Great Britain and Turkey.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the proposed tax would not be in contravention of the Treaty stipulations existing between Great Britain and Turkey, provided it is levied equally on the subjects of other countries and on Turkish subjects.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 218.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 24th April instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of yesterday's date, he is directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a note from the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador at this Court, containing inquiries as to the course to be adopted by the captains of British vessels in regard to payment of the Suez Canal dues; and Mr. Lister was pleased to request that we would take this note into consideration, together with the papers on this subject already before us, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador on this subject.

A copy of a letter from the Board of Trade on the same subject is also inclosed for our opinion.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our Report of this date, made in obedience to your Lordship's commands communicated by Mr. Lister's letter of the 23rd instant, we have expressed an opinion that instructions should be given to the Captains of Her Majesty's ships that in the event of the Suez Canal Company opposing their transit through the Canal, except upon the payment of dues upon gross tonnage, they should put themselves in immediate communication with General Stanton, and should on no account endeavour to force the passage; and we have suggested that, either through General Stanton or by such other means as your Lordship may think fit, the Egyptian Government should be at once communicated with on the subject.

Having now taken into consideration the note of the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador, we would add to the opinion so expressed by us that it would not, in our opinion, be desirable that the Captains of Her Majesty's ships should pay under protest the dues demanded by the Company, if such dues are not in accordance with the Report of the International Commission, unless for some very special reason it was deemed essential that the voyage of some particular vessel should be immediately prosecuted.

Having regard to the terms of the letter addressed by the representative in England of the Suez Canal Company to the President of the Board of Trade, we would suggest to your Lordship that Her Majesty's Representative at Cairo should be directed to urge upon the Egyptian Government the necessity of some steps being at once taken by that Government to prevent the threatened violation of the concession by the Company, and the responsibility it will incur if such violation is not prevented.

We would further suggest that a notification should be made to all British vessels arriving at either end of the Canal that the dues properly payable after the 29th April for transit through the Canal will be those fixed by the International Commission.

As regards vessels, not being Her Majesty's ships, we think that the captains should, as far as conveniently can be, be informed of the instructions given to the Captains of Her Majesty's ships, but that they should be left to act upon their own responsibility as to paying any overcharge under protest to secure immediate transit.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 219.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 23rd April instant, stating that, with reference to the letter from the Foreign Office of the 18th instant, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a letter from the Board of Admiralty inquiring whether, in consequence of the decision of the International Tonnage Commission in regard to the Suez Canal dues, repayment of the sums hitherto paid under protest upon gross tonnage by the Captains of Her Majesty's ships passing through the Canal can be claimed from the Company from the date when the dues were first raised, or from that of the Commissioners' Report. That the papers now before us would show that the new system of dues had been fixed to take effect from the 29th instant; and Mr. Lister stated that he was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the Board of Admiralty on the subject, and also to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions which should be issued to the Captains of such of Her Majesty's ships as may arrive at the mouth of the Canal after the 29th instant, in the event of the Company opposing the transit of vessels except upon payment of the dues upon the gross tonnage, supposing that no steps should be taken in the meantime by the Egyptian Government to prevent such an obstruction of the traffic.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that the sums which have been paid under protest by the Captains of Her Majesty's ships passing through the Canal upon the gross tonnage of such ships may be properly claimed from the Company from the date when the dues were first raised. We are also of opinion that the Captains of such of Her Majesty's ships as may arrive at the mouth of the Canal after the 29th instant, in the event of the Company opposing the transit of such ships except upon the payment of dues upon the gross tonnage, should be instructed to put themselves in immediate communication with General Stanton, and on no account to endeavour to force the passage; and we would suggest to your Lordship that, either through General Stanton or by such other means as your Lordship may think fit, the Egyptian Government should be at once communicated with on the subject.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 220.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 25.)

Temple, April 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 18th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin,* relative to the circumstances under which the Suez Canal Company had notified, through M. de Lesseps, to the Government of the Porte their intention, in the event of the decision of the International Commission as regarded the Suez Canal dues being enforced, to oppose the passage of any vessel which declined to pay on gross tonnage, to refuse pilots, and stop the telegraph, so as to render the passage of the Canal impracticable.

That Mr. Lister was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the right possessed by the Khedive, in the above-mentioned event, to assume the management of the Canal, having regard to the terms of the Act of Concession of the 5th January, 1856, with especial reference to Articles 7 and 18 of the Act, wherein provision was made for the maintenance of the Canal in good order, and the reservation of an annual percentage of the profits to the Egyptian Government (State Papers, vol. lv, pp. 976 and 978), and generally whether the proceedings threatened by M. de Lesseps would constitute a violation of the terms of the Concession.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in answering the two questions contained in Mr. Lister's letter, we think it desirable to first give your Lordship our opinion upon the second of those questions.

Article 17, section 3, of the Concession of 1856 fixes the maximum of duty "par tonneau de capacité."

Upon these last words the International Commission put one construction, M. de Lesseps another; and M. de Lesseps, by the action which he threatens to take, asserts, as indeed he has on several occasions asserted, that he alone has the right to construe these words, and he now proposes to practically interdict the use of the Canal to those vessels which do not pay the dues upon the tonnage according to his system of calculation.

We are of opinion that M. de Lesseps, in taking the proceedings which he threatens, will violate the terms of the Concession, for we assume that the construction put upon the words "tonneau de capacité" by the International Commission is the true construction, and that which the Porte or the Khedive has the right to insist upon.

The Act of Concession has no clause which provides for any contingency by which the Canal may be arbitrarily closed, but on the construction of the Act of Concession, and having regard to the objects for which the Canal was allowed to be made, and the control which should, as we think, be taken as reserved either by the Porte or the Khedive over the use of the Canal, we are of opinion, in answer to the first question, that the Khedive may assume the management of the the Canal, if M. de Lesseps refuses to keep it open for the purposes of navigation.

The case is analogous to a neglect on the part of M. de Lesseps to maintain the Canal in good repair and working order, in which case the management might clearly be assumed by the Khedive.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 221.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 30.)

Temple, April 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Turner,* inclosing a petition from Mrs. Madeline Rassam, praying the intercession of Her Majesty's Government on her behalf in reference to certain proceedings with regard to her alleged divorce from, and also with regard to the estate of, her deceased husband, together with a memorandum upon the subject which had been drawn up by Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople;† and that Mr. Bourke was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any, and if so what, steps should be taken in the matter by Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the case of Mrs. Rassam is one in which the rights of Turkish subjects under the law of Turkey are concerned, and it appears from paragraph 34 of her petition that Mrs. Rassam is about to take proceedings before the Court at Constantinople to obtain whatever redress she may be entitled to.

In this state of things, we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly take any steps diplomatically in the matter, but we see no objection to your Lordship's adopting the suggestion in the memorandum of Sir H. Elliot, and instructing the British Consul or Vice-Consul to watch over the matter, though we think Sir H. Elliot is mistaken in calling Mrs. Rassam and her child a British widow and child, since by the marriage Mrs. Rassam became a Turkish subject.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 222.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 15th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying papers, as marked in the margin,‡ upon the subject of the claim preferred by Captain Vella, a British subject, against the Egyptian Government for alleged wrongful dismissal from his employment; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship cannot properly support the claim preferred by Captain Vella against the Egyptian Government.

It appears to us that, under the terms of his contract, Captain Vella was subject to immediate dismissal, and that the proceedings in his behalf against the Agha were not rightly conducted.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 223.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 4.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 25th May last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, with its inclosures, from the India Office,§ relative to the charges levied by the Suez Canal Company upon certain vessels employed as tenders to Indian troop-ships passing through the Canal, such charges being made on the assumption that the vessels in question are used as tugs.

Mr. Lister was further pleased to state that he inclosed a despatch from Colonel

---

* Volume of Correspondence; Lord Tenterden's Memorandum; Report of Commission; General Stanton, February 11, 1879.

* March 18.

† April 7.

‡ Captain Vella, February 28; to General Stanton, No. 8; General Stanton, No. 31, 1874.

§ India Office, May 13, 1874.

1874

Stokes, and the previous correspondence on the subject therein referred to;[*] and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the rights of the Canal Company to levy the tolls complained of under the terms of the Act of Concession of the 5th January, 1856 (State Papers, vol. lv, p. 976).

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Suez Canal Company has no right to levy the toll of 50 c. per ton on the tenders "Prompt" and "Hasty," for there is no provision in the Concession of the 5th January, 1856, giving the Company power to impose a toll above the maximum of 10 fr. a ton.

We agree entirely with the opinion of Colonel Stokes, in his letter to your Lordship of the 19th instant, and in his letter to Captain Willoughby of the 21st February last.

But we submit, for your Lordship's consideration, that it may be inconvenient to introduce into any discussion with the Suez Canal Company the suggestion made by Colonel Stokes in paragraph 6 of the above letter to your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 224.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 16.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 25th May ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin,[†] relative to the circumstances under which the Suez Canal Company, in applying the new Tariff according to the recommendations of the International Tonnage Commission, insist upon measuring the vessels passing through the Canal, instead of accepting the ships' registers as a basis for the calculation of the dues.

Mr. Lister also inclosed the draft of an instruction which your Lordship proposes to address to Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople on this subject; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with such observations as we may have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion that the Suez Canal Company cannot insist upon measuring the tonnage of vessels passing through the Suez Canal in cases where such vessels are furnished with tonnage certificates delivered by the competent Government authorities in accordance with the provisions prescribed in the Report of the International Commission held at Constantinople (see p. 8 of printed despatch No. 7).

In the case where vessels intended to pass through the Suez Canal have not been provided with the tonnage certificates given according to the recommendations of the Constantinople Commission, we are of opinion that the Suez Canal Company cannot insist upon remeasuring the vessels if they are properly, and according to the law of the country to which they belong, furnished with ships' papers or other evidence showing their net tonnage.

The draft instructions may therefore, in our opinion, be properly addressed to Her Majesty's Minister at Constantinople upon the subject.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] In India Office letter of May 13, 1874.

[†] General Stanton (Telegraphic), April 30; Colonel Stokes, No. 6, May 4; Board of Trade, May 12; Report of Tonnage Commission.

No. 225.

Dr. Deane to Mr. Lister.—(Received June 19.)

(Private.)

Temple, June 19, 1874.

Dear Mr. Lister,

I HAVE seen the Attorney- and Solicitor-General on the question put in your letter of yesterday, "whether the Suez Canal Company had any right to remeasure ships which were not provided with the tonnage certificates given according to the recommendations of the Constantinople Commission instead of calculating the new net tonnage from their registers?"

We are of opinion that the Suez Canal Company is not entitled to remeasure ships where the tonnage of such ships is regularly certified in, and can be ascertained by an inspection of, the ship's papers, those papers being in accordance with the law of the country to which the ship belongs.

Shall we recast the Report, or will this letter be sufficient from Lord Derby?

Yours, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 226.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 24, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 17th June instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Egypt,[*] requesting instructions as to the Court before which proceedings instituted against the Suez Canal Company, on account of overcharges, should be heard.

Mr. Lister further stated that he was to inclose a despatch[†] on this subject from Colonel Stokes, the British Commissioner at the late International Tonnage Commission at Constantinople, together with copies of a despatch, and of its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople,[‡] from which it would be observed that, in the month of May 1872, the Egyptian Government designated the Tribunal of the Governor of Alexandria as that before which plaints against the Canal Company should be heard; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, in connection with the terms of the concession granted to the Company by the Viceroy on the 5th January, 1856 (State Papers, vol. lv, p. 976), and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to General Stanton respecting the matter.

Mr. Lister was also pleased to say that he was further to transmit to us, for our consideration in connection with the question, the despatches, noted in the margin, from Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople (No. 8), and Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Egypt (Nos. 61–63), relative to suits hitherto brought against the Canal Company before French Consular Courts and other Tribunals.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Suez Canal Company being an Egyptian Company, as M. de Lesseps admits in Article XVI of the Convention of the 22nd February, 1866 (State Papers, vol. lvi, p. 283), all proceedings against the Company must be taken in that Court—whether the Mixed Commercial Tribunal of Alexandria, or the Civil Courts of the country—which would have jurisdiction over the cases if the suit were brought against an Egyptian subject.

In the particular case referred to us, that of "overcharges," we are of opinion that the Civil Court of the country is the right Court, and that General Stanton may be answered to that effect.

Should there be any difficulty in procuring the intervention of the Civil Court, General Stanton might, with advantage, state to your Lordship wherein that difficulty

---

[*] No. 57, Commercial.

[†] No. 12.

[‡] No. 27, Commercial, July 4, 1872.

1874

lies, and the means which his local experience may suggest for getting over the difficulty.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 227.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 11.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 10, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd July instant, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report of the 17th March, 1873, therewith inclosed, relative to the piratical attack at Bushire upon the steamer "Cashmere," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, with its inclosures, from Mr. W. Bradford, late an officer of that vessel, requesting reconsideration of his claim for compensation from the Turkish Government on account of wounds received by him during the attack.

Mr. Lister was also pleased to transmit to us, together with the previous papers in the case, a despatch, and its inclosure, from Her Majesty's Consul-General at Bagdad, reporting on Mr. Bradford's claim, and to say that he was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether there is anything in them to alter the opinion already expressed by the Law Officers in regard to this matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we see no reason for altering the opinion already expressed by the Law Officers in this matter.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 228.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' Report of the 26th June, 1873, therewith inclosed, Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter with its inclosures from the Danube and Black Sea Railway and Kustendje Harbour Company,* relative to the recent action of the Porte in regard to that Company; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the previous papers in the case which were inclosed, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the further instructions which should be addressed to Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the only obligation on the Company, except the cost of maintaining the harbour and lighthouse in Article V, is in Article VII of the Convention of the 10th October and the 28th September, 1870.

By this Article the Company contracted to extend the south jetty to 700 feet English, and to complete the work before the 1st September, 1873. Payment to be made in three payments of 10,000*l.* each, on the 1st March in each year, on proof that at each recurring 1st March one-third, at least, of the above work has been completed.

---

* Danube and Black Sea Railway Company, June 20, 1874.

Nothing in this Article is said as to—

1. The width of the jetty.
2. The security of the foundation and protection by outlying stones.
3. The height of the jetty above the sea level.

We think that the Turkish Government have, however, the right to insist upon the jetty being sufficiently wide, safe, and high for the purposes for which it was constructed before the payment, either of a part or of the whole of the 30,000*l.*, can be deemed due.

We doubt whether the 4th condition named by the Turkish Minister, namely, widening of the entrance to the harbour, comes within the Company's obligation to maintain the harbour in working order.

Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople may, in our opinion, properly be instructed again to use his influence to induce the Porte to submit the three first points, the sufficiency of the jetty as to width, safety, and height, to arbitration or to a Mixed Commission.

And, as to the 4th point, to urge upon the Porte that the Company is not, under the Convention of 1870, obliged to widen the entrance of the harbour.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 229.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th June last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin* relative to the effect upon the export trade of the new Regulations in Turkey respecting the manufacture and sale of tobacco; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our early convenience, with our opinion as to the question raised by Sir Henry Elliot whether, under the Anglo-Turkish Treaty of Commerce (Hertslet's Treaties, vol. xi, p. 561), exporters of cigars, cigarettes, snuff, or cut tobacco could claim the restoration of the duty levied upon the manufacture.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have to report—

That, as the duty is imposed on the manufacture and not on the exportation of the tobacco, we are of opinion that such duty is not within the Anglo-Turkish Treaty of Commerce, and that consequently the restoration of the duty cannot be claimed on exportation.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 230.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 17.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 16, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th July instant, stating that, with reference to our predecessors' letter of the 3rd January, 1873, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers, the accompanying despatch which had been received from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Alexandria, together with its inclosures, respecting the proposals which had been made for the settlement of outstanding claims against the Egyptian Government; and Lord Tenterden also stated that he was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

---

* Mr. Locock, No. 76; to ditto, No. 68, Commercial; Mr. Locock, No. 82, Commercial; Sir H. Elliot, No. 15, Commercial.

1874

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the proposal made for the settlement of outstanding claims against the Egyptian Government may properly be acceded to by Her Majesty's Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 231.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th August instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin* relative to a project on the part of the Ottoman Government to impose a tax upon trading licences, and to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer with regard to the question whether the application of the tax to British subjects constitutes an infraction of the Treaty rights of Great Britain under the Capitulations between this country and the Porte, and inform your Lordship whether we agree in the opinion expressed thereupon by Sir Philip Francis.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the proposed tax would be a direct infraction of Treaty rights between this country and the Porte.

We entirely agree with the opinion expressed by Sir Philip Francis, and have nothing to add to the observations made in his despatch.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 232.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 14th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, and inclosures, from Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople† regarding the levying of a fee upon the personal estate of the late Mr. C. J. Hanson, and stating that your Lordship would be glad to have our opinion as to the instructions which should be given to Sir P. Francis in this case.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the sum payable under the Order in Council on probate or letters of administration is a fee, and not a tax or duty, the reference to the stamp duty payable in like cases in England being merely for purposes of fixing the amount of a fee, varying with the circumstances of each case, and Sir Philip Francis may be properly instructed to this effect.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Locock, No. 96, Commercial, Sir H. Elliot, No. 25, Commercial; Italian Chargé d'Affaires, July 29.

† Sir P. Francis, No. 57, May 28; Order in Council of December 1873.

No. 233.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 5th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople, inclosing a proposed amended scale of fees leviable in Consular Courts in the Levant; and that he was to request that, in taking that amended scale into our consideration, we would favour your Lordship with any observations you might have to offer thereupon.

That the previous correspondence on that subject was also inclosed for our information, and for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the despatch, dated the 22nd June, 1874, from Sir P. Francis, the scale of fees to which he refers, and his observations upon the subject of Consular fees, and the amount and system of assessing such fees, and we are of opinion that the amended scale of fees, as indicated in the paper, marked X, annexed to the despatch of Sir P. Francis, may properly be adopted.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 234.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 25, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 25th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 13th July last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers in that case, a further letter from the Danube and Black Sea Railway Company, containing observations relative to the points at issue between that Company and the Porte which the former desired to submit to arbitration; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That our Report of the 13th July last was confined to the points immediately raised by the Danube and Black Sea Railway Company in their letter of the 20th June.

The whole of the matters in difference between the Company and the Porte were, by the directions of Lord Granville (on the 7th July, 1873) to Sir H. Elliot, to be pressed upon the Porte, with the view of bringing the case, without further delay, to a just and satisfactory conclusion; and Sir H. Elliot was, at the same time, instructed to use his influence to induce the Porte to submit those matters to arbitration or to a Mixed Commission.

On the 25th May last your Lordship requested Sir Henry Elliot to continue to press the Porte for a settlement of the matter.

These instructions are, we apprehend, still in force, and will doubtless be acted upon by Sir H. Elliot, notwithstanding the introduction of the new points of difference raised by the Porte, which cannot prejudice the rights of the Company to a settlement of the former questions.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 235.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 6.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 5th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 10th July last, Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from the British India Steam Navigation Company, soliciting the intervention of Her Majesty's Government with a view to recovering from the Government of the Porte the value of such portion of the property stolen from the steamer "Cashmere," on the occasion of the piratical attack upon that vessel at Bussorah, as still remains unrestored.

The previous papers in this case were likewise inclosed, and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should be adopted in this matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government cannot, as requested by the British India Steam Navigation Company, urge the Turkish Government to make good the value of the property unrestored.

But we see no objection to Sir H. Elliot being instructed to thank the Turkish Government for the exertions which have hitherto been successful, and to express a hope that the balance still unaccounted for may yet be recovered.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 236.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 6.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 5th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our letter of the 25th August, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople, commenting upon certain observations contained in a note verbale of the Italian Chargé d'Affaires at that Court, with regard to the proposed tax on trading licences in Turkey.

That the previous papers in that case were also inclosed, and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such further observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we gather from Sir H. Elliot's despatches of the 6th July and the 19th August that, though he does not consider the question altogether free from doubt, he is of opinion, and has so expressed himself in his note of the 4th July to the Ottoman Minister, that the imposition of the proposed tax would be an infraction of Treaty obligations. As this opinion is in concurrence with the views expressed by us in our Report of the 25th August, it does not occur to us to add more in reference to this portion of Sir H. Elliot's despatch of the 19th August, than to observe that his comments appear to us to have reference rather to the insufficiency of the reasons assigned by the Italian Chargé d'Affaires than to any substantial doubts in his own mind as to the subject-matter under consideration.

We entirely agree with Sir H. Elliot that Her Majesty's Government should not recommend any counter-project, and his reasons for that recommendation, in his despatch of the 19th August, seem to us conclusive.

This, however, is a question simply of policy, and for your Lordship's judgment.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 237.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 12.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 12, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 12th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,[*] upon the subject of the suppression by the Turkish Government of the "Levant Times," an English newspaper published at Constantinople; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should be pursued by Her Majesty's Government.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister of the 14th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch, and its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople[†] respecting the suppression of the "Levant Times" by the Turkish Government, and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, together with the correspondence which was inclosed in his letter of the 12th September ultimo.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister of the 6th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 14th ultimo on the suppression of the "Levant Times" at Constantinople, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch which had been received from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople,[‡] and to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the papers previously submitted to us on the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government cannot officially take any steps in this matter.

But Sir Henry Elliot may be instructed, if he sees a proper opportunity, and the Bulgarian paper is discreetly conducted, officiously to mention the case of the suppression of the "Levant Times" to the Turkish Minister, with the suggestion that the proprietor, having been sufficiently punished, the suppression might be rescinded.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 238.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 17.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 14, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 20th October ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 27th August, relative to an amended Table of Fees to be substituted for the one in the Turkish Order in Council of the 12th December last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. Reilly, inclosing a draft of an amended Table of Fees, and calling attention to the desirability of making a further alteration.

That the papers which had already been before us on that question had dealt with the limitation of most fees calculated on a percentage of the amount at stake, and that Mr. Reilly now recommended that that limitation should be extended to the percentage charge on the grant of probate or administration by the Consular Courts in the Levant.

That that class of charge formed the subject of a representation from a Mr. Clifton, on which we furnished a Report dated the 25th August last, in which we discussed the question of whether the charge was to be regarded as a "fee" or a "tax," without expressing an opinion as to the policy of continuing the levy of the charge, and that Sir P. Francis' despatch, inclosing Mr. Clifton's letter, and our Report, were again sent to us for facility of reference.

That Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take that matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether, looking to the system

---

[*] Sir H. Elliot, Nos. 123 and 124; to ditto, Nos. 125 and 126; Mr. Hanley, August 14; to ditto, August 29, 1874; Sir H. Elliot, Nos. 141, 152, and 159.

[†] Sir H. Elliot, No. 170, September 2, 1874.

[‡] Sir H. Elliot, No. 186, September 10, 1874.

1874

to be adopted of limiting other percentage fees with a view of not making them a source of revenue so much as a means of assisting to defray the administration of justice, it would be proper to adopt Mr. Reilly's views in regard to the limitation of the fee at present charged on probate being granted.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken those papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Reilly's suggestion in regard to the limitation of fees on probate or letters of administration is not entirely free from objection.

Mr. Reilly proposes to leave the fee the same in amount as would be charged for stamp duty in like cases in England, such fee, however, not to exceed 100*l.*

In England 100*l.* is the duty payable on probate where the property exceeds 5,000*l.*, and is under 6,000*l.*

Where there is no will, and administration is taken out, there is no duty of 100*l.*, but the duty where the property exceeds 3,000*l.*, and is under 4,000*l.*, amounts to 90*l.*; where the property exceeds 4,000*l.*, and is under 5,000*l.*, the duty amounts to 120*l.*

Mr. Reilly's suggestion, therefore, is this—that in case of all estates of less than 6,000*l.* where there is a will, or less than 4,000*l.* where there is no will, a fee shall be charged equal to the duty in England, but that in the case of estates in excess of those sums no more shall be levied.

In other words, the same amount shall be levied where the estate is worth only 5,000*l.*, which is levied where the estate is worth 100,000*l.*

We cannot help thinking that such a rate of charge will be unfair to the smaller properties, and unduly favourable to the larger estates.

We may observe, however, that the question is one of policy and not of law. It may be that the estates of deceased persons in Turkey in respect of which probate has to be granted or administration taken out, very rarely exceed in value 4,000*l.* to 6,000*l.*, or other circumstances may exist with which we are not acquainted which may render the adoption of Mr. Reilly's proposal desirable.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 239.

The Attorney- and Solicitor-General to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 5, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th November ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith two despatches, with their inclosures, from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General in Egypt,* relative to the circumstances of the detention by the officials of the Suez Canal Company of the British steamer "Mesopotamia."

Lord Tenterden also inclosed a memorandum prepared by Colonel Stokes, C.B., R.E., and a letter from the Board of Trade on the subject,† together with the draft of an instruction thereupon which your Lordship proposes to address to General Stanton; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, in connection with the terms of the Act of Concession granted to the Canal Company by the Viceroy of Egypt (State Papers, vol. lv, p. 976), and favour your Lordship with such observations as we may have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have no observations to make upon the papers which your Lordship has directed to be transmitted to us other than that the instructions which your Lordship proposes to address to General Stanton may, in our opinion, properly be sent.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.

---

* General Stanton, Nos. 89 and 92, Commercial.

† Colonel Stokes, Memorandum, October 11; Board of Trade, October 21, 1874.

No. 240.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 8, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 30th November ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to acquaint us that Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Bucharest had inquired of your Lordship whether an Englishwoman married to a Roumanian, but divorced from him according to the law of Roumania, which legalizes divorce on very slight pretexts, had the right to claim British protection on the plea that she reverts, by reason of her divorce, to her original nationality.

Lord Tenterden was pleased to state that Mr. Vivian's inquiry was made in consequence of an application to him in connection with a law-suit regarding the woman's claim to inherit from her husband real property in Roumania; and that he was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Mr. Vivian.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the original nationality of an Englishwoman who has married a Roumanian does not revert on her divorce from her husband, and that consequently she is not entitled to claim British protection.

And that Mr. Vivian may properly be answered to that effect. Mr. Vivian might, however, be instructed to afford the woman in question any assistance in his power, taking care not to do so officially.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 241.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 18.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 16, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a correspondence, as marked in the margin,* regarding the sale of the English burial-ground at Smyrna, and the removal of the remains to the new burial-ground which had been granted by the Turkish Government.

That it appeared from the inclosed petition from British residents in Smyrna that they objected to the sale of the cemetery, and to the removal of the remains, on the ground that that proceeding must come under the Act 6 Geo. IV., cap. 87, by which the administration of Church affairs abroad must be left to the general meetings of the British residents; and that your Lordship would be glad if we would take the case into our consideration, and inform your Lordship whether we considered that either the new or old cemetery come under the Consular Act, or whether in any way the British residents could be considered to have any lien upon them, or right to interfere in the arrangements which Her Majesty's Consul had been authorized by Her Majesty's Government to carry out.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we gather from the papers which have been transmitted to us that the old cemetery was ceded to Her Majesty's Government by the Levant Company, and that apparently the British residents at Smyrna have not contributed either to the old or new cemetery in such a way as would bring those cemeteries within 6 Geo. IV., cap. 87. If so, the British residents have no lien upon either cemetery, nor any right to interfere with the arrangement which Her Majesty's Consul has been authorized to carry out.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J PARKER DEANE.

---

* List.

1874

United States.

No. 242.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 10.)

Temple, January 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office,* expressing the wish of the Government of the Dominion of Canada to arrange with the authorities of the United States in Montana for a joint pursuit of the murderers of certain Assiniboine Indians, which would involve the grant of permission to the American force to cross the British territory, and a corresponding permission to the British force to enter the United States; and inquiring on the part of the Governor-General of Canada whether this can be done.

Lord Kimberley was of opinion that it is very doubtful whether the proposed arrangement could be sanctioned, but your Lordship would be obliged to us if we would take the proposal, together with a Report of the Law Officers of the Crown, inclosed in the letter from the Colonial Office, and which bears on the subject, into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereon.

He (Lord Tenterden) was, however, pleased to point out to us that that Report was drawn up some months before the passing of the "Rupert's Land Act,"† by which the lands of the Hudson's Bay Company became incorporated in the Dominion of Canada.

He (Lord Tenterden) was pleased also to transmit to us a printed draft of a proposed Extradition Treaty between Great Britain and the United States; and he was pleased further to request that we would favour your Lordship with our further opinion whether, with the view of carrying out in future cases the wish of the Canadian Government, it would be expedient to insert a clause in that Treaty; and if so, he (Lord Tenterden) was pleased to request that we would frame such clause, and insert it in its proper place in the draft.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, it is not advisable to enter into the arrangement suggested by the Governor-General of Canada, which would involve the grant of permission to American forces to enter upon British territory.

Taking this view, we have not framed any clause for insertion in the draft Treaty.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 243.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 4.)

Temple, February 4, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 30th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 23rd December last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration, a further letter from Messrs. Whitley and Maddock, respecting Messrs. Wilson's claim against the United States; and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

That the former papers connected with that case were returned therewith for convenience of reference.

---

* December 22, 1873.

† 31 & 32 Vict., cap. 105.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, no sufficient explanation has been given on Messrs. Wilson's behalf, either of the delay of nearly five years in bringing their claim to the notice of Her Majesty's Government, or of their omission to take any steps for their own protection, or even to inquire as to their position in the matter between July 1871, when they received notice that they must apply to the Mixed Commission, and November 1873, when they first applied for information to the British Agent at Washington.

We think that Messrs. Wilson may properly be informed that under these circumstances no representation can, in the opinion of Her Majesty's Government, be made with any prospect of success.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 244.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received February 28.)

Temple, February 26, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 20th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 4th instant, in regard to Messrs. Wilson's claim against the United States' Government, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us herewith a further letter from Messrs. Whitley and Maddock,* expressing the hope that Her Majesty's Government will bring their client's claim to the attention of the United States' Government.

Mr. Lister further stated that your Lordship proposes, with our concurrence, to inform them that if the proposal of the President of the United States for the appointment of a Court of Claims is adopted by Congress they will have an opportunity of bringing their claim before that Court.

Mr. Lister also stated that he was to request that we would take this letter into our consideration, together with the previous papers, which were returned therewith for convenience of reference, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the reply that should be addressed to Messrs. Whitley and Maddock.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Messrs. Whitley and Maddock may properly be answered that Her Majesty's Government is unable, as they have been already informed, to support the claim of Mr. Wilson.

And that they may, if the proposal of the President of the United States for the appointment of a Court of Claims be adopted by Congress, have an opportunity of bringing the claim before that Court.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 245.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 28.)

Temple, March 28, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 27th March instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence on the subject of the claims put forward by certain British subjects to be compensated for losses sustained by them through the acts of the "Alabama" and other Confederate cruizers, and that we would see that the late Law Officers of the Crown were of opinion that Her Majesty's Government are not liable to British subjects for the acts of those vessels.

Lord Tenterden also stated that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and inform your Lordship whether we agree in the opinion of the late Law Officers, and added that, notice having been given of a motion in the House of Commons on the subject on the 31st instant, your Lordship would be glad to have our answer before that date.

---

* February 13, 1874.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we agree with the views expressed by the late Law Officers, 6th December, 1872, and with those expressed by Lord Tenterden in his memorandum.

Some of the applicants admit that they have no claim which constitutes a right to be enforced by means of any legal Tribunal, but they ask for the liberal consideration of Government, i.e., for a Parliamentary grant to indemnify them against losses sustained by them by reason of the "Alabama" having burnt the American merchant-vessels in which their goods were being conveyed, uninsured against war risk (letter of the 23rd June, 1873, from Atkyn and Co.), and if they had been so insured the underwriters would doubtless have claimed repayment.

It may be taken to have been established in this case that Great Britain has omitted, as between herself and the United States, to perform a duty in letting the "Alabama" sail from our ports, but it does not follow that British subjects have any right to say that for this breach of duty to the United States they should be indemnified by the British taxpayer.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 246.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th April instant, stating that, with reference to the Report of the late Law Officers of the Crown of the 24th March, 1873, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Washington (No. 110), containing some observations made by Mr. Carlisle, the legal adviser of that Legation, in regard to the British settlers in the Island of San Juan.

Lord Tenterden also stated that he was to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, together with the previous papers, which were inclosed therewith for convenience of reference, and favour your Lordship with any observations that we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we agree with the opinion of Mr. Carlisle that the Island of San Juan must be taken to have formed a part of the United States previous to the award of the Emperor of Germany and during the controversy between Great Britain and the United States.

We are also of opinion that Sir E. Thornton may properly be instructed to bring the case of those British subjects who are not within the beneficial provisions of the United States' statutes, and who settled in the island on reliance on the title of Great Britain, to ask for a favourable consideration of their case, that they may be protected by the further legislation of Congress.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 247.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 22.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 21, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with a letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 18th February ultimo, stating that, with reference to his letter of that day's date, in which he transmitted for the Law Officers' consideration the draft of a Consular Convention which Lord Granville proposed to offer to conclude with the United States, and that he was further directed by his Lordship to transmit for consideration the heads of a General Act relating to foreign Consuls in Her Majesty's dominions; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that the Law Officers would favour Lord Granville with their opinion whether the inclosed scheme, which had been prepared after communication with Dr. Deane and the Board of Trade, is one which might properly be submitted to the Government Draughtsman with the view of his framing a Bill to be brought before Parliament.

Lord Tenterden was further directed to transmit to the Law Officers therewith three memoranda which bore upon the subject.

In obedience to the commands contained in Lord Tenterden's letter we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Act should be confined to Great Britain and Ireland, and should not extend to India or the Colonies.

Head 1.—The proposed exemption of Consular officers, being subjects or citizens of the nation by which they are employed or appointed, from serving on juries would be better dealt with (if any change in the law is thought desirable) by a Juries Act. At present they are exempted (as are all aliens) until they have been domiciled for ten years. There does not appear to us to be any necessity for legislation to exempt them from military and naval service, or from judicial or municipal functions, from which they are already, in Great Britain and Ireland, substantially exempt.

Head 2.—It would be desirable, we think, to add to the words "house or part of the house," the words "being a separate tenement."

Head 3.—We think that the depositions of persons belonging to ships should be limited to matters connected with such ships.

Head 4.—We presume that the object of the directions given under this head is not to deprive the local authorities of any jurisdiction that they at present possess, but to confer upon them, in particular cases, and when applied to for that purpose by the Consul, a jurisdiction that they would not, or might not, otherwise possess; and that the words "but not otherwise" are inserted for the purpose only of securing that the applications by the Consul shall be made in writing. Care must, however, be taken in preparing the draft Act that these words, if used at all, shall be so used as to confine their operation within these limits, for, as employed in the draft at present before us, they give rise to the doubt whether their effect would not be to deprive the local authorities of some at least of their present jurisdiction.

Similar observations apply to the use of like words in the paragraph which has reference to offences committed on board ships within the local jurisdiction. We think also that the Act should provide to whom the notices are to be given.

We doubt the expediency of the provisions limiting the amount of punishment in each of the above classes of cases; if such provisions are retained, two persons might be sentenced for the same offence to very different degrees of punishment.

Head 5.—Similar observations apply to the use under this head of the words "but not otherwise." And we would suggest that it would be expedient to insert a clause in the Act providing for the retention by the local authorities of all such jurisdiction as they at present possess.

Head 6.—We see no objection to the principle of this head, but care will be required in framing the clauses of the Act to give effect to it.

To Heads Nos. 7 and 8, when put in proper form, we see no objection.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 248.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 23, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 12th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying draft of a Reciprocity Treaty which had been submitted to the United States' Government by Sir E. Thornton and Mr. Brown, of Canada, who had been authorized to negotiate on the subject; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether the wording of the Article is right and proper, and whether there are any objections in English law to the draft being approved.

1874

Copies of the Treaty of Washington and of the Reciprocity Treaty of 1854* were inclosed for reference if required

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we see no objections in English law to the draft being approved.

Your Lordship is aware of the difference between Her Majesty's Government and the French Government with reference to the rights claimed by French subjects in the so-called French shores of Newfoundland. Should Newfoundland, therefore, be hereafter included in the Treaty under Article XIV, some provision with respect to these rights will be necessary.

We do not understand the note of interrogation after the word "port," line 3, Article VII. In other respects the wording of the Article seems to us right and proper.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 249.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 24, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th June instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 12th instant, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying copies of a further telegram which has been received from Sir E. Thornton, stating the form in which Mr. Fish has agreed to submit the draft Treaty of Reciprocity to the Senate of the United States, for their opinion as to its signature; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether there are any objections to the draft being approved.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we are aware the objections to the Treaty which we submit to your Lordship's consideration may be caused by the Constitution of the United States, and the Government of each independent State, and therefore insuperable.

But we desire to point out to your Lordship that the Government of Canada is under the obligation to enlarge certain canals (Article V), and to construct (Article VI) certain other canals, and to deepen (Article V) certain parts of the channel of the St. Lawrence. The time for the completion of such works is specified.

The United States, however, only engage (Article VI) to urge upon the Government of the State of New York to cause existing canal from Whitehall, on Lake Champlain, to Albany to be enlarged, and other works, if necessary, carried out.

The difference is obvious. The Treaty on the part of the United States will be satisfied by a mere request made by that Government upon that of New York to do the works named, and no date is mentioned. On the other side, the Dominion is absolutely bound to complete the works by a given time. The works need not even be commenced, much less completed, by the United States.

It seems to us that reciprocity is entirely absent from such an agreement as this, and we cannot find that paragraphs 2 and 4 of Article VIII constitute a reciprocity, either as to the construction, time of construction, or use of the canals named in those paragraphs.

We submit that the Dominion should not be put under the positive obligation to the United States to construct certain works, unless the United States are put under a corresponding obligation to construct the works required of the United States, and that a time should be named for the completion of the works to be done by the United States.

The last sentence of paragraph 1 of Article VIII is, in our opinion, extremely ambiguous.* The words "free navigation" have no definite meaning, and the laws and regulations of the United States, or of the States bordering on the Lakes Champlain and Michigan may impose upon the subjects of the Dominion navigating those waters tolls and duties not imposed upon subjects of the United States, and yet these tolls and duties may not be inconsistent with some sense or interpretation of the words "free navigation."

---

* Treaty of 1871. See Hertslet's Treaties, vol. ix, p. 998.

We think that it would be most advisable to avoid this ambiguity, which may lead to future complications, and impair the reciprocity which is a leading object of the Treaty.

We respectfully submit to your Lordship, with this view, that the United States and Government of New York should be put under explicit obligation to make and complete the works assigned to them pari passu with the works undertaken by the Dominion.

And that as to the navigation of Lakes Champlain and Michigan, that navigation should be enjoyed by subjects of the Dominion on terms of equality with inhabitants or citizens of the United States.

The use of the canal or canals in connection with Lake Champlain, and the navigation of the Hudson, should, as it seems to us, be open to subjects of the Dominion in the same way, and on the same terms, as the use of the waters within the Dominion is open to citizens of the United States.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 250.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 7, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 25th June last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers noted in the margin† relative to a complaint on the part of the Exchequer Gold and Silver Mining Company Limited, respecting the effect upon their interests of the laws of the United States concerning the tenure of mining property; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Chalmers wishes some change to be made in a law of the United States introduced so lately as 1872.

Without entering upon the particular grievance of which Mr. Chalmers complains, and with which we think Mr. Carlisle has satisfactorily dealt, we are of opinion that on general grounds Her Majesty's Government cannot properly interfere with the view of inducing the American Government to change a law passed, it is to be presumed, in favour of national interests. But we see no objection to Sir Edward Thornton's being instructed to bring Mr. Chalmers' case officiously to the notice of the American Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 251.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 21.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th July instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to

---

* It is taken from Article XXVIII of the Treaty of 1871, which was again taken from some precedent.—T.

† Exchequer Gold and Silver Mining Company, February 23; Sir E. Thornton, Nos. 10 and 19, Commercial; Exchequer Gold and Silver Mining Company, June 18, 1874.

1874

transmit to us the accompanying correspondence relative to the treatment of the British vessel "Grace" by the United States' authorities at Darien, Georgia; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and report to your Lordship whether we saw any reason to differ from the opinion given by the late Law Officers in their letter of the 19th July, 1873.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we see no reason to differ from the opinion given by the late Law Officers on the 19th July, 1873.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 252.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 28th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 21st May last, on the subject of the Bill relating to Foreign Consuls in Her Majesty's dominions which Her Majesty's Government were desirous of proposing to Parliament, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a printed copy of the correspondence which had taken place on that subject, and that Lord Tenterden was to call our attention to a memorandum drawn up at the Foreign Office by your Lordship's direction, which would be found at p. 28 of that correspondence.

That, while reminding us of the urgent necessity for legislation on that subject, Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the matter again into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereon.

That, with regard to Head IV, which dealt with offences committed on the high seas, Lord Tenterdon was to suggest, as a means of removing the difficulty with regard to the jurisdiction of British Local Courts, that the following words, or other words to the same effect, be inserted at the end of paragraph 1:—

"This, however, not to interfere with any jurisdiction the Court may at present possess."

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the objection to the provisions of the draft Bill is that, in certain cases, they limit the jurisdiction of the existing Courts, and we doubt whether Parliament would allow such an extensive limitation as the Bill proposes.

Whilst we agree with Mr. March in thinking that the words "but not otherwise" may be retained in that paragraph of Head IV which deals with offences committed on the high seas, we are of opinion that the paragraphs of the same head which relate to offences committed on board ship within the local jurisdiction should be omitted altogether. We think that, under the law as it now stands, the local jurisdiction will have power to deal with the offences mentioned in these paragraphs; and, of course, such offences would be dealt with on the application of the Consul of the foreign State, or of any other person, upon a proper case being made out.

Mr. March is quite right in presuming that, in our Report of the 21st May last, "Head V" is an error for "paragraph 5, Head IV."

This provision 5, Head IV, is of such great importance that if the American Government will agree to a similar enactment on their part, we are of opinion that such a clause should be introduced; but then, in order to make the provision such as will effect the purposes intended and those only, it will be essential that, in framing the clause, great care shall be taken to define the cases in which the local Courts shall act only on the application of the Consul.

In making this suggestion we are aware that it may be objected that a wrong may be done to a British subject serving on board an American ship by the refusal of the American Consul to apply, but these difficulties will rarely occur, and the Act can be amended if experience proves that it works more harm than good.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 253.

The Attorney-General to Mr. Lister.—(Received September 9.)

Aldingbourne House, Chichester, September 8, 1874.

THE Attorney-General presents his compliments to Mr. Villiers Lister, and sends, accompanying this note, the papers relating to Mr. Gerard's claim under the Washington Arbitration, with an opinion thereon, signed by himself alone, and for which he is alone responsible. The opinion had been drafted by the Attorney-General, with the intention of its being sent, first to the Solicitor-General, and afterwards to Dr. Deane, for their approval, and it was sent to London on Saturday for that purpose; but, in consequence of the receipt of Mr. Villiers Lister's letter, which had been forwarded from the Solicitor-General's chambers, the Attorney-General's clerk at once copied the Report and sent it for the Attorney-General's signature.

The approval and signature of the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane could not be obtained under several days, but a joint opinion shall be sent on, if one is desired, as soon as it can be obtained. As regards the Solicitor-General, the Attorney-General has no reason to think that there will be any difference of opinion between them, as the whole matter was very fully discussed, in Mr. Howard's presence, at a lengthened conference in Lincoln's Inn, and views were then expressed by the Law Officers and Mr. Bowen, who was then associated with them, substantially to the effect of the accompanying opinion.

To Dr. Deane the matter is entirely new, as he was not associated with the Law Officers on the former occasion, and many matters would have to be explained to him which do not appear upon the papers.

The Attorney-General will only add that it is extremely difficult to advise upon a hypothetical view of what the facts may turn out to be; at present nothing is known of the transactions subsequent to the award beyond the fact that Mr. Gerard has assigned the amount awarded to him to Mr. Whitworth, but under what circumstances the assignment was made, and whether or not with the assent of the parties for whom Mr. Gerard was a trustee, does not appear. In such a case, a cautious answer is the only one that can be advised, especially when regard is had to the large amount of the sum in question. The Attorney-General can sympathize with Mr. Howard in his wish to satisfy all the claimants. He may desire to have their money paid to them at the earliest moment, but prudence requires that he should be well assured of the right of the party to receive it, before the payment is made.

---

No. 254.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 8, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 28th August last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit the accompanying letter,* together with its inclosure, which had been received from Mr. Henry Howard, the British Agent, for the payment of the awards made under the XIIIth Article of the Treaty of Washington, respecting Mr. Gerard's case; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, with as little delay as possible, with our opinion thereupon.

We were also favoured with a note, dated the 31st August last, from Mr. Bourke, forwarding further papers in reference to the same matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we should much regret that Mr. Gerard should, as is suggested in Mr. Howard's letter, be put to any serious pecuniary embarrassment by reason of the payment of the amount of the award in his favour being delayed beyond the middle of October; but should such delay occur, it will be entirely due to his own act, in making, after the date of the award, an assignment of the sum awarded in his favour.

It would appear, from the documents laid before the Commission, that, if not the whole, at the least the greater part of the sum awarded to Mr. Gerard on the 28th April, 1873, was so awarded to him as a trustee for the Insurance Companies, underwriter, and others. Now, though, as regards the sum of which he is a trustee, he is authorized to give receipts, he has no authority whatever to assign it, or any portion of it, to any other person. We are consequently of opinion that Mr. Howard, as Her Majesty's Agent, cannot with propriety pay any portion of the awarded sum to Mr. Whitworth, the assignee under the deed of the 23rd December, 1873, without the assent of all the Insurance Companies and others for whom Mr. Gerard is a trustee, nor can he, having regard to the fact that he has had distinct notice of the assignment, pay the money to Mr. Gerard without the assent of Mr. Whitworth.

---

* Mr. Howard's letter of August 28, 1874.

The question remains whether he can properly pay the awarded sum to Mr. Gerard, with Mr. Whitworth's assent. This is a question of much greater difficulty, so far as we can infer from the materials before us; the assignment to Mr. Whitworth is, or at any rate may be, an attempt to commit a breach of trust, of which attempt Her Majesty's Agent has distinct notice, and the payment of the awarded sum to Mr. Gerard, under circumstances which, so far as we can at present judge, are so suggestive of the probability of its being immediately afterwards handed over by him to Mr. Whitworth, would certainly not be viewed with favour by an English Court of Equity. On the other hand, it may be, though we have no evidence of it, that the assignment to Mr. Whitworth was one to which no objection could be raised. Under these circumstances, much as we regret the delay and consequent inconvenience which may arise, we cannot advise that Mr. Howard can properly pay any portion of the awarded sum either to Mr. Gerard or to Mr. Whitwith, without the assent of the parties represented by Mr. Gerard in the proceedings before the Commission.

As all the parties interested in the present question are English Companies or individuals (so far as we can gather from the proceedings before the Commission), we would again suggest the expediency of some arrangement being come to by which the fund could be remitted to this country for distribution.

I have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.

---

No. 255.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 30.)

Lincoln's Inn, September 29, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 17th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* with reference to the extradition of a man named Robbins, in the case of whom jurisdiction is at the same time claimed by, and admitted to belong to, Her Majesty's authorities of New Brunswick and the State of Maine respectively; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any, and what, instruction should be addressed to Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Washington with reference thereto.

We were also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister of the 24th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a further despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Washington in regard to Robbins' extradition, and to request that we would take it into consideration, together with the inclosures in Mr. Lister's letter of the 17th instant, and favour your Lordship with our opinion in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the only instructions which, in our opinion, can properly be addressed to Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Washington with reference to the man named Robbins are that his extradition should be demanded if he be not tried, or there be a failure of justice on his trial in Maine.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Watson, Nos. 72 and 80; Consul Murray, No. 21.

No. 256.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 8.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 8, 1874.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 19th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at San Francisco (No. 33), relative to a claim made by a British subject named David Calderwood against the United States' Government for damages for an imprisonment under an order of the County Court of San Francisco, which order was subsequently declared to be void by the Supreme Court of the State of California.

That a copy was also inclosed of a petition which had been addressed by Mr. Calderwood to your Lordship requesting you to present the claim; and that he, Mr. Lister, was to request us to take the papers into our consideration, and to report to your Lordship our opinion as to the manner in which the case should be dealt with.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That Mr. Calderwood has suffered from an error in judgment on the part of one of the Judges of a United States' Court, the Judge of that Court having, according to the decision of the Superior Court, acted in excess of his jurisdiction when he committed Mr. Calderwood.

But this error of judgment and the consequences, however hard, do not, in our opinion, afford any ground for your Lordship's interference, and we think that Mr. Calderwood may properly be answered that Her Majesty's Government cannot comply with his petition and bring his case as a diplomatic matter to the notice of the Government of the United States.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 257.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 24.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 24, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Mr. Henry Howard (No. 2) requesting instructions in regard to the course he should pursue with reference to a claim put forward by the heirs of John Purvis to receive the amount due to them under the award of the Claims Commission at Washington; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take this despatch into our early consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions that should be addressed to Mr. Howard in the matter.

Mr. Lister was further to inclose, for convenience of reference, as suggested by Mr. Howard, a copy of vol. x of the printed Record of the Commission, together with a copy of the Treaty of Washington of the 8th May, 1871.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That Mr. Howard may, in our opinion, properly be instructed to pay Mr. King without requiring any further proof.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

No. 258.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 10.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 27th October ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a despatch from Mr. Henry Howard (No. 7) requesting instructions in regard to the course he should pursue with reference to the award of the Claims Commission at Washington in the case of John Haskins, a British subject; and that he was to request that we would take the despatch into our early consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions that should be addressed to Mr. Howard in the matter.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was further to inclose a statement of the facts of the case received from Mr. Haskins, together with two printed volumes, as suggested by Mr. Howard, for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Howard may properly be instructed to inform Mr. Davis that his claim, if any, is against Messrs. Denver and Peck, and that Mr. Davis has no right to stop the payment of the amount awarded to Mr. Haskins.

Mr. Howard may also properly be instructed to pay the sum in his hands as requested by Mr. Haskins.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 259.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 28th October ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 8th October, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us herewith a letter from Mr. David Calderwood (October 2) forwarding a supplemental statement of his claim against the United States' Government for damages for imprisonment under an order of the County Court of San Francisco; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take this statement, together with the previous papers in the case, into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, there is nothing in Mr. Calderwood's supplemental statement which alters the original statement, and we are still of opinion that your Lordship cannot properly take any steps in support of his case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 260.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby—(Received November 18.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 29th September, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further despach from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Washington (Mr. Watson,

No. 136, October 13), together with its inclosures, on the subject of the Robbins Extradition case; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

That the previous papers were likewise inclosed for convenience of reference.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden of the 10th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Washington in regard to the Robbins Extradition case, and to request that we would be good enough to take that despatch into our consideration, together with the inclosures in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th instant, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That although considerable feeling was shown at the trial, and the jury may have given a verdict contrary to that which might have been expected, yet the decision of the question of guilty or not guilty, and the question of sanity or insanity, was one which rested entirely with them, and we are of opinion that your Lordship cannot properly move any further by asking for the extradition of Robbins, either on the grounds of failure of justice on his trial for murder, or on the ground of his having committed some other extraditional offence.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 261.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 10.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 9, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th November ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Board of Trade, commenting on our Report of the 27th August last on the subject of the proposed Consular Convention Bill; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the same into our consideration and inform your Lordship whether, in view of the explanations offered as to the nature of the offences with which it is proposed to give the local authorities power to deal under the 3rd paragraph of the 4th section of the Heads of the Bill, we see reason to alter our opinion on that paragraph.

Lord Tenterden further stated that your Lordship would also desire to call our attention to the remarks made by the Board of Trade with regard to the question of reciprocity, in which your Lordship entirely concurs.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the difficulty which occurred to us was that the paragraph 3, whilst extending the jurisdiction of the local authority to certain offences, limited the jurisdiction which might already exist with respect to other offences.

We think that difficulty might be got over by framing paragraph 3 in the following manner:—

"Offences committed on board a foreign ship within the local jurisdiction of the country in which the Consular officer resides, and over which offences, by reason of their being committed on board such foreign ship, the local authorities cannot now exercise jurisdiction," to be tried on the application, &c.

The suggestions made by the Board of Trade with regard to the question of reciprocity will, if adopted, secure the attainment of that object, which, we ventured to submit to your Lordship, was to be desired.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1874

Venezuela.

No. 262.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received January 8.)

Temple, January 7, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 29th December ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, and its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Minister in Venezuela, together with the previous papers, respecting the plundering of the cargo of the British vessel "Ines," on the occasion of her being wrecked in the Bay of Maracaibo.* The losses incurred through these events having fallen on persons who are not British subjects, he (Lord Tenterden) was pleased to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Mr. Middleton should be instructed to take any further action in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we think undue prominence is attached by Señor Gutierrez to the statement made by the master of the "Ines" that the pillaging of the cargo took place during the night of the 6th, whilst the sale by auction was on the 6th, and therefore before the alleged act of pillage. If the master's narrative be carefully perused, it is quite clear that he intends to allege that the pillaging preceded the sale, and he probably uses the words "night of the 6th" as meaning a time on the morning of the 6th when it was dark.

It seems, however, that the loss of cargo, whether from the stranding or pillage, has fallen on an American Insurance Office, and, if so, the owners of cargo ought not to receive further compensation.

We think also this is a case in which the remedy, if any, may be sought in the Tribunals of Venezuela, and we therefore advise your Lordship to instruct Mr. Middleton not further to urge any claim for compensation on the Venezuelan Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) HENRY JAMES.
W. V. HARCOURT.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 263.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 7.)

Temple, March 6, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 27th February ultimo, with reference to the Report of the Law Officers, dated the 12th November last, Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Carácas, inclosing a copy of the answer returned by the Venezuelan Government to his representations respecting the prejudicial effect upon British trade of certain Articles of the Financial Code of Venezuela; and to request that we should take this despatch into our consideration, together with the various papers relating to this case, which were inclosed for convenience of reference, and favour your Lordship with our opinion on this matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That Her Majesty's Government having informed the Venezuelan Government of the steps which Her Majesty's Government might be obliged to take if certain Articles of the Financial Code of Venezuela injuriously affected British trade, the necessity of replying to or further noticing the answer of the Venezuelan Minister has not, in our opinion, become pressing; and it will be sufficient to wait for any cases of injury should such arise.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Middleton, No. 67, November 20, 1873; ditto, No. 28, May 10; ditto, No. 33, June 22; to ditto, July 17, 1871.

---

No. 264.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 1.)

My Lord, Temple, March 21, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence with Her Majesty's Minister Resident at Carácas respecting the refusal of the Venezuelan Government to allow interest on the amounts awarded to British claimants by a Mixed Commission which sat at Carácas in 1868-69, under a Convention concluded between Great Britain and Venezuela in 1868.

That Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to us copies of the Convention and of the Report of the Commissioners referred to; and that he was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government were justified in claiming interest on the amounts awarded by the Mixed Commission.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in the absence of fuller information on the subject, it is difficult to advise your Lordship as to the course to be followed.

The Convention certainly does not stipulate that interest is to be paid on the amount due on claims awarded by the Commissioners.

But it was doubtless within the power of the Commissioners to award interest, and in some cases they seem to have done so by the awards set out in the "Report" accompanying the papers sent to us.

But in these awards, when interest is given, it is awarded by reference to some future award or determination of the Commissioners.

In the case of the "Grace," p. 51, no interest is awarded.

In Romberg's case, p. 56, "interest for the future at the rate which the Commissioners may establish for all the other British claims is given."

In Jelleret's case, p. 61, "a moderate rate of interest from 1st July, 1863, until the same be paid" is suggested by the British Commissioner, and by the award (p. 62), "interest at 9 per cent. is allowed in making up the total sum awarded," with the addition of such interest as may be agreed upon to be paid upon the full amount of the British claims.

At p. 75, Court and Bordé claim the award is of "interest hereafter at the same rate as may be agreed upon shall be paid to all other British claims."

These instances will suffice.

The papers before us are silent upon the subject whether any rate has been since agreed upon. If so, what is the rate? and, if not, why has no agreement been come to on the subject?

Upon these matters further information should, we think, be obtained.

We remark that, according to Mr. Middleton's letter of the 6th February, 1874, interest has been allowed (though the rate is not mentioned) to English bondholders, and though it is stated that interest has been also allowed to French, American, and other creditors, we cannot say that the distinction made is invidious until more is known as to the nature of the debts, the terms of the award, &c., under which the payment of interest has been made. Mr. Middleton can probably further elucidate these matters.

We would remark, in conclusion, that, in our opinion, a further interest on money due is not necessarily payable unless such interest has been expressly or implicitly agreed upon, or awarded, at all events unless and until great and improper delay in liquidating the amounts awarded has taken place.

1874

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 265.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 14.)

Temple, April 13, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 14th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence relative to the case of the "Violet."

That we would see that the "Violet" was seized by the police at Trinidad in February, 1872, for having on board arms and ammunition suspected of being intended for exportation to Venezuela at a time when such exportation was forbidden; that the Jury before whom the "Violet" was tried were unable to agree upon a verdict; that, acting upon the advice of the late Law Officers of the Crown, the Governor of Trinidad proposed to Messrs. Zwicher, the charterers of the "Violet," that further proceedings on the part of the Crown should be abandoned, the bail of the vessel discharged, and the arms restored, on condition that they, on their part, would abandon further proceedings, and pay the costs; that Messrs. Zwicher had demurred to that proposal, and claimed compensation, and that eventually an arrangement had been come to, by which the proceedings had been abandoned, and the arms given up, the Governor undertaking to refer Messrs. Zwicher's claim to compensation to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies; and that the Earl of Carnarvon had requested that our opinion might be taken as to whether any, and if any, what amount of compensation should be awarded to Messrs. Zwicher.

That Lord Tenterden was accordingly to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer that should be returned to the Colonial Office letter of the 7th instant.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we think that, under all the circumstances of the case, reasonable compensation may properly be paid to Messrs. Zwicher and Co. for the seizure and detention of the "Violet" and her cargo.

But we think that it should be distinctly intimated to these gentlemen that in adopting this course it is by no means to be understood that there were not ample grounds of suspicion to warrant the seizure, and that the money is paid ex gratiâ, and not as an admission that any claim enforceable at law by them exists.

We presume that this is a solitary case, and that it cannot be relied on by others in Trinidad as furnishing a precedent.

We have not any information which will enable us to form a judgment whether or no the amount claimed by Messrs. Zwicher is a fair estimate of their loss. Unless there is some considerable exaggeration in the claim, it may be best, to save further delay and expense, to pay Messrs. Zwicher and Co. the sum which they ask. And that the Colonial Office letter of the 7th ultimo may be answered to that effect.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN B. KARSLAKE.
RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 266.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 29, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th April instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office,[*] with its inclosures, with respect to the alleged existence in the Island of Trinidad of a Committee having for its object the overthrow of the Venezuelan Government, and also to transmit to us a memorandum[†] on the question of a conspiracy to incite rebellion in a foreign country, together with further papers, as marked in the margin,[‡] bearing upon the subject. And Lord Tenterden further stated that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon, and with our opinion as to whether the reply of the Governor of Trinidad to the Venezuelan Government should be approved by Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the opinion of the Acting Attorney-General inclosed in the Trinidad despatch of the 14th January, 1874, seems by the first sentence to be limited to cases in which there have been overt acts on the part of the refugees, and, if that is the meaning of his opinion, we should be disposed so far to agree with him.

In his more general observations upon conspiracy to excite revolt we cannot concur, unless there be overt acts.

The memorandum drawn by Lord Tenterden is, we think, entirely correct.

We have read the correspondence of the Governor of Trinidad and his letter to Lord Kimberley, and, in our opinion, the Governor's reply to the Venezuelan Government may properly be approved by Her Majesty's Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 267.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 29, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 15th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Agostini[§] respecting his claim against the Government of Venezuela, and also to transmit to us the previous correspondence[||] connected with the claim; and to request that we would take all those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Mr. Agostini.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we infer that Mr. Middleton either was not instructed to move the Venezuelan Government in accordance with the Reports of the Law Officers of the 24th June and 4th July, 1873, or that, having been so instructed, he has received no subsequent communication from the Venezuelan Government in the matter.

The only answer which can in this state of things be made to Mr. Agostini is that his case is still under consideration, or, if the fact should be so, that Her Majesty's Government cannot press the claim any further.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] March 4.

[†] March 29.

[‡] Señor Barrio, February 1; Mr. Middleton, No. 9, February 15; to Señor Barrio, March 7 and 26, 1873.

[§] May 7.

[||] List.

1874

No. 268.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 26, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 31st July ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying papers, as marked in the margin,* relative to certain British claims against the Government of Venezuela, which were withdrawn from the consideration of the Mixed Commission of 1868-69, the particulars of which claims are explained in Lord Clarendon's despatch to Mr. Middleton, Her Majesty's Minister at Carácas, No. 19 of the 26th February, 1870, and in your Lordship's No. 9 of the 27th February last. As regards the claims of Christopher Home and Thomas, there is no doubt, and Mr. Middleton has urged upon the Venezuelan Government that they should be fully and impartially considered.

That with regard, however to the claims of Stevenson, Desuse, Award, and Romberg, and also to those of Schloss and Michelsen, your Lordship finds considerable difficulty in coming to a decision; we would see that on the 27th February last your Lordship called on Mr. Middleton for a report upon those claims, but Mr. Middleton, in his No. 41 of the 6th June, states that he is unable to furnish any information respecting them beyond that contained in the Report of the Mixed Commission, and in the despatches to which he refers, and which were sent therewith.

Lord Tenterden was pleased further to say that, in these circumstances, he was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions that should be given to Mr. Middleton with regard to the claims in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That as regards the two claims of Stevenson, the two claims of Desuse, and the one claim (No. 1) of Romberg (being respectively Nos. 37 and 45, 55 and 56, and 28 in the "Summary of Decisions and Awards"), it appears, from the records of daily proceedings of the Commission, that on the 18th September, 1869, it was agreed by the Commissioners, after long conference, that all these claims should be withdrawn from the Commission without prejudice to the claimants, to whom were reserved all the rights which might appertain to them. A similar agreement was come to as regards the claim of Paul Award (No. 63) on the 25th September, 1869.

These several claims (six in all) were not dealt with by the Commission in consequence of the proofs in support being formalized after the date of the Convention by which the Commission was established for the purpose of fixing the amount of all pending claims. Such being the state of the case so far as those claims are concerned, we are of opinion that they cannot be considered as reserved in any other sense than that the claimants were not, by reason of their claims having been withdrawn from the Commission, to be deprived of any rights that they might possess in respect of the subject-matter of their several claims.

Now, such claims ought, primâ facie, to be brought forward before the Venezuelan Law Courts with a view to their establishment, and both Mr. Middleton and Señor Gutierrez agree in opinion that the High Federal Court of Venezuela is the proper Tribunal for that purpose. Under these circumstances, we do not think that the views expressed by Mr. Middleton in his letter of the 6th June, 1874, as to the probable result of a recourse to the ordinary legal Tribunal, are sufficient to induce your Lordship to support these claims diplomatically. We are strengthened in this opinion by the fact that Her Majesty's Government appear to have no more material information as to these claims than when your Lordship addressed to Mr. Middleton your letter of the 27th February, 1874, in which you urged upon him to furnish to your Lordship a full report as to the merits of each case, to enable Her Majesty's Government to decide upon the course to be pursued.

As regards the claim of MM. Schloss and Michelsen (No. 1 of the Summary), the state of the case appears to be somewhat different. It was not withdrawn from the Commission by agreement, but the Venezuelan Commissioner refused to entertain it, whilst the British Commissioner protested formally against such refusal. It would appear from the letter of Señor Gutierrez, under date the 13th January, 1874, that the refusal of the Venezuelan Commissioner to entertain the claim was based upon the allegation that the claim had been previously rejected by the Chamber of Deputies.

---

* Mr. Middleton, No. 41; List.

If this be so, there would be but little prospect of any application to the ordinary Tribunals being successful, even if it were competent to prosecute such an appeal, which is apparently suggested by Señor Gutierrez's letter. We think, therefore, that this claim, if prosecuted at all, may properly be made the subject of further diplomatic support. But, as regards this claim also, there is the same deficiency of material information which we have remarked upon in connection with the other claims. It does not, however, appear that any reason has yet been assigned by the Venezuelan Government for the rejection of the claim of Messrs. Schloss and Michelsen, whilst the general circumstances of the case, so far as they are indicated in Lord Clarendon's letter to Mr. Middleton of the 26th February, 1870, appear to support it.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 269.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 28.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 29th July ultimo, stating that, on receipt of our Report of the 21st March, your Lordship instructed Her Majesty's Minister at Carácas to furnish further information upon certain points connected with the question whether interest should be allowed on the amounts awarded to British claimants by the Mixed Commission of 1868-1869.

A draft of the instructions was sent therewith.*

Lord Tenterden transmitted to us the reply which had been received from Mr. Middleton,† and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether the information contained therein was sufficient to enable us to form a decided opinion upon the question at issue.

The previous correspondence was also sent therewith.‡

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this matter into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the reasons suggested by Mr. Middleton in his despatch of the 6th June last why some of the decisions give, while others do not give, interest, are probably well founded.

We apprehend that effect was intended to be given to the decisions (as is expressed in the Convention), "without objection or delay," and it is obvious that the delay may be indefinite, and the consequences of non-payment ruinous to the persons in whose favour the decision has been given unless interest be paid.

Mr. Middleton states that in a variety of similar cases interest has been paid by the Venezuelan Government to the subjects of different nations, but we gather from his letter that in these cases the payment of interest was expressly stipulated for.

The difficulty in the present case has arisen in part from the absence of any provision in the Convention for payment of interest in the event of the payment of the awarded sums being delayed, and in part from no agreement having been arrived at by the Arbitrators upon the subject of interest, though it appears to have been present to the mind of some of the parties by whom the award was made. Upon the whole, however, we are of opinion that the justice of the case and the precedents show that interest ought to be paid. There is nothing in the Convention to negative the right to payment of interest where great delay is made in payment of the principal sum; on the contrary, the provision that full effect shall be given to the decisions without objection or delay implies the making an equivalent for delay, and we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government will be justified in claiming interest on the awards made.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* To Mr. Middleton, No. 18, April 10, 1874.

† Mr. Middleton, No. 42, June 6, 1874.

‡ List.

No. 270.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 8.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 8, 1874.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 18th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister Resident in Venezuela* respecting the claims of the estate of Messrs. Gilbert, Kerr, and Co. on the Government of that country, and reporting that the dividends hitherto paid monthly to Her Majesty's Legation for the claimants under the Mixed Commission, John Giuseppe and Henrique Schmale were embargoed in March last by a judicial resolution communicated to Mr. Middleton by the Venezuelan Government; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the despatch into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

That the previous correspondence in regard to the cases was likewise therewith transmitted to us.†

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Middleton may properly be instructed to state in writing to Señor Blanco that, no further objection being made to the payment of the amount of Messrs. Gilbert, Kerr, and Co.'s claims, Mr. Middleton will proceed to pay that sum to their representative.

It is possible, with regard to the cases of John Giuseppe and Henrique Schmale, that there may be valid claims against the sums paid to their account under the Mixed Commission, and now in Mr. Middleton's hands; and, with our present information, we can only advise your Lordship that Mr. Middleton should be instructed that, in the cases of Messrs. Giuseppe and Schmale, and in all similar cases, he should inform the persons interested that the payment to them out of funds in his hands has been stopped by notice from the Venezuelan Government, under a process from the Venezuelan Courts, and that they must take measures to have the notice withdrawn.

Mr. Middleton may also be instructed to report to your Lordship upon any cases requiring special attention.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 271.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 28.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 27, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 7th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 18th ultimo, he was directed by his Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches which had been received from Her Majesty's Minister Resident at Carácas,‡ by the latter of which it would appear that the claim of Messrs. Gilbert, Kerr, and Co. had been settled.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the claim of Messrs. Gilbert, Kerr, and Co., is, as suggested in Mr. Lister's letter of the 7th instant, satisfactorily disposed of. The other claims referred to in our former Report of the 8th are, we presume, still unsettled.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Middleton, No. 54, August 7, 1874.

† List.

‡ Mr. Middleton, No. 59, August 20; ditto, No. 62, September 1, 1874.

No. 272.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 17.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, November 16, 1874.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 23rd day of October last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to the claims of certain British subjects against the Government of Venezuela.

That we would see that the claims in question—those of Messrs. Syers, Grup, Foote, Myer and Co., Andral, and Sprick—amounted, in the year 1865, to 105,000 dollars, and that in that year an arrangement for their payment was come to between the Venezuelan Foreign Office and Mr. Edwards, then Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Carácas.†

That in 1868 a large number of other claims were adjudicated upon by a Mixed Commission established under a Convention between Great Britain and Venezuela, and since that date various sums had been, from time to time, paid by the Venezuelan Government on account of the claims allowed by that Commission; that in spite, however, of the representations of Her Majesty's Government, the Venezuelan Government have refused to allow the claims arranged in 1865 to be placed upon the same footing as those adjudicated upon in 1868, and that they had insisted upon referring the arrangement of 1865 to the Venezuelan Congress.

That that body had now decided not to approve the arrangement of 1865, and had returned the papers relating thereto to the Executive Power, in order that a fresh arrangement may be concerted, and submitted for the consideration of Congress.

That it appeared from Mr. Middleton's last despatch that a similar decision had been come to with regard to French and Danish claims, but that Dutch and Spanish claims in the same position were receiving payment.

That, in these circumstances, it becomes necessary for Her Majesty's Government to consider whether they should admit the right of the Venezuelan Congress to disavow an arrangement made by the Venezuelan Foreign Office nine years ago; and, if not, whether Her Majesty's Government should take any steps, either alone or in concert with France and Denmark, to enforce the fulfilment of the arrangement of 1865.

That the case on behalf of the claim is clearly stated in the letter from Messrs. Syers and Braosch, inclosed in Mr. Middleton's No. 67 of the 8th September.

That the Acts of Congress of the 14th June, 1865, and the 18th May, 1869, referred to in that letter, had not been forwarded to the Foreign Office, but, assuming their purport to be correctly stated by Messrs. Syers and Braosch, as there was no reason to doubt that it is, it would seem to be clear that the Venezulean Executive was empowered, in 1865, to make the arrangement that it did make, and that the arrangement in question was subsequently sanctioned by an Act of Congress.

Mr. Lister was pleased to add that he was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should be pursued by Her Majesty's Government in the matter to which they relate.

We were further honoured with a letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 5th November instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to inclose a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Carácas, relative to the claims on Venezuela which formed the subject of Mr. Edwards' arrangement of 1865, and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that this despatch might be considered together with those inclosed in the letter from the Foreign Office on the 23rd ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, assuming the statements made by Messrs. Syers and Braosch in their letter inclosed in Mr. Middleton's despatch No. 67 of the 8th September, as to the purport of the Acts of Congress of the 14th June, 1865, to the 18th May, 1869, be correct, Her Majesty's Government will, in our opinion, be justified in enforcing the payment of the claims settled in 1865.

But even supposing some error to have been made as to the purport of those Acts of Congress, we think that, having regard to the general circumstances of the case, and particularly to the fact that the arrangement of 1865 was for several years

---

* List.

† See Mr. Edwards, No. 48, June 24, 1865.

1874

recognized and acted upon by the Venezuelan Government, and that several payments were made in pursuance of it, Her Majesty's Government will still be justified in enforcing payment of the claims so settled.

With this view, Mr. Middleton may properly be instructed that Her Majesty's Government considers the Venezuelan Government bound by the obligations accepted and acted upon by that Government in former years, and will employ the means in its power to compel the observance of that obligation, and the payment of the claims without further delay.

Should your Lordship take the course which we have had the honour of suggesting, your Lordship will probably think it right to communicate your intention to the French and Danish Governments.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 273.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 18.)

Lincoln's Inn, December 17, 1874.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 7th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Minister Resident at Carácas* relative to the seizure by the Venezuelan authorities at Ciudad Bolivar of the English vessel "Rosalina" on a charge of smuggling; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the seizure of the vessel "Rosalina" may have been made upon evidence which would justify the act, and may lead to her conviction as being engaged in smuggling.

On the papers now before us we are, however, unable to form any opinion which would be of use to your Lordship.

Mr. Middleton might properly be instructed to watch the proceedings against the ship, and forward to your Lordship copies of the "Rosalina's" papers.

We observe that the Venezuelan Minister refers to the conduct of the ship's former owner, and to the fact that her Venezuelan register has not been returned, and he suggests that she may not be a British vessel. The conduct of the former owner and the fact that the register was not returned would not, in our opinion, justify the arrest of the vessel, if she was bonâ fide transferred to a British owner, and Mr. Middleton should ascertain whether she is entitled to sail under the British flag, having been properly transferred, and should report to your Lordship what are the real facts relating to the transfer of the ship and the dates of the sale and transfer.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Middleton, No. 75, October 7; ditto, No. 87, November 4, 1874.

1875

Printed for the use of the Foreign Office. February 1881.

CONFIDENTIAL.

(4370.)

REPORTS

FROM

LAW OFFICERS OF THE CROWN.

1875.

1875

CONTENTS.

| | Page |
|---|---|
| List of Reports .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. | iii |
| Alphabetical Index .. .. .. .. .. .. .. .. | xxii |

LIST OF REPORTS.

(Arranged according to Countries.)

AFRICA.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 1 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 24, 1875 | On questions raised by the Government of India relative to their former report on the subject of the reception of fugitive slaves on board British vessels. That report was for general guidance, and was not intended to meet special cases. Slaves must not be encouraged to seek protection under the British flag, or to leave their own ships .. | 1 |
| 2 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 27, | Approves proposed letter to the Admiralty on the question of the reception of fugitive slaves on board British vessels .. | 2 |
| 3 | Attorney-General | Oct. 6, | Approval of Admiralty instructions on the question of the reception of fugitive slaves on board British vessels. Cannot suggest any alterations. Observations on former precedents on the subject, and as to the right of a British ship of war to be treated in foreign territorial waters as part of Her Majesty's dominions .. .. .. | 2 |
| 4 | Attorney- and Solicitor-General | 14, | As to the Admiralty instructions on the question of the reception of fugitive slaves on board British vessels, and the liability of a slave taking refuge on board Her Majesty's ships on the high seas to be surrendered, or not to be received on board within the territorial waters of the country from which he had escaped. Still approve the Circular instructions as right in principle. Commanders of vessels should not receive slaves on board unless their lives would be endangered by not being received, and must not be allowed to remain if within the territorial waters of a foreign State .. .. .. .. .. | 3 |
| 5 | Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane | Nov. 9, | As to the right of Her Majesty's Consul for the Bights of Benin and Biafra, under provisions of Order in Council of 1872, to deport prisoners from the African Coast and from the territories of independent native Chiefs to a British Colony for punishment. He is not entitled to do so in the latter case .. .. .. .. .. | 6 |
| 6 | Solicitor-General and Dr. Doane | 22, | On the draft of proposed revised Circular instructions respecting the reception of slaves on board Her Majesty's ships of war. Suggesting further alterations .. .. | 6 |

ARGENTINE CONFEDERATION.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 7 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Feb. 26, 1875 | As to the validity in England of marriages in the Argentine Republic celebrated without the provisions of either of the Foreign Marriage Acts being conformed to, or, if valid, when performed according to the lex loci. Marriages celebrated according to the law of the Argentine Republic are legal, and there should be no warning of their doubtful legality; but there is no objection to a notice being given advising parties seeking evidence of their marriage to comply with the Foreign Marriage Acts .. .. | 8 |
| 8 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 22, | Approves proposed instructions to be sent to Mr. West relative to marriages of British subjects residing in the provinces of the Argentine Republic .. .. | 8 |

1875

BELGIUM.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 9 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 24, 1875 | On the demand of the French Government for the extradition of Polydore Bourdiol, a Frenchman, who had been delivered up to the Belgian Government under certain charges against him. Nothing in the Extradition Treaty with Belgium to prevent the surrender tô the French Government after the expiration of the sentence in Belgium .. .. | 9 |

BRAZIL.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 10 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 2, 1875 | Anglo-Brazilian claims. As to the conditions on which Her Majesty's Government should refer them to a Mixed Commission. No reason why the claims of each country should not be considered separately, and Her Majesty's Government might take measures for bringing the British claims to the notice of the Brazilian Government, leaving the latter to deal with the Brazilian claims .. .. | 9 |
| 11 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 22, | As to the correspondence between the Acting British Consul at Rio de Janeiro and the Acting British Chaplain respecting the marriage of British subjects in foreign countries, and the views on the subject of the Bishop of the Falkland Islands. Marriages of British subjects in the English Church in Brazil, according to the rites of the Church of England, are valid in this country; evidence, however, of such marriages is better secured when they are solemnized in compliance with the provisions of the Foreign Marriage Acts .. .. .. .. .. .. | 10 |
| 12 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 4, | On the claim of the Brazilian Government against the Pacific Steam Packet Company, whose agents at Rio decline to pay from want of funds, and the intended embargo to be laid by the Brazilian authorities on the Company's vessel "Liguria." According to the law of Brazil, the ship would not be liable to arrest; but Mr. Drummond should be instructed to inquire further, and follow the course he has pursued on the subject .. .. .. .. | 10 |
| 13 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | June 10, | On the proposed marriage of two persons resident within the British Consular district of Santos, one of whom was divorced from her husband by the English Divorce Court. Her Majesty's Consul should be told that divorced persons cannot contract a second marriage till a decree absolute has been made; and it would be null and void if contracted before the decree absolute is made. The ignorance of the Consul is quite immaterial to the point .. .. | 12 |
| 14 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 5, | Further, as to the arrest of the "Liguria," a British vessel, in a Brazilian port for a debt due by her owner in Brazil, and for which judgment had been obtained from a Brazilian Court of Law. Must have further information of the law of Brazil before giving further opinion on the subject. Suggests that the opinion of a Brazilian Jurist should be taken .. | 12 |
| 15 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 27, | On claims of the Queen Insurance Company, and of Messrs. Taylor and Lyde, the Agents of the Company. The case of the Company should not be supported by Her Majesty's Government, but Messrs. Taylor and Lyde would be entitled to compensation. Her Majesty's Government should wait, however, for reply to Mr. Drummond's representations; but if not favourable, a resort to force would not be expedient. as Mr. Taylor is alleged to be a Brazilian and not a British subject .. .. .. .. | 13 |
| 16 | Attorney-General | Oct. 4, | As to the apprehension of certain persons implicated in a robbery of diamonds at Rio de Janeiro, and who had escaped from thence in Her Majesty's ship "Helen," bound for England, should they arrive in any Portuguese port; but the application should be made by the Brazilian Minister . .. .. .. .. .. | 14 |

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 17 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 16, 1875 | On claim of Viscount de Mana against the English Company "San Paulo Brazilian Railway Company (Limited)." Her Majesty's Government should not interfere in a case now before the Brazilian Tribunals .. .. .. | 15 |
| 18 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Nov. 4, | As to the law passed in Brazil providing for the trial and judgment of crimes committed in foreign countries against Brazil and Brazilians, which might render British subjects liable to punishment for acts done out of Brazilian jurisdiction. Instructions should be sent to Mr. Drummond to inform the Brazilian Government that the trial of British subjects for offences beyond Brazilian territory, or in places not within Brazilian jurisdiction, cannot be allowed .. .. | 15 |

CENTRAL AMERICA.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 19 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Feb. 22, 1875 | On claim of Mrs. Mitchell against the Honduras Government on account of property belonging to her husband, who was assassinated in 1873. If the statement of Vice-Consul Debrot is correct, Her Majesty's Government should not interfere on her behalf .. .. .. .. | 16 |
| 20 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 11, | On claim of Mr. Hilario Goussen for reimbursement of money levied on him in 1863, as a military contribution, on the ground of his British nationality, and which has hitherto been supported by Her Majesty's Government. Her Majesty's Government should not have recourse to force to obtain payment of this claim, and it is not a case for arbitration, or reference to a third person .. .. .. | 16 |
| 21 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 17, | As to the complaint of Mr. T. J. D. Mackintosh against the Government of Ecuador, for not carrying out certain arrangements of 1857 and 1858 for the settlement of a claim which he represents. Her Majesty's Government would be justified in supporting his claim .. .. | 17 |
| 22 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Sept. 1, | As to the claims of Messrs. Johnston and Co. against the Government of Honduras on account of losses sustained by British subjects at Omoa in 1873, owing to the acts of General Streben, an officer in the service of the Honduras Government; a promise having been made by that General to Sir Lambton Loraine, of Her Majesty's ship "Niobe," that compensation should be paid. Her Majesty's Government should not support these claims; but those of Vice-Consul Debrot should be paid. Inquiry should be made, however, of his nationality .. .. .. .. | 17 |

CHILE.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 23 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Feb. 15, 1875 | On the claim of Captain Hyde, of the "Tacna," to compensation on account of his arrest and imprisonment in Chile. Her Majesty's Government, in accepting the offer of arbitration, should adopt a certain form of words. Sends draft of assent for acceptance .. .. .. | 19 |
| 24 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 7, | Further relating to the case of the "Tacna." Reasons for sending the draft form of assent of Her Majesty's Government to the proposed arbitration. Approves the proposal to invite the good offices of the German Government as mediator in the case of Captain Hyde, and the proposed reply to the proposal of the Chilean Government .. | 20 |

1875

CHINA.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 25 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 9, 1875 | On suggestion of the North China Insurance Company for arrangements to be made by which public companies, having their head-quarters at Shanghae, could be registered under the Joint Stock Companies' Act, and as to a clause being inserted in the Revised Order in Council on the subject. The immediate issue of this clause would not be of any advantage to the Company .. .. .. | 21 |
| 26 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 30, | As to the desire of Sir E. Hornby for information relating to Consular jurisdiction over persons on board ships in Chinese waters when the nationality of such persons is different from the ship, in consequence of a Circular being issued by the United States' Consul at Shanghae in 1868 as to the jurisdiction claimed by him over American citizens on board foreign ships, or over foreign subjects on board American ships. A foreigner, for a criminal offence committed on board a British ship in Chinese waters, whether he belong to the ship or not, cannot be tried or punished by a British Court sitting in China. The United States' Government might be asked if they have approved Mr. Seward's Circular before replying to Sir E. Hornby .. | 21 |
| 27 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 19, | Further relating to the right of Consular jurisdiction over persons on board ships in the waters of China when the nationality of such persons was different from that of the ship to which they belonged. Observations on the views expressed on the subject by the Board of Trade still adhere to their opinion; but the case should be carefully considered before a definite reply is sent to the United States' Government .. .. .. .. .. | 23 |
| 28 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 23, | As to the draft Bill prepared by Sir H. Thring and Mr. F. S. Reilly for legalizing deportation from China and other countries where the Queen has jurisdiction. As it is insufficient, another draft has been prepared for consideration, and Parliament should not be asked to ratify the Orders in Council under the Foreign Jurisdiction Act without having the opportunity of inspecting them .. | 24 |

FRANCE.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 29 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 1, 1875 | As to the course that should be pursued with respect to the renewed application of the Scottish Mineral Oils Association relative to the import duties in France on British mineral oils. Before reply is sent to Mr. Pender, or communication to the French Government, reference should be made to some independent person acquainted with the subject .. .. .. .. .. .. | 25 |
| 30 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 30, | Further relating to the representations of Mr. Pender on subject of the British mineral oil claims in France. Those of Messrs. Young and Co. and Messrs. Namshauer and Co., they should send further particulars .. .. .. | 26 |
| 31 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 19, | Further relating to the British mineral oil claims in France and complaints of Mr. Pender, on behalf of Messrs. Young and Co., on account of duties levied upon them, and their losses under the Awards .. .. .. | 27 |
| 32 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 19, | As to the claim on the part of Her Majesty's Government for British subjects to be exempt from compulsory ship-brokerage in France. As the Duc Decazes states British subjects are on an equality with French subjects in this case. Her Majesty's Government should not make any further representation .. .. .. .. | 29 |
| 33 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 7, | The forgery of the stamp on the French "Régie" excise stamp on the State manufactured tobacco would not come under the statute 14 & 15 Vic., cap. 99, which punishes as felony the forgery of seals, stamps, &c., but would be punishable as the forgery of an ordinary trade mark .. | 29 |

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 34 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | June 15, 1875 | Draft Order in Council applying the International Copyright Act of 1875 to France, with a slight alteration, and the draft Declaration, cancelling the third paragraph of the IVth Article of the Treaty with France of 1851, may properly be agreed to .. .. .. .. | 30 |
| 35 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 28, | As to the course that should be pursued in the case of a Creole of Mauritius named Motel, who wished to be married, under the Consular Marriage Act, to a native of the Island of Réunion, but who had been divorced from his second wife under a Decree of the Supreme Court of Mauritius. If already married according to the law of the country, Consul Perry should not marry the parties; but if not, he should warn the parties the Consular marriage would not be valid out of Her Majesty's dominions .. .. .. | 30 |
| 36 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 22, | On the proposed exchange of territory belonging to Great Britain and France respectively on the West Coast of Africa, and as to the proposed form of exchange. The terms are properly expressed, but suggest the addition of a few words .. .. .. .. .. .. | 31 |
| 37 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 19, | As to the inquiry of Mr. Jung whether he and his family at Havre are, under a certificate of naturalization as a British subject obtained from the Government of India, British subjects. He should be informed that the certificate does not confer on him the rights and privileges of a British subject in Europe, and his children cannot be considered to have been born British subjects .. .. .. | 31 |

GENERAL.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 38 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 10, 1875 | On application of Mr. Byrne for assistance to prevent the marriage of Nicolas Tindal, who had escaped to the Continent with Elizabeth Carili Worsley, a ward in Chancery and an infant, at one of Her Majesty's Legations abroad. Her Majesty's Government justified in sending instructions to Her Majesty's Representative abroad not to allow the marriage. Nothing else to be done .. .. .. | 32 |
| 39 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 19, | As to the propriety of submitting the transcript of a Bill which had passed the Legislative Council and Assembly of New South Wales, to amend the law relatng to aliens, for Her Majesty's assent. It would be proper to submit the Bill for Her Majesty's approval .. .. .. | 32 |

GERMANY.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 40 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 30, 1875 | On request of Mr. Whinney for the diplomatic interference of Her Majesty's Government in his case. Her Majesty's Government should not interfere; his remedy is by an appeal to the German Law Courts .. .. .. | 33 |
| 41 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Feb. 15, | As to the proceedings against Mr. Kingston, the Correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" newspaper, to compel him to furnish information respecting the origin of a telegram published on the 10th October, 1874, as having been sent by their Berlin Correspondent; and threats held out to him of imprisonment. Instructions should not be sent to Lord Odo Russell to interfere officially, as the case is one of the Law of Prussia, where Mr. Kingston is residing; but a mitigation of punishment may be urged if any is ordered .. .. .. .. .. .. | 33 |
| 42 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 14, | On application of Mr. Noepel for information respecting the disposal of the estate of General Köhler, who died in Jaffa in 1800, while in the employment of the British Government. As the administration of the estate is before the Court of Chancery, he may be referred to that Court for the information he desires .. .. .. .. | 34 |

| No. | | Date. | SUBJECT. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 43 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 19, 1875 | On the dispute between an English Company, called the "Berlin Phosphate Sewage and Manure Company (Limited)," and the German authorities, relative to the provisions of the Declaration exchanged between the British and German Governments in 1874 on the subject of Joint Stock Companies. Her Majesty's Government cannot support them in their complaint, as they have not complied with the conditions of the Prussian Laws, under the IIIrd Article of the Treaty .. .. .. .. .. | 34 |

GREECE.

| No. | | Date. | SUBJECT. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 44 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 11, 1875 | Claims of the Ionian Bondholders on the Greek Government. On dispute as to the rate of payment of the bonds to the £ sterling. The bondholders might be told that they were entitled to claim repayment of the amounts due at the rate of exchange on the day payment was offered to them .. | 35 |
| 45 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | June 10, | Request of Messrs. Markby, Tarry, and Stewart to know the nationality of Mr. A. J. Ralli, formerly residing in the Ionian Islands. They might be informed that Mr. Ralli is not a British subject .. .. .. .. | 36 |
| 46 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 4, | Further relative to the claims of the Ionian Bondholders on the Greek Government, and the offer of M. Tricoupi to pay off the bondholders in silver Ionian dollars. Instructions should be sent to Mr. Stuart to inform them they cannot claim payment at the rate of exchange in London when payment was offered; but only to the value of £ sterling in Ionian currency, and no other interest than what is due on the bonds .. .. .. .. | 37 |
| 47 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 28, | As to the objections raised by Her Majesty's Consul at Corfu to obey a summons to give evidence before a Greek Court of Law; but being told he must obey the summons, he again objected on the ground that the facts only came to his knowledge as a servant of the Crown. Consuls may, in certain cases, refuse to give evidence where knowledge is obtained in their official capacity; but Consul Sebright is bound to give evidence with respect to the occupation of the house at Santa Maura which he occupied officially .. | 37 |
| 48 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Sept. 1, | As to the refusal of the Ionian bondholders to consider the jurisdiction of the local Courts for not accepting the terms offered to them by the Greek Government, and the action brought against them by the Greek Minister of Finance. M. Tricoupi should be reminded of his undertaking not to pursue this course. The bondholders should, however, appear, and protest against the proceedings .. .. | 38 |
| 49 | Solicitor - General and Dr. Deane | 21, | Further relative to the claims of the Ionian bondholders against the Greek Government and the right claimed by the Greek Minister for the Greek Tribunals to deal with the question. Have nothing to add to their former Report. | 39 |
| 50 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 25, | Further relative to the claims of the Ionian bondholders on the Greek Government. As to the interpretation by the Hellenic Government and of the bondholders on the views expressed by Her Majesty's Government, not coinciding. Explanation as to the words "Ionian currency." The bondholders are entitled to be paid for each sovereign the amount of such current coin at the rate of exchange in Corfu .. .. .. .. .. .. | 39 |
| 51 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Dec. 17, | Further relative to the claims of the Ionian bondholders on the Greek Government. Mr. Stuart might be properly instructed to communicate the note proposed to be sent to the Hellenic Minister for Foreign Affairs, and there would be no objection to omitting that part relating to the rate of interest .. .. .. .. .. .. | 39 |

HAYTI.

| No. | | Date. | SUBJECT. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 52 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 10, 1875 | As to the proceedings of the Haytian Government in the case of the claims of Mrs. Maunder, widow of a British merchant, against Messrs. Duffy, a French firm established at Port-au-Prince, and the interference of the French Chargé d'Affaires in the matter, as well as the rights claimed by Mrs. Maunder in the Island of Tortuga, belonging to Hayti. As both Mr. and Mrs. Maunder were Haytian subjects, Her Majesty's Government cannot support her claim against Messrs. Defly, a French firm, or against the Haytian Government, and the Commercial Banking Company at Liverpool must take the consequences for having advanced money on bad security .. .. .. .. .. | 40 |
| 53 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 27, | On claim of Messrs. Gerdes, a British firm in Hayti, to compensation from Haytian Government for certain coffee pillaged during the disturbances in 1868–69. Concur in opinion of former Law Officers, that the claim of Messrs. Gerdes and Co. cannot be maintained .. .. .. | 41 |
| 54 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 30, | Further relative to the claim of Mrs. Maunder against the Haytian Government and as to her nationality. Major Stuart should be called on to obtain evidence of the marriage of Frederic Maunder and Josephine Maunder before she is recognized as entitled to British protection .. | 42 |

ITALY.

| No. | | Date. | SUBJECT. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 55 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 15, 1875 | As to the right of an Italian named Vincenzo Cecchi to the property of his wife. The validity of the marriage between Vincenzo Cecchi and Catherine Mercieca must first be proved. Though a British subject before marriage, she became an Italian after, and as she did not recover her British nationality, the Italian Consulate should administer to her estate whether the will was valid or not. Should the marriage be invalid, she remained a British subject, and whether her will was valid or not, the British Consul should then administer to her estate. Suggests that the proceedings in Egypt should take their course .. .. | 42 |
| 56 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 23, | On a question raised by the British Consul at Cagliari relative to the competency of British Consular officers under certain circumstances to take or refuse to take affidavits of persons other than British subjects, British Consular Officers are competent to administer oaths under such circumstances, but it is not obligatory for them to do so. As a general rule, they should abstain as much as possible from discharging such duties otherwise than in relation to British subjects and their interests .. .. .. .. | 43 |
| 57 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 3, | As to the complaint of Mr. G. H. Shorting of the alleged acts of injustice towards him by the Italian authorities connected with the taxation of certain house property owned by him near Lake Como. No representation could properly be made to the Italian Government with respect to the increased assessment on his house property .. .. | 43 |
| 58 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 28, | Malta Ordinance for regulating the surrender of prisoners on board merchant vessels, and the proposed amendments by the Crown Advocate at Malta. Agree with him with certain exceptions, but the case should be again sent to him before reply is sent to Chevalier Cadorna .. .. | 44 |

1875

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 59 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 2, | As to the marriage at the British Consulate at Florence of a woman, an Italian by birth, but a widow of a British subject and the position of a British subject and widow whose husband accepted military service under the Papal Government. Her status as a British subject, on becoming a widow, would be a question of Italian law, upon which they offer no opinion. An English woman married to a foreigner, and becoming a widow, becomes a statutory alien, but may recover her British nationality. If, by the Italian law, the widow is an Italian subject, the validity of the marriage would be doubtful. The man and woman should both be warned of the Italian law. British subjects entering foreign service forfeit British protection in that country .. .. .. .. .. .. | 45 |
| 60 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 17, | As to whether the marriage of a woman, an Italian by birth, but a widow of a British subject, at the British Consulate at Florence, would be of doubtful validity in this country, or only within the dominions of the King of Italy. It would be doubtful in Italy and elsewhere, except in Her Majesty's dominions .. .. .. .. | 45 |
| 61 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 27, | As to the claim of Mr. S. D. Wolff, on behalf of the heirs of Madame Drölling, against the estate of Mr. John Manby, who died at Turin in 1869, and desire of Mr. Wolff to be furnished with the correspondence relative to the balance of the estate which has been handed over to the brother and administrator while the debt to Madame Drölling remains unpaid. The correspondence must not be given to him, and Consul Colnaghi did right in giving the property to Mr. Charles Manby, as administrator .. .. .. | 46 |
| 62 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 17, | Case of Mr. Adolphus Manduit, who alleges that his house was entered and searched by certain officers of the Neapolitan Excise and Custom-house without any legal warrant, on the plea of searching for tobacco, which he states to be contrary to a violation of the 17th Article of the Treaty of Commerce. The Italian version of the Treaty is correct, and the proceedings are justified by that version. No further representation need be made .. | 46 |
| 63 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 4, | Further relating to the question of the surrender of Italian prisoners who had been found on board Italian vessels in port of Malta under the Malta Ordinance, and explanation of the Crown Advocate of Malta on his statement of the law. The Italian Chargé d'Affaires might be told there was no practical difference between the Ordinance of 1873 and that of 1874 with respect to foreign prisoners accused of desertion found on board merchant ships. No assistance will be afforded by the authorities in Malta to the desertion of Italian seamen .. .. .. .. .. | 47 |
| 64 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 11, | As to the question of the surrender of persons who have been already convicted in contumaciâ to foreign Governments under the Extradition Treaties or Conventions, and especially with regard to the extradition of Italian subjects from Malta. Proposed Order in Council for giving effect to the amended Ordinance of 1874 is at variance with the 18th Article of the Treaty of Extradition with Italy .. | 48 |

JAPAN.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 65 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 15, 1875 | On complaint of Japanese Government against Mr. Blakiston, a British merchant, residing at Hakodate, for an assault committed by him on two Japanese subjects in his employment, which caused the death of one of them; and of the mitigation of the penalty required by Consul Troup on the occasion. Mr. Blakiston should not be again put upon his trial or the sentence revised, as it would be contrary to the spirit of the British Criminal Law .. .. .. | 49 |

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 66 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 22, 1875 | As to the proposed regulations to be issued by the Japanese Government with regard to practice of shooting in Japan. They are sufficient to meet the views of the Japanese Government. Fines, however, should be withheld, unless other foreign Governments having Treaties with Japan agree to the payment .. .. .. .. | 50 |

MEXICO.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 67 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 13, 1875 | Claim of Messrs. Kelly and Co., of Mazatlan, to be reimbursed the amount of certain duties levied by the Mexican Government authorities on goods imported by them, payment having previously been exacted by the insurgents. Her Majesty's Government cannot, as of right, claim the repayment of dues levied by a foreign Government in cases where they had first been levied by an insurgent force, and they should take no steps in the matter .. .. .. | 50 |

MOROCCO.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 68 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 15, 1875 | As to whether the Moorish Government have a preferential claim over the creditors to be repaid their claim on the estate of the late Mr. Grace, a British subject. By the XVIIIth Article of the Treaty with Morocco they are bound to enforce the payment of the debt due to the estate, as it cannot be properly administered to until they are collected; and this should be done before the division of the assets .. .. .. .. .. .. | 51 |
| 69 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 18, | On the proposal of the Moorish Government for the settlement of the claims of Moorish merchants resident in Morocco, for sums advanced to Moorish Governors and Sheikhs by an offer of 50 per cent. on all bonâ fide claims, or the establishment of a tribunal at Tangier to adjudicate upon them. Instructions should be sent to Sir J. D. Hay to inform British subjects that Her Majesty's Government cannot support the cloims of British subjects who do not accept the compromfse .. .. .. .. | 52 |

NETHERLANDS.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 70 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 27, 1875 | On complaint of Mr. Silley on the detention, by the Netherlands authorities at Curaçoa, of some gunpowder shipped on board a German vessel for Savanilla and Santa Marta, and whether, under the circumstances of an insurrection which had broken out in Venezuela, Her Majesty's Government would be justified in making any representation on the subject. Her Majesty's Government should not make any representation to the Netherlands Government .. .. | 53 |

PACIFIC ISLANDS.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 71 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 19, 1875 | On request of the Commodore commanding on the Australian Station to know whether, under the 9th Section of "The Kidnapping Act of 1872," British naval officers have the right to arrest British subjects on shore who had rendered themselves liable, but who were commanding or serving on board a vessel under the French flag. British officers have not the right to arrest on shore British subjects under the Act of 1872, whether commanding or serving on board French vessels at the time of committing any such act .. | 54 |

1875

PERU.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 72 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 24, 1875 | As to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in demanding the release of Messrs. Bell and Stirling, two British subjects, who had been condemned to nine years' imprisonment by the Supreme Court of Peru, on a charge of being concerned in a murder. Reasons why Her Majesty's Government might be justified in taking steps to obtain their release, but it must be done on surer grounds than impugning the administration of the law in a foreign country. A mitigation of the sentence might be urged if the release is refused .. .. .. .. | 54 |
| 73 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 21, | Instructions should not be sent to Her Majesty's Representatives in Peru to support the claim of the Subilaca Mining Company on account of the losses sustained by them through the outrage committed on Mr. Pascoe, a British subject, their mining engineer, by four police officers at Arequipa. The Government of Peru could not be made responsible for acts done beyond the scope of their authority | 55 |
| 74 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 20, | As to the reconsideration of the arrest of Lawrence Higginson, a British subject, taken out of the steamer "Santiago," in the Bay of Callao, and detained there from the evidence of a person named Santana, and whether an apology should still be demanded as well as compensation. The explanation of the Peruvian Minister precludes Her Majesty's Government from further insisting on an apology or indemnity from the Peruvian Government; but they might express surprise and regret that the Peruvian authorities had been misled by Santana's evidence, and that Higginson was detained in prison so long without inquiry .. .. | 56 |

PORTUGAL.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 75 | Dr. Deane .. | Jan. 30, 1875 | As to the wish of the French Commission on the Delagoa Bay Arbitration Case to be furnished with a more precise definition of the territories of Tembé and Mapoota, and the instructions to be sent to Lord Lyons on the subject. He may be instructed to state the exact definition of the territories in question .. .. .. .. .. | 57 |
| 76 | Dr. Deane .. | Feb. 15, | Further relative to the territories of Tembé and Mapoota connected with the Delagoa Bay arbitration. Practically there is no difference between the description of the limits in dispute given in the note of Lord Lyons and that of the Portuguese Envoy, but in the note of the former, the Mountains of Libombo are called the "Mountains of Dalombo".. | 58 |

RUSSIA.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 77 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 4, 1875 | As to whether the evidence of money having been placed into the hands of Consul-General Murray belonging to Mr. Charles Pizzotti would justify Her Majesty's Government in accepting the responsibility for the amount. There is evidence of Mr. Murray having received the money, and Her Majesty's Government might accept the responsibility, but Consuls, as a general rule, cannot be recognized as receivers on behalf of the Government .. .. | 59 |

SPAIN.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 78 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 6, 1875 | As to further instructions to be sent to Consul Ricketts on the subject of the will of Mr. Albert Honiss, who died at Manila in August 1874, in consequence of the resignation of the executor to the will. No further instructions need be sent to Consul Ricketts .. .. .. .. | 59 |
| 79 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 9, | On the claim of British merchants to exemption from the payment of extraordinary contributions levied in the Island of Cuba on capital and property in trade by right of Treaties, Conventions, and Royal Orders. Her Majesty's Government cannot support the claim of the British merchants to exemption on account of the non-application of those Treaties to the Spanish Colonies. Remarks on the difference of the Memoranda of 1868 and 1874. The difference between persons and property insufficient to change their opinion .. | 60 |
| 80 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 30, | On detention of the British vessel "Victoria" at Barcelona by order of the local Court at the suit of the charterer, and claim for the release of the ship or for demurrage. Her Majesty's Government should not interfere, as the case is under the consideration of a special Court of Law .. | 61 |
| 81 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 30, | On the seizure and condemnation of the "Marie Tadeo" by the Spanish authorities of Algeciras suspected of smuggling. The Spanish Courts were competent, in the case of conflicting evidence, to take what evidence before them they pleased, and the Spanish Government were justified in refusing to disturb the decision, and no further remonstrance should be made by Her Majesty's Government .. .. | 61 |
| 82 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Feb. 2, | Approval of draft of reply to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid on his statement that he had been called on by the Spanish Government to give evidence in a criminal trial. Cases in which a Diplomatic Agent might give evidence in a criminal trial .. .. .. .. | 62 |
| 83 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 2, | On the seizure of the British vessel "Louisa" off Cabrita Point in December 1874 by a Spanish guarda costa, and taken to Algeciras and detained, but released by the Prize Court. Her Majesty's Government would be justified in claiming from the Spanish Government compensation for the direct loss suffered by the owner for the seizure and detention of the vessel .. .. .. .. | 62 |
| 84 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 19, | As to the claim of Messrs. McAndrew and Co., of Tarragona, against the Spanish Government for compensation on account of the damage done to their property by the military authorities. Instructions might be sent to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid not to make any claim unless Spanish subjects are compensated for similar losses .. | 63 |
| 85 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 4, | On claims of certain British subjects against the Spanish Government arising out of the seizure by the Spanish authorities in Cuba of the British vessel "Lark," and detention of the master, crew, and passengers at Manzanillo, and the demand made for compensation of 3,150*l.* at the instance of the late Law Officers. Her Majesty's Government should still persist in the claim, but inquiry should be made into the treatment of the British subjects, as the Lieutenant-Governor of Manzanillo contradicts their statements .. .. .. .. .. | 63 |
| 86 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 24, | As to the forcible enlistment at Seville of Richard Tarque, who was born in Spain of British parents. Her Majesty's Government cannot claim under any Treaty with Spain exemption for R. Tarque from serving in the Spanish army, and they cannot assert their right to the most-favoured-nation clause since the proceedings in the House of Commons in 1845. Recommends the opinion of a Spanish jurist to be taken on the case whether the Constitution of 1869 has displaced the Royal Decree of 1852 .. .. | 64 |

1875

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 87 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | June 7, 1875 | On the complaint of Mr. John Henry Keane, a British subject, of his having to forfeit securities to the amount of 4,480*l.* deposited by him in the Spanish Treasury as a pledge for the fulfilment of a contract to supply certain army clothing, but which the Spanish Government accused him of not fulfilling. Mr. Keane must abide by the award of the Council of State, as he bound himself by his contract to accept the decision of the Spanish Tribunals, who could not be charged with injustice .. .. .. | 65 |
| 88 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 2, | Further relative to the case of the British vessel "Louisa," seized by a Spanish guarda costa, and detained at Algeciras, and refusal of the Spanish Minister of Foreign Affairs to grant compensation to the owner, the conduct of the revenue officers being investigated and approved by a competent Court, and the seizure having taken place in Spanish waters. Suggests that the matter should not be pressed further .. .. .. .. .. | 66 |
| 89 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 14, | On claims of the owners of the British vessel "Joseph Dodds" and of the cargo, through her detention by the Spanish authorities at Huelva, so as to compel payment of extra duties on the cargo shipped for ports not in Spain, but which had not been cleared by a Spanish Consul, required by law. Her Majesty's Government would be justified in demanding compensation for the owners, as any breach of Spanish law was occasioned by the Spanish Consul-General in London, and which is not disputed by the Spanish Government .. .. .. .. .. | 66 |
| 90 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 20, | Further relative to the case of the British steamer "Victoria," detained at Barcelona. Messrs. Grant, Darrock, and Co. have taken a wrong view of the proceedings of the Spanish Tribunals, and of the duties of Her Majesty's Government. There is nothing to show that the Tribunals have been in error .. .. .. .. .. .. | 67 |
| 91 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 20, | Further relative to the compulsory enlistment in the Spanish army of Richard Tarque, who was born in Spain of British parents, and the right of Great Britain to be treated in Spain on the footing of the most-favoured nation. Still of the same opinion, that Great Britain is not in a position to rely upon the Treaties of 1667 and 1713 being still in force .. .. .. .. .. .. | 68 |
| 92 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 27, | As to the claim of Spain to exercise sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, and the Report of Captain Buckle, of Her Majesty's ship "Frolic," who had been sent there to inquire into the points of dispute, and what representation should be addressed to the Spanish Government with regard to the blockade of the Sulu ports and interference with British trade. No reason to alter opinions expressed in Reports of the 26th January and 26th May, 1874. If peace is settled between Spain and Sulu no further steps should be taken, but makes observations on the state of affairs. Refers to the cases of the "Nil Desperandum," "Marie Louise," and "L'Avenir," and suggests that a strong naval force should be sent for the protection of British trade and to check the Spaniards; and the Spanish Government should be so informed .. .. .. .. | 69 |
| 93 | Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane | Sept. 16, | On subject of the forcible removal of a Spanish subject, named Luis Venegas, from the Royal Mail steamer "Eider" at Porto Rico. The local authorities have the right to arrest and take out of a foreign merchant ship their own subjects within their territorial waters.. .. .. | 70 |

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 94 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Sept. 20, 1875 | As to the course that should be pursued in the case of the capture of the British vessel "Dolores" near Gibraltar by a Spanish Guarda Costa, and her subsequent condemnation at Algeciras, as being in Spanish waters, and not in British waters or on the high seas. Her Majesty's Government cannot complain that the Spanish Tribunals believed the Spanish witnesses rather than those of the "Dolores," but, as the papers were regular and she carried a perfectly legal cargo, a nominal fine would have been sufficient on account of her manifest being kept back from the boarding officer. Instructions should be sent to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid to demand the remission of the fine and the duties imposed on the cargo, and he should also insist on the release of both the vessel and the cargo, if they are still detained.. .. .. .. .. .. | 71 |
| 95 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 25, | Further relative to the forcible removal of a Spanish subject, named Luis Vanegas, from on board the Royal Mail steamer "Eider" at Porto Rico. Have nothing to add to their former Report .. .. .. .. .. | 72 |
| 96 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 4, | On the claim of Mr. James Benjamin Field, alleged to be a British subject, to compensation from the Spanish Government on account of his seizure by a Spanish naval officer while on a trading voyage in the German vessel "Maria Louise" in 1873, and detention at Caviti, in the Philippine Islands. As the capture and detention of the vessel has been admitted Mr. Field is entitled to indemnity and compensation, but not for ill-treatment, as there is no proof; but he should prove his nationality, and if a British subject indemnity might be demanded from the Spanish Government .. .. .. .. .. | 73 |
| 97 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 4, | Further relative to the case of the "Victoria," and refusal of Messrs. Grant, Darroch and Co. to allow the competency of the Spanish Court to decide the case. No reason to alter their former decision, and Messrs. Grant should be told no diplomatic action can be taken on their behalf .. | 74 |
| 98 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 19, | Further respecting the case of the "Joseph Dodds." Approves proposed draft despatch to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid .. .. .. .. .. .. | 74 |
| 99 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 21, | Further relative to the detention of the British vessel "Dolores," the cargo of which has since been sold. No reason to alter former opinion, but instead of asking for the remission of the fine and the duties imposed, the Spanish Government should be pressed to grant compensation to the owners for the losses which they have sustained by the condemnation and sale of their property to meet the fine imposed .. .. .. .. .. | 74 |
| 100 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 21, | Further relative to the case of the "Dolores" and the question of the maritime boundaries of British and Spanish jurisdiction in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar alluded to in the letter from the Colonial Office of the 9th September, and points of dispute as to the 3 mile limit claimed by Great Britain round the rock of Gibraltar. May approve course taken by the Governor of Gibraltar with reference to the notice to traders .. .. .. .. .. | 75 |
| 101 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 21, | Further relative to the question of Spanish maritime jurisdiction where the 3 mile limit cannot be adhered to by Great Britain and Spain. With regard to the claim of Spain for a 6 mile limit, it ought not to be submitted to or admitted.. | 76 |
| 102 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 22, | Further relative to the claim of Spain to exercise sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, and seizure by Spanish war vessels of the Victoria Trading Company's vessel "Sultana," and demand for her detention and reparation for insult to British flag. The "Sultana" cannot be considered a British vessel, but a demand may be made for British subjects to be compensated for losses sustained by her illegal capture, and a strong representation against the conduct of the Spanish officers in the Sulu Archipelago. Mr. Howard in error as to the insult to the British flag .. | 76 |

1875

| No. | | Date. | SUBJECT. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 103 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 29, | Further relative to the case of the "Dolores" seized by a Spanish guarda costa off Gibraltar. The letter of Messrs. Pirie, Foote and Co. does not induce them to alter their former report | 77 |
| 104 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 30, | Further relative to the case of the seizure of the "Sultana" in the Sulu Archipelago. Nothing to alter their former report, and compensation should be demanded on account of the conduct of the Spanish officers. Explanation should, however, be obtained as to the parties who were serving under a foreign flag and had deserted prior to her seizure | 77 |
| 105 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Dec 22, | As to the claim of certain British subjects to be exempt from war taxes ordered to be levied in Spain while German and South American subjects were declared to be exempt, and whether exemption could be claimed under the ancient Treaties and on the most-favoured-nation treatment. In 1845 it was agreed the ancient Treaties were in force, as well as the most-favoured-nation treatment, and, therefore, the exemption of taxes granted to any other country can be claimed for British subjects. Not expedient to claim exemption on any supposed reciprocity. Further opinion as to the liability of Richard Tarque to serve in the Spanish army | 78 |
| 106 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 20, | As to the course to be pursued with reference to the property left by Mr. William Higgs, who died at Madrid intestate. Refers to former report of Law Officers in 1872 on this subject, which was founded on the provisions of the Treaty with Spain of 1667. Her Majesty's Minister in Madrid should be referred to the Decree of the Queen of Spain, Article 28 in State Papers, vol. liii, p. 1057, on the subject of succession to property | 80 |

SWEDEN.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 107 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 2, 1875 | As to the instructions to be given to Consul Segrave with reference to the British Church property at Stockholm, as the British community refuse to make themselves liable for the support of the building. It should be transferred to them absolutely, and Her Majesty's Government should free themselves from all future responsibility | 82 |

TUNIS.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 108 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Feb. 5, 1875 | As to the trial and condemnation of Carmelo Villa for the manslaughter of an Italian sea captain at Sfax. The conduct of Consul-General Wood in the matter should be approved . | 83 |
| 109 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 24, | Approves proposed Treaty between Great Britain and Tunis as amended, and it should be returned to Consul-General Wood for conclusion with the Bey | 83 |

TURKEY.

| No. | | Date. | SUBJECT. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 110 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 6, 1875 | On claim of Mr. J. F. H. Reade to the concession by the Porte of the Sari Yeri Copper Mines, and the desire for the intervention of Her Majesty's Government. Cannot grant support pending legal proceedings at Constantinople, but unofficial assistance might be rendered to him | 84 |
| 111 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 9, | As Mr. St. John, the British Vice-Consul at Jassy, did not possess a marriage warrant, Mr. Vivian, the Agent and Consul-General at Bucharest, having a warrant unlimited in authority, might perform the ceremony as Consul for Moldavia, the marriage would then be valid | 84 |
| 112 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 14, 1875 | As to the increase of the hospital tonnage fee at Smyrna to 2*d.* per ton once a-month. Approval of proposed Order in Council drawn by Mr. Reilly with an alteration | 85 |
| 113 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 1, | On the petitions of Leon Franco, a prisoner at Malta under sentence from the Consular Court at Alexandria, for pardon. No sufficient grounds for complying with the prayer of the petition | 85 |
| 114 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 2, | On application of Messrs. Stibbard and Croushey for permission to inspect and obtain copies of the correspondence in the Foreign Office relative to the complaint of M. Guiseppe Mirabita against the interference of Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople with his contract for the sale of two vessels to the British Government. Their application should not be complied with | 86 |
| 115 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 4, | As to the instructions that should be sent to Her Majesty's Minister at Constantinople on subject of the coal duties in Turkey, and the protest of the North of England Shipowners' Association thereon. Agree with Sir H. Elliot, but with some doubt, that coal shipped for consumption on board cannot be exempt from duty under the XIth Article of Treaty with Turkey of 1861; but most-favoured-nation treatment should be claimed | 86 |
| 116 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 4, | On application of Isidore Gilberg, a Jewish youth of 16, praying to be admitted to British protection. Consul-General Vivian should be instructed that Isedore Gilberg is not entitled to British protection as a naturalized British subject | 87 |
| 117 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 8, | As to the claim of Mr. Hanley against the Turkish Government on account of the suppression of his papers, the "Levant Times" and the "Progrès d'Orient." Her Majesty's Government cannot properly support this claim | 87 |
| 118 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 24, | On subject of the outrage committed on two British subjects at Galatz, and claim against the Roumanian Government on behalf of the sufferers. Her Majesty's Government cannot properly claim pecuniary compensation for them | 88 |
| 119 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 24, | On the charge against M. Etienne Pisani, 1st Dragoman to Her Majesty's Embassy at Constantinople, of having received bribes from certain mining companies in Turkey for advocating their cause and promoting their interests there, and his refusal to resign his appointmeni without a pension, and his demand for investigation. The accusation cannot at present be considered proved, and want further evidence on the question before deciding | 88 |
| 120 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 27, | Further relating to Mr. Reade's claim for the concession of the Sari Yeri Copper Mine, and as to the instructions to be sent to Sir H. Elliot on the subject. Her Majesty's Government cannot officially support this claim, the contract having been entered into with persons who had no power to assign the rights. The Mining Council are under no legal obligation to Mr. Reade | 89 |
| 121 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 18, | On judicial reforms in Egypt. Proposed Tribunals for the trial of natives of foreigners, which were proposed to be continued in force for five yeers. Report of the Commission and Iradé of the Sultan sanctioning the Tribunals and the scheme submitted to the French Government; and Her Majesty's Government having given their consent, now proposed a Convention with the Egyptian Government. Approves draft Convention and the adoption of this course by the Egyptian Government without waiting for the adhesion of the French Government | 90 |
| 122 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 24, | On subject of the disused burial ground at Smyrna, and the rights of the British residents to the property under the Levant Companies' Act or the Consular Act. Her Majesty's Government is under no legal obligation not to sell the ground, as it is under the Levant Act | 92 |

1875

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 123 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | June 7, 1875 | As to the request of Messrs. Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke to inspect the papers at the Foreign Office on a suit pending between the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, and Mr. Joseph Joshua of Damascus. Her Majesty's Government cannot permit them to do so without establishing a bad precedent. The letter, however, to Mr. Tomkins of the 15th May can be inspected by them, as the plaintiff proposes to hand it into Court | 92 |
| 124 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 15, | On the case of Mrs. Rassam and the request of Mr. Joseph P. Turner, her Solicitor, to be furnished with certain information in the possession of the Foreign Office, as well as Report of Mr. Peretie on the question, as suggested by Sir Philip Francis. The Report cannot properly be communicated to him | 93 |
| 125 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 16, | Further relating to the suit of Mr. Joseph Joshua, and the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, and as to the course that should be taken on Vice-Consul Kirby Green being subpœned to give evidence before the Court of Chancery | 93 |
| 126 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 21, | Messrs. Lynch Brothers should be informed that they will not be entitled to compensation in the event of the destruction of their property in Mesopotamia by order of the Turkish Government if infected by plague, unless Turkish subjects are compensated | 94 |
| 127 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 21, | As to the claim of the Danube and Black Sea Railway and Kustendje Harbour Company against the Turkish Government, and observations of Mr. Tipping, the Chairman of that Company. No reason to alter former opinion on the subject. The Turkish Government ought not to put off the examination of the work done, but has a right before payment to see that it is effectually done | 94 |
| 128 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 30, | Further relating to the question of judicial reform in Egypt, and the Convention proposed to be entered into with Egypt giving similar privileges, as desired by Germany. Approves the Agreement proposed to be entered into with the Khedive | 95 |
| 129 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 13, | Further relating to the charges brought against Mr. E. Pisani, 1st Dragoman to the British Embassy at Constantinople. Not sufficient evidence adduced to enable Her Majesty's Government to decide upon the conduct of Mr. Pisani. Suggests an inquiry before a Commissioner, and Report by him to be made | 96 |
| 130 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 14, | Approves draft reply to M. Kayat, who claims to be a British subject, as his father had received a certificate of naturalization in July 1847 | 97 |
| 131 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 14, | Further relative to the case of Mr. Joseph Joshua, and the request of Messrs. Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke for the letters of Mr. Tomkins on the subject to be shown to them. Their request should not be complied with, as it would make an inconvenient precedent | 97 |
| 132 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 27, | As to the alleged detention at Constantinople of a girl named Catherine Wright by her uncle, Mr. Walsh, and the instructions that should be sent to Sir Philip Francis on the subject. Full inquiries should be instituted by Sir P. Francis before delivering up the child to her father, as would be done in England | 97 |
| 133 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Aug. 6, | Further relative to the proposed scheme for judicial reform in Egypt and the alleged intention of the Egyptian Government to assign to the new Tribunals the imposition of new taxes upon foreigners. The "Règlement d'Organisation Judicaire" will not give them the power of imposing new taxes, but will only enable them to decide on doubtful questions of payment or exemption. The Egyptian Government might be told Her Majesty's Government refuses to give the Tribunals the power to decide on the legality of taxes imposed by that Government | 98 |

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 34 | Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane | Sept. 15, 1875 | Further relative to the alteration of the fees annexed to the Turkish Order in Council of December 1873. Approves the Order in Council as drawn by Mr. Reilly with the Table of Fees in his letter of 1874 | 99 |
| 135 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 15, | As to the course that should be pursued for putting an end to the British Consular jurisdiction when the new Tribunals should be opened in Egypt. An Order in Council will be required on the subject, which should take effect simultaneously with the opening of the new Tribunals, to prevent a conflict of jurisdiction | 100 |
| 136 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 20, | As to the validity of the will of Miss Greenwood. It is valid, and should be admitted to Probate if made according to the forms required by the laws at Dronstadt, in Transylvania; but is not valid if not so made | 100 |
| 137 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Dec. 30, | Approves draft Order in Council drawn by Mr. Reilly to enable Her Majesty's Government to make use of the new Tribunals to be established in Egypt | 101 |

UNITED STATES.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 138 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Mar. 17, 1875 | As to the question raised by Sir E. Thornton relative to the lands occupied by British subjects in the Island of San Juan and other islands in the neighbourhood, which had become United States' territory under the Award of the Emperor of Germany, according to the XXXIVth Article of the Treaty of Washington of 1871. Agree with Sir E. Thornton that British subjects have no title to the lands in question, and Her Majesty's Government should not press the question further | 101 |
| 139 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 22, | As to the protest made by the United States' Consul in Hong Kong against a decision of a Court of Law in a suit for wages between an American seaman and a master of an American vessel, and as to the jurisdiction of the Court to exercise jurisdiction in such cases. Have no doubt that the Hong Kong Court had jurisdiction in the case, but when the Consular Officer to which the ship and parties belong protests, the local Court should only act in cases of urgency | 102 |
| 140 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 24, | On the claim of the Great Western Steam-ship Company against the State of New York on account of head-money wrongfully levied on passengers from Great Britain, and request of Mr. John Miles for a reconsideration of the case. Cannot alter former opinions given, and Mr. John Miles' request cannot properly be complied with | 103 |
| 141 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Apr. 21, | As to the instructions to be given to Her Majesty's Minister in Japan whether British subjects serving on board American vessels of war were amenable to British jurisdiction for offences committed on shore. Law Officers differ on the question, and as the American Minister and Consul also differ, it would be advisable to take no further action until the claim for the repayment of the fine imposed by the British Consul is either renewed by the American Government or abandoned | 103 |
| 142 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 14, | As to the reply to be sent to Sir E. Thornton with respect to the right of British vessels to import into the United States, free of duty, fish taken in the waters of that country. They may do so, but he should be instructed not to raise the question, as some doubt exists as to the interpretation of the XXIst Article of the Treaty of Washington | 104 |

1875

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 143 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | July 12, 1875 | On refusal of the United States' Customs authorities to allow the importation, free of duty, of fish and fish oil from British Colombia under the XXIst Article of the Treaty of Washington, which the Canadian Government claim the right. The Dominion of Canada must be considered as it existed in 1871, when the Treaty was concluded, and without the territory since added to it, and Sir E. Thornton should not bring the case before the United States' Government. The Canadian Government may, however, refuse to admit United States' produce of a similar kind free of duty | 104 |
| 144 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 12, | On question of jurisdiction over offences committed on shore in Japan by British subjects serving on board United States men-of-war, and the proposal of Mr. Fish to enter into an agreement on the subject. Her Majesty's Government could not enter into such an agreement without legislation in this country, nor under the Treaties with China and Japan; but British authorities in China and Japan might be told not to interfere with British subjects while serving on board foreign men-of-war, as they are under the protection of such foreign State, and not that of Her Majesty's Government | 105 |
| 145 | Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane | Sept. 17, | On subject of the extradition of Charles Lewis Lawrence on a charge of forgery, and the intention of the United States' Government to try him on other charges than those on which his extradition was granted. Instructions might be sent to Sir E. Thornton to protest against Lawrence being tried for any other offence than for which he was surrendered.. | 105 |
| 146 | Attorney-General. | Oct. 25, | Further relative to the case of extradition of Charles Lewis Lawrence, and as to the right claimed by the United States' Government to try him for other offences than for which he was surrendered. Differs from the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane on the subject. Thinks that as he was given up unconditionally Her Majesty's Government have no right to protest against his trial on another charge, and that the Treaty of 1842, as regards this case, is in no way affected by the Extradition Act of 1870 | 106 |
| 147 | Solicitor-General. | 25, | Further relative to the case of extradition of Charles Lewis Lawrence, and as to the right of the United States' Government to try him for offences other than for which he was surrendered. The question resolves itself into the construction to be put on the Treaty of 1842, and the spirit of that Treaty implied a condition that the prisoner should be tried for the offence for which he was surrendered, and no other. The right of asylum revives if the prisoner is not convicted | 108 |
| 148 | Dr. Deane | 25, | Further relating to the extradition case of Charles Lewis Lawrence, and claim of the United States' Government to try him for offences other than for which he was surrendered. Differs from the Law Officers. The Xth Article of the Treaty of 1842 is the authority on which both Governments are bound, and the crimes named there, are those on which extradition could be demanded. Agree in substance with his former Report, which was given under the supposition that Lawrence would have been put on his trial for the offence for which he was surrendered, but that should not be acted upon now. Her Majesty's Government should not protest against his trial if he is first tried for the offence for which he was surrendered, but should protest if otherwise | 110 |

VENEZUELA.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 149 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Jan. 26, 1875 | On subject of the demand of the Venezuelan Consul-General in the Island of Trinidad for the detention of the British vessel "Indiana," which was preparing to sail to Venezuela, with the alleged intention to effect a descent on the coast with conspirators on board, and as to the instructions that should be given to the Acting Governor of Trinidad on the subject of his refusal to detain the vessel. His conduct should be approved, as he acted under the advice of the Attorney-General.. | 112 |
| 150 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Ap. 20, | As to the circumstances which led to the detention of the British vessel "Alps" at Puerto Cabello. as the port was closed against all vessels leaving it. The conduct of Mr. Middleton, Her Majesty's Minister at Caraças, approved. Inquiry should be made why this vessel was chartered to convey troops to the coast of Coro before any further representation is made to the Venezuelan Government. Probable claim of Mr. Drakeford | 112 |
| 151 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | 28, | The instructions proposed to be sent to Mr. Middleton in the case of the British vessel "Rosalina" may properly be sent. To press for a trial before the Tribunals if a settlement cannot be obtained between the owner of the vessel and the Venezuelan Government | 113 |
| 152 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | May 11, | The article in the Financial Code of Venezuela, which requires the papers of ships arriving at Venezuelan ports to be deposited with the Customs authorities, and not with the Consul of the nation to which the ship belonged, is not contrary to the Treaty stipulations with Great Britain with reference to British ships.. | 113 |
| 153 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Dec. 3, | As to the differences which had arisen between the Netherlands' Government and that of Venezuela, and the intention of the latter to issue letters of marque in case of a rupture, and as to the course Her Majesty's Government should take on the question, as Venezuela had not acceded to the Declaration of Paris of 1856. Her Majesty's Government may adopt the same course towards ships of war and privateers of both countries as was adopted in 1866 in the war between Spain, Chile, and Peru | 114 |

ZANZIBAR.

| No. | | Date. | Subject. | Page |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| 154 | Dr. Deane | Feb. 2, 1875 | As to the bankruptcy of Captain Frazer, Acting British Consul-General at Zanzibar. The notice of the bankruptcy inclosed in Captain Prideaux's despatch of the 11th December last may be inserted in the "London Gazette" | 115 |
| 155 | Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane | Sept. 16, | On the question raised by the Acting Consul-General at Zanzibar as to the liability of British Indian subjects to be tried on charges of slave holding in cases where Arab or native wives may possess slaves. Cannot form an opinion on the question as given by the Acting Consul-General. As a general rule a foreign woman marrying a British subject becomes herself a British subject, and her personal property becomes her husband's; but there are exceptions. Major Smith should therefore be directed to send the charges and the sections of the Penal Code of Zanzibar or India under which the offence has been committed, so that an opinion can be formed of the judgment that should be given | 116 |
| 156 | Law Officers and Dr. Deane | Oct. 20, | Approval of draft Order in Council drawn up by the Legal Adviser to the Treasury in Slave Trrde matters for givng effect to the Supplementary Treaty with the Sultan iof Zanzibar | 116 |

(Signed) ARTHUR WALMISLEY.

Foreign Office,
February 1881.

1875

ALPHABETICAL INDEX.

(NAMES AND SUBJECTS.)

1875.

[The figures refer to the Reports.]

ADM—BEN

A.

Admiralty. Circular Instructions. See Slave Trade.
Affidavits. Refusal to receive other than British subjects. See Consuls.
Africa. Fugitive slaves on board British vessels. Reception of, 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.
„ Ditto. Admiralty instructions, 2, 3, 4, 6.
„ Deportation of prisoners under Order in Council, 5.
„ Proposed exchange of territory. West Coast. Terms of, 36.
Alexandria. Imprisonment of Maltese, Leon Franco, 113.
Algeciras. Seizure of British vessel. Smuggling. See "Maria Tadeo."
Aliens. Law relating to. See New South Wales.
"Alps." British vessel chartered by Venezuelan Government. See Venezuela.
Anglo-Brazilian claims. Mixed Commission. Proposed conditions, 10.
Arbitration. Case of Delagoa Bay. Definition of territories, 75, 76.
„ Case of Island of San Juan. Award, 138.
„ Case of Captain Hyde, of the "Tacna," 23, 24.
„ Mineral oil claims, 29, 30, 31.
Arequipa. Outrage on a British subject by police, 73.
Argentine Confederation. Marriages of British subjects. Validity, 7, 8.
Arpa, Dr. Trial of a Maltese at Alexandria, 113.
Australian naval station. British officers serving under French flag. Arrests of British subjects, 71.

B.

Bank of India, London, and China, v. Joshua. See Joshua.
Bankruptcy of Consul Fraser. See Zanzibar.
Barcelona. Detention of the British vessel "Victoria," 80, 90.
Belgium. Extradition of a French subject surrendered by England, 9.
Belize. Claims of British subjects at. Case of the "Niobe," 22.
Bell and Stirling, Messrs. Imprisonment for murder, 72.
Benin, Bight of. Deportation of prisoners. Right of British Consul, 5.
Berlin. Correspondent of "Daily Telegraph." See Germany.
„ Phosphate Sewage Company. Dispute with authorities, 43.

BES—CHI

Best, Chief Justice. Case of Forbes v. Cochrane, 4.
Biafra, Bight of. Deportation of prisoners. Right of British Consul, 5.
Blakiston, Mr. Complaint of Japanese Government against, 65.
Bondholders, Ionian. Claims for mode of payment. See Greece.
Borneo. Victoria Trading Company. Insult to British flag. See Sultana.
Bourdiol Polydore. Extradition of. See Belgium.
„ „ „ to France. See France.
Brazil. British claims and counter-claims. See Anglo-Brazilian.
„ Marriages of British subjects in English Church, 11.
„ Marriages of British subjects. Views of Bishop. See Falkland Islands.
„ Claim of Pacific Steam Company against ("Liguria"), 12, 14.
„ Code and Regulations. Commerce, 11.
„ Robbery of diamonds. Arrest of parties. See "Helen."
„ Claim of San Paulo Railway Company against, 17.
„ Law. Punishment of offenders out of, 18.
Bucharest. British protection to a Jew boy. Refusal, 116.
„ Consul-General. Marriage performed by, at Yassy, 111.
„ Validity of will of British subject (Miss Greenwood), 136.
Buckle, Commander. Of the "Frolic." Sulu, 92.
Buenos Ayres Marriages. See Argentine Confederation.
Burial-ground. Proposed sale of. See Smyrna.
Busse, Miss Josephine. British protection, 52, 54.
Byrne, Mr. E. Marriage of British subject at British Legations (Worsley and Tindal), 38.

C.

Cagliari. British Consul. Refusal of affidavits, 56.
Callao. Arrest of L. Higginson, a British subject, on board the "Santiago," 74.
Canada. Import of fish and fish oil from. Duties. See United States.
Cecchi Vincenzo. Right to property of his wife, a British subject, 55.
Chancery suit. Joshua case. Foreign Office letter. See Tomkins.
Chile and Peru. Hostilities. Privateers. Declaration of Paris, 153.
„ „ and Spain. Hostilities. Privateers. Declaration of Paris, 153.

CHI—CUB

Chile. Arrest and imprisonment of captain of British vessel, "Tacna," 23, 24.
China, North. Registration of Companies. Insurance Company, 25.
„ Jurisdiction over offenders on board foreign vessels, 26, 139, 141, 144.
„ Jurisdiction. Question of deportation. Draft Bill, 26, 27, 28.
Church property of British subjects. Liability. See Stockholm.
Claims of British subjects. Case of Mrs. Michell. See Honduras.
„ „ Case of Hillario Goussen. See Nicaragua.
„ „ Case of losses. Bombardment of Omoa, 22.
„ „ Case of Captain Hyde. "Tacna," 23, 24.
„ „ Exemption from ship brokerage, 32.
„ „ Against Haytian Government, 52, 54.
„ „ Against a French firm (Defly), 52, 54.
„ „ Fine levied on Mr. Shorting, 57.
„ „ Detention of British vessel. See "Alps."
Claims. Proposed Mixed Commission. See Brazil.
„ Against Brazil. "Liguria." See Pacific Steam Packet Company.
„ of San Paulo Railway Company against Brazil, 17.
„ of Ionian bondholders. See Greece.
„ against the estate of Mr. Manby, 61.
„ of resident merchants (British subjects). See Morocco.
„ of Danube and Black Sea Railway Company, 127.
Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke. Law suit. See Joshua.
Coal duties. Claim for exemption of, in Turkey, 115.
Colombia, British. Imports free of duty—fish, &c., 143.
„ Shipment of powder at Island of Curaçao for, 70.
Colonies. Spanish. Claims under old Treaties. See Spain.
Constantinople. Detention of the girl Catherine Wright by her uncle, 132.
„ First Dragoman at. Alleged bribes. See Pisani.
Consul. Summons to give evidence. Joshua case, 125.
Consul. British. Summoned to give evidence before Court of Law. Objection. See Corfu.
„ „ Refusal to receive affidavits other than British subjects, 56.
„ „ Not to be considered as receivers of Government money, 77.
Consular jurisdiction. Deportation of convicted prisoners. See Africa.
„ „ Over offenders on board foreign ships. See China.
„ „ Question of deportation, 26, 27, 28.
„ „ Suspension of Court. Mode. See Egypt.
Copyright Act. International. Draft Order in Council. Treaty with France, 34.
Corea. Chevalier de Souza. Diamond thefts at Rio, 16.
Corfu. British Consul. Refusal to give evidence, 47.
Cowper, Mr. Francis H. British claims. Omoa, 22.
Criminals. Trial of. Beyond jurisdiction. See Brazil.
„ Jurisdiction over offenders in Chinese waters, 26, 139, 141, 145.
Cronshay, Mr. Foreign Office documents. See Stibbard and Cronshay.
Cuba. War taxes on British subjects. Claim to exemption, 79.

CUB—FIE

Cuba. Seizure and detention of master, crew, and passengers of British vessel. See "Lark."
Curaçao. Shipment of powder on board a German vessel, 70.
„ Detention of a British subject (Mr. Silley), 70.

D.

"Daily Telegraph." Threat against Correspondent. See Germany.
Dale v. Mirabita. Foreign Office documents, 114.
Dalombo. Mountains of. Delagoa Bay, 76.
Damascus Consular Court. Summons to Consul, 125.
Danube and Black Sea Railway. Claim on Turkey, 127.
Debrot, Vice-Consul. Report on Mrs. Michell's case, 19.
„ „ Claim of against Honduras, and for British protection, 22.
Declaration of Paris. Maritime warfare. Privateers. See Venezuela.
Defly, Messrs. Claim of Mrs. Maunder, 52, 54.
Delagoa Bay. Territories of Tembe and Mapoota, 75, 76.
„ „ question. French arbitration, 75, 76.
Deportation question. Depositions. See China.
Diamond thefts at Rio de Janeiro. Escape of robbers. See "Helen."
Diplomatic privilege. British Minister at Madrid summoned, 82.
"Dolores." Capture of British vessel near Gibraltar, 94, 99, 100.
Drakeford, Mr. Claim of, 150.
Drolling, Madame. Claim of heirs of. Mamby estate, 61.
Duties. Imports. Mineral oils. See France.
„ Shipment of coal in Turkey, 115.
„ Import of fish in British vessels free of. See United States.
„ United States. Treaty of Washington. See Treaty.

E.

Ecuador. Claim of Mr. Mackintosh against, 21.
Egypt. Judicial reforms. Tribunals. Convention, 121, 128, 133, 135, 137.
„ British Consular Court. Mode of suspension, 135.
„ Judicial reforms. New Tribunals. Order in Council, 137.
"Eider," Royal Mail steamer. Arrest of a Spanish subject on board, 93, 95.
Estate of German subject. Administration of. See Kohler.
Evidence before Court of Law. Objection to. See Corfu.
Exchange of territory. Proposed terms. See France.
Extradition of a French subject by England. See Belgium.
„ „ „ Belgium. See France.
„ Treaties. Surrender under. See Malta.
„ „ Views of Sir Thomas Henry, 64.
„ „ „ Mr. Cross, 64.
„ of Charles Lewis Lawrence for forgery, 145, 147, 148.
„ „ „ „ Re-trial of, 145, 146, 147, 148.

F.

Falkland Islands, Bishop of. Marriage of British subjects. Brazil, 11.
Fees, Table of. Order in Council, 1873. See Levant.
Field, Mr. J. Treatment of. Seized on board a German vessel. See "Maria Louise."

1875

Fish imported in British vessels free of duty. See United States.
Florence. Marriages at British Consulate, 59, 60.
Foreign seamen. Complaints of. Suits. See Hong Kong.
Foreign Office documents. Parties want inspection of (Dale v. Mirabita), 114.
„ „ Inspection. Messrs. Clarke. Case. J. Joshua, 123, 131.
„ „ Stibbard and Cronshay, 114.
Foreigners. Offences on board vessels in Chinese waters, 26, 27, 28.
Forgery of Stamps, Seals, &c. (Tobacco). See France.
„ Extradition on charge of. See Lawrence.
France. Import duties on British mineral oils, 29.
„ Forged stamp. Régie. Tobacco, 33.
„ Proposed exchange of territory. West Coast of Africa, 36.
„ Extradition of French subject by Belgium (Polydore Bourdiol), 9.
„ Import duties on mineral oils, 29, 30, 31.
„ Compulsory ship-brokerage on British subjects, 32.
„ Forgery of official stamps. Régie tobacco, 33.
„ Arbitration of. Delagoa Bay question, 75, 76.
Fraser, Acting Consul-General. Bankruptcy of. See also Zanzibar.
Fraser, Acting Consul-General. Bankruptcy ("London Gazette"), 154.
French Acting Consul. Marriage at Florence. See Marriages.
Fugitive Slaves. Reception of on board British vessels. See Africa.
„ „ Case of Somersett, 3, 4.

G.

Galatz, Outrage on two British subjects at, 118.
Gerdes, Messrs. Claim on Hayti, 53.
Germany. Law Courts. Suit case of Mr. Whinney, 40.
„ Threat against correspondent of "Daily Telegraph." See Kingston.
„ Administration of estate of subject of. See Great Britain.
„ Declaration. Joint Stock Companies. British interests, 43.
„ Award of Emperor. Island of San Juan. British subjects. Lands, 138.
Gibraltar. Seizure of British vessel by guarda costa. "Louisa," 83, 88.
„ Ditto. "Dolores," 94, 99, 100.
„ Maritime jurisdiction. Seizures of British vessels, 94, 99, 100, 101, 103.
Gilberg Isidore, a Jew. British protection. See Bucharest.
Goussen Hillario. Claim of against Nicaragua, 20.
Grace, Mr. Claim on estate of. See Morocco.
Grant, Darrock, and Co. Case of the "Victoria," 80, 90, 97.
Great Britain. Vessel. Breach of Foreign Enlistment Act. Detention. See Trinidad.
„ Vessel chartered for troops. Claim. "Alps," 150.
„ Subjects. Claim for compensation (John Miles). See Great Western Steam Company.
„ Indian subjects. Trial for slave holding, 155.
„ Subjects. Claim of against Brazil. "Liguria," 10, 12, 14.
„ „ Claim of Anglo-Brazilian, 10.

Great Britain. Subjects. Claim of Queen Insurance Company, 15.
„ „ Claim against San Paulo Railway by a Brazilian, 17.
„ „ Claim against Nicaraguan Government, 20.
„ „ Claim against Honduras Government, 19, 22.
„ „ Claim against Ecuador. Mr. Mackintosh, 21.
„ „ Claim against Honduras. Losses of British subjects. See Omoa.
„ „ Claim for return of duties. Mexico, 67.
„ Validity of marriages. See Marriages.
„ „ Anglo-Brazilian. Mixed Commission, 10.
„ Marriages abroad. See Brazil.
„ „ Claim of against Brazil. See Pacific Steam Company.
„ „ Trial of offenders out of Brazil, 18.
„ „ Nationality. Claim to. See Goussen.
„ „ Nationality. Claim to. Born under Dutch flag, 22.
„ „ Arrest and imprisonment of Captain Hyde, 23, 24.
„ „ Claims under old Treaties with Spain, 79, 86, 91, 105.
„ „ Complaint against Spanish Government. Loss of securities, 87.
„ „ Claim of Messrs. Gerdes on Hayti, 53.
„ „ Military service. Claim for exemption, 86, 91, 105.
„ „ Intestate property of, at Madrid. Law (W. Higgs), 106.
„ „ Imprisonment for murder. See Bell and Stirling.
„ „ Outrage on by police officers. See Arequipa.
„ „ Claim to exemption. War contributions. See Cuba.
„ „ British Minister at Madrid. Diplomatic privilege. Summons, 82.
„ „ Claim on Spanish Government. See McAndrew.
„ „ Lands belonging to. See San Juan.
„ „ Naturalization certificate. India, 37.
„ „ Marriages. British Legations, 38.
„ „ Of Germany. Estate of. See Kohler.
„ „ Entering military service abroad forfeits rights to British protection, 59.
„ „ Property searched without warrant. Naples, 62.
„ „ Assault by on Japanese, 65.
„ „ Fines on in Japan, 66.
„ „ Claim of foreign merchants on Morocco, 69.
„ „ Detention of by Netherlands authorities. See Curaçao.

Great Britain. Subjects. Detention of by an uncle. See Constantinople.
„ British naval officers serving under French flag. Arrests, 71.
„ Consular jurisdiction over offenders. See China.
„ Vessels. Fugitive slaves on board. See Africa.
„ „ Seizure of British. See "Dolores."
„ „ Seizure of British. See "Louisa."
Great Western Steam-ship Company. Passengers. Head money levied, 140.
Greece. Claims of Ionian bondholders, 44, 46, 48, 49, 50, 51.
„ Law Courts. Objection of British Consul to give evidence. See Corfu.
Green, Vice-Consul Kirby. Summons. Joshua case, 125.
Greenwood, Miss. Validity of will of. See Bucharest.

H.

Hakodate. Assault on Japanese. See Blakiston.
Hanley, Mr. Suppression of his newspaper. See "Levant Times."
Hayti. Claim of British subject. Mrs. Maunder, 52.
„ „ „ Messrs. Gerdes, 53.
"Helen." Escape of robbers of diamonds on board the, 16.
Henry, Sir Thomas. Views of. Extradition Treaties, 64.
Higginson, Mr. Lawrence. Arrest of on board ship. See Callao.
Honduras. Claim of Mrs. Michell against Government of, 19.
Honduras. Claim of Johnston and Co. against, 22.
Hong Kong. American seamen. Suit for wages Jurisdiction, 139.
Honiss, Mr. Albert. Validity of will of, 78.
Hornby, Sir E. Question of Consular jurisdiction, 26.
Huelva. Detention of British vessel at. See "Joseph Dodds."
Hyde, Captain. Claim against Chilean Government, 23, 24.

I.

India. Question of fugitive slaves on board British ships. See Slaves.
„ Subject. Naturalization. Certificate. Mr. Jung, 37.
„ „ holding slaves. Charges against. See Zanzibar.
"Indiana." British vessel suspected. Detention of. See Trinidad.
Insurance Company. Registration of. Order in Council. See China.
International Copyright Act. See Copyright.
Ionian bondholders. Claims of. Payments, 44, 46, 48, 49, 50, 51.
Italy. Validity of mixed marriage, and right to property. M. Cecchi, 55.
„ Complaint against authorities. Taxes. See Shorting.
„ Extradition Treaty with (Malta), 64.

J.

Japan. Complaint of authorities against a British subject, 65.
„ Foreigner's shooting regulations, 66.

Japan. British subjects on board American ships. Jurisdiction over, fines, 141, 144.
Jassy. British Vice-Consul. Marriage warrant. See Marriage.
Johnston and Co. Claim of. See Omoa.
Joint Stock Companies. Registration of. North China Insurance. See China.
„ „ Declaration. Great Britain and Germany. Dispute. See Berlin Phosphate Company.
"Joseph Dodds." Detention of British vessel at Huelva for payment of duties, 89, 98.
Joshua, Mr. Joseph. Law suit. Inspection of Foreign Office papers, 123, 125, 131.
„ „ Law summons. Vice-Consul Green, 125.
Judicial Reforms. Opening of Tribunals. Rules, &c. See Egypt.
Jung, Mr. British naturalization. India. See Great Britain.
Jurisdiction over criminal offenders on board ships. See China.
„ „ foreign seamen. Suits. See Hong Kong.
„ Question of deportation. See Consular.
„ Protest against British. Wages of American seamen. See Hong Kong.
„ British subjects serving on board American ships, 141, 144.

K.

Kayat, M., son of a naturalized British subject. Status, 130.
Keane, Mr. J. Henry. Loss of securities by Spanish authorities, 87.
Kelly and Co. Claim for repayment of duties. See Mexico.
Kidnapping Act, 1872. Arrest of British subjects under the, 71.
Kingston, Mr. Threat against. Telegram in "Daily Telegraph," 41.
Kohler, General. Administration of estate, 42.
Kustendje Harbour and Railway. See Danube and Black Sea Company.

L.

"Lark." Seizure and detention by Spanish authorities, 85.
"L'Avenir." Case against Spanish Government, 92.
Law Courts. British Minister summoned. Criminal trial, 82.
Lawrence, Mr. Lewis. Extradition of. See United States.
Leon Franco. Petition of (a Maltese), for release, 113.
Levant. Order in Council, 1873. Fees. Alteration, 134.
"Levant Times." Suppression of. Claim for aid, 117.
Libombo. Mountains of. See Dalombo, 76.
"Liguria." Pacific Steam Company. Claim against Brazil, 11, 14.
Logan, Mr. Claim against Brazil. See Queen Insurance Company.
Loraine, Sir Lambton. Bombardment of Omoa, 22.
"Louisa." Seizure and detention by Spanish authorities, 83, 88.
Lyde, Mr. See Taylor and Lyde.
Lynch Brothers. Plague in Mesopotamia. Destruction of property, 126.

1875

M.

Mackintosh, Mr. Claim of. See Ecuador.
McAndrew. Claim against Spanish Government, 84.
Madrid. British Minister summoned to give evidence, 82.
Malta. Ordinance. Surrender of prisoners on board a ship, 58, 63.
  „ Extradition of Italian prisoners from, 58, 64.
Maltese imprisoned at Alexandria. Petition for release. See Leon Franco.
Mana, Viscount de. Claim against an English Railway Company, 17.
Manby, Mr. J. Estate of. Claims against, 61.
Manduit, Mr. A. Complaint of. Search for tobacco, 62.
Manila. Resignation of executor to will of British subject. See Honiss.
  „ British Consul. Case of will of Mr. Honiss, 78.
Mansfield, Lord. Fugitive slave case (Somersett), 3, 4.
Manzanilla. Seizure of British vessel. See "Lark."
Mapoota. Territory of. See Delagoa Bay.
Maritime Jurisdiction. Three mile limit. Captures. See "Dolores."
  „ „ See Gibraltar.
Markby, Parry, and Stewart. Nationality case. See Rallti.
Marriages abroad. Validity under the Marriage Acts, 7, 8.
  „ Validity of in English church. See Brazil.
  „ Of divorced parties. Legality of, 13.
  „ A creole of Mauritius with native of Réunion, 35.
  „ An Italian and British subject (Vincenzo Cecchi), 55.
  „ An Italian by birth, but widow of a British subject, 59.
  „ Ditto. Validity of in England, 60.
  „ Consul without warrant. See Yassy.
  „ Law relating to Zanzibar, 155.
"Maria Tadeo." Seizure by Spanish authorities. Smuggling, 81.
Maunder, Mrs. Claim against a French firm at Port-au-Prince, 52, 54.
Mercantile Bank of India v. Joshua. Suit, 123.
Mercieca, Catherine. Validity of Marriage. See Cecchi.
Mexico. Claim of Messrs. Kelly and Co. for repayment of dues, 67.
Michell, Mrs. Claim on account of murder of her husband. See Honduras.
Miles, Mr. John. Claim for compensation. Money levied on. See Great Western Steam Company, 140.
Minister, British, at Madrid. Summons to give evidence, 82.
Mineral oils. Import duties levied on, 29, 30, 31.
  „ Claims. Mixed Commission, 29, 30, 31.
Mirabita, M. Libel on character of. Law suit, 114.
Morocco. Claim on estate of Mr. Grace, 68.
  „ Claim of resident merchants on, 69.
Motel, Mr. Consular marriage. Island of Réunion, 35.
Murray, Consul-General. Money deposited with. See Odessa.

N.

Namshauer, Messrs. Mineral oil claims, 30.
Naples. Property of Mr. Manduit searched by Italian officers without warrants, 62.

Naturalization. Certificate. British Indian subject. Not available out of India, 37.
Naturalized British subjects. Sons of, are not British subjects, 130.
Netherlands. Differences with. Letters of Marque. See Venezuela.
New South Wales. Law passed Legislative Assembly, 39.
Newspaper. Suppression of "Levant Times" and "Progrès d'Orient," 117.
Newspaper. Suppression of. See "Levant Times."
Nicaragua. Claim of Hillario Goussen against, 20.
"Nil Desperandum." Case against Spanish Government, 92.
"Niobe." Bombardment of Omoa by British, 22.
Noepel, Mr. Administration of estate of General Kohler, 42.
North China Insurance Company. Registration of (Order in Council), 25.

O.

Oaths. Administration of by British Consuls to foreigners. See Consuls.
Odessa. British Consul-General. Money deposited with (Mr. Pizzotti), 77.
Offences committed on shore. Trial. Jurisdiction. See Japan.
Oman, Sultan of. Treaty. Fugitive slaves, 1.
Omoa. Bombardment of. Claims for losses, 22.
Order in Council. Consular jurisdiction. Deportation of prisoners, 5.
  „ „ Joint Stock Companies. China, 25.
  „ „ Copyright. Treaty with France, 34.
  „ „ Increase of tonnage fees. See Smyrna.
  „ „ Levant, 1873. Alteration of fees, 134.
  „ „ Judicial reforms. Egypt. New Tribunals, 137.
  „ „ Slave Trade Treaty. Zanzibar, 156.
Ordinance. Malta. Prisoners on board merchant ships. See Malta.

P.

Pacific Steam Packet Company. Claim of. See Brazil.
Pascoe, Mr. Outrage on by police. See Arequipa.
Pender, Mr. Duties on mineral oils, 29, 30, 31.
Peretie, Mr. Report on Mrs. Rassam's case, 124.
Peru. Imprisonment of British subjects for murder. See Bell and Stirling.
Phosphate Sewage Company. See Berlin.
Pirrie, Foot, and Co. Seizure of vessel. See "Dolores."
Pisani, Mr. Etienne. Accusation against (bribes), 119, 129.
Pizzotti, Mr. Money deposited with Consul-General Murray, 77.
Plague. Destruction of property. See Lynch Brothers.
Prideaux, Captain. Publication of despatch in "Gazette." Consul Frazer's bankruptcy, 154.
Privateers. Hostilities. Venezuela and Netherlands, 153.
Privileges of Ministers. See Diplomatic.
"Progrès d'Orient." Suppression of paper, 117.
Prussia. Law. Newspaper correspondents. Threatened imprisonment. See Kingston.
  „ „ Trading companies. Phosphate Company, 43.

Q.

Queen Insurance Company. Claim against Brazil, 15.
  „ v. Lopez. Offences on high seas, 27.
  „ v. Sattler (Lesly's case). Offences on high seas 27.

R.

Rassam, Mrs. Report of Mr. Peretie on case of, 124.
Ralli, Mr. A. J. Nationality of (Ionian), 45.
Reade, Mr. J. T. H. Concession to. Sara Yeri copper mines, 110, 120.
Reilly, Mr. F. S. Draft Bill legalizing deportation, 28.
  „ „ Draft Order in Council. Tonnage fees, 112.
  „ „ Report. Order in Council, 1873. Fees. Alteration. British hospital, 134.
Réunion, Island of. Proposed marriage by Consul, 35.
Ricketts, Consul. Will of a British subject. Course to pursue, 78.
Rio de Janeiro. Robbery of diamonds at. See "Helen."
"Rosalina." Dispute between owner and Venezuela, 151.
Russell, Lord Odo. Instructions to. "Daily Telegraph, 41.

S.

St. John, Consul. Without marriage warrant. See Yassy.
San Paulo. Brazilian Railway Company. Claim against, 17.
San Juan, Island of. Lands of British subjects in, 138.
Santana. Evidence of against a British subject, L. Higginson, 74.
Santa Maura. Property of British Consul at. Summons. See Corfu.
"Santiago." Arrest of a British subject on board. Higginson, 74.
Santos. Marriages at British Consulate (persons divorced), 13.
Sara Yeri copper mines. Claim for concession. See Turkey.
Segrave, Consul. Instructions to. British church. See Stockholm.
Seville. Military conscription. Case of Richard Tarque, 86, 91, 105.
Sfax. Trial of a Maltese for murder. See Tunis.
Shanghae. North China Insurance Company. Registration. Order in Council, 25.
  „ British and foreign vessels. Offenders. Trial of. Jurisdiction, 26, 27, 28.
Ship-brokerage. Claims of British subjects for exemption. See France.
Shooting regulations. Fines. Japan, 66.
Shorting, Mr. G. H. Taxes on. Complaint of, 57.
Silley, Mr. Complaint of detention at Curaçao, 70.
Slaves. Reception of fugitive. Admiralty instructions, 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.
Slave Trade. Regulations. Admiralty instructions, 1, 2, 3, 4, 6.
  „ Indian subjects holding slaves. Law. See Zanzibar.
  „ Treaty. Order in Council. Zanzibar, 156.
Smyrna. Hospital. Tonnage fees. Increase of, by Order in Council, 112.
Smyrna. Burial ground at. Sale of property, 122.
Smith, Major. Slave Trade Penal Code, 116.
Somersett slave. Case of, 3, 4.

Spain. Estate of British subject. Intestate property (Mr. Higgs), 106.
  „ Colonies. Claims of British subjects under old Treaties, 79.
  „ Proceedings of in Sulu Archipelago, 92.
  „ Claim against. Case of "Nil Desperandum," 92.
  „ „ „ "Marie Louisa," 92, 96.
  „ „ „ "L'Avenir," 92.
  „ War taxes, contributions, &c. Claims under old Treaties, 79, 86, 91, 105.
  „ Most-favoured-nation clause. British subjects. Claims, 79, 86, 91, 105, 106.
Stamps, &c. Forgery of (tobacco). Penalties. See Great Britain.
Stirling, Mr. Imprisonment of. See Bell and Stirling.
Stibbard and Cronshay, Messrs. Request for Foreign Office correspondence, 114.
Stockholm. British church property. Liability of British Government, 107.
Story, —. Views of. Slaves on board British vessel in foreign territorial waters, 4.
Stowell, Lord. Case of the slave, Grace, 4.
Streber, General. Conduct of. Bombardment of Omoa, 22.
Subilaca Mining Company. Outrage on Agent of (Mr. Pascoe), 73.
"Sultana." Seizure of by Spanish war vessels. Sulu, 102, 104.
Sulu Archipelago. Sovereignty over. Claim to, 92, 102.
Sweden. British church property at Stockholm, 107.

T.

"Tacna." Arrest and imprisonment of captain. See Chile.
Tarque, Richard. Case of. Exemption from military service, 86, 91, 105.
Taylor and Lyde, Messrs. Claims. See Queen Insurance Company.
Tembé and Mapoota. Territories of. See Delagoa Bay.
Thring, Sir H. Draft Bill Foreign Jurisdiction. See China.
Thornton, Sir E. Island of San Juan. British subjects lands, 138.
Tindal, Nicolas, and E. C. Worsley. Marriage at British Legation, 38.
Tipping, Mr. Claim of. Danube and Black Sea Railway, 127.
Tobacco. Forgery of seals, stamps, &c. See France.
Tomkins, Mr. Foreign Office letter. Inspection. Joshua case, 123, 131.
Tonnage fees. Increase of, by Order in Council. See Smyrna.
Treaty with France. Order in Council. Copyright, 34.
  „ Tunis. Amendments to, 109.
Treaty of Washington. Island of San Juan, 138.
  „ Duties on import of fish, 142, 143.
Trial of British subjects for offences out of Brazil. See Great Britain.
  „ of foreign subjects on board British vessels, 26, 27, 28.
Trinidad. Island of. Demand for detention of British vessel "Indiana," 149.
Troup, Consul. Case of Mr. Blakiston (trial), 65.
Tunis. Trial and condemnation of Maltese for murder, 108.
  „ and Great Britain. Proposed Treaty, 109.
Turin. Property of Mr. Chas. Manby at, 61.
Turner, Mr. Joseph. Case of Mrs. Rassam, 124.
Turkey. Coal. Duties levied on shipment of, 114.
  „ Claim for concession of the Sara Yeri copper mines, 110, 120.
  „ Treaty with most-favoured-nation clause, 115.

1875

U.

United States. Offences by foreign seamen on board vessels. Jurisdiction. See China.
" Award of Emperor of Germany. Island of San Juan, 138.
" Title to lands. Island of San Juan, 138.
" Jurisdiction over seamen of. See Hong Kong.
United States and Great Britain. Consular Convention. Suits in Courts, 139.
" Claim against State of New York. Passengers head money levied on 140.
" Import duties. On fish in British vessels free of duty, 142, 143.
" " from Canada, 143.
" Extradition of Charles Louis Lawrence, 145, 146, 147, 148.
" " Treaty with. Case of Lawrence, 145, 146, 147, 148.

V.

Vanegas, Luis. Arrest by Spanish authorities. See "Eider."
Venezuela. Financial code. Ships' papers. Regulations, 152.
" Insurrection in. Shipment of arms for Colombia, 70.
" " Suspected British vessel. "Indiana." See Trinidad.
" Claim on British vessel chartered for troops. "Alps," 150.
" Dispute with owner of British vessel. See "Rosalina."
Venezuela and Netherlands differences. Letters of marque, 153.
Vessel. German. Shipment of gunpowder. See Curaçao.
Vessels. British. Reception of fugitive slaves. See Africa.
" " In foreign territorial waters. Slave Trade instructions, 3, 4, 6.
" " Claim against Brazil. See "Liguria."
" " Arrests of, for debts due by owners. See "Liguria."
" " and foreign. In Chinese waters. Arrests. Jurisdiction, 26.
" " Jurisdiction over offenders on board, 26, 27, 28.
" " Surrender of prisoners. See Malta Ordinance.
" " Detention of the "Victoria" at Barcelona, 80, 90.
Vessels. British. Seizure of, for smuggling. See "Maria Tadeo."
" " Seizure and detention of. See "Louisa."
" " Seizure and detention at Manganillo. See "Lark."
" " Royal mail. Arrest on board. See "Eider."
" " Capture of, by guarda costa. See "Dolores."
" " Detention of. Breach of Foreign Enlistment Act. See "Indiana."
" " Ships' papers. Customs regulations. Financial code, 152.
" American. Suit between master and seamen. See Hong Kong.
Vessels. Issue of letters of marque in case of hostilities, 153.
"Victoria." Claim for detention of, by Spanish authorities, 80, 90, 97.
Victoria Trading Company of Labuan. Seizure of their vessel. See "Sultana."
Villa Carmelo. Trial for murder at Sfax. See Tunis.
Vivian, Consul-General. Marriage at Yassy, 111.

W.

Walsh, Mr. Detention of his niece. See Constantinople.
War taxes levied in Spain under old Treaties, 79, 86, 91, 105.
" " Spanish Colonies. See Cuba.
West, Mr. Instructions to. Marriages abroad. See Argentine Confederation.
Whinney, Mr. Case for German Law Courts, 40.
Wood, Consul-General. Conduct. Trial at Sfax. Approval, 108.
Wolff, Mr. A. D. Claim of the heirs of Madame Drölling. See Manby.
Worsley, E. C., and N. Tindal. Marriage. British Legations, 38.
Wright, Catherine. Detention of. See Constantinople.

Y.

Yassy. British Consulate. Validity of marriage at (Warrant), 111.
Young, Messrs. Mineral oil claims, 30, 31.

Z.

Zanzibar. Bankruptcy of British Consul-General, 154.
" Order in Council. Slave Trade Treaty, 156.

Foreign Office,
February 1881.

ARTHUR WALMISLEY.

---

Printed for the use of the Foreign Office. January 1881.

CONFIDENTIAL.

REPORTS BY THE LAW OFFICERS OF THE CROWN: 1875.

Africa.

No. 1.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 24, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 10th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 18th April last, on the subject of the reception of the fugitive slaves on board British vessels, he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would take into our consideration the accompanying letter, and its inclosures, from the India Office, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon, with especial reference to the points raised by the Government of India in the 6th paragraph of their letter of the 11th December last, which formed Inclosure No. 1 in the India Office letter then submitted to us.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Report of the Law Officers of the 18th April, 1874, was intended for general guidance in the absence of special circumstances, and the suggestions thereby made would not necessarily be applicable to cases in which special circumstances exist.

Accordingly, in the case suggested in the 2nd paragraph of the letter of the 11th December last from the Government of India, of fugitive slaves seeking to come on board British ships within the territorial waters of Oman, the provisions of the Treaty with the Sultan of that country must be taken into consideration; for the observance of Treaty obligations is as of much importance as the avoidance of anything that could be interpreted into an encouragement of breaches of the law. In such cases it must be left to the discretion of the Commander to determine whether it is or not expedient to receive the slave on board his ship and allow him to remain until such time as it can be ascertained whether, according to the provisions of the Treaty, he is entitled to his freedom or not.

As regards the provisions suggested in the 6th paragraph of the letter, it appears to us that all except the two first have reference to cases in which Treaties are in force, and may with propriety be generally adopted; though even as regards these we think that some discretion should be vested in the commanding officer to enable him to deal efficiently with exceptional cases.

We are unable to advise your Lordship to assent to the other two of the suggested provisions, viz., those marked A and B.

We think that, as a general principle, slaves should not be misled into the belief that they will find their liberty by getting under the British flag, or induced by the presence of a British ship to leave their own ships, if at sea, or their employment, if on shore.

1875

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 2.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 28.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 27, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a draft of a letter which your Lordship proposed to address to the Lords of the Admiralty on the question of the reception of fugitive slaves on board British ships. That that draft was founded on our Reports of the 18th April, 1874, and 24th ultimo, and, before communicating it to the Lords of the Admiralty, your Lordship would be glad to be informed, at our early convenience, whether it correctly expresses our views on the question as therein laid down.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the proposed letter to the Lords of the Admiralty correctly expresses the views which we have had the honour of submitting to your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 3.

The Attorney-General to Mr. Bourke.—(Received October 7.)

My dear Mr. Bourke, 7, Clifton Gardens, Folkestone, October 6, 1875.

IN consequence of the request conveyed by Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th ultimo that I would take the subject of it into consideration with my colleagues, the papers were, in accordance with the usual practice, forwarded in the first instance to Dr. Deane, and only came into my possession yesterday; hence the delay, which I much regret, in my reply, and hence, also, my want of information upon the subject when I met you on Monday evening at the Carlton.

I have now gone very carefully through the papers, and have re-examined the authorities, and I am satisfied in my own mind that the Admiralty instructions are right in principle.

The criticisms passed upon these instructions by the press and by speakers at public meetings are, for the chief part, based upon some supposed departure in them from the principles enunciated by Lord Mansfield in Somersett's case.

Now Somersett, a negro slave, had been purchased in Virginia, was brought to England by his master, and, on his refusing to return, was sent by his master on board an English ship, lying in an English port, to be carried to Jamaica and there sold as a slave. A habeas corpus was granted against the captain, and Somersett was discharged.

The principle upon which this case was decided was that, by the law of England, Somersett ceased to be a slave directly he arrived in England, and thenceforth was, in England, absolutely and unconditionally free.

To apply this principle to the case of a fugitive slave making his escape to a British ship in foreign territorial waters or on the high seas, it must first be shown that a British ship, in either of such cases, is to be deemed a portion of Her Majesty's dominions as completely and unconditionally as any portion of England itself.

But is this so?

Leaving out of consideration the case of a private British ship within the territorial waters of a foreign country, as to which it would hardly be contended that it is for all intents and purposes to be deemed a portion of Her Majesty's dominions, let us consider the case of a public British ship within such territorial waters.

Now, as has been well expressed by Story, the principle upon which a ship of war is considered to be part of the State to which she belongs, and, as such, exempt from any jurisdiction, is based upon considerations of public comity and convenience, and arises from a presumed consent of nations that foreign public ships coming into their ports and demeaning themselves according to law and in a friendly manner, shall be exempt from local jurisdiction.

In this view of the case it is clear that the right to have a public British ship treated in foreign territorial waters as part of Her Majesty's dominions is conditional upon the laws of the foreign country being observed, and such laws cannot, in my opinion, be considered as observed if encouragement or assistance is afforded to the subjects of such foreign country, slaves or otherwise, to break the law.

But to pass from the case of the public British ship in foreign territorial waters to the case of a slave escaping to a like ship on the high seas, which ship afterwards, with the escaped slave on board, enters the territorial waters of the country from which the slave has escaped.

The question whether the slave should be surrendered in such a case appears to me to depend upon the same considerations as would arise in the case of a public British ship in foreign territorial waters, i.e., upon whether encouragement or assistance has been afforded by the ship to enable the slave to break the law of the country of which he is a subject.

I cannot understand upon what principle the British ship can enter the harbour of the foreign country and claim the privilege of having its deck treated as British soil, when she has within a few hours previously enabled the laws of that country to be broken by one or more of its subjects, where she parades before the local authorities and defies their interference.

Take, as an illustration, a case not very unlikely to occur, the case of a British man-of-war passing up the Persian Gulf, on her way to the port of a country in which slavery is recognized by law; whilst still outside the territorial waters she falls in with a fleet of native dhows, engaged in pearl diving, the slave sailors of which, in considerable numbers, approach the man-of-war, and, from motives of humanity, and to save them from drowning, are taken on board and carried into port.

It appears to me that, if the standing rule is assumed to be that, with the view of avoiding giving any encouragement or assistance to the breaking of the laws of the slave's country, he is not to be taken on board except to save him from drowning, the application of the same principle would require that, if taken on board, it is for the sole purpose of saving him from drowning, and not for any further or ulterior purpose.

I have thus endeavoured to argue out the principle of the Admiralty Instructions, and I do not see how, if the principle is right and is to be maintained, any different instructions can be given. I am myself unable to suggest any alteration in principle, and I should doubt the expediency of recalling the present instructions, with the view of issuing others based on the same principles, but expressed in different language; this is, however, a question of policy, which it is hardly within my province to discuss, though I shall be only too happy to render any assistance in my power in connection with a subject of so much gravity and difficulty.

I am, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.

P.S.—I have addressed this to you in the form of a private letter, but shall be happy to send in a formal Report by myself and my colleagues, or by myself only, if desired.

R. B.

---

No. 4.

The Attorney- and Solicitor-General to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 14.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 14, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th September ultimo, stating that the instructions as to the reception of fugitive slaves on board of Her Majesty's ships, recently issued by the Admiralty, have been the subject of much unfavourable comment in the press, and are not unlikely to give rise to an attack in Parliament next Session, unless they are in some degree modified.

1875

Among the articles which have appeared on the subject, that written with most weight is one in the "Pall Mall Gazette" of the 21st September ultimo, of which Mr. Lister inclosed a copy. That there was also a very severe attack in the "Saturday Review" of that week. That the letter from the Foreign Office to the Admiralty, which was almost verbally embodied in the instructions, was founded upon two Reports from the Law Officers of the 18th April, 1874, and the 24th March last, and the letter itself was submitted to the Law Officers and approved by them on the 27th April.

That the passage in the instructions which has called forth most criticism, and which seems indeed to be most open to attack, was that which states that a slave who may have taken refuge on board of one of Her Majesty's ships on the high seas is liable to be surrendered, in the event of the ship returning within the territorial limits of the country from a vessel of which he had escaped.

Upon this point Mr. Lister stated that your Lordship notices that the instructions are somewhat more distinct and positive than the terms of the Law Officers' Report of the 18th April, 1874, which stated that, "In either case, that of a public or that of a private ship, if the slave returns within the limits of the country from which he has escaped, he will be liable to be surrendered."

Speaking as a layman, Mr. Lister stated that your Lordship thinks it is open to doubt whether the arguments urged and the cases quoted in the Report go further than this, that a fugutive slave should not, under ordinary circumstances, be received on board one of Her Majesty's ships while within the territorial waters of the country from which he had escaped; and secondly, that a slave who may have escaped on board of one of Her Majesty's ships on the high seas does not from that fact put off his condition of slavery so thoroughly as to be able to claim his freedom, if he returns to the country in which he was a slave.

That the question whether a slave who may have so escaped should be surrendered from on board a British man-of-war, upon the man-of-war coming within the territorial limits of the country in which he was a slave, Mr. Lister stated that it seems to your Lordship to be a further point which, in whatever way it may be decided, is not necessarily governed by the considerations of law or policy on which the two other decisions are founded.

Mr. Lister stated that your Lordship would be glad if we would take the matter again into consideration, and would let your Lordship know whether we still continue to consider the terms of the Circular to be a proper statement of the law and practice to be observed, or whether we could suggest any alterations, either in the paragraph Mr. Lister has called attention to, or in the rest of the instructions.

That it is of course always possible to add an explanatory Circular, stating that the slave is in such cases liable, according to strict law, to be surrendered, but that the Commander of the vessel must use his discretion whether the slave shall not be landed elsewhere.

Mr. Lister inclosed the correspondence for reference.

We were also honoured with Mr. Bourke's letter of the 9th instant, stating that, in reply to the letter of the Attorney-General of the 6th instant, respecting the instructions recently issued regarding the reception and surrender by Her Majesty's Naval Officers of fugitive slaves escaping on board Her Majesty's ships, and with special reference to the postscript of that letter, Mr. Bourke was directed by your Lordship to request that we would favour your Lordship with a formal Report on the subject.

That the papers relating to the case were returned for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have gone very carefully through the papers submitted to us, and have reconsidered the authorities.

The conclusion at which we have arrived is, that the Admiralty instructions are right in principle.

The criticisms passed upon those instructions by the press and by speakers at public meetings are, for the chief part, based upon some supposed departure in them from the principles enunciated by Lord Mansfied in Somersett's case.

Now Somersett, a negro slave, who had been purchased in Virginia, was brought to England by his master, and on his refusing to return, was sent by his master on board an English ship lying in an English port to be carried to Jamaica, and there sold as a slave. A habeas corpus was granted against the captain, and Somersett was discharged.

The principle upon which this case was decided was that, by the law of England, Somersett ceased to be a slave directly he arrived in England, and thenceforth was, in England, absolutely and unconditionally free.

To apply this principle, in the first instance, to the case of a fugitive slave making his escape to a British ship in the territorial waters of a foreign State where slavery is recognized as legal, let us see how the matter will stand. In such a case it must be shown by those who contend that the principle in question is applicable that the British ship is in law a portion of Her Majesty's dominions as completely and unconditionally as any part of England itself.

But is this so?

Leaving out of consideration the case of a private British ship within the territorial waters of a foreign country, as to which it would hardly be contended that it is for all intents and purposes to be deemed a portion of Her Majesty's dominions, let us consider the case of a public British ship within such territorial waters.

Now it seems to us that a public ship, under such circumstances, can only, in a limited sense, be said to be part of the territory of Great Britain, and that she is not so completely part of such territory that a slave stepping on her deck becomes free. The true principle is, we think, laid down by Story, who asserts that a ship of war, in the territorial waters of a foreign Power, is exempt from any other jurisdiction than that of the State to which she belongs, upon consideration of public comity and convenience, and by reason of a presumed consent of nations that foreign public ships coming into their ports and demeaning themselves according to law and in a friendly manner shall be exempt from local jurisdiction.

In Story's view of the case it is clear that the right to have a public British ship treated in foreign territorial waters as exempt from the local jurisdiction, is conditional upon the laws of the foreign countries being observed.

This view is supported by the Judgment of Chief Justice Best in the case of Forbes v. Cochrane.

In that case the learned Judge, in the course of a very strong anti-slavery Judgment, says: "The moment they (the slaves) put their feet on board of a British man-of-war, not lying within the waters of East Florida, where undoubtedly the laws of that country would prevail, those persons who before had been slaves were free." So that this learned Judge evidently thought that a slave escaping to a man-of-war lying in territorial waters of a slave State would have retained his status of slavery.

If, indeed, the doctrine that a British ship in such circumstances as those alluded to is part of the territory of this country in the strictest sense were correct, it would follow that the slave who should accompany his master on a visit of ceremony to the Commander of such ship might claim his freedom; that criminals escaping from a gaol in the foreign country could not, except under some Extradition Treaty, be given up; and that a man who committed a murder on the foreign shore, perhaps under the very eyes of the Commander of the British vessel, might have a right to claim asylum on her deck.

We consider, therefore, that by international law a slave getting on board a British public vessel, and à fortiori a private vessel, in foreign territorial waters, still retains his status of slavery; and this being so, as it is the duty of the commander of such a vessel to respect the law of the country in which his ship is lying, he may properly be called upon to pursue the course indicated in the Admiralty instructions.

With regard to British ships, whether public or private, on the high seas, their decks are considered part of the British territory; and if a slave gets on board a ship upon the high seas, we think he becomes, ipso facto, free.

According to the Judgment, however, of Lord Stowell, in the case of the slave Grace, if the slave who has thus become free finds his way back to the State in which he was in slavery, his status of slavery will revive, and it is upon this decision, which as far as we are aware has never been overruled, that we base our opinion that that portion of the Admiralty instructions which prescribes the course to be pursued with respect to slaves received on board a vessel on the high seas is correct.

As we have indicated above, the instructions can, in our opinion, be justified, as founded upon a correct estimate of the law. Whether or not, considering the feeling with respect to them which prevails in the country, they ought to be maintained in their present form, is a question of policy, upon which it is hardly our province to enter.

1875

If it is thought necessary to alter the instructions, we think they should be so framed as simply to contain a direction to Commanders of British ships that fugitive slaves are not to be received on board their vessels except in cases where the lives of such slaves would be endangered if they were not allowed to come on board; and also that such slaves as may be received on board shall not be allowed to remain if the British vessel, at the time she receives the fugitives, is in the territorial waters of the foreign State, or (if such fugitives gain her deck when on the high seas) when she come within such waters.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.

P.S.—Dr. Deane is at present absent from London, and he will not return for a few days. As the matter is extremely urgent, we have thought it better not to delay this Report until he can be communicated with.

R. B.
J. H.

---

No. 5.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 11.)

My Lord, Temple, November 9, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration, the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* from which we perceive that a question has arisen as to the right of Her Majesty's Consul for the Bights of Benin and Biafra, under the provisions of the Order in Council of the 21st February, 1872, to deport prisoners from that part of the African coast which is under his Consular jurisdiction. And Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion whether, under the Order in Council in question (of which a copy was inclosed†), Her Majesty's Consul is empowered to order the deportation of convicted offenders from the territories of independent native Chiefs to a British Colony for punishment.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the Consul is not empowered to order the deportation of convicted offenders from the territories of independent native Chiefs to a British Colony for punishment.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

As the office of Attorney-General is at present vacant, this Report is signed by the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane.

J. H.

---

No. 6.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 22.)

My Lord, Temple, November 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 18th instant, stating that he was directed to transmit to us the accompanying draft of revised instructions respecting the reception of slaves on board Her Majesty's ships of war, which had been prepared for the consideration of the Cabinet, and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion thereupon; that the previous papers relating to that question were inclosed for convenience of reference if required.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the draft of the proposed Circular, and submit the following observations upon the different clauses:—

The instructions provide only for the treatment of "fugitive slaves," but are stated to be "also intended for the guidance of Her Majesty's ships generally."

We submit for your Lordship's consideration either the omission of this statement —that the instructions are also intended for guidance generally—or the addition of an instruction providing for cases which, as your Lordship is aware, are frequent of slaves who may come on board one of Her Majesty's ships, not as fugitives, but in some other character, or without the knowledge of the Commander, and who, having thus got under the British flag, claims its protection.

As to 93 B: This instruction is, we think, open to objection because it does not give distinct and specific directions as to the course to be pursued by the Commander of a public ship in the particular case which causes the greatest practical difficulty—that in which the slave is at once carried into the waters of the country in which he is, by the law of that country, liable to servitude. If a slave who is received on board a ship in territorial waters is to be sent on shore, why should not a slave who is received on board first before the vessel enters the territorial waters be dealt with in the same way?

In Instruction 93 C we submit for your Lordship's consideration that it might be well to omit the first part down to the words "British feelings." For it seems to us sufficient to direct Her Majesty's officers not to break themselves, nor assist others in breaking, the local laws of the country in whose waters their ships may be. And we further think that the direction "not to appear to encourage or countenance the violation of a law, however repugnant that law may be to British feelings," is not unlikely to call forth considerable public comment.

If this omission should be adopted, the word "therefore," which follows almost immediately after "British feelings," should come out.

And we think the word "will" might be used instead of the word "must," which we have underlined.

The word "immediate," also underlined, may lead to some difficulty, and we suggest its omission.

As to 93 D, we think some practical difficulties may arise upon this instruction, from the general terms which are used.

For instance:

1. What part is the Consular authority to take in the examination?
2. Is the Commander of the ship to conduct the inquiry, or the Consular authority, and which of the two is to be the judge of the truth or falsehood of the statement?
3. Upon whom does the burden of proving freedom or slavery lie?
4. If the slave's statement prove false, is the slave to be surrendered; if so to whom, or is he merely to be sent on shore?
5. If, while communicating with the Consular authority, or while applying for further instructions to the Senior Officer of the station, or to the Admiralty, the fugitive is taken out to the high seas, will that affect his status? Can he afterwards be surrendered or sent on shore?

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Consul Hartley, No. 29, June 30; to ditto, No. 10, August 24; to Colonial Office, August 21; Colonial Office, August 31; to ditto, October 7; Colonial Office, October 20, 1875.

† Order in Council, February 21, 1872.

1875

Argentine Confederation.

No. 7.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 1.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, February 26, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers, as marked in the margin,* relative to the question of the validity in this country of marriages celebrated in the Argentine Republic without the provisions of either of the Foreign Marriage Acts being conformed to; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether marriages performed under the circumstances set forth in the papers can be considered as valid in this country on account of being according to the lex loci, or whether it would be better to give a warning of their doubtful legality, and recommending a compliance with one of the Acts of Parliament in order to place the validity of marriages of British subjects beyond dispute.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, marriages celebrated according to the law of the Argentine Republic, as set forth in the papers transmitted to us, between British subjects, are undoubtedly legal, and a warning of their doubtful legality would not be proper.

But we see no objection to a notice being given recommending that, for the purpose of securing evidence of their marriage, British subjects should have their marriages celebrated in compliance with the provisions of the Foreign Marriages Act.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 8.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 23.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 22, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, and the inclosures, from Her Majesty's Minister at Buenos Ayres,† relative to the marriages of British subjects residing in the provinces of the Argentine Republic; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any instructions should be sent to Mr. West for his guidance in the matter further than those which were addressed to him in accordance with our Report of the 26th ultimo.

That the draft of the instructions was therewith inclosed for our information.‡

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, no further instructions need be sent to Mr. West.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. West, No 34, January 13; ditto, No. 66, August 6; ditto, No. 106, November 17; Consul Cowper, No. 25, November 16, 1874.

† Mr. West, No. 5, January 29, 1875.

‡ To Mr. West, No. 1, Consular, March 6, 1875.

Belgium.

No. 9.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 24, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 17th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion upon the point raised in the accompanying note from the Belgian Minister.*

That Polydore Bourdiol, who is, as appears from the original application for his extradition, a Frenchman by birth, had been surrendered by the British Government to that of Belgium, where he was expected shortly to be sentenced upon the charges which led to the demand for his extradition. That the French Government, who required him to meet accusations of the commission of offences in France, had made a claim upon the Belgian Government for his surrender to them after the expiration of his sentence, and that the latter inquire whether Her Majesty's Government consider that they would be violating the Extradition Treaty with Great Britain if they acceded to that request.

That a copy of the Treaty, which did not contain any Article directly bearing on the point, was inclosed for our guidance.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, there is nothing in the Extradition Treaty between Great Britain and Belgium to prevent the surrender by the latter Government of Polydore Bourdiol to the French Government after the expiration of his sentence in Belgium.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

Brazil.

No. 10.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 3.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 2, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 8th February ultimo, stating that on the receipt of our Report of the 31st August last, relative to the Anglo-Brazilian claims, your Lordship addressed to Her Majesty's Minister at Rio de Janeiro the instruction, draft of which was inclosed.†

That he (Mr. Lister) was then to transmit to us two despatches from Mr. Buckley Mathew,‡ inclosing a further correspondence with the Brazilian Government upon the subject, and a memorandum drawn up at the Foreign Office,§ showing the conditions

---

* Baron Solvyns, March 15, 1875.

† To Mr. Mathew, No. 54, October 5, 1874.

‡ Mr. Mathew, No. 96, November 12; ditto, No. 100, December 22, 1874.

§ Memorandum, February 3, 1875.

1875

laid down by Mr. Buckley Mathew, on the part of Her Majesty's Government, with regard to the proposal to refer the claims to a Mixed Commission, and the answers made to those conditions by the Brazilian Minister for Foreign Affairs.

That the previous correspondence was also inclosed for convenience of reference;[*] and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should now be taken by Her Majesty's Government with regard to the claims in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the conditions upon which Her Majesty's Government would consent to refer the Anglo-Brazilian claims to a Mixed Commission are so different from the conditions upon which the Brazilian Government would consent to such reference that, in our opinion, it is useless to protract the discussion any further.

But as the British claims are quite distinct, and rest upon grounds totally different from the grounds upon which the Brazilian claims may be founded, we see no reason why the two sets of claims should not be considered and treated separately. We are therefore of opinion that Her Majesty's Government may now properly take measures for bringing the British claims to the notice of the Brazilian Government, and leave that Government to deal as it may think best with the claims of Brazilian subjects.

We presume the proper way of doing this, if your Lordship approves of the suggestion which we have made, will be to instruct Mr. Buckley Mathew to communicate the determination of Her Majesty's Government to the Brazilian Minister.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 11.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 24.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 22nd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, and inclosure, from the Acting British Consul at Rio de Janeiro, containing a correspondence he had had with the Acting British Chaplain there, respecting marriages between British subjects in foreign countries, together with an expression of the opinion of the Bishop of the Falkland Islands on the matter; and that your Lordship wished to be favoured with our opinion as to the legality of the marriage alluded to as having taken place in the English church.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the marriages of British subjects solemnized in the English church in Brazil, according to the rites of the Church of England, are perfectly valid in the British dominions. We think, however, that evidence of marriages solemnized in Brazil is better secured when such marriages are solemnized in compliance with the provisions of the Foreign Marriages Acts.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 12.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 5.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 4, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro, detailing the circumstances connected with a claim of the Brazilian Government against the Pacific Steam Packet Company, and which the agents of that Company at Rio had declined to pay, on the ground of their having no funds in their possession belonging to the Company.

---

[*] Mr. Mathew, No. 26, March 24; Law Officers, August 31; Memorandum, December 26, 1874; three bound volumes; four printed memoranda; Aberdeen Act.

That in consequence of that refusal on the part of the agents, Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires was given to understand that, in all probability, an embargo would be laid upon the next incoming steamer belonging to the Pacific Company, which, owing to the representations he addressed to the Brazilian Government, did not take place.

That Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to us a translation of the Articles of the Brazilian Commercial Code and Regulations referred to in the inclosed correspondence, together with a volume in Portuguese of the entire Code and Regulations; and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion in the matter.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was to add that, should we require translations of any of the Articles contained in the volume then sent to us, they would be furnished to us by the Foreign Office on our specifying those which we might require.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden, bearing date the 22nd ultimo, stating that, with reference to the letter from the Foreign Office of the 9th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit, for any observations the Law Officers of the Crown might have to offer thereupon, a further despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro as to the possibility of an embargo being laid by the Brazilian authorities on the Pacific Steam Packet Company's vessel "Liguria."

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That a Judgment not appealed from has been obtained in Brazil against the Pacific Steam Packet Company, and that Company is liable, under the Judgment, to the payment of a certain sum of money for damages and costs.

The Company has no property in Brazil, but ships, the property of the Company, resort to Brazilian ports for purposes of trade.

The question practically put to us is whether one of these ships can be arrested in a Brazilian port for this debt.

The answer to this question depends upon the law of Brazil. And so far as the extracts from the Brazilian Code supplied to us enable us to form an opinion, we think the ship would not be liable to arrest.

And the course taken by the Brazilian Government, as detailed by Mr. Drummond, confirms that view of the law.

But we think there may be some provisions in the law of Brazil which may legalize the seizure of the property within or coming within the country of persons against whom a Judgment has there been obtained. And Mr. Drummond should be instructed to inform your Lordship on that point, if the matter proceeds further.

As the case now stands, we are of opinion that it offers no ground for further diplomatic communication with the Government of Brazil.

Since drafting the above we have been favoured with Lord Tenterden's note of the 23rd April,[*] forwarding to us a further despatch from Mr. Drummond, but it only occurs to us to add to our above Report that, in our opinion, Mr. Drummond may be properly instructed to follow, in any future case like that of the "Liguria," the same course which he has adopted in respect to that vessel.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] This is a mistake. There was no letter of the 23rd; only two despatches have been received from Mr. Drummond, No. 30, sent on April 9, and No. 32, sent on April 22. The Law Officers must have counted the last twice over.—H. C. E.

1875

No. 13.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 11)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, June 10, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Santos (No. 12, April 21, 1875), requesting information in regard to various points connected with a marriage proposed to be celebrated at that Consulate, under the Act 12 and 13 Vict., cap. 68, between two persons resident in his Consular district, one of whom was divorced from her husband by the English Divorce Court in December last; and that he was to request that we would take that paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the questions therein raised by Mr. Consul Dundas.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Consul Dundas may properly be answered :—

That persons divorced cannot contract a second marriage till a decree absolute has been made.

This decree absolute cannot be made within a time shorter than three months in any case. But three months is an exception to the general and almost uniform rule which prevails, that the decree absolute shall not be made till at the end of six months after the decree nisi.

It is not usual to publish the making of the decrees absolute in the papers, and it is not necessary that any legal notification of the decree absolute should be furnished to either of the parties.

Any marriage of a divorced person celebrated before the decree absolute has been made will be null and void.

The ignorance of the Consul is quite immaterial; the objection being that the former marriage is not dissolved, and the capacity to contract a second marriage is wanting.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 14.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 6.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, August 5, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd July ultimo, stating that, in our Report of the 4th May, we intimated that we were not in possession of sufficient information as to the law of Brazil to enable us to form a decided opinion as to whether a British vessel could be arrested in a Brazilian port for a debt due by her owners in Brazil, and for which judgment had been obtained from a Brazilian Court of Law.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was directed to transmit to us the accompanying further despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro (Mr. Drummond, No. 84, June 6, 1875), inclosing translations of the Articles of the Brazilian Commercial Code bearing upon the question; and that he was to request that we would be good enough to acquaint your Lordship whether those documents contained the information required to enable us to come to a definite opinion on the subject.

That the previous papers were inclosed for convenience of reference.*

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Article 482 of the Commercial Code of Brazil is the only Article set out in the inclosure in Mr. Drummond's despatch No. 84 of June 1875 which bears upon foreign ships.

It seems from that Article that foreign ships can be detained for debts contracted in the Brazilian territory for the use of the said ships or their cargoes.

They can also be arrested when the debt arises out of bottomry.

And also when bills of exchange have been drawn in a foreign country in the case mentioned in Article 651, and they fall due in Brazil. But as Article 651 is not before us, we consequently cannot say what particular class of bills of exchange is referred to.

We are unable, without further information than we at present have, to give your Lordship a more definite answer to the question "whether a British vessel can be arrested in a Brazilian Court for a debt due by her owners in Brazil, for which judgment has been obtained in a Brazilian Court of Law," than the following :—

Where the debt has been contracted in Brazilian territory for the use of the ship and her cargo, or when the debt arises out of bottomry or on a particular class of bills of exchange, and judgment has been obtained, the ship may be arrested. We think it also probable that, in similar cases, the ship may be arrested, by way of security, before judgment. These, however, are questions of Brazilian law, and, as the question appears to be one of great importance, we would suggest the expediency of taking the opinion of some competent Brazilian jurist.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* List.

No. 15.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 7.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd July ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 12th May, 1874, Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence,* which has passed since that date, respecting the claims against the Brazilian Government of the Queen Insurance Company, and of Messrs. Taylor and Lyde, agents of that Company.

That the previous correspondence was also inclosed; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions that should be sent to Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro upon the subject.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Logan, M.P. (August 13, 1875), inclosing further papers relative to the case of the Queen Insurance Company; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the papers submitted to us in Mr. Lister's letter of the 3rd July ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the case of the Queen Insurance Company offers no pretext for the interference of Her Majesty's Government.

But, so far as we can gather from the papers transmitted to us, and particularly from Mr. Mathew's despatch No. 95, and except so far as the case of Mr. Taylor is affected by his nationality, we are still of opinion that Messrs. Taylor and Lyde are entitled to some compensation from the Brazilian Government.

We presume, however, that, before sending further instructions to Rio de Janeiro, your Lordship will wait to hear what answer, if any, has been given to the note of Mr. Drummond to the Viscount de Caravillas, a copy of which is inclosed in Mr. Drummond's despatch No. 77. In this note, as it appears to us, the whole question has been most effectively placed before the Brazilian Government.

Should no satisfactory answer be received to that note, Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro may, we think, properly be instructed to take no further steps in the matter; for the Brazilian Government would probably yield only to force, and neither the amount of the claim nor the general merits of the case, including the conduct of Mr. Taylor or of Mr. Lyde, would, in our opinion, justify the resort to such a course. Indeed, if the facts be, as stated by the Brazilian Government, and not, as it appears to us, denied by Mr. Taylor, that he is a Brazilian, and not a British subject,

---

* List.

1875

the claim for compensation could hardly be extended to him, though the Brazilian Government have been very late in claiming exemption on this account.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 16.

The Attorney-General to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 4, 1875.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Alston's letter of the 28th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,[*] respecting certain persons implicated in a robbery of diamonds at Rio de Janeiro, and who escaped from that city on board an English vessel, the "Helen," bound for this country.

That from that correspondence I would perceive the steps that had been taken by Her Majesty's Government with a view to the apprehension of the persons in question; and that he was to request that I would take the papers into my consideration, and especially the telegram from Her Majesty's Minister at Lisbon of the 25th September, as to the arrest of those persons on board the "Helen" by the Portuguese authorities, should they not land at any Portuguese port where the vessel might touch, and favour your Lordship, at my earliest convenience, with my opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Lord Lytton.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to report—

That, in my opinion, the steps which have been taken by Her Majesty's Government, with a view to the apprehension of the persons alleged by the Brazilian Government to be implicated in the diamond robbery at Rio, are such as were, under the circumstances of the case, so far as they were known to Her Majesty's Government, prudent and proper.

The information afforded to Her Majesty's Government is, however, very meagre, and that communicated by the Chevalier de Sonya Corriâ, who appears to have been in communication with a Paris firm who are amongst the victims of the robbery, adds but little to the telegraphic despatches of Mr. Drummond. It is possible, though hardly probable, that that which is asserted to be "theft" may turn out to be "breach of contract." It is singular that, though the accused absconded on the 30th August, having previously "received" (not "stolen") the diamonds from various merchants, Mr. Drummond does not telegraph until the 10th September, and the Brazilian Minister makes no communication to Her Majesty's Government before the 16th. It is also singular that persons of a class to ship "as seamen" could have imposed upon the diamond merchants.

I telegraphed on Thursday, the 30th ultimo, to Mr. Lister that I thought authority should be given to the Portuguese Government to search the "Helen," in the event of her entering any Portuguese port, and to apprehend the men should there be reasonable proof of their complicity in the robbery. This opinion, upon reconsideration of the case, I confirm.

I think Lord Lytton was quite right in stipulating (see his telegram of the 16th September), that the action of the Portuguese Government should be on the application of the Brazilian Minister.

I have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.

---

[*] Mr. Drummond (Telegraphic), September 10; to ditto, No. 62, September 11; to Home and Colonial Offices, September 11; Mr. Drummond (Telegraphic), September 13; Colonial Office, September 13; to Lord Lytton (Telegraphic), September 14; Home Office, September 14; Lord Lytton (Telegraphic), September 16; Chevalier de S. Corriâ, September 16; to Home and Colonial Offices, September 20; to Chevalier de S. Corriâ, September 20; Chevalier de S. Corriâ, September 24; to Home Office and Board of Trade, September 25; Board of Trade, September 25; Lord Lytton (Telegraphic), September 25; Home Office, September 25; to the Earl of Derby (Telegraphic), September 27; Chevalier de S. Corriâ, September 27; Home Office, September 23, 1875.

No. 17.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 16, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 29th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith the correspondence marked in the margin,[*] respecting a claim made in Brazil by the Viscount de Mana against the English Company called the San Paulo Brazilian Railway Company (Limited); and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the steps which it would be advisable for your Lordship to take in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That your Lordship cannot, in our opinion, properly interfere in the matter, which is before the proper Brazilian Tribunals.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 18.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, November 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th October ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rio de Janeiro,[†] calling attention to a law lately passed in Brazil, providing for the trial and judgment of crimes committed in foreign countries against Brazil and Brazilians, some of the provisions of which law would apparently have the effect of rendering British subjects liable in Brazil to punishment for acts done out of Brazilian jurisdiction.

That he (Mr. Lister) was also to inclose a letter from the Home Office, expressing the opinion of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Home Department upon the law in question; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should be pursued by Her Majesty's Government in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Drummond may properly be instructed to officially inform the Brazilian Government that Her Majesty's Government cannot allow the trial or punishment of British subjects in Brazil for offences committed beyond Brazilian territory and in places not within Brazilian jurisdiction.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] Mr. Heath, September 5; to ditto, September 10; to Mr. Mathew, September 14; Mr. Mathew, October 21; to Mr. Heath, November 19; Mr. Heath, November 23; to ditto, November 26, 1874; Mr. Heath, September 21, 1875.

[†] Mr. Drummond, No. 122, Confidential, August 7, 1875.

Central America.

---

No. 19.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 23.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, February 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relating to a claim preferred against the Honduras Government by Mrs. Mitchell, on account of property belonging to her husband, who was assassinated in November 1873; and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion whether, in view of the Report by Mr. Vice-Consul Debrot upon the case, Her Majesty's Government can properly interfere regarding it.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, assuming the statement of Mr. Vice-Consul Debrot to be correct, we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly interfere on behalf of Mrs. Mitchell.

We have, &c,
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 20.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 11, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 23rd March ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Mr. Locock, Her Majesty's Minister in Central America (No. 12), relative to the claim of Mr. Hilario Goussen to be refunded a sum of money levied upon him in 1863 by the Government of Nicaragua as a military contribution, from the payment of which he claimed exemption on the ground of British nationality.

Lord Tenterden stated that we would see from this despatch, which contains a full history of the case, that Mr. Goussen's claim has been hitherto supported by Her Majesty's Government, under the advice of the Law Officers of the Crown, mainly on the ground that a note addressed to Mr. Goussen on the 8th April, 1863, by Señor Castillo, the Minister of the Interior of Nicaragua, contained a direct and official recognition of the British nationality of Mr. Goussen, followed by the promise of an order to restore the money collected under the forced loan.

Lord Tenterden stated that Mr. Locock, however, is of opinion that the translation of Señor Castillo's note furnished to Her Majesty's Government was not quite accurate, and that it is doubtful whether its true meaning is such as to justify Her Majesty's Government in further supporting the claim.

In these circumstances, Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take Mr. Locock's despatch into our consideration, together with the former papers which are sent herewith, and that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should now be taken in the matter.

Lord Tenterden stated that we would observe that at the date of Mr. Locock's despatch he had not received your Lordship's despatch No. 3 of the 9th February ultimo, by which he was instructed to insist upon a settlement of Mr. Goussen's claim.

---

* List.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered, in connection with the former papers relating to this matter, the despatch of Mr. Locock of the 21st January, 1875, and the translation inclosed in it of Señor Castillo's letter to Mr. Goussen of the 23rd April, 1863, and are of opinion that the letter of Señor Castillo, though without seal, cannot be regarded otherwise than as an official recognition by the Nicaraguan Government of Mr. Goussen's British nationality, and as an official promise to restore the money exacted from him under the idea that he was a Nicaraguan subject.

Having regard, however, to the fact that Mr. Goussen abstained for many years from asserting his nationality, and eventually merely made use of it to escape a pecuniary liability to the country of which he had become, so far as lay in his power, a citizen, and bearing in mind the change in our own law made in 1870, which would prevent Her Majesty's Government, if the matter were now to be dismissed ab integro, from alleging that Mr. Goussen was a British subject in 1863, we would suggest that the present is not a case in which Her Majesty's Government would be willing to have recourse to measures of force; and we would suggest that it is not a case of sufficient importance to be made the subject of arbitration or reference to a third person.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 21.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 17.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, August 17, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd July ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying corrrespondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to the complaint of Mr. T. J. D. Mackintosh, that the Government of Ecuador had failed to carry out properly certain arrangements come to in 1857 and 1858 for the settlement of a claim which he now represents; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in pressing Mr. Mackintosh's claim on the Government of Ecuador.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Her Majesty's Government will, in our opinion, be justified in continuing to press the claim of Mr. Mackintosh on the Ecuador Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 22.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 10.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 1, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 5th August, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 4th May, 1874, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,† relative to certain claims against the Government of Honduras on account of losses sustained by British subjects at Omoa in 1873, owing to the acts of General Streber, an officer in the service of the Honduras Government.

---

* Mr. Hamilton, No. 5, May 23, 1875; List.
† Mr. Crawford, No. 10; Mr. Cowper, June 30; List.

1875

That we would see that, in consequence of the acts in question, Sir Lambton Loraine, Commander of Her Majesty's ship "Niobe," took energetic measures, which resulted in General Streber's giving a bond that compensation should be paid to British subjects for the losses sustained by them,[*] and that Sir L. Loraine's proceedings were fully approved by Her Majesty's Government, who informed the Honduras Government that they would be held responsible for the fulfilment of the conditions contained in the bond given General Streber.

That some time afterwards Her Majesty's Government received communications from various British subjects representing that they had suffered heavy losses owing to the occurrences above referred to, and urging their claims to compensation.

That Her Majesty's Government feeling some doubt as to whether the amount of these claims was not exaggerated, and being unwilling to demand from the Honduras Government any payment for which they are not justly liable, directed Mr. Francis H. Cowper, British Vice-Consul at Trinidad de Cuba, to proceed to Belize and Omoa to investigate and report upon the claims in question.

That Mr. Cowper's Report, which was sent therewith, shows that the claimants have in fact suffered heavy losses; but it also shows that, as regards several of the claims, the goods plundered were not at the time the property of British subjects, having been furnished on credit to Honduras firms, who, having been ruined by the acts of General Streber, are unable to pay for the said goods, thereby entailing heavy loss upon the British firms who supplied them.

That under these circumstances, Lord Tenterden stated, he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government should support the claims of Messrs. Johnston and Co., and the other firms similarly situated.

Lord Tenterden also further stated that your Lordship would also be glad of our opinion on the claim of Mr. Vice-Consul Debrot, and generally, upon the whole case; and as to what steps it would be advisable for Her Majesty's Government to take, should we consider that the claims, or any of them, are entitled to support.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the losses incurred by Messrs. Johnston and Co., and the other firms similarly situated, are too indirect to justify the support by Her Majesty's Government of any claim made by them or on their behalf.

But the losses of Mr. Vice-Consul Debrot are of quite a different kind, and Her Majesty's Government may properly, in our opinion, require that he should be completely paid, in money or approved security, the amount of those losses.

Some evidence of the amount lost by Mr. Debrot may reasonably be required by the Honduras Government, and Mr. Debrot must be prepared to give the best evidence on this head which in the circumstances he can furnish.

We beg, however, to call your Lordship's attention to the question raised by Mr. Cowper, whether Mr. Debrot is to be regarded as a British subject. He is said to have been born under the Dutch flag, nothing is said of the nationality of his father or mother, he does not appear to have been naturalized as a British subject, and his official position as a British Vice-Consul will not entitle him to the protection of Her Majesty's Government in respect of his private or mercantile property.

Your Lordship, therefore, will probably think it right to direct that Mr. Debrot's nationality be ascertained, in order that, if not entitled to British protection, he may have the opportunity of resorting to his own Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] It will be found in the Admiralty letter of January 30, 1874; a translation is in Mr. Schoppitt's No. 69 of 1873.

---

China.

No. 32*

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to Earl Granville.—(Received May 29.)

My Lord, Temple, May 29, 1872.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Hammond's letter of the 24th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two despatches from Her Majesty's Minister at Peking,[*] relative to the question of the protection of British subjects of Chinese origin in China; and he was to request that we would take the papers into consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion as to the allegiance due from those persons to the Chinese Government, and as to the instructions which should be sent to Her Majesty's Minister with regard to their protection.

The correspondence, alluded to by Mr. Wade, respecting the adoption by the Anglo-Chinese of a distinguishing costume, was inclosed therewith for reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That in cases of persons of Chinese origin in China where the status of a British subject has been properly established, and is duly certificated, he is bound to obey the Laws and Regulations of the place in which he may be either residing or travelling, but he owes no allegiance to the Chinese Government, and is entitled to the protection of the British Government, limited by, and subject to, the conditions which Her Majesty's Government, in consideration of the Government of China, or national peculiarities of the Chinese, may think it right to impose.[†]

We see no reason why, as a condition of this protection, a particular costume (as provided by Sir R. Alcock's Notification of the 7th October, 1868), should not be imposed.

But Her Majesty's Minister at Peking will be able to form an opinion whether any modification is required, and he might be instructed to confer with the Chinese Government on the matter.

When the conditions for protection have been settled, Her Majesty's Minister should be instructed to make it known to the Anglo-Chinese that they will be in Chinese territory entitled to the protection of Her Majesty's Government only on their compliance with the conditions.

We have, &c.
(Signed) J. D. COLERIDGE.
G. JESSEL.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] Nos. 5 and 6.

[†] See Sir J. Pauncefote's Memorandum of March 15, 1879, No. 3865 Print.

1875

Chile.

---

No. 23.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, February 15, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 19th December ultimo, and to previous correspondence respecting the claim of Captain Hyde, of the "Tacna," to compensation from the Chilean Government on account of his arrest and imprisonment in Chile, Mr. Bourke was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the former papers, a further correspondence that has taken place upon the subject, from which Mr. Bourke stated that we should see that the Chilean Government has proposed that Captain Hyde's claim should be referred to arbitration.

Mr. Bourke stated that Her Majesty's Government have determined to accept this proposal; but as the form of words in which their acceptance is conveyed to the Chilean Minister will be the basis of the question to be put to the Arbitrator, Mr. Bourke further stated that your Lordship is of opinion that great care should be taken in regard to the terms used.

Mr. Bourke was accordingly to request that we would be good enough to draw up and submit to your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, the form of words in which we think it advisable that the assent of Her Majesty's Government to the proposed arbitration should be signified.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the papers transmitted to us by Mr. Bourke, and the opinion of your Lordship, as expressed by Mr. Bourke, that great care should be taken in regard to the terms used in signifying to Señor Blest Gana the assent of Her Majesty's Government to the proposal of the Chilean Government, that Captain Hyde's claim should be referred to arbitration.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have drawn up and submit to you the following draft of a form of words in which the assent of Her Majesty's Government may properly be signified:—

"M. le Ministre,

"I have the honour to inform you that Her Majesty's Government has carefully considered the proposal of your Government, communicated by you to me in your letter of the 21st January, that the claim of Captain Hyde, of the 'Tacna,' for compensation on account of his arrest and imprisonment in Chile should be referred to arbitration.

"Her Majesty's Government regrets that there should be any difference of opinion between the two Governments upon this, or upon any other subject, and is most anxious that when, unfortunately, such difference does arise, the amicable relations between the two countries should not be disturbed, and the best means should be resorted to for a solution of the disputed question.

"Her Majesty's Government, therefore, willingly assents to the proposal of the Chilean Government that the claim of Captain Hyde should be submitted to arbitration.

"It is, however, necessary that the terms of the question to be so submitted should be precisely defined, freed from all ambiguity, not obscured by the introduction of any irrelevant matters, and confined to the very points in issue.

"With this view Her Majesty's Government suggest that the question submitted to the Arbitrator be—

"'Whether the Chilean authorities, having illegally, as decided by the Chilean

1875

Supreme Court, arrested a British subject, the British Government has the right, on behalf of that British subject, to claim compensation for the arrest.'"

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 24.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 8.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 7, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 20th March last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the papers in the "Tacna" case which had already been laid before us.

That your Lordship was of opinion that the Chilean Government could not be expected to agree to submit the question to the Arbitrators which was contained in the last paragraph of our Report of the 15th February.

That your Lordship would be glad if we would be good enough to reconsider the whole question, bearing in mind that the matter in dispute was now reduced to a single point, viz., the claim of Captain Hyde for compensation.

That your Lordship would also be much obliged if we would inform him whether, in our opinion, the proposal for arbitration might not be met by an offer to accept the good offices of the German Government as a mediator to assist the two Governments in arriving at an amicable settlement.

And that he (Lord Tenterden) was further directed by your Lordship to ask us to be good enough to consider and settle the accompanying draft answer to the Chilean Government, which had been prepared in that sense, and to report whether we agreed in its terms and thought Her Majesty's Government might safely send such an answer to the letter from the Chilean Minister of the 31st January.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That our Report of the 15th February was made in reply to Mr. Bourke's letter of the 2nd February, by which we were informed that Her Majesty's Government had determined to accept the proposal of the Chilean Government that the claim of Captain Hyde should be referred to arbitration, and that your Lordship desired that we should draw up the form of words in which we thought it advisable that the assent of Her Majesty's Government to the proposed arbitration should be signified.

Under these circumstances, though it occurred to us that the Chilean Government would probably not consent to such a limited form of inquiry, we were of opinion that, unless the question submitted to the Arbitrator was expressed in some such terms as those set out in our Report, the result of the reference would most probably be unfavourable to the claim; it further occurred to us that, upon the refusal of the Chilean Government to accept an arbitration upon the question as proposed, or upon their suggestion of any modification in the terms of the question, a convenient opportunity might be afforded of obtaining the payment of a small sum by way of a final settlement.

The question which is now, by your Lordship's direction, submitted to us, is one rather of policy than of law; but, so far as we are in a position to express an opinion upon it, it appears to us that the course suggested of inviting the good offices of the German Government as mediator affords probably the best chance of solution of a very troublesome question; and in this view we think the form of answer which it is proposed to send to the Chilean Government may well be adopted.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

China.

---

No. 25.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 11.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 9, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st December ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from the North China Insurance Company, relative to the importance of arrangements being made, at an early date, by which public Companies, having their head-quarters at Shanghae, could be registered under the Joint Stock Companies Act.

That the revised Order in Council which it was proposed to substitute for the Order in Council for China and Japan of 1865 contained the following clause:—

"XXI. For the purposes of the Companies Act, 1862, the Chief Judge of the Supreme Court for the time being shall have all the power and authority which the Board of Trade has under the said Act, so far as the same relates to the registration of public Companies within the jurisdiction of the Supreme Court, and the Registrar of the Supreme Court shall have the like power and authority as the Registrars appointed by the Board of Trade under the said Act."

That the draft of the revised Order in Council, with the exception of the clauses relating to deportation, was approved by the late Law Officers, but its issue was delayed until the Acts for legalizing deportation, which were being prepared in accordance with our letter of the 23rd July, had been passed; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request us to report to your Lordship our opinion whether the clause quoted above would provide the facilities required by the North China Insurance Company, and whether, in view of the importance of such facilities being granted at an early date, there would be any objection to the immediate issue of the clause, either as a substantive Order in Council or as a supplement to the existing Order of 1865, pending the issue of the revised Order in Council.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, a clause somewhat varied in language from that quoted in Lord Tenterden's letter might provide facilities for the North China Insurance Company, if the "Companies Act, 1862," were applied to China and Japan by Order in Council.

But as we are not aware that this has ever been done, we do not think that the immediate issue of the clause, as proposed in Lord Tenterden's letter, would be of any advantage to the North China Insurance Company.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No 26.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 2.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 30, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 31st December ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Sir Edmund Hornby (No. 14, Consular), requesting to be informed of the views of Her Majesty's Government as to Consular jurisdiction over persons on board ships in the waters of China when the nationality of such persons is different from that of the ship to which they belong.

Mr. Bourke stated that this question has arisen with reference to a Circular (of which a copy was annexed) issued by the United States' Consul-General at Shanghae in the year 1868, as to the jurisdiction claimed by him over American citizens on board ships of other nationalities or over foreign subjects on board American ships; and Mr. Bourke was to request us to take the papers into our consideration, and to report to your Lordship our opinion as to the instructions which should be sent to Sir E. Hornby on the subject.

1875

A copy of the Order in Council for China and Japan of 1865 was annexed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the Circular of Mr. Seward, the despatch from Sir E. Hornby, the Order in Council of the 9th March, 1865, and the other documents, whether Treaty or Statute, which seemed to us to bear upon the question submitted to us by your Lordship.

No Treaty which we know of gives a jurisdiction to a foreign Court to try and punish as criminals the subjects of another foreign country. The utmost criminal jurisdiction which could properly be given by Treaty to a foreign Court would be over the subjects of that foreign Power.

Accordingly the Order in Council is confined to persons who are subjects of Her Majesty.

And Mr. Seward is, in our opinion, quite right in the argument which he follows out in pp. 2, 3, and 4 of his Circular, showing that where offences not connected with the discipline and internal management of the ship, but of a graver and distinct degree and kind, are committed, a foreign Court in China has no jurisdiction save over the subjects of the foreign Power under whose authority such Court is constituted.

We also agree with Mr. Seward that the fact of forming one of the crew of a foreign ship will not, in cases of grave offences, give the foreign Court a jurisdiction over the offender, unless he be a subject of the country under whose flag the ship sails. In signing articles, we are of opinion that the foreign seaman does no more than submit to the discipline of the ship according to the law of the country, and that he cannot be held to have become for all purposes a subject of the country, or made amenable to the criminal laws of the country to which the ship may belong.

Sir E. Hornby comments with considerable force upon the great inconveniences which may arise in some cases, and the immunity the seamen of some foreign countries, and serving on board British ships, may derive from the operation of this principle.

But this inconvenience and immunity will not justify the exercise of a jurisdiction which does not properly exist, and the remedy, as Mr. Seward points out, will be in such cases to hand over the offenders either to the proper Representative of the country to which he may belong or to the Chinese authorities.

We do not deem it necessary to trouble your Lordship with our opinion whether Sir E. Hornby or Mr. Seward be right as to the principle that territoriality lies at the basis of criminal jurisdiction, for we think for the present purpose it is sufficient to say that for a criminal offence committed on board a British ship in Chinese waters by a foreigner, whether he belong to the ship or not, such foreigner cannot be tried or punished by a British Court sitting in China.

And we are of opinion that Sir E. Hornby may be properly instructed that Her Majesty's Government agrees with the views expressed by Mr. Seward in his Circular on the subject of jurisdiction over foreigners on board ships of a nationality not their own, and that Sir E. Hornby may inform Mr. Seward to that effect.

We submit, however, for your Lordship's consideration, that it may be worth while to ascertain whether the United States' Government has approved of Mr. Seward's Circular, which is dated the 3rd August, 1868, and defer instructing Sir E. Hornby till this information has been received.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 27.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 19.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 19, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 24th March last, stating that our Report of the 30th January, as to the right of Consular jurisdiction over persons on board ships in the waters of China, when the nationality of such persons was different from that of the ship to which they belonged, was communicated to the Board of Trade; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for such observations as we might have to offer upon it, a letter from that Department (March 17) giving their views on the subject.

That the correspondence already submitted to us was annexed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Board of Trade, in their letter of the 17th March appear to have misapprehended the purport and effect of the Report which we had the honour to make to your Lordship under date the 30th January last.

The question which was then submitted for our consideration had reference to Consular jurisdiction in respect of offences committed on board ships in the waters of China; and, in reference to that question, our attention was directed to a Circular, issued in 1868 by Mr. Seward, the United States' Consul-General at Shanghae; in our Report to your Lordship, we stated that we concurred in the views expressed by Mr. Seward that in respect of offences not connected with the discipline and internal management of the ship, but of a grave and distinct degree and kind (such as were referred to by Mr. Seward as offences of which, in a port of Christendom, jurisdiction would be taken by the authorities of the country in which the offence was committed, and not by the Consular Representative of the country whose flag the ship carried), a foreign Court in China had no jurisdiction, save over the subjects of the Power by whose authority the Court was constituted; and to this opinion, after full consideration of the subject, we adhere.

The special jurisdiction exercised by a British or United States' Consul, in respect of grave offences committed on board ships in the waters of China, is quite distinct from his ordinary Consular jurisdiction, by virtue of which he takes cognizance of offences connected with ordinary matters of discipline and management; the special jurisdiction is regulated by Treaty, and can only be exercised by him over the subjects of Great Britain or the United States, as the case may be. The passage, however, in our Report to which particular exception appears to have been taken by the Board of Trade is in the following terms: "We also agree with Mr. Seward that the fact of forming one of the crew of a foreign ship will not, in case of grave offence, give the foreign Court a jurisdiction over the offender, unless he be a subject of the country under whose flag the ship sails. In signing articles, we are of opinion that the foreign seaman does no more than submit to the discipline of the ship according to the law of the country, and that he cannot be held to have become, for all purposes, a subject of the country, or made amenable to the criminal laws of the country to which the ship may belong." After quoting this passage, the Board of Trade observe: "The principle now affirmed by the Law Officers is a very wide one. They do not confine themselves to the case of a crime committed by a foreigner belonging to a British ship when on shore, or even to a crime committed by him on board ship when the ship is within the territorial jurisdiction of a third country, but they assert broadly that grave offences committed by a foreign seaman on a British ship, wherever she may be, cannot be punished by British Courts." The letter then proceeds with a lengthened argument to show that it has been the constant practice of this country to punish crimes committed under the British flag on the high seas, without regard to the nationality of the offender; a proposition which we have never denied nor should ever think of denying. But here we feel bound to observe, with every respect for the Board of Trade, that we have never expressed any opinion to the effect that grave offences committed by a foreign seaman on a British ship, wherever she may be, cannot be punished by British Courts.

The opinion which we have expressed, and to which we adhere, was and is, that the fact of the foreign seaman forming one of the crew of a British ship does not, for all purposes, render him a subject of Great Britain or make him amenable to the criminal laws of Great Britain. In the case of an offence committed by a foreign seaman on board a British ship on the high seas (and consequently within the territorial jurisdiction of Great Britain), it is clear that the offender could be punished by any British Court which has cognizance of such matters; but a British Consular Court in China has no such general jurisdiction.

1875

A variety of cases are cited in the Board of Trade letter; but, upon examination, it will be found that they have no bearing upon the question upon which our Report of the 30th January was made. In the cases of the Queen v. Lopez and the Queen v. Sattler, and in Lesley's case, the offences were committed on the high seas; whereas, in the question before us, it was assumed that the offence was committed, not on the high seas, but within the territorial waters of China; and in the case of the Queen v. Anderson the jurisdiction was exercised, not by a Consular officer exercising a local jurisdiction conferred and limited by Treaty, but by the Central Criminal Court, which had a general jurisdiction.

As regards the quotations from Ortolan's Diplomatie de la Mer, Kent's Commentaries, Wheaton's Elements of International Law, and Phillimore's International Law, we would only observe that they in no respect bear upon the question of the jurisdiction of foreign Tribunals within the territorial limits of another country, when the right to exercise such jurisdiction has been ceded by Treaty.

We observe in the Board of Trade letter a passage in the following terms: "Where any country has, by such Treaties as China and Siam have made with us, waived its territorial jurisdiction over British subjects, the true effect is to leave each nation to exercise its own jurisdiction as if no territorial jurisdiction existed; in other words, in the same way as if the ship were still on the high seas;" if, by this passage, it is intended to imply that a seaman who, when in Chinese waters, would not, but for the Treaty, be treated as a British subject, must be so treated by reason of the Treaty, we cannot assent to the proposition; if this were so, the status of a subject of another Power would be affected by a Treaty to which such Power was not a party.

At the time when we made our Report in January last we were not aware of the Report made by the Queen's Advocate in January 1872, to which reference is made in the Board of Trade letter, but a perusal of it has not led us to alter the opinion which we then expressed.

We, however, agree with the Board of Trade in thinking that the question is one which should be very carefully considered before any definite arrangement upon the subject is come to between Her Majesty's Government and that of the United States; and we submit this the more readily for your Lordship's consideration, because, as your Lordship is aware, there is a case pending at the present time, in which a British subject borne on the books of an American man-of-war, having whilst on shore in Japan committed an offence, was first brought before the American Consul, who disclaimed jurisdiction, and was afterwards brought before the British Consul, who punished him, but which act of the British Consul has been made the subject of remonstrance by the American Minister in Japan.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 28.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 23.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 23, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 5th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 23rd July last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a draft Bill which had been prepared by Sir H. Thring, in communication with Mr. F. S. Reilly, for legalizing deportation from China and other foreign countries in which the Queen had jurisdiction; and that he was to request us to take that draft into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion thereupon at our earliest convenience.

That the previous correspondence relating to the question, together with the clauses of the revised Order in Council relating to deportation, were annexed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the draft does not, in our opinion, sufficiently meet the difficulties for which it is intended to provide; and we have therefore prepared, and submit for your Lordship's consideration, the following draft:—

"Whereas in the several Orders in Council made in pursuance of the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts, and specified in the Schedule to this Act, provisions are made for the deportation of prisoners from the territories and places to which such Orders respectively apply:

"Be it enacted, &c.:

Foreign Jurisdiction Acts Amendment.

"That the said provisions of the said several Orders in Council shall be, and the same are, hereby confirmed and made valid for all purposes as from the time of the making thereof; and it shall be lawful for Her Majesty in Council, in any future Order to be made under the said Acts, to make provision for the like purposes; and anything done or to be done under the provisions by this Act confirmed or authorized, whether done or to be done beyond the limits of the territory or place to which the Order in Council containing such provisions applies, shall in all Courts in any of Her Majesty's dominions be deemed to have been legally done.

"(Schedule.)"

We think the Orders should be specified in a Schedule; and that Parliament should not be asked to ratify all Orders in Council issued under the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts without having the opportunity of inspecting them.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

France.

No. 29.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 1, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 13th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 15th May last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. Pender, inclosing a further statement from the Scottish Mineral Oils Association, relative to the import duty levied in France on British mineral oils.

That Mr. Bourke also inclosed a memorandum on that statement, and a Report in the matter from Lord Lyons.

That the previous correspondence would be found in the papers in the accompanying volume of printed correspondence; and that Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take that question again into consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our early convenience, with our opinion as to the course which Her Majesty's Government should take with regard to that renewed application on the part of the Scottish Mineral Oils Association.

We are also honoured with a further memorandum from Mr. Bourke, bearing date the 17th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, with reference to his letter of the 13th instant, further papers, and to request that they might be taken into consideration with respect to the question of duties on mineral oils imported into France.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Treaty of 1873, construed by the letter, seems to us to justify the course taken by the French Government in fixing the duties on British refined oils, the imposition of which forms the ground of complaint on the part of the Scottish Mineral Oil Association, and this appears to be admitted in the statement of the Association that "nominally the refined oils of both countries are charged the same."

1875

Exception is taken to the option given to oil-makers in France of having their oil taxed in the crude state, and it is said that the British oil-maker is practically shut out from such option; and it is further urged that the specific gravity of French burning oils is such that a considerable quantity of that oil is not taxed at all.

We are not sufficiently acquainted with the manufacture and nature of these oils to be able to advise your Lordship with any confidence upon those points, which require a special knowledge; and we are unable to say whether the tests applied to oils by the French authorities really determine the condition in Article IV of the Treaty, that the oils manufactured in France be "like" the oils imported, or intended to be imported, into France.

Still, the statement made by the Association, that the Treaty, however kept to the letter, is yet nullified by the modes of imposing the duties in France, seems so reasonable that we advise your Lordship that before any further answer is sent to the Association, or any communication made to the French Government, the opinion of some independent person acquainted with the manufacture and qualities of mineral oils should be obtained upon the statement and reply of the Association.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 30.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 30.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 30, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 23rd February ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 27th August last, and to the previous Reports of the Law Officers on the British mineral oils claims in France, he was directed to transmit to us two letters from Mr. Pender, M.P. (January 29 and February 18, 1875), inclosing representations in this matter from Young's Paraffin Light and Mineral Oil Company.

That the following appeared to be the principal points in the inclosed papers:—

1. A statement of the subject-matter of Messrs. Young's complaint against the French Government.

2. A complaint that Messrs. Young, in the Award of the Mixed Commission, had not received the full benefit of the stipulations of Article IV of the Treaty of the 23rd July, 1873.

3. A representation that the outstanding claim of Messrs. Namshauer (which more especially formed the subject-matter of our Report of the 27th August last) was then ready for adjudication.

4. A representation that in certain instances the rate of interest to be paid was 6 per cent. instead of 5 per cent., as stated in the Award of the Mixed Commission.

5. A representation as to the position of Messrs. Young in regard to certain of these claims preferred by persons who were also their debtors, and whose estates were then in bankruptcy.

That Mr. Bourke was at the same time to transmit to us two volumes of printed correspondence which contained the previous papers in this matter, copies of the Treaties of 1860 and 1873 referred to, and of the Award of the Mixed Commission, together with a list of the papers which chiefly bore upon each of the points above stated.*

That Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take this matter into consideration, and that, at our early convenience, we would favour your Lordship with our opinion on each of the points above adverted to, as well as on any others which might occur to us in the perusal of the inclosed papers; and that we would also state our opinion what answers in respect of them should be returned to the applicants, and what steps, if any, Her Majesty's Government should take with regard to those several representations.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this matter into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we believe that the principle governing the several points submitted to your Lordship by Messrs. Young under heads 1 and 2 of their statement have already been reported upon by us and the former Law Officers. But there may be some exceptional cases in which a representation may properly be made to the French Government on behalf of Messrs. Young, and those gentlemen should, in our opinion, be asked to state in detail these exceptional cases and the particular grounds on which they think that they are entitled to relief.

Upon the general principle we see no reason to alter the opinions which have already been reported to your Lordship and to Lord Granville.

We are of opinion that the Commissioners cannot, as Messrs. Young seem to think and wish, reopen any case on which they have made their Award.

If, however, no Award has been made in Namshauer's case (see printed Award, p. 14), we see no reason why the Commissioners should not make their Award on that case.

The rate of interest as settled by the Commissioners cannot, in our opinion, be altered.

We are opinion that Messrs. Young cannot obtain any indemnification for the losses which they may have incurred by the bankruptcy of their debtors.

Messrs. Young cannot, in our opinion, make any claim upon the French Government because they have advanced out of their own moneys certain payments provided by the French Treasury. Nor do we see how the French Treasury can be required to pay out to Messrs. Young the fund upon which alleged creditors of Messrs. Young have put something like a distringas. Messrs. Young may therefore, in our opinion, properly be answered that if they will point out the specific cases in which they are losers by the difference between the amounts awarded by the Commissioners and the damages found by the French Courts, the amount of the loss, and the assigned reason for the difference between the two sums awarded and found, Her Majesty's Government will consider whether any and what representation should be made to the French Government. But that the rate of interest given by the Commissioners, the losses consequent upon the bankruptcy of Messrs. Young's debtors, and the loss of interest by payment to the creditors of Messrs. Young out of their own funds instead of out of the fund provided by the French Government, and the distringas put upon the funds in the French Treasury, cannot be made the subject of any representation whatever.

And that there is no objection to the Award in Namshauer's case being made as soon as the Commissioners are ready to entertain it.

When your Lordship has received from Messrs. Young the particulars which seem to us necessary, and which we have above named, your Lordship will, in our opinion, be better able to form a judgment whether any of the cases of complaint put forward now generally only afford real grounds for representation to the French Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 31.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 19, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 5th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to acknowledge the receipt of our Report of the 30th ultimo on the subject of the mineral oils claims in France, and to state to us that your Lordship wishes to place before us the following observations in regard to two of the matters to which it relates:—

In the first place, with reference to the paragraph in which we express our opinion that Messrs. Young may be informed that, "if they will point out the specific

---

* Parts VI and VII; Treaties of 1860 and 1873; Award of Mixed Commission; List.

1875

cases in which they are losers by the difference between the amounts awarded by the Commission and the damages found by the French Courts, the amount of the loss, and the assigned reason for the difference between the two sums awarded and found, Her Majesty's Government will consider whether any or what representation should be made to the French Government." Mr. Lister was to observe that this information appears to be contained in the present papers on this question. The Parliamentary Paper which contains the Award of the Mixed Commission gives the complete list of the suits in which Messrs. Young have been engaged. The letter from that firm which forms Inclosure 2 in No. 149 of Part VII of the printed correspondence contains a list of the suits which have been settled in conformity with the terms of the Award. Accordingly, on removing these latter suits from the general Tables in the Parliamentary Paper, which has been done in the inclosed copy of it, that we perceive the suits still unsettled in regard to which Messrs. Young contend, in Mr. Pender's letters of the 29th January and the 18th February last, that they are losers in respect of the difference between the two sums above mentioned. The amount of this difference, as appears from the general Table, is the amount of the duties to payment of which the right of the French Government has been admitted, under the advice of the Law Officers, in the correspondence on this subject specified in the accompanying list of papers.

Unless, therefore, we have any further object in view in suggesting this inquiry, it does not appear necessary to ask for these particulars in communicating with Messrs. Young.

Secondly, with respect to the point of the rate of interest payable on the indemnities awarded to Messrs. Young, Mr. Lister was to ask our further opinion whether, in view of M. Treitt's Report, which forms Inclosure 2 in No. 153, Part VII, of the printed correspondence, it would not be right that Messrs. Young should have an opportunity of making any representation which they may wish to make on this head before the Mixed Commission, without, however, after our expression of opinion on the point, any claim which that firm may advance being pressed upon the French Government.

Mr. Lister was further directed to transmit to us, in order to avoid delay, the draft of letter which your Lordship would propose to address to Mr. Pender in reply to the last communications on this matter, and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into consideration.

Mr. Lister was likewise to observe that the French Government will probably contend that, in regard to the indemnities in the suits still unsettled, interest is only payable to Messrs. Young up to the date when these moneys were announced to be at their disposal; whereas Messrs. Young will probably have to pay interest in these suits up to the date of final payment, and may apply for full reimbursement of their payments under this head in point of time as well as in respect of the rate of interest; and Mr. Lister was to ask our opinion as to the proper course to take in this contingency.

The papers previously referred to us were inclosed with this letter, and Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with an answer at our earliest convenience.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That our object in suggesting that Messrs. Young should be requested to point out any specific cases in which they thought they were losers under the Awards was to afford those gentlemen an opportunity of showing an exception, if there were any, to the general principles under which the Awards must be considered final.

We do not, however, think that it is at all necessary to carry this inquiry further.

With reference to the second point in Mr. Lister's letter, we are of opinion that the interest of 5 per cent. allowed by the Commissioner cannot be successfully objected to: (1) because the Award should, under the Treaty, be taken to be final; (2) because, as M. Treitt observes, the rate of 5 per cent. is the legal interest in civil matters, the question before the Commission being a civil matter.

But we see no objection to the passages in the draft relating to the matter of interest, and the letter may, in our opinion, properly be sent to Mr. Pender.

Should Messrs. Young apply for full reimbursement of their payments in suits still unsettled, their application must, in our opinion, be refused. The right course for Messrs. Young to have adopted, in the first instance, was to have performed their part of the contract by sending over the oils, notwithstanding the increase of the duties, and then have claimed the indemnity, and not run the risk of an action.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 32.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 20.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 19, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 9th November last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Lord Lyons (No. 73, Commercial, of the 14th March), forwarding a copy of a note from the Duc Decazes in answer to the claim on the part of Her Majesty's Government for the exemption of British subjects from compulsory ship-brokerage in France. That we would perceive that the French Government did not admit the validity of that claim, and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would favour your Lordship with any further observations which we may have to offer on that subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we presume your Lordship will accept the statement of the Duc Decazes that foreigners and French are, in respect of ship-brokerage, on an equality in France. And if so, the question of the meaning of the most-favoured-nation clause put forward by the Duc Decazes becomes immaterial, and no further representation on the subject of ship-brokerage need, in our opinion, be made.[*]

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 33.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 8.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 7, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 14th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying memorandum received from the French Chargé d'Affaires, inquiring whether the forgery of the stamp on the French "Régie" tobacco was punishable in this country under any law which would punish the forgery of the seals, stamps, or other official marks of the French Government, or whether it would only be punishable in the same manner as the forgery of an ordinary trade mark.

That Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the question thus put by the French Chargé d'Affaires into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion, first, whether there was any law which punished the forgery of the official seals and stamps of foreign Governments; and, secondly, whether, if so, the forgery of the stamp on the French "Régie" tobacco would come under that law.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That counterfeiting the mark or stamp put by the Excise on the State-manufactured tobacco does not in this country constitute a special offence distinct from the offence of counterfeiting the trade marks of commerce.

The Statute 14 and 15 Vict., cap. 99, punishes as felony the forgery of the seals, stamps, or signatures of foreign Proclamations, Treaties, and other acts of State, as well as judgments, decrees, and other judicial proceedings of foreign Courts of Justice,

---

[*] The reference to the Law Officers was on the question generally; the Board of Trade are considering what is to be proposed to be dealt with as matter of detail.

1875

but the forgery of the Excise stamp on the State-manufactured tobacco would not come under that Statute.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 34.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 16.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 15, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the draft of an Order in Council which had been prepared at the Foreign Office, applying the International Copyright Act of 1875 to France, together with the draft of a proposed Declaration cancelling paragraph 3 of Article IV of the Copyright Treaty with France of 1851, which had been received from the French Minister at that Court; and that he was to request that we would take those documents into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion whether the draft Order in Council is drawn up correctly, and whether the terms of the Declaration cancelling the paragraph of the French Treaty were such as might be properly agreed to by your Lordship.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was also to transmit to us a translation of the French draft of Declaration.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft Order in Council (with the exception of a clerical error, p. 5, line 4 from the bottom, where the figure 7 should be 5) is drawn up correctly, and the terms of the Declaration cancelling the paragraph of the French Treaty may properly be agreed to by your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 35.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 30.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 28, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Réunion,* requesting instructions as to the course which he should pursue in the case of a creole of Mauritius, named Motel, who was desirous of being married under the Consular Marriage Act to a native at Réunion, but who had been divorced from his second wife under a Decree of the Supreme Court of Mauritius; and that he was to request that we would take that paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what answer should be returned to Mr. Consul Perry in regard to the questions raised therein.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Motel has probably, as stated by Mr. Consul Perry, been already married according to the law of the country to a native or subject of the country.

If this marriage has in fact taken place, Mr. Perry may, in our opinion, properly be instructed not to perform the marriage under the Consular Marriage Act. Should the parties not have been married, Mr. Perry, before performing the marriage, should warn them that the Consular marriage is not necessarily valid except in Her Majesty's dominions.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Consul Perry, No. 22, April 26, 1875.

---

No. 36.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 23.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 14th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to state to us that the Government of France have proposed to Her Majesty's Government the exchange of certain territories belonging to England and France respectively on the West Coast of Africa.

That Her Majesty's Government being of opinion that the proposed exchange would be beneficial to British interests, the accompanying memorandum has been prepared embodying the terms on which the contemplated exchange of territories with France might be carried out; but before submitting these proposals for the consideration of the French Government, Mr. Bourke stated that your Lordship would be glad if we would take the inclosed memorandum into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether the terms of the proposed exchange are properly expressed and may be submitted in their present form for the approval of the French Government.

That the correspondence which has passed between the Foreign Office and the Colonial Office on the subject of the proposed exchange of territories was submitted for our perusal.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the terms of the proposed exchange are properly expressed and may be submitted in their present form to the French Government.

We would, however, suggest the insertion, after the words "may have suffered," in the third clause, of the words "or may hereafter suffer."

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 37.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 21.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 19, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Consul at Havre,* respecting a Mr. Jung's inquiry as to the status of himself and children under a certificate of naturalization as a British subject, obtained by him from the Government of India; and that your Lordship would be glad to learn our opinion as to what answer should be returned to Mr. Jung's application, as conveyed in his letter which formed the inclosure in Mr. Bernal's despatch No. 40 of the 17th September.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Jung may properly be answered that the certificate of naturalization obtained by him in India does not confer on him the rights and privileges of a British subject in Europe, and that his children cannot be considered to have been born British subjects.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Consul Bernal, No. 40, September 17; ditto, No. 41, September 30, 1875.

1875

General.

---

No. 38.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 10.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 10, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Mr. Edmund Byrne (April 7), stating that Elizabeth Carill Worsley, a ward in Chancery and an infant, whose marriage with one Nicolas Tindal had been prohibited by an order of the Master of the Rolls, had escaped to the Continent with Nicolas Tindal, with a view to being married at one of Her Majesty's Legations abroad, and requesting that Her Majesty's Representatives may be instructed not to allow the marriage to take place at their Legations.

Lord Tenterden was also to transmit to us a copy of the Act for facilitating marriages of British subjects abroad at places where British Diplomatic Agents are resident.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take this application into our consideration at our earliest convenience, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the steps which can properly be taken in the matter.

Lord Tenterden was to add that, as the matter is urgent, instructions have been telegraphed to Her Majesty's Representatives not to allow the marriage to take place, pending further instructions.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That as the marriage has been forbidden by a Judge of competent authority, who has ordered the solicitor having the conduct of the proceedings to take all possible means to stop the marriage, we are of opinion that your Lordship was fully justified in telegraphing instructions to Her Majesty's Representatives not to allow the marriage to take place; and it does not appear to us that your Lordship can do more than continue such instructions.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 39.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 20.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 19, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th September ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office, inclosing a transcript of a Bill passed by the Legislative Council and Assembly of New South Wales, and reserved by the Governor of that Colony for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure, entitled "An Act to amend the Law relating to Aliens," together with a copy of the Report of the local Attorney-General thereupon; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take that Bill into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether it may properly be submitted for Her Majesty's assent.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Bill may properly be submitted for Her Majesty's assent.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Germany.

---

No. 40.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 2.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 30, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 15th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would be good enough to favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the circumstances detailed in the inclosed letter from Mr. Whinney were such as to call for diplomatic intervention on the part of Her Majesty's Government with that of Germany.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the facts stated by Mr. Whinney in his letter to your Lordship are not such as properly to call for diplomatic interference on the part of Her Majesty's Government. On the facts so stated, it would appear that his remedy is by an appeal to the German Law Courts.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 41.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 15.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, February 15, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 6th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request our immediate attention to the inclosed papers respecting proceedings which had been taken at Berlin against Mr. Kingston, the correspondent of the "Daily Telegraph" newspaper, to compel him to furnish certain information respecting the origin of a telegram which was published in that newspaper on the 10th October last as having been sent by their Berlin correspondent.*

That Mr. Kingston, in consequence of his persistent refusal to supply the desired information, is now threatened with imprisonment; and that he had requested Her Majesty's Ambassador to call upon the German Government to afford accurate and categorical information respecting the nature of the offence with which he was charged. That the Ambassador, having received, in reply to a representation already made by him to the Foreign Office, a reply to the effect that the Government could not interfere with the ordinary legal course of justice, hesitated to comply with that request without instructions, and that your Lordship would be glad to learn our opinion as to the nature of the instructions which could properly be given.

That at the same time, as Mr. Kingston's imprisonment appeared to be imminent, it was necessary that your Lordship should be enabled to decide what course should be taken with the least possible delay.

That the telegram which led to the proceedings and a letter to which allusion is made in the correspondence would be found in the inclosed extracts from the "Daily Telegraph."

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Lord Odo Russell cannot properly be instructed to interfere officially any further with Mr. Kingston's case.

The question is one simply of Prussian law and the administration of the law in Prussia where Mr. Kingston is residing. And Her Majesty's Government would, we

---

* Lord Odo Russell, Nos. 293, 302, 321, and 329 of 1874; ditto, Nos. 3, 36, and 51 of 1875; to ditto, No. 242 of 1874.

1875

submit to your Lordship, be open to an answer which could not be replied to if any diplomatic attempt were made to interfere with a matter which is before the regular Tribunals of Prussia.

Besides, Mr. Kingston has appealed, and this act on his part raises an additional objection to any interference.

Lord Odo Russell may, however, in our opinion, be instructed to obtain a mitigation of punishment should any be ordered against Mr. Kingston.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 42.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 14, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would favour you with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the application from a Mr. Noepel, of which a translation was inclosed, for information as to the disposal of the estate of General Köhler.

That the question of the estate of that officer, who died at Jaffa in 1800 while in the employment of the British Government, leaving property in this country the net residue of which was over 22,000*l.*, had on various occasions been before the Foreign Office, but as the point then at issue was merely whether Mr. Noepel was entitled to know, for the benefit of the persons whom he represents, to whom the estate was made over, and, if so, whether he should be told by the Foreign Office in what way he should proceed, it did not appear to be necessary to trouble us with the previous papers.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That since the administration of the estate of General Köhler is before the Court of Chancery, Mr. Noepel may be referred to that Court for the information which he seeks, and which it would seem can only be procured through the process of that Court.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 43.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 19, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th August last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, and its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Berlin,[*] relative to a question which had arisen between an English Company styled the "Berlin Phosphate Sewage and Manure Company Limited," and the German authorities, respecting matters affecting that Company in connection with the provisions of the Declaration exchanged between the British and German Governments, relative to Joint Stock Companies, which was signed on the 27th March, 1874, and of which a copy was therewith inclosed.

That Mr. Lister was to request that we would take that matter into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion thereupon.

We are also honoured with a further memorandum from Mr. Lister, dated the 14th instant, stating that he was directad by your Lordship to request us to be so good as to favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion on the papers in the above case which were transmitted to us from the Foreign Office on the 26th August last.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That as the provisions of the Treaty of the 27th March, 1874, are by the second paragraph thereof made applicable to Companies previously constituted and authorized, it would appear that the "Berlin Phospate Sewage and Manure Company," being a commercial Company constituted and authorized in conformity with the laws in force in England, is entitled, under the first paragraph of the Treaty, to exercise "all its rights" in Prussia, in conformity with the laws and customs in force in that country; but, by virtue of the third paragraph of the Treaty, the Company can only exercise its business or trade in Prussia, if found to be in compliance with the conditions prescribed by the laws of that country.

Now, before and at the date of the Treaty the Company was exercising its trade or business in Berlin by virtue of a conditional licence granted to it on the 17th March, 1873, one condition of which was that any decrease in the capital of the Company should be sanctioned by the Prussian Minister of Trade.

On the 5th March, 1875, the Company, in accordance with the provisions of English law, reduced its capital; but, on the 31st day of September, 1874, after the date of the Treaty, and in compliance with the conditions of its licence, it applied to the Prussian Minister for his consent to such reduction; such consent was, however, refused, for what appears to us to have been a sufficient reason, viz., that if the reduction of capital were effected the remaining assets of the Company would not be sufficient to meet its liabilities.

It would appear, therefore, that the conditions prescribed by the laws of Prussia have not been complied with.

The Company, however, insist that the conditions imposed by the licence of June 1873 were put an end to by the Treaty of March 1874; we are, however, unable to see any ground for such a contention, and the Company appear to have acted upon the view that the conditions continued subsisting after the date of the Treaty, by their application in the first instance to the Minister of Trade to sanction the reduction of their capital, and by their appeal to the Chancellor (Prince Bismarck) from that Minister's decision.

Under these circumstances, we are of opinion that the Company has no ground of complaint which can be supported by your Lordship.

We may add that there is no suggestion on the part of the Company that the conditions imposed by its licence were, at the time when they were imposed, unauthorized by the laws of Prussia, or that the laws of Prussia in respect of such matters have been since varied.

As we understand it, the complaint of the Company is based upon the effect attributed to the Treaty.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] Mr. Macdonell, No. 28, Commercial.

Greece.

No. 44.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 12.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 11, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 24th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the inclosed despatches from Her Majesty's Minister at Athens and Her Majesty's

1875

Consul at Corfu, respecting the claims of the Ionian bondholders upon the Greek Government.

That he also inclosed a memorandum on the case; and that he was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which we considered Her Majesty's Government should take with reference to that claim.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the only outstanding question between the Hellenic Government and the Ionian bondholders seems to be the value of the pound sterling, and whether in paying off the bonds that value shall be taken at par, which Sir C. Sebright calculates to be 28 dr. 80 l. (his despatch March 15, 1875), or at 27 dr. 70 l., as settled by a Decree of the Greek Government dated the 25th January, 1865.

The Treaty of the 25th April, 1864, Article VII, provides merely that the King of the Hellenes shall take upon himself the engagements of the Ionian Government, and in no way specifically provides for a rate or scale of repayment or discharge.

The bonds appear to be of two kinds (Mr. Merlin's letter, February 20, 1875), naming either "pounds sterling in legal Ionian currency," or "pounds sterling."

(a.) In our opinion, the Hellenic Government could not, by an ex post facto Decree, affect a liability previously incurred; and any argument drawn from the fact that the Decree of 1865 fixed the value of the pound sterling at 27 dr. 70 l. should be set aside.

Still there is a difficulty in getting over the fact that the bondholders did for many years receive their interest at the rate of 27 dr. 70 l. to the pound sterling; but the payment of interest is distinct from the repayment of capital advanced, and we have borne in mind this consideration in the opinion which we have to submit to your Lordship.

(b.) On the other hand, we believe that where no rate of exchange is named in the original contract, the usage is not to take the value at par, but at the rate current on the day of payment; the principle being that, since no rate was named, the parties to the contract were willing to take the chance of gain or loss.

Therefore, unless 28 dr. 80 l. was the value of the "pound sterling" on the day when payment was offered in Corfu, the bondholders cannot insist upon that rate of exchange.

We are, therefore, of opinion that Mr. Stuart or Sir C. Sebright may be instructed to inform the bondholders that they are entitled to claim repayment of the amounts due to them at the rate of exchange on the day when payment was offered to, and might have been taken by, them.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 45.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 14.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, June 10, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 24th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Messrs. Markby, Tarry, and Stewart (May 12, 1875), requesting an authoritative statement as to the nationality of Mr. A. J. Ralli, formerly a resident in the Ionian Islands; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would inform your Lordship what answer should be returned to that application.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Messrs. Markby may properly be answered that Mr. Ralli is not a British subject.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 46.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 5.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, August 4, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 24th June last, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 11th May on the claims of the Ionian bondholders upon the Greek Government, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Athens upon that subject.

That we should perceive that M. Tricoupi then offered to pay off the bonds in silver Ionian dollars, and in view of his proposal, begged Her Majesty's Government to reconsider their decision. That Lord Tenterden was therefore to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, together with the former correspondence which was annexed, and favour your Lordship with our advice as to the answer which should be returned to that proposal.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 30th June last, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 24th June on the subject of the claims of the Ionian bondholders on the Greek Government, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Athens, requesting instructions on certain points raised by the bondholders; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, together with the papers then before us, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Mr. Stuart.

We have also the honour to acknowledge a further memorandum from Lord Tenterden, bearing date the 15th ultimo, inclosing a further despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Corfu relating to the claims of the Ionian bondholders, and requesting that it might be considered in conjunction with the papers on that subject then before us.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Stuart may properly be instructed to inform the bondholders that they cannot claim payment according to the rate of exchange in London at sight either at the time when the option was first given to them, or at the time when the first offer of payment was made to and refused by them.

But they are entitled to be paid in Corfu the value of pounds sterling in Ionian currency at the rate of exchange on the day when payment was first offered and refused.

It seems to us, on the question of the rate of interest, that the bondholders are not entitled to claim any other interest than that which is due upon the bonds.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 47.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 9.)

My Lord,
Lincoln's Inn, August 28, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 16th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers, as marked in the margin,* relative to objections raised by Her Majesty's Consul at Corfu to obeying a summons to give evidence before a Greek Court of Law.

That it at first appeared that Sir C. Sebright's objections were only founded upon a supposed immunity of Consuls from such summonses, but it having been found on inquiry that he was mistaken on this point, he was instructed on the 30th ultimo that it was his duty to obey the summons.

---

* Sir C. Sebright, No. 40, July 8; Mr. Stuart, July 20; ditto, July 24; Memorandum, July 27; to Sir C. Sebright, No. 11, July 30; Sir C. Sebright, No. 43, July 27; Mr. Malet, No. 15, July 17; ditto, No. 18, July 28; Sir C. Sebright, No. 45, July 29, 1875.

1875

That it, however, subsequently transpired that he also objected to obeying the summons on the ground that the trial was one affecting the right of property in a house occupied by him a resident at Santa Maura when the Ionian Islands were under the British Protectorate, and that the Court had no right to compel him to give evidence respecting any facts which came to his knowledge in his capacity of a servant of the British Crown.

That it is on the latter point that your Lordship is anxious to be acquainted with our opinion; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would, after considering the inclosed papers, report to your Lordship our views as to how far a Consul can be compelled to disclose before a foreign Court of Law facts of which he has knowledge only in an official capacity.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, a Consul is not bound to disclose before a foreign Court of Law facts of which he has knowledge only in an official capacity.

But this official privilege requires to be kept within strict and well-defined limits, and cannot be extended to matters not, or but indirectly, connected with the Government, whose agent the Consul is, though such matters may have been made known to him because he was Consul.

That in the particular case of the occupation of the house at Santa Maura, which is the matter respecting which Sir C. Sebright is concerned, we are of opinion that he could not properly be upheld in refusing to give evidence respecting the rights of property over that house, though he became acquainted with the facts by reason that the house was occupied by him officially.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 48.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 7.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, September 1, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 4th August, he was directed by your Lordship to forward to us a telegram from Her Majesty's Consul at Corfu, requesting to be informed whether the Ionian bondholders are justified in refusing jurisdiction in the local Courts for not accepting the terms offered to them by the Greek Government; and to request that we would have the goodness to inform your Lordship of our opinion on the point at our earliest convenience. We are also honoured with a note from Lord Tenterden of the 23rd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to send us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Athens and Her Majesty's Consul at Corfu respecting the action brought by the Greek Minister of Finance against the Ionian bondholders; and Lord Tenterden requested that we would have the goodness to take these despatches into consideration, with Lord Tenterden's communication of the 13th ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires may be properly instructed to remind M. Tricoupi, if it should be necessary, of his twice-repeated undertaking that "he would prevent the action from going further pending the result of the negotiations" (Mr. Malet's despatch No. 132, Confidential, 14th August, 1875). The bondholders who have been summoned should, however, appear, but protest against the proceedings pending the negotiations between the two Governments.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 49.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 21.)

My Lord, Temple, September 21, 1875.

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 7th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 1st instant on the subject of the claim of the Ionian bondholders upon the Greek Government, Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to send us a further despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Athens, inclosing a copy of a note from the Greek Minister asserting the right of the Greek Tribunals to deal with the question; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would be so good as to inform your Lordship whether, in our opinion, this despatch contains any information which would induce us to alter or add to our Report above referred to.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That having read the papers inclosed in Mr. Lister's letter of the 7th September, we have nothing to add to the last Report which we had the honour of making to your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 50.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 26.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 25, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 16th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 21st ultimo on the subject of the claim of the Ionian bondholders upon the Greek Government, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further despatches from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Athens, from which it appeared that the opinion of Her Majesty's Government, as conveyed to Mr. Malet on the 18th August last, had been differently interpreted by the Hellenic Government and by the bondholders.

That Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions which should now be sent to Her Majesty's Representative at Athens in that matter.

That the previous correspondence was therewith inclosed, for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in using the words "Ionian currency" in our former Report, we intended the money or coin legally then current in Corfu.

And, in our opinion, the bondholders are entitled to be paid, for each sovereign of their debt, the amount of such current money or coin as represented, at the rate of exchange in Corfu on the day when payment was first offered to them, a sovereign.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 51.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 18.)

My Lord, Temple, December 17, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 7th December instant, stating that, with reference to the Report of the

1875

Law Officers of the 25th October last on the subject of the claims of the Ionian bondholders on the Greek Government, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Athens (Mr. Stuart, No. 193 of 1875), inclosing the draft of a note which you proposed to address to the Hellenic Minister for Foreign Affairs upon the subject (November 27, 1875).

Lord Tenterden also stated that he was to inclose a copy of a telegram from Mr. Stuart, suggesting that it might be better to omit in the proposed note the last paragraph but one, respecting the rate of interest; and to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Mr. Stuart's despatch.

That the instructions to which Mr. Stuart referred were therewith inclosed, together with the previous correspondence on the question.*

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Mr. Stuart may properly be instructed, in answer to his despatch, that he may communicate the note, a draft of which he inclosed to your Lordship, to the Hellenic Minister for Foreign Affairs.

And we see no objection to the omission in that note of the paragraph relating to the rate of interest.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
HARDINGE S. GIFFARD.
J. PARKER DEANE.

Hayti.

No. 52.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 14, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 27th May last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Minister and Consul-General in Hayti reporting the proceedings of the Haytian Government in the case of the claim of Mrs. Maunder, the widow of a British merchant, against Messrs. Defly, a French firm established in Port-au-Prince, and the alleged improper interference of the French Chargé d'Affaires in the matter, and inclosing a copy of a statement of her case by Mrs. Maunder, together with copies of a correspondence which had passed between Mr. St. John and the Haytian Government and the French Representative on the subject.

That Lord Tenterden was further to transmit to us a despatch which your Lordship had addressed to Her Majesty's Ambassador in Paris instructing his Excellency to bring the circumstances of the case to the knowledge of the French Government, and to call their attention to the proceedings of the French Chargé d'Affaires in the matter, together with a despatch from Mr. Adams inclosing the reply of the French Government to the representation addressed to them by Lord Lyons.

That Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take that case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to its merits and the proceedings of the French authorities, and as to what further steps, if any, it might be incumbent upon Her Majesty's Government to take in support of Mrs. Maunder's claim.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister, dated the 5th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Port-au-Prince relative to certain questions that had arisen in connection with the rights claimed by Mrs. Maunder in the Island of Tortuga, belonging to the Republic of Hayti.

That the previous papers on the subject were also inclosed, and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take them into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the steps, if any, that should be taken in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, before receiving Mr. Lister's letter of the 5th June and its inclosures, we had prepared the draft of a Report to your Lordship on the assumption that Mrs. Maunder was a British subject, and, as such, entitled to the protection and assistance of the British Government; it, however, appears, from the concluding paragraph of Major Stuart's Report, inclosed in his letter to your Lordship of the 30th April last, that both Mrs. Maunder and her deceased husband were Haytian subjects.

Under these circumstances we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly support any claim of Mrs. Maunder against the Haytian Government arising out of her litigation against Mr. Defly, or in connection with the lease of the Island of Tortuga.

Nor can Her Majesty's Government, in our opinion, support any claim against the Government of Hayti of the Commercial Banking Company of Liverpool. That Company has unfortunately advanced money upon what turns out to be a bad security, and must take the consequences, the Company being the creditors, not of the Haytian Government, but of Mrs. Maunder.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 53.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 7.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 9th August instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to a claim brought against the Haytian Government by Messrs. Gerdes, a British firm carrying on business in Hayti, to compensation for certain coffee, which was pillaged during some disturbances in 1868–69, and which coffee Messrs. Gerdes assert was their bonâ fide property, although at the time of the pillage it was in the hands of Haytians, owing to the law of Hayti not allowing foreigners to engage personally in the coffee trade.

Lord Tenterden also stated that we would see that the claim of Messrs. Gerdes, together with other similar claims, was submitted in 1873 to the Law Officers of the Crown, who were of opinion that no compensaton for the loss of property, while held by Haytians, could be claimed by Her Majesty's Government on behalf of British subjects; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether we concur in that opinion, and consider the claim cannot be maintained.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we concur in the opinion of the former Law Officers, and are of opinion that the claim of Messrs. Gerdes and Co. cannot be maintained.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* To Mr. Stuart, No. 20; to Mr. Malet, No. 39; to Mr. Stuart, No. 51, 1875; list of papers.

* Mr. Jenkins, July 31, 1875; List.

No. 54.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 1.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 30, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 30th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 14th July respecting Mrs. Maunder's claim against the Haytian Government, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit a further despatch, with its inclosures, from Major Stuart, in regard to that lady's nationality; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, together with the previous papers therewith returned to us, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the documentary evidence now produced by Mrs. Maunder is entirely based upon the certificate of the Grand Judge of Hayti, dated the 6th August, 1842, which appears to us to furnish no more than slight primâ facie evidence of the marriage of Frederic Maunder and Josephine Busse. We cannot regard that evidence as overbearing the oral testimony to the opposite effect which Major Stuart obtained by careful inquiry on the spot, without at least having that evidence before us, and we recommend that before Mrs. Maunder is recognized as entitled to British protection, Major Staurt should be requested to furnish the particulars of the oral testimony which he regarded, on the 30th April, as conclusive.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Italy.

No. 55.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 15, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 29th December ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the correspondence, as marked in the margin,* respecting the right of succession of an Italian named Vincenzo Cecchi to the property of his wife, and to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion in the case.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in this case, the first question is whether the marriage between Vincenzo Cecchi and Catherine Mercieca was a valid marriage.

If it was a valid marriage, Catherine, who was previously a British subject, became, upon such marriage, an Italian subject, and as she did not, in any way of which we are informed, recover her nationality, the Court of the Italian Consulate is the proper one to administer her estate, whether her will was valid or not.

If, on the other hand, the marriage was invalid, Catherine remained a British subject until her death, and, whether her will was valid or invalid, the Court of the British Consul was the proper one for the administration of her estate.

In either case, however, the validity of the will becomes of importance.

Upon the assumption of the marriage being valid, the questions would arise whether Catherine was personally competent to make a will, and, if so, whether her will was properly executed; if the will failed of effect from either cause, the husband's rights would, or at any rate might, arise, and upon this question the deed of separation might have an important bearing.

On the contrary assumption, that the marriage was invalid, there was no want of competency to make a will, but the question would still remain whether she had made one that was valid.

We are quite unable, upon the materials before us, to advise your Lordship either as to the validity of the marriage or of the will; nor do we see how they are to be decided, except by allowing the proceedings in Egypt to take their course.

We bear in mind that there may possibly be a conflict between the decisions of the two Courts; but as the proceedings which have been instituted in them are of such a nature that the question of the validity of the marriage must be decided by each, we think that it may fairly be assumed that the same decision will be arrived at by both Courts upon this question, and that the competency of the one Court and the incompetency of the other to deal further with the matter will thereby be determined.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 56.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 24.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 23, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, and its inclosure, from Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, relative to a point which had been raised by Her Majesty's Consul at Cagliari in regard to the competency of British Consular officers, under certain circumstances, to take or to refuse to take the affidavit of persons other than British subjects; and that he (Mr. Bourke) was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what instructions should be addressed to Sir Augustus Paget in reference to the matter in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, it is competent to, but not obligatory on, British Consular officers to administer oaths to, or to take the affidavits of, persons other than British subjects, or to do notarial acts at the instance of such persons.

But we think that, as a general rule, and with the view of avoiding possible inconvenient complications, it is desirable that British Consular officers should, as far as possible, abstain from discharging the several duties to which we have referred otherwise than in relation to British subjects or in matters in which British interests are involved.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 57.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 3.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 3, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a correspondence between Her Majesty's Legation at Rome, Mr. G. H. Shorting, and the Foreign Office on the subject of Mr. Shorting's complaint of alleged acts of injustice towards him on the part of the Italian authorities connected with the taxation of certain house property owned by him in the neighbourhood of Lake Como, first in regard to the amount of the assessment made by those authorities on the property in question, and, secondly, in regard to the imposition of a fine to which he had been subjected in consequence of the discrepancy between his valuation of the rental of the property in question and the definitive assessment by the Italian authorities.

---

* M. de Martino, September 8; Dr. Arpa, No. 34, November 21, 1874.

1875

That Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Rome, to whom, in the absence of Her Majesty's Minister, Mr. Shorting addressed himself with a view to the recovery of the amount of fine thus levied, did not, as we should perceive, feel himself justified in applying to the Italian Government on Mr. Shorting's behalf; and as that gentleman had now addressed your Lordship with a similar object, Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take that case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether there was any ground for official remonstrance or representation to the Italian Government in Mr. Shorting's behalf.

That a letter from Sir Augustus Paget, Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, who was at the time on leave of absence in this country, was also annexed, stating his opinion upon Mr. Shorting's claim.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, no representation could properly be made to the Italian Government with respect to the increased assessment on Mr. Shorting's house property.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 58.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 28, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 30th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 15th May last on the subject of the proposed amendments in the Malta Ordinance regulating the surrender of prisoners on board merchant-vessels, a subject which had been brought to the notice of Her Majesty's Government by the Italian Minister at that Court, he (Lord Tenterden) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further correspondence which had passed between the Chevalier Cadorna, the Colonial Office, and the Foreign Office on the question of the treatment of Italian prisoners on board such vessels which might have occasion to put into a port of Malta.

That the Colonial Office letter of the 20th ultimo contained a very full Report from the Crown Advocate of Malta upon that question; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that we would again take that case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether the view taken thereof by the Crown Advocate was correct, and what answer might properly be returned to the Colonial Office and to the Chevalier Cadorna upon that subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Crown Advocate of Malta correctly states the principle of law in paragraphs 8 and 9 of his Report, but there seems to us to be some obscurity in his conclusion or inference No. 1 which appears inconsistent with his reasoning.

In our opinion, a seaman forming part of the crew of an Italian ship, who has deserted and been retaken outside Maltese waters, may be kept in confinement, that is, not allowed by the master to leave the ship, and any application to the local authorities by such seaman for liberation should be refused.

But if the seaman belongs to another ship, or has ceased to form part of the crew of the ship on board of which he is confined, then, we think, he should be liberated on his application.

In all other respects we agree with the Crown Advocate.

Possibly we have not rightly understood the Crown Advocate's conclusion, and we suggest that the case should be referred to him again before any answer be sent to Chevalier Cadorna.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 59.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 2, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 12th June ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from the Acting British Consul at Florence (Acting Consul French, No. 29, May 25, 1875), requesting instructions regarding the marriage at the Consulate of a woman, Italian by birth, but the widow of a British subject, and also inquiring respecting the position, as regards British protection, of a British subject's widow, the husband having accepted military service under the late Papal Government. Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to the queries put in Mr. French's despatch.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this paper into our consideration and have the honour to report—

That the question whether an Italian woman married to a British subject residing in Italy retains her status as a British subject or recovers her Italian nationality on becoming a widow, is a question of Italian law upon which we can offer no satisfactory opinion.

(By the Code Civil, Article 19, she, if a French woman, would effectually recover her French nationality. By the 33 Vict., cap. 14, section 10, sub-section 2, an Englishwoman married to a foreigner and becoming a widow is a statutory alien, but may recover her British nationality.)

If, by the law of Italy, the widow is an Italian subject, we are of opinion that the validity of the marriage is extremely doubtful, and the Consul might properly be instructed not to perform the marriage without warning both the man and the woman to ascertain and conform to the requirements of the law of Italy.

We beg, on this subject, to refer your Lordship to a Report of the Law Officers on the 31st January, 1873.

We are of opinion that a British subject, by accepting military employment under a foreign Government, forfeits his rights to British protection in the country into whose service he has entered.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 60.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 17, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 2nd instant relative to the proposed marriage at the British Consulate of a woman, Italian by birth, but the widow of a British subject, he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would explain whether, in our opinion, the marriage in question would be of doubtful validity in this country, or only within the dominions of the King of Italy.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the marriage will be of doubtful validity in the Kingdom of Italy and elsewhere except in Her Majesty's dominions.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1875

No. 61.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 28.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 27, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 9th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers, as marked in the margin,* relative to a claim advanced by Mr. A. D. Wolff on behalf of the heirs of Madame Drölling against the estate of the late Mr. John Manby, who died at Turin in 1869.

Mr. Lister stated that we would observe that Mr. Wolff finds fault with the proceedings of Mr. Colnaghi, Her Majesty's Consul, for having handed over the balance of Mr. Manby's estate to the brother and administrator while the debt to Madame Drölling remained unpaid, and Mr. Wolff requests to be furnished with copies of the correspondence which passed through Mr. Colnaghi's hands on the subject.

Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether, in view of the Chancery suit which appears to have been instituted by Mr. Wolff, it would be proper to send him copies of the correspondence which he asks for, and which is inclosed in Mr. Colnaghi's despatch of the 14th ultimo, and also whether Mr. Colnaghi did not act rightly in the matter of handing over the property to Mr. Charles Manby.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, it will not be proper to send Mr. Wolff copies of the correspondence which he asks for.

Mr. Colnaghi, in our opinion, acted rightly in handing over the property to Mr. Charles Manby, the administrator of his brother.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 62.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 18.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, August 17, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 4th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us some despatches,† as marked in the margin, together with their inclosures, received from Her Majesty's Minister at Rome, referring to the case of Mr. Adolphus Manduit, a British merchant residing at Naples, whose house, according to his own statement, supported by the evidence of his clerk, was entered and searched, without any legal warrant, by certain officers of the Neapolitan Excise and Custom-house in the month of April last, on the plea of searching for tobacco, Mr. Manduit being absent from home at the time.

Lord Tenterden stated that it would be seen that Mr. Manduit protested against the proceedings of the officials in question as being a violation of the XVIIth Article of the Treaty of Commerce between this country and Italy, but it appears from the correspondence that both the Finance Minister and the Italian Minister for Foreign Affairs justify the fact of such a search as that complained of (though the fact of its having been carried out, as alleged by Mr. Manduit's clerk, is denied by the officers charged with its execution) on the ground that by the Italian version of the Treaty in question, a written warrant is not required to legalize such a search, but merely such a legal authorization as that under which the proceedings complained of were conducted.

A copy of the Treaty was annexed to the papers now submitted to us, from which we would see that whereas the English version of the Article bearing on the present case states that such a measure "shall be executed only in conformity with the legal warrant or order in writing of a Tribunal or of the competent authority"; the Italian version runs thus: "non vi si potrà procedere che dietro autorizzazione legale od ordine scritto di un Tribunale, o altra autorità competente."

Two principal points, therefore, present themselves for consideration: first, whether or not there is satisfactory evidence to show that the act complained of really did take place, as alleged by Mr. Manduit's clerk, and denied by the officials stated to have been implicated in it; and, second, whether, bearing in mind the terms of the Italian version of the XVIIth Article of the Treaty, the Italian authorities can be held to have been justified in the proceedings complained of.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take this case into our consideration, and that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon, and also as to what representation, if any, it may appear proper to make to the Italian Government in regard to this occurrence.

That it will be seen that Mr. Manduit, whilst asserting that his commercial interests have sustained a certain loss in consequence of the interruption to his business caused by the proceedings complained of, does not claim any indemnity, but merely asks for the punishment of the persons who, as he maintains, searched his premises without a legal warrant.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Italian Government is right in insisting upon the Italian version of the Treaty, and the substitution in that version of the word "autorizzazione" for "mandato" is a strong ground for believing that the Italian Government is also right in the construction which it places upon the Italian version.

But without relying upon this change of a word, we are of opinion that the words "non vi si potrà procedere che dietro autorizzazione legale od ordine scritto di un Tribunale o altra autorità competente," clearly point to cases where search may be made by lawful authority or written order, that is, to authority not in writing or order in writing.

If, indeed, the Italian version is not capable of even a third meaning under the words "altra autorità competente," which are not necessarily governed by "ordine scritto."

We think it needless to trouble your Lordship with any observations upon the conflict of evidence as to the facts, for the proceedings seem to us to have been justified under the terms of the Italian version of the Treaty, and we are of opinion that it will not be proper to make any further representation to the Italian Government in the case of Mr. Manduit.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 63.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 5.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 4, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 13th August last, stating that, in our Report of the 28th April last, in regard to the points raised by the Italian Government respecting the question of the surrender, under the Malta Ordinance No. 2 of 1874, of Italian prisoners who might be found on board Italian vessels putting into a port of Malta, while agreeing generally with the principle of the law, as stated by the Crown Advocate of Malta in his Report, we pointed out what appeared to be an inconsistency in his conclusion or inference, and that we suggested that, before any answer was sent to the Italian Representative in London, the case should again be referred to the Crown Advocate.

---

* Mr. Wolff, October 1; Consul Colnaghi, No. 15, October 14; to Mr. Wolff, October 23; Mr. Wolff, October 26; ditto, October 30; to Mr. Wolff, November 6; Consul Colnaghi, No. 17, November 15; to Mr. Wolff, November 26; Mr. Wolff, December 28, 1872; to ditto, January 14; Mr. Wolff, January 25; to ditto, February 14; Mr. Wolff, April 10; to ditto, April 15, 1873; Mr. Wolff, June 2; ditto, June 12; Consul Colnaghi, No. 33, June 14; ditto, No. 39, July 1, 1875; with memorandum.

† Sir A. Paget, No. 186, June 18; ditto, No. 203, July 5; ditto, No. 209, July 8; ditto, No. 218, July 19; to Sir A. Paget, No. 144, July 13; Treaty, August 6, 1863.

1875

Lord Tenterden stated that that course was accordingly adopted, and that he was now desired by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from the Colonial Office inclosing a further Report from that officer, in which he explained the apparent inconsistency.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was also to transmit to us the previous correspondence in the matter, which accompanied his letter of the 30th March, and to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which might now properly be returned to the Italian Chargé d'Affaires upon the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Italian Chargé d'Affaires may properly be answered that there is no practical difference between the provisions of the Malta Ordinance No. 3 of 1873 and the Ordinance No. 2 of 1874, relative to prisoners under the charge of desertion who may be found on board merchant-ships.

The Ordinance of 1874 provides that the Head of the Government of Malta may direct that a person in custody on board a foreign vessel be left in that condition, or conveyed to a public prison, when the offence for which such person is in confinement is one of those specified in some law in force in Malta relating to extradition.

The Ordinance of 1873 provides that the custody of prisoners on board foreign merchant-ships shall not be interfered with if, upon the investigation prescribed, it appears that the crime charged is one for which the accused, if at large in Malta, may, according to law, be surrendered to the Government of the country to which the ship belongs.

Neither of these provisions touches the case of foreign deserters, whose offence would not come within the category of extradition crimes, which class of crimes is dealt with under both Ordinances, and consequently the Ordinance of 1874 is not in any sense a restriction of the provisions of the Ordinance of 1873.

The case of desertion referred to by the Italian Chargé d'Affaires is unaffected by either Ordinance, and may be divided into two classes—desertion at Malta, which will be dealt with effectually under the Foreign Deserters Act and the Order in Council, and desertion committed out of Malta by a seaman belonging to, and on board, a ship coming into Malta; in this latter case, the seaman will not be liberated nor allowed, without leave, to absent himself from the ship in Malta, and, should he do so, he will come within the Foreign Deserters Act; but on the other hand, such seaman will not be subject to punishment, or the continuance of punishment, whilst in Malta.

No facilities, therefore, will be afforded by the authorities in Malta to the desertion of Italian seamen.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 64.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 13.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 11, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 25th September, 1874, respecting the question of the surrender to foreign Governments, under Extradition Treaties or Conventions, of persons who have already been convicted in contumaciâ, he was directed by his Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence which had passed with the Colonial and Home Offices since the date of our Report, in regard to the manner in which it is proposed to deal with that question as regarded the extradition of Italian subjects from Malta.*

That the Colonial Office letter of the 5th June last inclosed a form of Ordinance No. 3 of 1874 of the Malta Government, amended so as to provide for the surrender of persons sentenced in Italy in contumaciâ; and the further letter from the Colonial Office of the 16th July inclosed a draft of a proposed Order in Council for giving effect to that amended Ordinance.

---

* To Home Office, January 1; Home Office, January 18; to Colonial Office, February 6; Colonial Office, February 24; ditto, June 5; to Colonial Office, June 18; Colonial Office, July 16; to Home Office, August 4; Home Office, August 20, 1875.

That before expressing your concurrence in the terms of the proposed Order in Council, your Lordship desired to ascertain the opinion of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Home Department, and that the Home Office letter of the 20th ultimo inclosed a copy of a Report from Sir Thomas Henry, stating his opinion, in which Mr. Cross concurred, that the stipulation contained in the XVIIIth Article of the Extradition Treaty with Italy that, as regarded the Island of Malta, the Ordinance of the 3rd May, 1863, was to remain in full force, could not be departed from or varied without the consent of the Italian Government, and that the proposed Order in Council would be at variance with the terms of the XVIIIth Article of the Treaty.

That he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the matter into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereon.

That a copy of the Extradition Treaty between Great Britain and Italy of the 5th February, 1873, was sent therewith, as well as the correspondence which accompanied his letter of the 22nd August, 1874, in case we should desire to refer to it.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the proposed Order in Council is at variance with the XVIIIth Article of the Extradition Treaty with Italy.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Japan.

No. 65.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 15, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 15th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers, the accompanying note from the Japanese Chargé d'Affaires at that Court, together with its inclosure, relative to a complaint preferred by the Japanese Government against Mr. Blakiston, a British merchant resident at Hakodate, for an assault committed by him upon two Japanese in his employment, which indirectly caused the death of one of them; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in this case, which we think was properly treated as one of assault only, Mr. Blakiston admitted the assault, but urged that he was justified in committing it by the negligence and indifference of the Japanese officials in respect of offences committed by Japanese subjects against foreigners.

We entirely agree with Mr. Consul Troup in considering that such a state of circumstances afforded no excuse for a violation of the law by Mr. Blakiston; it appears, however, that, though rejected as a justification, it was accepted by the Consul as a sufficient reason for his mitigating the penalty which he would otherwise have imposed, and it is of this circumstance that the Japanese Minister chiefly complains, if we rightly follow the purport of his note.

The offence with which an offender is charged having been admitted or proved, the quantum of punishment, within the limits fixed by law, rests with the Judge, who is not only at liberty, but bound, to take all the circumstances of the case into consideration.

1875

We need hardly add that the suggestion of the Japanese Minister that Mr. Blakiston should be again put upon his trial, or that the sentence upon him should be revised, with the view of increasing its severity, cannot be entertained, as either of such proceedings would be entirely contrary to the spirit of the Criminal Law, as administered in Her Majesty's Courts.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 66.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 22.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 4th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Yedo,* together with its inclosures, relative to certain Regulations which the Japanese Government desire to impose with regard to the practice of shooting in that country; and Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take this paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion thereupon, especially with reference to the question of the payment of fines by British subjects to the Japanese Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this paper into consideration and have the honour to report—

That the draft Regulations inclosed in Sir H. Parkes' despatch of the 11th January, 1875, are, in our opinion, sufficient to meet the views of the Japanese Government.

With respect to the payment of fines by British subjects to the Japanese Government, though the question appears to us to be one of policy rather than of law, we think that to yield the point might be a dangerous precedent, and lead to future demands of a similar kind from the Japanese Government. We are therefore of opinion that Sir H. Parkes should be instructed to withhold the payment of these fines to the Japanese Government unless all the other foreign Powers having Treaties like that of this country agree to the payment.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Mexico.

No. 67.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 13.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 13, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 5th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence relative to the claim of Messrs. Kelly and Co., of Mazatlan, to be reimbursed the amount of certain duties levied by the Mexican Government authorities on goods imported by them, payment of which had been previously exacted by the insurgents.

That we should see that that claim was referred to the Law Officers of the Crown in 1872, and, in accordance with their advice, Her Majesty's Government requested and obtained the friendly assistance of the Government of the United States to represent the matter to the Government of Mexico, diplomatic relations between Great Britain and Mexico being then, as they still are, suspended.

That the representations of the United States' Government having, however, failed to induce the Mexican Government to entertain Messrs. Kelly's claim, those gentlemen had now applied to Her Majesty's Government to take steps to obtain from Mexico "retribution and repayment for the very great injuries so unjustly inflicted on them."

That Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government could properly claim, as a matter of right, the repayment of customs dues levied by a foreign Government under the circumstances shown in that correspondence, and, if so, what steps we should recommend should be taken in support of the claim.

That if not, your Lordship would be glad of our opinion as to whether it was advisable to take any further steps in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the payment of the customs dues to an insurgent force, such as that which appears to have enforced payment in the present case, cannot, we think, be brought within the principle of payment to a de facto Government, which the regular or succeeding Government would be bound to admit as a good payment.

And we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly claim, as a matter of right, the repayment of customs dues levied by a foreign Government in cases where those dues, having been taken by an insurgent force in the first instance, have been subsequently levied a second time by the regular Government.

We think that your Lordship can take no further steps in the matter.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Morocco.

No. 68.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 15, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 29th December ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 14th December relative to the question as to whether the Moorish Government have a preferential claim over the creditors to be repaid their claims on the estate of Mr. Grace, a deceased British subject, Mr. Bourke was directed by your Lordship to draw our attention to the XVIIIth Article of the Treaty with Morocco, a copy of which was inclosed.

---

* Sir H. Parkes, No. 4, January 11, 1875.

1875

It appears that the assets of the estate consist in great part of debts due from Moorish subjects, and Mr. Bourke was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion whether, in view of the Treaty obligation of the Moorish Government to compel its subjects to pay such debts, instructions may not properly be sent to Sir John Drummond Hay to resist the claims of the Government on the estate, unless the Treaty obligation in question has been first satisfied.

Our Report, together with the two despatches from Sir J. D. Hay more immediately referred to therein, were inclosed for facility of reference.*

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That the two questions—whether the Moorish Government is bound under the XVIIIth Article of the Treaty to enforce payment of debts due to the estate of the deceased, and whether that Government has a right to priority of payment out of such estate before other creditors—are quite distinct, the former relating to the getting in a collection of the assets, and the latter to their distribution; and we are of opinion that the non-performance by the Moorish Government of their obligation under the Treaty cannot properly be urged by Her Majesty's Representative as a reason for for refusing to recognize the claim of the Moorish Government to priority, if such claim is otherwise well founded. The Moorish Government should be prepared to render proper assistance towards enforcing payment of the debts due to the estate of Mr. Grace, on the ground of their Treaty obligations to do so, and, inasmuch as the estate cannot properly be administered till the assets are ascertained and collected, we are of opinion that Sir J. D. Hay may properly be instructed to point out to the Moorish Government that, apart from any question of marshalling the assets, and before any payments out of the estate in discharge of Mr. Grace's debts can be made, the debts due to Mr. Grace's estate from individuals must be paid, and that under the XVIIIth Article of the Treaty the Moorish Government are bound to give proper directions for this being done.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 69.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 20.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 18, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the correspondence, noted in the margin,† relative to the circumstances under which certain claims on the part of foreign merchants resident in Morocco, for sums advanced to Moorish Governors and Sheikhs, had been met by the Moorish Government by an offer to compromise the matter on payment to the creditors of 50 per cent. on all bonâ fide claims of the above nature, with the alternative, in cases where that offer might be rejected, of adjudication by a Tribunal expressly created for the purpose at Tangier.

That we would observe from Sir J. D. Hay's despatch No. 4, Commercial, of the 11th February, that the opinion of the foreign Representatives in Morocco were divided as to the expediency of accepting, or not, the proposed compromise of the Moorish Government,‡ and as the question might arise as to how far the claims of British subjects who might not accept the compromise should be supported by Her Majesty's Government, he (Mr. Bourke) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions which should be addressed on the subject to Her Majesty's Minister.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government could not properly support the claims of those British subjects who do not accept the compromise, and that Sir J. D. Hay may be instructed to inform British subjects to that effect.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Law Officers, December 14; Sir J. D. Hay, No. 84, December 24, 1873; ditto, No. 57, October 28, 1874.

† Sir J. D. Hay, No. 29, Commercial, October 3; Mr. Pakenham, No. 32, Commercial, November 2; to Queen's Advocate, November 2; Queen's Advocate, November 6; to Sir J. D. Hay, No. 20, Commercial, November 13; Sir J. D. Hay, No. 36, Commercial, November 28, 1871; ditto, No. 9, Commercial, February 14; to Law Officers, March 31; Law Officers, April 3, 1873; Mr. White, No. 16, Commercial, September 3; Sir J. D. Hay, September 22; to ditto, No. 9, Commercial, November 16; Sir J. D. Hay, No. 21, Commercial, October 23, 1874; ditto, No. 4, Commercial, February 11, 1875.

‡ Memorandum, Foreign Office, February 26, 1875.

Netherlands.

No. 70.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 28.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 27, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 19th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from a Mr. Silley (January 14), who complained of the detention by the Netherlands authorities at Curação of some gunpowder which he had shipped on board a German vessel for the declared destination of Savanilla and Santa Marta; and that your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion whether, taking into consideration the fact that a formidable insurrection was in progress in Venezuela, that the Island of Curação is close to the coast of that State, owing to which circumstance the authorities had to deal with reclamations from both combatants, and that the ports to which the powder was avowedly shipped, though belonging to Colombia, were close to the Venezuelan frontier, the circumstance of the detention itself, or of the manner in which it was effected, were such as to justify representations from Her Majesty's Government to that of the Netherlands.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the circumstances stated in Mr. Silley's letter, namely, that gunpowder dispatched by him on board a German vessel, and consigned to the United States of Colombia, was landed, warehoused, and detained by the Netherlands authorities at Curação, are not such as to justify representations from Her Majesty's Government to that of the Netherlands.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1875

Pacific Islands.

No. 71.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 20.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 19, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 8th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion on the point raised in paragraph 4 of the inclosed despatch from the Commodore commanding on the Australian Station, namely, whether, under the 9th section of the Kidnapping Act, 1872, British naval officers would have the right to arrest on shore British subjects who had rendered themselves liable under that Act, but who were at the time commanding or otherwise serving on board a vessel under the French flag.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, British officers have not the right to arrest on shore British subjects who may be liable under the Kidnapping Act, 1872, whether such British subjects were commanding or otherwise serving on board French vessels at the time of committing the act or acts which may have brought them within that Act.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Peru.

No. 72.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 24, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 20th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence relative to the case of two British subjects, named Bell and Sterling, who had been condemned by the Supreme Court of Peru to nine years' imprisonment on a charge of being concerned in a murder.

That Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in demanding the release of Bell and Sterling, or in taking any other steps on their behalf.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered these papers and the proceedings and results of the three trials before the Peruvian Tribunals.

To a certain extent the information before us is imperfect, since we have no copy of the evidence, and can gather its bearing only from the despatches of Mr. Nugent and Mr. March.

Assuming, however, the evidence to be correctly summed up by them, it appears that a Peruvian subject was drowned by the violence of a mob, of which Bell and Sterling formed a part, preventing his landing. There is no evidence, or but slight evidence, that either Bell or Sterling struck a blow or threw a stone at the drowning man, or did more than any one else present.

The only witnesses against Bell and Sterling must in all probability have been as guilty as they were.

The first sentence passed upon them was one of six years' imprisonment. It is, in our opinion, to be regretted that if the conduct of the presiding Judge was such as is described in these papers, and he was suspended or intended to be suspended by the Peruvian authorities for such conduct, that immediate steps, other than by appeal, were not taken to set aside his sentence. Possibly the laws of Peru prevented that course being taken.

With reference to the sentences of fifteen years' imprisonment on the second trial and of nine years on the third trial, both punishments appear to us excessive, but we are not prepared to advise your Lordship that because the laws of a foreign country are more severe than those of this country, diplomatic interference would, in any particular case, be justified. And with respect to the evidence upon which these two men were convicted, unsatisfactory as it is from an English point of view, the Peruvian Courts, in trying a British subject for an offence, properly tried him according to their own rules and mode of procedure. In fact, it is admitted that the last two trials were fairly conducted according to Peruvian law.

That one of the two men was in the first instance let out on bail and the other discharged altogether, that neither left the country, but, on the contrary, were seeking to obtain some compensation for what they deemed an illegal arrest, are strong facts showing a consciousness of innocence on their part, but are not sufficient to show that the convictions were wrong.

We have thought it our duty to trouble your Lordship at this length because the case is one of great hardship, in which we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government will be justified in taking steps to obtain the release of Bell and Sterling; but these steps should be taken upon surer ground than directly impugning the administration of law and justice in a foreign country.

If, therefore, the application of Mr. March should unfortunately fail, and the Peruvian authorities refuse to release the prisoners, Mr. March might be instructed to obtain a mitigation of the sentence by reason of the great hardships to which the men were subjected during their early confinement and the long time which has elapsed since the alleged commission of the offence and the commencement of their term of imprisonment.

In submitting this opinion to your Lordship, we have had before us this consideration—that if further pressure for the release of the two men were put upon the Peruvian authorities, and that pressure were resisted, Her Majesty's Government must either submit to the denial of what was claimed as a right or resort to force to obtain that right.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 73.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 22.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 21, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 12th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* respecting a murderous outrage which was committed on Mr. J. Pascoe, a British subject, at Arequipa, by four police officers at that place. That we would perceive by Mr. March's despatch No. 15 of the 27th February that one of the men concerned in that outrage had been sentenced to nine years' imprisonment and another to a fine of 100 soles (about 20*l.*).

That we would find in Mr. March's despatch No. 11 of the 12th February a copy of a letter addressed to Her Majesty's Consul at Islay by the Treasurer and Secretary of the Subilaca Mining Company, claiming compensation from the Peruvian Government on account of the losses sustained by that Company through the outrage committed on Mr. Pascoe, who was their Mining Engineer. That he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what instructions should be addressed to Her Majesty's Representative in Peru in regard to the claim of the Subilaca Mining Company.

---

* Consul Graham, No. 2; Mr. March, Nos. 8, 9, and 11; to Mr. St. John, No. 19; Mr. March, Nos. 13, 15, and 25.

1875

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Representative in Peru cannot properly be instructed to support the claim of the Subilaca Mining Company, the attempted murder of Mr. Pascoe having been committed by persons acting beyond the scope of their authority, and for whose acts, in that respect, the Government of Peru cannot be made responsible.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 74.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 24.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 20, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th March last, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 29th September last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch from Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Lima* relative to the case of Lawrence Higginson, a British subject, taken out of the steamer "Santiago," in the Bay of Callao, on the 10th July last, and detained in prison there until the 24th of the same month.

That, on a careful consideration of those papers, it appeared to your Lordship to be open to some doubt whether the case of Higginson was one upon which an international claim could properly be founded.

That it now appeared that Higginson was arrested on the information of Santana, the man whom he had accidentally shot when at Panamá. That Santana swore—as stated in Inclosure No. 6—when examined by the Judge, that Higginson had shot him on purpose on the voyage between Panamá and Payta, denied that he had been treated in the Panamá Hospital for the wound, and represented it to have been of recent infliction. That, in support of the latter assertion, two doctors certified that Santana was suffering from a wound in which the bullet still was, and that it would take him thirty days to recover.

That, no doubt, the sequel showed that the doctors were incompetent and the proceedings unduly dilatory. That it would seem, also, that the prison in which Higginson was confined was filthy; but that those were circumstances unfortunately not exceptional in Peru.

That there was nothing to show that the local authorities were actuated by any desire to detain the ship or to insult the English flag, or by any other improper motive. That they caused the man to be arrested on false testimony, and released him when it was shown to be false.

That they might, no doubt, have ascertained this more promptly, but they would seem to have had a strong primâ facie case to go upon in the fact of the wounded man being in the hospital, with the bullet in his body.

That your Lordship thought it right to make those remarks in submitting the case again to us, as, when it was before us in September last, the affidavit of Santana and the certificate of the doctors had not been received; and that your Lordship thought that, had those papers been then before us, they might have induced us to modify the opinion expressed in our above-mentioned Report.

That, as at present advised, your Lordship was inclined to doubt whether the course indicated by the Peruvian Minister would not have been the proper one, i.e., to have taken proceedings against Santana for perjury, but that it was probably too late to take that course now; and that the only other step that could be taken—in the event of its being considered that the demand for apology and compensation should not be pressed—would be to remonstrate against the delay that took place in inquiring into the case, and the consequent detention of Higginson in prison.

That upon those points, however, Her Majesty's Government must be guided by our advice; and that he (Mr. Lister) was accordingly to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether we were still of opinion that Her Majesty's Government should demand an apology and compensation on account of Higginson's arrest and imprisonment, or, in case the papers then sent to us should cause us to modify our former opinion, that we would inform your Lordship what steps we would now advise Her Majesty's Government to take in the matter.

We are also honoured with a letter from Lord Tenterden of the 17th March last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to forward to us the accompanying further despatch on the subject of the Higginson outrage, with the request that it might be taken into consideration in conjunction with the papers inclosed in Mr. Lister's letter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the explanation given by the Peruvian Minister of the causes of the arrest and imprisonment of Lawrence Higginson are, in our opinion, such as to preclude Her Majesty's Government from insisting further upon an apology and indemnity from the Peruvian Government, for the arrest and imprisonment appear to have been in due course of law, as ordinarily administered in Peru, though based upon what eventually appeared to be a grossly false statement of facts.

We would, however, respectfully submit that your Lordship might express your surprise and regret that the Peruvian authorities should have been misled by so palpable a falsehood as that told by Santana, and should have detained L. Higginson so long in prison without making any inquiry into the real facts of the case.

At the time when we made our Report to your Lordship, under date the 29th September, 1874, the Peruvian Government had in no way repudiated the charges made by Mr. Nugent, though they had, in conversation, denied in general terms their responsibility for what had occurred; and it was not until the 16th January last that any explanation of the circumstances was given by the Peruvian Minister. Even in making such explanation, the Minister appears to have been, in some respects, misinformed, and particularly so as regards the alleged blood-stained appearance of Santana, which is positively denied by the deposition of Captain Bird, inclosed in Mr. March's despatch of the 29th January, and which was forwarded to us by Lord Tenterden on the 17th March last.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. March, No. 5, January 27, 1875.

Portugal.

No. 75.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 30.)

Temple, January 30, 1875.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 27th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me the accompanying despatch, and its inclosure, from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Paris, relative to the wish of the French Commission on the Delagoa Bay Arbitration

1875

Case to be furnished with a more precise definition of the territories of Tembé and Mapoota; and that Mr. Bourke was to request that I would be good enough to favour your Lordship with my opinion as to the instructions that should be given to Lord Lyons upon the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to report—

That Lord Lyons may properly be instructed to inform the Duc Decazes that the precise definition of the territories of Tembé and Mapoota given by Her Majesty's Government is the following:—

The territory of Tembé is bounded on the north by the English and Lorenço Marques or Dundas Rivers; on the west by the Delombo Mountains; on the south and east by the Mapoota River to its mouth; and on the east from the mouth of the Mapoota River to the mouth of the English River by the shores of the large bay.

The territory of Mapooto is bounded on the west by the Mapoota River from its mouth as far as latitude 26° 30′ south; on the south by latitude 26° 30′ south; on the east by the sea, and includes the Peninsula and Island of Inyack and Elephant Island; and on the north by the shores of the large bay.

The question at issue relates to the whole of these territories.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 76.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 16.)

Temple, February 15, 1875.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 12th instant, stating that, with reference to my letter of the 30th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me, for my perusal, the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Paris, inclosing copies of two notes addressed by his Excellency and by the Portuguese Minister at Paris to the French Minister for Foreign Affairs, in reply to his Excellency's request for a definition of the territories of Tembé and Mapoota, in connection with the Delagoa Bay Arbitration.

In obedience in your Lordship's commands I have the honour to report—

That practically there is no difference between the description of the limits of the territories in dispute given in the note of Lord Lyons and in the note of the Portuguese Envoy.

But in Lord Lyons' note the Mountains of Libombo are called the Mountains of Dalombo.

And in the Portuguese note there is a mistake between east and west, and 26° 30′ south is said to be the southern limit of Tembé as well as of Mapoota, and this appears by the charts to be an error.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Russia.

No. 77.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 5th February ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to two sums of money belonging to Charles Pizzotti, which were alleged to have been deposited with Mr. Grenville Murray, formerly Her Majesty's Consul-General at Odessa; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the evidence of the money in question having been paid into Mr. Murray's hands was such as to justify Her Majesty's Government in accepting the responsibility for the amount.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, there is sufficient evidence of the money having been paid into Mr. Murray's hands to justify Her Majesty's Government, under the circumstances of this case, in accepting the responsibility of the amount. We are of opinion, however, that Consuls cannot, as a general rule, be recognized as receivers on behalf of the Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

Spain.

No. 78.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 6.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 6, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 22nd ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 3rd November last, on the subject of the validity of the will of Mr. Albert Honiss, who died at Manila on the 3rd August last, he (Lord Tenterden) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manila reporting the steps taken by him in the case in consequence of the resignation of the executor named in the will; and that he was to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether any instructions upon the subject should be sent to Mr. Consul Ricketts further than those which had been issued to him in conformity with the terms of our above-mentioned Report, and of which the draft was inclosed.

That Mr. Ricketts' previous despatch was therewith returned to us for convenience of reference.

---

* Chevalier de Cadorna, October 31, 1874; Consul-General Stanley, No. 4, January 13, 1875, and translation of Inclosure 3.

1875

We are also honoured with a letter from Mr. Bourke, dated the 1st instant, stating that he was directed to transmit to us the accompanying further despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manila for our consideration in connection with the case of Mr. Honiss' will, which was referred to us for report upon the 22nd ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, no further instructions need be sent to Mr. Consul Ricketts.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 79.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 11.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 9, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 30th December ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 7th November relative to the claim of British subjects in Cuba to be exempted from the payment of the extraordinary contributions decreed in that island on capital and property in trade, Mr. Bourke was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General at the Havana,* in which he calls attention to a memorial from certain British merchants who found their claim to exemption on the effects of former Treaties, Conventions, and Royal Orders.

Mr. Bourke was also to inclose a memorandum, drawn up in the Foreign Office in 1868,† and another in 1874,‡ showing the discussions that have taken place at different times between the Governments of Great Britain and Spain with regard to the applicability to the Spanish Colonies of the Treaties of 1667 and 1713. Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the reply that should be returned to Mr. Dunlop's despatch.

The papers previously sent to us were again inclosed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration and have the honour to report—

That the Foreign Office memorandum of the 11th January, 1868, "relative to the application of the old Treaties with Spain to the Spanish Colonies," and the correspondence referred to in that memorandum, make it, in our opinion, impossible for Her Majesty's Government now to insist upon the application of those Treaties to Spanish Colonies, and we are therefore of opinion that Mr. Dunlop may properly be answered that he should inform the British merchants who have memoralized him that Her Majesty's Government cannot support their claim to exemption under any of the Treaties or Conventions with Spain, since Her Majesty's Government has previously acted on the understanding that the Spanish Colonies were not within the Treaties.

We are aware that in thus reporting to your Lordship we are taking a view of the memorandum of 1868 somewhat different from that which Mr. Hertslet has taken in his memorandum of the 15th December, 1874. But the distinction between "persons" and "produce" is, in our opinion, too fine to be insisted upon by Her Majesty's Government against the Spanish Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Dunlop, No. 38, November 9, 1874.

† Memorandum by Mr. Green, January 11, 1868.

‡ Memorandum by Mr. Hertslet, December 15, 1874.

No. 80.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 2.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 30, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 25th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers relative to the detention of the "Victoria" at Barcelona by order of a local Court at the suit of the charterer, notwithstanding a clause in the charter-party which stipulated for disputes between the owners and charterers being settled by arbitration in London.

That Mr. Bourke was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour Lordship, at our early convenience, with our opinion as to whether any claim for the release of the ship, or for demurrage, could properly be made on the Spanish Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, a claim cannot properly be made through your Lordship on the Spanish Government, either for the release of the ship or for demurrage, the whole matter being at present under the consideration of a Spanish Court of Law competent to deal with it.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No 81.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 2.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, January 30, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 26th June last, on the case of the "Maria Tadeo," which vessel was seized and condemned by the Spanish authorities of Algeciras on account of being suspected of being engaged in smuggling, he (Mr. Bourke) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid,* forwarding copies of the correspondence which had taken place on the subject,† and calling attention to the arbitrary decision come to in the matter by the Spanish Government; and to request that we would take the despatch into our consideration, together with the previous papers annexed, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course pursued by the Spanish Government in the case.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Spanish Courts were competent, in a case of conflicting evidence, to say which set of witnesses they believed upon the whole state of the evidence before them. The Spanish Courts were also competent to say what evidence they would receive or reject, and the form in which, and the persons by whom, such evidence should be tendered.

The Spanish Government was justified in refusing to disturb the decision of the Spanish Court, and we are unable, however arbitrary the proceedings of the Courts may have been, to advise your Lordship that the course pursued by the Spanish Government affords any proper ground for further remonstrance on the part of Her Majesty's Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 551, November 30, 1874.

† Mr. Layard, No. 375, June 6; to Mr. Layard, No. 172, June 15; to Law Officers, June 18; Law Officers, June 26, 1874.

1875

No. 82.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, February 2, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 16th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two despatches which had been received from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, reporting the circumstances under which he had been called upon by the Spanish Government to give evidence in a criminal trial.

That Mr. Bourke was also to transmit to us the draft of the reply which your Lordship proposed to return to Mr. Layard; and that he (Mr. Bourke) was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the terms of the draft.

That Mr. Bourke was likewise to transmit to us, for reference, the papers alluded to in Mr. Layard's despatch No. 594, together with a memorandum on the present case which had been drawn up at that Office.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the terms of the draft reply to Mr. Layard are, in our opinion, right and proper, as they state the general rule, and the reason of the rule.

We would observe that there may be acts, such as murder, theft, and so forth, committed in the presence only of the Diplomatic Agent, and in which, therefore, his evidence alone would lead to a conviction.

When such cases arise they should be reported to your Lordship before any evidence is given by the Diplomatic Agent, for, although some exception might in a case of great urgency be allowed, the question would still remain whether some particular inconvenience should not be submitted to rather than allow a great principle to be infringed.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 83.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 4.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 2, 1875.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 20th February ultimo, in which he stated that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid (No. 193), relative to the seizure of the British vessel "Louisa" off Cabrita Point by a Spanish guardacosta on the 8th December last.

That it would appear from the papers inclosed in Mr. Layard's despatch that the "Louisa," a small trading-vessel belonging to Gibraltar, and bound from that port to Tangier and Laraiche, had previously been overhauled and allowed to go by one guardacosta, but that she was afterwards boarded by another, the Commander of which refused to look at her papers or cargo, and sent her to Algeciras. That there she was forced to unload her cargo, and was detained till the 14th December, when a Prize Court declared her "bad prize," and released her. That in spite of this acquittal, however, the Customs authorities refused to reload her, and her cargo had to be reshipped at the expense of the owner, some of the cargo, it is stated, having been damaged. That the "Louisa" appears to have met with various subsequent disasters, but it was unnecessary to refer further to them, as it is clear that the Spanish Government cannot be held responsible for such indirect consequences of the conduct of its officers.

Mr. Bourke added he was, however, to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in claiming from the Spanish Government compensation for the direct loss suffered by the owner of the "Louisa" through the seizure and detention of his vessel.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the papers into our consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Her Majesty's Government will be justified in claiming from the Spanish Government compensation for the direct loss suffered by the owner of the "Louisa" through the seizure and detention of his vessel.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 84.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 19, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 20th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid [*] respecting the claim of Messrs. McAndrew and Co., of Tarragona, against the Spanish Government for compensation on account of the damage done to their property by the military authorities, and to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

That, for convenience of reference, he was to forward to us the papers, as marked in the margin,[†] which relate to cases of a similar nature.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Layard may, in our opinion, properly be instructed that Her Majesty's Government cannot make any claim upon the Spanish Government for compensation for the losses incurred by Messrs. McAndrew, except in the event of the Spanish Government compensating Spanish subjects for similar losses sustained by them.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 85.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th March ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,[†] relative to the claims of certain British subjects against the Spanish Government, arising out of the seizure by the Spanish authorities in Cuba of the British schooner "Lark," and the subsequent detention at Manzanillo of the master, crew, and passengers of that vessel.

Lord Tenterden stated that we should see that on the 30th May, 1873, the late Law Officers of the Crown reported that, in their opinion, the conduct of the Spanish authorities could not be justified, and that Her Majesty's Government might properly press for compensation to the amount of 3,150*l*.

An instruction in accordance with that Report was addressed to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid on the 4th June, 1873, and a despatch has now been received from Mr. Layard, inclosing a précis of the Report of the Lieutenant-Governor of Manzanillo upon the subject, which has been communicated to him by the Spanish Government.

As that Report contradicts in many important points the statements of the British claimants, Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the accompanying correspondence into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should now be followed in regard to this claim.

[*] Mr. Layard, No. 267, March 8, 1875.

[†] List.

1875

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the claim for compensation in this case may properly be persisted in.

The reasons for this opinion are that, although the detention of the ship "Lark" may have been justifiable, yet that the circumstances which justified her detention were easily explained.

(a.) She carried all the papers which, by the law of her own country, she was bound to carry.

(b.) Of the seven persons on board, four were passengers engaged on a lawful voyage.

(c.) Though she was out of her course and had received no damage, her position was, or might have been, explained by a reference to the weather which had prevailed.

(d.) She had a Spanish pilot on board.

(e.) She carried no arms, ammunition, nor any suspicious cargo, nothing except a sextant and three compasses.

(f.) The absence of a flag on so small and unarmed a vessel could not give reasonable ground of suspicion that she was a "pirate."

This being the state of things, the persons on board should either have been left on board, with a guard, if necessary, placed over them, or released on the bail which was offered, and they ought not to have been imprisoned.

With reference to the document which they signed, even on the statement in the précis of the letter of the Governor of Manzanillo, it appears to us to have been extorted by threat, since they were only to be set free on signing this document, or, as stated by the Consular Agent to Mr. Dunlop (see Mr. Dunlop's despatch No. 8 of the 22nd February, 1872), they were to be sent back to prison if they would not sign the document. The same account of this part of the case is also given by Admiral Chicarro in his letter to Mr. Dunlop (Mr. Dunlop's despatch No. 14 of the 30th March, 1872).

We agree with the Report of the Law Officers (30th May, 1873) that the procuring the signature of this document is a strong proof againt the conduct of the Spanish authorities, and should be no bar to the claim for compensation for the illegal imprisonment and treatment of the seven British subjects.

We have expressed the above opinion upon the assumption that the statements made by the crew of the ship as to their treatment by the Spanish authorities is correct, but a very different account of their treatment is given by the Lieutenant-Governor of Manzanillo in his letter of the 26th November, 1874, and we would suggest the expediency of inquiry as to the treatment to which they were subjected before further pressing the claim for compensation.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 86.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 24, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 22nd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid respecting the case of Richard Tarque, who was born in Spain of British parents, and who was forcibly enlisted by the authorities at Seville as a conscript in the Spanish army.

That, for our convenience, he was also to transmit to us certain papers bearing on that question, and that he was to request that we would take them into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what instructions should be addressed to Mr. Layard.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden, bearing date the 28th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two further despatches from Mr. Layard respecting the case of R. Targue; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would have the goodness to take those despatches into our consideration in conjunction with the papers inclosed in the letter of the 22nd ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are not aware of any Treaties at present in force between this country and Spain under the provisions of which your Lordship can claim for Richard Tarque freedom from liability to serve in the Spanish army.

No doubt other States have Treaties with Spain under which they are entitled to claim exemption for their subjects from the conscription, but the benefit of these Treaties cannot now be claimed by England, for though formerly she was entitled to be placed in every respect upon the footing of the most favoured nation, she has not been in a position to assert such right since the proceedings of the House of Commons in 1845.

It appears to us that the question of Targue's liability to military service entirely depends upon Spanish law, and as at present advised, we think that though a British subject, as Tarque was born and brought up in Spain, he is liable to compulsory service. As, however, the matter to a great extent depends upon the validity of the Constitution of 1869, and upon the question whether such Constitution has displaced the Royal Decree of 1852, we should recommend your Lordship to obtain the opinion of some Spanish jurist upon the case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 87.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 7, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 28th May ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch,* and its inclosure, from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, relative to the complaint of Mr. John Henry Keane, a British subject, that he had been treated with injustice and extreme harshness by the Spanish Government, who had forfeited securities to the amount of 4,480*l.*, deposited by him in the Spanish Treasury as a pledge for the fulfilment of a contract to supply certain army clothing, which contract the Spanish Government accused Mr. Keane of not having properly fulfilled.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Mr. Keane, having bound himself by his contract to accept the decision of the Spanish Tribunals, must therefore abide by the Award of the Council of State, a Tribunal constituted after his contract was entered into, and to which he alleges he would not have consented to refer any dispute between himself and the Spanish Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Keane, having bound himself by his contract to accept the decision of the Spanish Tribunals, must, in our opinion, abide by the Award of the Council of State, although that Tribunal was constituted subsequent to the time when the contract was made.

Her Majesty's Government cannot, on the representation of any individual, assume that the Tribunal of a civilized State will deal unjustly with any case referred to it; and the changes in the constitution of a Tribunal, such changes not having been provided against in the contract, afford no ground for refusing to refer the case to the substituted Tribunal.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Layard, No. 439. May 13, 1875.

1875

No. 88.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 2, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th June ultimo, stating that, on the receipt of our Report of the 2nd March last, your Lordship addressed to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid a despatch, draft of which was inclosed,* instructing him to make a representation to the Spanish Government upon the claim of the owner of the British vessel "Louisa" to compensation for the direct loss caused to him by the seizure of that vessel by a Spanish guardacosta, and her subsequent detention at Algeciras.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was then directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Mr. Layard,† inclosing a note from the Spanish Minister for Foreign Affairs, in which the latter justified the action of the Spanish authorities in the matter, and denied that the owner of the "Louisa" was entitled to compensation.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, together with the former papers which were sent therewith, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether it is advisable for Her Majesty's Government to press the claim any further.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the statements of the Spanish Government are, in one important respect, directly contradictory of those made by the owners of the "Louisa."

The Spanish Government assert that the captain of the "Louisa" refused to show his papers or allow his hold to be examined whilst at sea, and that it was in consequence of such refusal that the Commander of the guardacosta took her to Algeciras. it would appear, however, from the papers before us when we made our Report of the 2nd March last, that the Commander of the guardacosta refused to look at the papers or to examine the cargo at sea, and insisted upon taking the vessel to Algeciras, where she was forced to unload, and that she had been reloaded at the expense of the owners.

The Spanish Government further assert that a portion of the expenses of reloading were paid by the Government, and that the owners had expressed their sense of the justice with which they had been treated, statements which appear to us not to be consistent with the representations made by the owners.

If the matter rested here we should have suggested that the matter should be further investigated, for the purpose of ascertaining what were the true facts in respect of the seizure of the "Louisa," and the subsequent dealings with her, but the Spanish Government insist that the conduct of the Revenue officers in respect of such seizure has been investigated and approved by a Court of competent authority, and inasmuch as the seizure admittedly took place in Spanish waters, your Lordship will probably be of opinion that it is not advisable to press the matter further, especially having regard to the probably small amount of the damage sustained by the owners.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 89.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 14, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 16th June ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,‡ relative to the case of the "Joseph Dodds," a British vessel detained in March last by the Spanish Customs authorities at Huelva, in order to compel payment of extra duties on certain cargo shipped for ports not in Spain, which cargo had not been cleared through a Spanish Consul, as it is alleged the law of Spain requires that it should have been.

Lord Tenterden stated that we would see that by your Lordship's instructions Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid made urgent representations to the Spanish Government upon the subject, and eventually succeeded in obtaining the release of the "Joseph Dodds," but not until she had been detained for forty-two days, i.e., from the 21st March until the 2nd May, and that claims have been put forward by the owners of the vessel, and also by some of the owners of the cargo, to be compensated for the loss which they allege they have sustained through her detention.

Lord Tenterden stated that we would also see that, according to the statement of the owners of the "Joseph Dodds," they made inquiry of the Spanish Consul-General in London before dispatching her, and were assured by that officer that it was not necessary to clear with him that part of the cargo not destined for Huelva.

Lord Tenterden stated that it appears to your Lordship that, assuming this statement to be true, very great hardship has been inflicted on the owners of the vessel and of the cargo, in having been put to heavy expenses for omitting to do in Spain what the only Spanish official authority whom they could consult had told them they need not do.

Lord Tenterden stated that it also appears to your Lordship that the prolonged detention of the vessel was altogether unnecessary for the purpose of ascertaining what was ultimately admitted by the Spanish Government, i.e., that she was innocent of any intention of effecting contraband operations in Spain.

In those circumstances Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in demanding compensation from the Spanish Government for the owners of the "Joseph Dodds" and of her cargo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That the allegation of the owners of the "Joseph Dodds" that any breach of Spanish law committed by them was occasioned by the Spanish Consul-General in London does not appear to us to be disputed by the Spanish Government, and, under these circumstances, we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government will be justified in pressing for compensation from the Spanish Government for the owners of the ship and of her cargo.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 90.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 20, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 14th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 30th January last regarding the detention of the steamer "Victoria" at Barcelona, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us all the correspondence which had been received up to that date relative to that case, and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the proceedings of the Spanish Government in regard to it.

We are also honoured with a second letter from Mr. Lister of the 26th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Messrs. Grant, Darroch, and Co., relative to the case of the "Victoria;" and that he was to request that we would take it into consideration, together with the other papers on the same subject which were referred to us for a Report on the 14th ultimo.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister, dated the 9th instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 26th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further letter from Messrs. Grant. Darroch, and Co., respecting the case of the "Victoria," which he was to request we would take into our consideration, with the other papers sent to us on the case.

---

* To Mr. Layard, No. 97, March 9, 1875.

† Mr. Layard, No. 465, May 25, 1875.

‡ List.

1875

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Messrs. Grant, in our opinion, have taken a wrong view of the proceedings of the Spanish Tribunals, and of the duties of Her Majesty's Government.

The Spanish Tribunals have, we conceive, like all other Tribunals, a right to decide upon their own competence; and we see nothing in the circumstances of the "Victoria" which goes to show that in deciding upon their competence to entertain the suit those Tribunals have been in error.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 91.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 1.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 20, 1875.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th June last, stating that in our Report of the 24th May last, relative to the question whether Richard Tarque, who was born in Spain of British parents, is entitled to exemption from compulsory enlistment in the Spanish army, we stated that, although formerly Great Britain was entitled to be placed in Spain in every respect upon the footing of the most favoured nation, she has not been in a position to assert that right since the proceedings of the House of Commons in 1845.

That as the point thus raised is of considerable importance in itself, irrespective of the particular case under consideration, your Lordship had caused a memorandum to be drawn up by the Librarian of the Foreign Office, showing what passed in 1845 between the Spanish Minister in this country and the Earl of Aberdeen, then Her Majesty's Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, and also what took place afterwards in the House of Commons.

That that memorandum appeared to your Lordship to show that what took place in 1845 only established the principle that the Treaties between Great Britain and Spain did not apply to the colonial possessions of either country, and that it did not apply to a question of personal immunity in Spain.

Mr. Lister also stated that the memorandum* was inclosed therewith, and that he was to request that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship whether the statement of facts contained therein causes us to modify the opinion, expressed in our above-mentioned Report, as to the right of Great Britain to be treated in Spain on the footing of the most favoured nation.

That, with reference to the concluding paragraph of our Report, Mr. Lister stated that your Lordship would instruct Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Madrid to obtain the opinion of a competent Spanish jurist upon the point of Spanish law to which we referred as bearing upon the case of Richard Tarque.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, if the solution of the question as to the suggested abrogation of the Treaties between Great Britain and Spain of 1667 and 1713 depended upon the proceedings in Parliament of 1845, we should be disposed to concur in the opinion that what then took place did no more than establish the principle that the Treaties did not apply to the colonial possessions of either country, and that nothing which passed in the debates affected the question of personal immunity in Spain.

In consequence, however, of the concluding passage of Mr. Hertslet's memorandum, we put ourselves in communication with that gentleman, for the purpose of ascertaining more particularly the circumstances under which Lord Russell, in May 1862, stated that "the House of Commons abrogated the Treaties of 1667 and 1713;" and, in answer to our inquiry, Mr. Hertslet has favoured us with a copy of a memorandum dated the 1st May, 1862, made by Mr. Bergne upon a despatch from Mr. Consul Brackenbury, and upon which Lord Russell's note was endorsed on the 16th of the same month.

We are not aware of the precise subject upon which the Consul sought advice, nor whether the subject of Lord Russell's note was in any way communicated to the Spanish Government; but from the terms of Mr. Bergne's note we should infer that the question then under consideration was not limited as it was in 1845. Under these circumstances, we remain of opinion that the Government of Great Britain is not in a position to rely upon the Treaties as being still in force.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] June 18, 1875.

---

No. 92.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 27, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 5th July ultimo, stating that, on the receipt of our Report of the 26th May, 1874, relative to the claim of Spain to exercise sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, that your Lordship consulted Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies as to the steps which it was advisable for Her Majesty's Government to take in the matter; and on Lord Carnarvon's suggestion, that your Lordship requested the Lords of the Admiralty to despatch to Sulu one of Her Majesty's ships, commanded by an officer on whose discretion and judgment reliance could be placed, with instructions to furnish a Report upon the points at issue between the contending parties in Sulu waters.

Lord Tenterden stated that the Lords of the Admiralty sent instructions accordingly to the Commander-in-chief of Her Majesty's naval forces on the China Station, who selected Captain Buckle, of Her Majesty's ship "Frolic," for the required service.

That Captain Buckle's Report has now been received, and a printed copy of it was sent therewith.

That the papers previously submitted to us were also inclosed, together with the correspondence that had passed upon the subject since the date of our last Report,* including two despatches from the Acting British Consul-General at Brunei of a later date than Captain Buckle's Report;† and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our advice as to any representations which could properly be addressed to the Spanish Government with regard to the blockade of the Sulu ports and the interference with British trade, as described in Captain Buckle's Report.

Lord Tenterden was to add to the above correspondence two further letters on the subject of Sulu which have been received from the Colonial Office, dated 23rd June.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden of the 14th July ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office (10th July), expressing the views of Her Majesty's Secretary of State for the Colonies as to the policy that should be pursued by Her Majesty's Government with regard to the Spanish proceedings in the Sulu Archipelago; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the inclosed letter into our consideration, together with the papers forwarded to us with his letter of the 5th instant.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister of the 24th July ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying further despatch from Her Majesty's Consul at Manila (Mr. Ricketts, No. 6) relative to Spanish proceedings in the Sulu Archipelago; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the papers inclosed in the letters from the Foreign Office of the 5th and 14th July ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration, and have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the several papers transmitted to us.

We see no reason for modifying the opinions expressed in the Law Officers' Reports of the 26th January and the 26th May, 1874.

If the intelligence communicated in Mr. Layard's despatch No. 269 of the 12th April, 1875, and in Mr. Low's despatches from Labuan, dated the 22nd March and the 4th May, 1875, could be relied upon, and there was a reasonable hope that

---

[*] List.

[†] Mr. Low, No. 8; ditto, No. 4.

1875

the terms of a satisfactory peace would be settled between Spain and the Sultan of Sulu, we should suggest to your Lordship that no steps should be further taken, but, as there seems to be reason to suppose that no terms will be arranged for some time, if at all, we will submit to your Lordship such observations as the existing state of circumstances appear to us to call for.

Some uncertainty undoubtedly prevails as to whether the Spanish authorities have by their conduct created a state of war in the Sulu Archipelago, in which a blockade would be not merely a proof of that state of war, but give to neutrals, as well as to belligerents, certain definite rights, or whether the Spanish authorities are endeavouring, by the exercise of paramount rights over territories and subjects under their own dominion, to put down a state of rebellion.

The endorsement on the port clearance of the "Nil Desperandum" (inclosure in the letter from the Colonial Office of the 23rd June) seems to imply that an asserted state of war and a consequent right of blockade co-exist with a Custom-house prohibition as in a time of peace.

In our opinion, this condition of things should not be allowed to continue.

The attention of the Spanish Government should be, without delay, called to the anomaly, and that Government made to determine whether it will choose a state of warfare, with its rights and obligations, or one of peace modified in its consequences upon foreign trade by the existence of an armed rebellion.

If the Spanish Government choose the former, it should be distinctly told that the blockade must be effective, and not carried out in the loose way described by Captain Buckle.

If, on the other hand, the Spanish Government relies upon the right to prohibit trade with a subject territory in a state of insurrection, it should be told that such prohibition must be complete and not partial, and must be applied equally to the legitimate trade of all friendly Powers.

The case of the "Nil Desperandum" appears to us to give no ground of complaint.

The case of the "Marie Louise" is, we presume, still undetermined and under consideration.

Whether your Lordship should act independently of, or in concert with, the German Government in the case of the "Marie Louise," and the French Government in the case of "L'Avenir," are questions of policy for your Lordship's decision.

But, in any event, we would suggest for consideration that the presence of a strong naval force in the Sulu Archipelago would be a proper protection to British trade and a useful check upon the Spaniards, and that, should such a force be sent, the Spanish Government should be informed that it had been so sent for the purpose of protecting British trade to the fullest extent consistent with a due observance of international law.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 93.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 17.)

Temple, September 16, 1875.

My Lord,

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 1st instant, stating that, with reference to Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th ultimo, Mr. Lister was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Consul at Porto Rico,* who is now returned to his post, relative to the forcible removal by the Spanish authorities, from on board the Royal Mail steamer "Eider," of a Spanish subject named Luis Vanegas.

Mr. Lister was to request that we would take these despatches into our consideration, together with the papers on the subject already before us.

---

* Captain Pauli, No. 6, Commercial, August 12; ditto, No. 4, Political, August 12, 1875.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That we think these fresh papers do not alter the case.

Whatever the offence imputed may be, the local authorities have the right to arrest and take out of a foreign merchant-ship within their territorial waters a subject of the State to which they belong.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 94.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 20.)

My Lord, Temple, September 20, 1875.

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 6th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to the capture near Gibraltar, on the 16th ultimo, by a Spanish guardacosta, of the British vessel "Dolores," and the subsequent condemnation of the owners of that vessel at Algeciras to payment of a fine equal to the full value of the vessel, besides duties.

That we would see that the master of the "Dolores" alleges that she was seized in British waters, quite close to the Rock of Gibraltar, and that there is a strong probability that his statement is true. The captors, however, assert that the capture took place in Spanish waters, and no independent testimony can be obtained.

Lord Tenterden states that, independently, however, of this point, it appears to your Lordship that the decision of the Court at Algeciras is unduly harsh and unjust, seeing that all that is alleged against the "Dolores" is that her master refused to show his manifest. It is not denied that the manifest was correct, and that there was nothing contraband on board.

In these circumstances Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should be pursued in the matter by Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in the absence of further evidence as to the place of capture, we are of opinion that no strong ground of complaint can be made against the Spanish Tribunals for believing the Spanish rather than "Dolores" witnesses, and therefore deciding, as we suppose was the case, that the capture took place in Spanish waters, and not in British waters, or on the high seas.

It is true that the state of wind and tide makes it doubtful whether the "Dolores" could have reached Spanish waters at the time of capture; but, on the other hand, no Spanish Revenue boat was seen anywhere in or near British waters on the evening when the capture took place.

We observe that further evidence on this point has been directed to be sought for. If any such decisive on the matter can be had, the whole character of this part of the case will be altered.

Assuming, then, the "Dolores" to have been navigating within Spanish waters, the officer in charge of the Spanish Revenue boat was, we suppose, but upon this point we have no information, authorized by Spanish law in boarding the "Dolores" and asking for her papers, of which the manifest would be the most important.

It is to be regretted that the sight of this manifest was refused, and, in our opinion, that act of refusing to produce the manifest justified the Spanish officer in taking the "Dolores" into Algeciras.

The conduct of the Administrator of the Customs at Algeciras in refusing to notify in due form the decision of the Administrative Committee respecting the detention of the "Dolores," and to supply or permit the taking of a copy of the decision, hinders all knowledge of the grounds for that decision; we can therefore deal

---

* Admiralty, August 4; Sir J. Walsham, No. 517, August 4; to Admiralty, August 18; to Sir J. Walsham, No. 257, August 18; Colonial Office, August 19; to ditto, August 15, 1875.

1875

with the decision only, and the sentence or effect of the decision as compared with the offence.

The "Dolores" was on a lawful voyage, she carried a perfectly legal cargo, and her papers were regular and in perfect order. The only charge against her is that the manifest was kept back from the boarding officer. The justice of the case would, in our opinion, have been met by a nominal fine, but the actual sentence is a fine and the imposition of duties, the two together being more in amount than the value of the whole cargo.

On these facts we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government may properly instruct Her Majesty's Representative at Madrid to press upon the Spanish Government, in the strongest manner consistent with diplomatic usage, the expediency, if not the necessity, of remitting the fine and duties imposed upon the cargo of the "Dolores," and releasing at once both the vessel and her cargo, if still detained.

The conduct of the Administrator of the Customs at Algeciras in taking advantage of a mere technicality, as stated by Colonel Gordon, should also, we think, be strongly brought to the notice of the Spanish Government.

We are also of opinion that Her Majesty's Government should take the measure which we have advised immediately, and without waiting for the result of the appeal.

The act of the master of the "Dolores" in refusing to produce his manifest prevents any claim for costs and damages, down to the time when the cargo had been examined, and the nature of the voyage ascertained.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 95.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 25.)

Temple, September 25, 1875.

My Lord,

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th August ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying papers, as marked in the margin,[*] relative to the forcible removal from the Royal Mail steam-ship "Eider," by the Spanish authorities at San Juan, Porto Rico, of a Spaniard named Luis Vanegas, accused of being a deserter, who was at the time of his arrest a passenger on board the "Eider" from Santo Domingo to St. Thomas.

Lord Tenterden was also to inclose the Law Officers' Reports, as marked in the margin,[†] relative to the right of a State to arrest persons on board foreign vessels, other than vessels of war, while in a port belonging to such State.

Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Her Majesty's Government should take any, and, if so, what, steps in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That we have not anything to add to the Report already sent in.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] Consul Robertson (Telegraphic), received July 25; to ditto (Telegraphic), July 27; Acting Consul Robertson, No. 5, Commercial, July 27; Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, August 11; ditto, August 14, 1875.

[†] December 1, 1861, in printed volume; April 16 and June 23, 1866, ditto; February 3, May 16, and June 1874.

No. 96.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 4.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 17th August last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence relative to the claim of Mr. James Benjamin Field, who stated himself to be a British subject, to compensation from the Spanish Government on account of his seizure by a Spanish naval officer while on a trading voyage in the German brig "Marie Louise" in August 1873, and his subsequent detention and ill-treatment at Caviti in the Philippines.

That we should see that the case of the "Marie Louise" had given rise to a lengthened correspondence, and that it involved three different claims.

1. The claim on account of the seizure of the vessel.

That that was a matter between the Spanish and German Governments, the "Marie Louise" being under the German flag.

2. Mr. Field's claim on account of the seizure of the cargo.

That the Captain-General of the Philippines and Her Majesty's Consul at Manila had received orders from their respective Governments to endeavour to come to an arrangement.

3. Mr. Field's personal claim to compensation on account of his arrest and imprisonment.

That that claim was not referred to Manila for arrangement, and no decision had yet been come to thereon.

That Lord Tenterden was therefore to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the steps that Her Majesty's Government should take in the matter.

That Lord Tenterden was, at the same time, to point out to us that the question of Mr. Field's claim was in some measure connected with the question of the Spanish claim to sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, the papers relating to which were sent to us on the 5th July last.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the above papers into our consideration and have the honour to report—

That, since the capture and detention of the "Marie Louise" is admitted to have been illegal, and the rights of the owners of that ship and her cargo, and of the German subjects on board her, to indemnity has been conceded (see Mr. Layard's despatches No. 272 of the 23rd April, 1870, and No. 80 of the 30th August, 1874), Mr. Field, who was detained from the 16th August, 1873, to the 7th January, 1874, is, in our opinion, entitled to be indemnified and compensated for such detention.

The alleged former smuggling transaction of which he is accused was, so far as we can gather from the papers, a matter quite foreign to his arrest and detention, as being on board the "Marie Louise;" and no charge on the ground of former smuggling appears to have been made against Mr. Field before his escape.

We see no reason for supposing that Mr. Field was subjected to personal ill-treatment, and no indemnity to him, on that ground, can, in our opinion, be claimed.

But we think the nationality of Mr. Field, notwithstanding his deposition that he was born in Ireland, requires some further proof. He should be required to state when he was born, who his parents were, when he left Ireland, how long and where he resided in the United States, and what his occupation was whilst in the States.

Should Mr. Field prove to be still a British subject, Her Majesty's Government may, in our opinion, properly insist upon his being indemnified for his illegal detention in consequence of his connection with the "Marie Louise."

Whether your Lordship should inform the Spanish Government that some doubts exist as to the nationality of Mr. Field, stating that the compensation will be insisted upon only in the event of his British nationality being established, or should wait till the fact is established one way or the other, is, we humbly submit, a question for your Lordship's judgment and decision.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1875

No. 97.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st August last, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 20th July last respecting the case of the steamer "Victoria," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the previous papers,* a further letter from Messrs. Grant, Darroch, and Co. (August 17, 1875), again demurring to the competency of the Spanish Court to deal with the case, in view of the clause in the charter-party stipulating that disputes were to be arbitrated upon in London. And Lord Tenterden was pleased to say that he was to request that we would again take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our view as to the answer which should be returned to Messrs. Grant, Darroch, and Co.; and

That "there is a mark in the accompanying volume at the place where a copy of the charter-party is to be found."

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have again taken the case into our consideration and have the honour to report—

That the charter-party has already been before and considered by us.

We see no reason for modifying the opinion which we had the honour of submitting to your Lordship in our Report of the 20th July last, and we are of opinion that Messrs. Grant and Co. may properly be answered that the action of the Spanish Tribunals gives no ground for diplomatic intervention.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 98.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 20.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 19, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 1st instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 14th July respecting the case of the "Joseph Dodds," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a draft of a despatch which your Lordship proposed to address to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid in the matter; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take that draft into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether it might properly be sent.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the despatch, of which the draft has been transmitted to us, may, in our opinion, properly be sent.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 99.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 22.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 21, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 27th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Report of the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane of the 20th September respecting the case of the ship "Dolores," he was directed by your Lordship to state to us that, before sending any instructions to Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid in the matter, he considered it advisable to transmit to us the accompanying papers, as marked in the margin,* which had been recently received, bearing upon the case; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the further papers, together with the previous correspondence therewith returned to us, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

We are also favoured with a note from Mr. Lister of the 12th instant, stating that he had the honour to inclose the accompanying further documents relative to the case of the "Dolores;" and to request that we would have the goodness to take those papers into our consideration, in connection with those inclosed in his letter of the 27th ultimo.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it appears from the further papers that the "Dolores" and her cargo have now been sold.

We see no reason for altering the opinion which the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane submitted to your Lordship on the 20th ultimo.

But as the state of things respecting the "Dolores" and her cargo has changed, we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government, instead of asking for a remission of the fine imposed and the duties, as suggested in the former Report of the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, may properly instruct Her Majesty's Representative at Madrid to press upon the Spanish Government, in the strongest manner consistent with diplomatic usage, the expediency, if not the necessity, of compensating the owners of the "Dolores" and her cargo for the loss which they have sustained by the condemnation and sale of their property to meet an excessive and unwarrantable fine.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 100.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 22.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 21, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 18th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to the papers now before us respecting the case of the "Dolores," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Colonial Office (9th September, 1875) as regarded the question of the maritime boundaries of British and Spanish jurisdiction in the neighbourhood of Gibraltar; and that he (Mr. Lister) was also to transmit to us certain other documents, as marked in the margin,† bearing upon that question, and to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report as follows:—

1. That with respect to the points referred to in the letter from the Colonial Office of the 9th September, 1875, we see no reason to doubt that dominion may be acquired, by Treaty or conquest, over the whole of a bay by a nation possessing only a portion of its shores, provided the State by whom the territory is ceded possessed such dominion prior to the cession.

2. We think that, in the absence of any special rights obtained, the medium filum aquæ of straits or bays, of which the opposite shores belong to different States, and where the waters are too narrow to admit the application of the 3-mile rule, would be the proper dividing line.

3. We see, on principle, no objection to the boundary lines as drawn by the Attorney-General for Gibraltar, because the local circumstances make it impossible for Great Britain and Spain each to maintain the 3-mile jurisdiction, and the principle drawn from, or founded upon, the range of guns is, for the same local reasons, inapplicable. And, as the Attorney-General was assisted by the naval

---

* Volume: to Grant, Darroch, and Co., July 28; Grant, Darroch, and Co., August 3; to ditto, August 14, 1875.

* Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co., September 15; Colonial Office, September 16; Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co., September 23; Sir J. Walsham, No. 548.

† Memorandum, January 29, 1859; Admiralty, August 5 and 12; Colonial Office, August 19; to ditto, August 27, 1875.

1875

authorities and others in preparing the chart annexed to his observations, we apprehend that there is no practical objection to the boundaries which he suggests.

But, as it is not improbable that the Spanish Government might not accede to the proposed arrangements, we submit, for your Lordship's consideration, that, before any definite offer, binding or committing Her Majesty's Government upon the subject of the suggested compromise, is made to the Spanish Government, the views of that Government should be ascertained. In the meantime, we concur with your Lordship in thinking that there is no reason why Her Majesty's Government should recede from the position that the territorial waters extend to a distance of 3 miles round the rock of Gibraltar.

4. With reference to the points arising upon the other papers submitted for our consideration, we may remark that we are unable to agree with the Attorney-General for Gibraltar that, in the case of territory acquired by conquest or cession, the boundary of maritime jurisdiction is more extended than in other cases; and, as far as we are aware, there is no authority for such a proposition. In other material points, we concur in the observations of the Attorney-General. A Commission to settle the maritime boundaries would certainly give rise to a great and irreconcilable divergence of opinion, and lead, at the best, to a proposal for arbitration.

We think that your Lordship may properly give your approval to the course taken by the Governor of Gibraltar in reference to a public advertisement to traders in and from Gibraltar.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 101.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 22.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 21, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 27th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to the question now under our consideration respecting the question of Spanish maritime jurisdiction, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from the Board of Admiralty of the 23rd September, 1875, upon the same subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That in a Report of even date herewith we have reported to your Lordship our opinion upon the question of maritime jurisdiction in places where the 3 miles rule cannot be adhered to by Great Britain and Spain.

With reference to the claim of Spain to a jurisdiction running over 6 miles from her shores, we are of opinion that, in the absence of any authority for such an unusual extent of jurisdiction, the claim ought not to be submitted to or admitted.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 102.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 23.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 16th ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 27th August last respecting the claim of Spain to exercise sovereignty over the Sulu Archipelago, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two despatches from Her Majesty's Consul-General in Borneo, the former of which gave particulars as to the seizure by Spanish war vessels in the port of Beucawan on the 22nd June last of the steamer yacht "Sultana," which had been chartered for twelve months from August 1874 by His Highness the Sultan of Brunei to a Company called the "Victoria Trading Company of Labuan," the partners in which were British subjects carrying on business and residing in Singapore, Brunei, and Labuan; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take those despatches into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether, under the circumstances therein set forth, the vessel in question was to be considered a British vessel, and, if so, whether Her Majesty's Government would be justified in demanding her restitution from the Spanish Government as well as compensation for her detention and reparation for the insult offered to the British flag.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the "Sultana" cannot be considered a British vessel, and Her Majesty's Government would not be justified in demanding her restitution.

But the interests of British subjects are concerned, and the circumstances as detailed by Mr. Howard show that no real blockade is established by the Spaniards in the Archipelago, and we therefore think that Her Majesty's Government may properly demand that Mr. Howard and the other British subjects should be compensated for the losses sustained by the illegal capture of the "Sultana;" and we would submit that the opportunity should be taken of stating strongly to the Spanish Government that the conduct of the Spanish officers in the Sulu Archipelago, if not corrected, will lead to serious difficulties between Great Britain and Spain. As regards the suggested insult to the British flag, it would appear that Mr. Howard was in error as to the facts of the case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 103.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 1.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 29, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 21st instant, stating that, with reference to the letter from the Foreign Office of the 27th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit therewith, for our opinion, a further letter from Messrs. Pirrie, Foote, and Co., relative to the late seizure of the vessel "Dolores" by Spanish guardacostas off Gibraltar.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the further papers sent with Mr. Lister's letter of the 21st instant do not affect the opinion we have had the honour of submitting to your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 104.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received November 1.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 30, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter to Dr. Deane of the 18th instant, stating that, with reference to his (Mr. Lister's) letter of the 16th ultimo, relative to the "Sultana," he was to transmit therewith a private letter from Her Majesty's Consul at Manila on the same subject.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister, bearing date the 8th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us further despatches relative to the seizure by the Spanish naval authorities in the Sulu Archipelago of the steam-yacht "Sultana;" and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, together with the papers inclosed in his letter of the 16th ultimo.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister, dated the 1875

22nd instant, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 18th instant, he was to transmit further despatches on the case of the "Sultana," with the request that we would oblige your Lordship by taking them into our consideration, together with the papers inclosed in his above-mentioned letter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the further papers now before us add but little to the information upon the subject of the seizure of the "Sultana," which we possessed when we made our report to your Lordship under date the 22nd instant.

We still think that the demand for compensation should be made as then suggested by us, as the conduct of the Spanish officers who made the seizure appears to us to have been unjustifiable, in any view of the case which has as yet been suggested.

It must, however, be borne in mind that Her Majesty's Government have not at present any authoritative explanation of the views of the Spanish Government, and the facts of the case are much complicated by the circumstances that the parties on whose behalf the demand is proposed to be made were serving on board a vessel under a foreign flag, and had deserted the vessel prior to her seizure.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 105.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 23.)

My Lord, Temple, December 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th October last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, relative to the claim of British subjects to be exempted from certain war taxes lately ordered to be levied in Spain.

That we should see from that correspondence that the taxes in question were of two kinds—one on real property, the other on commercial interests—and that in ordering their levy the Spanish Government had laid down different principles as to the liability thereto of the subjects of different foreign countries, German subjects and the subjects of certain South American States being declared exempt from both classes; Austrians, French, and others from the last-named class only; while subjects of Great Britain and of the United States were not specially mentioned.

That the question, therefore, arose whether exemption could be claimed for British subjects from payment of either or both classes of taxes, and, if so, on what grounds. It was suggested by Her Majesty's Chargé d'Affaires at Madrid that exemption from the taxes on commercial interests might be claimed on the ground of reprocity, the liability to taxes on real property being admitted, but it did not appear to your Lordship that the ground of reciprocity would be an advisable one to adopt. The laws, modes of taxation, and other circumstances differed so widely in Great Britain and Spain that it might be both difficult and inconvenient to carry out a system of reciprocity.

That, in your Lordship's opinion, the position that should be taken up by Her Majesty's Government was that British subjects were entitled, under the ancient Treaties between Great Britain and Spain, to be treated in Spain on the footing of subjects of the most favoured nation. That that was the position that had been consistently maintained by the Government of Great Britain up to the present time, and it appeared to your Lordship that it would be most unadvisable to surrender it now, unless it could be shown to be untenable.

That, as supporting that position, Mr. Lister was to call our especial attention to the following documents:—

1. Despatch from the Earl of Clarendon to Lord Howden No. 39 of the 22nd February, 1856, in which he was informed that, as soon as a French Treaty then under negotiation came into force, the British Government would claim on behalf of British subjects every privilege conceded thereby to French subjects, under Article VII of the Treaty of 1750, which stipulated that British subjects should be treated in Spain in the same manner as subjects of the most favoured nation, and which Treaty was renewed in 1814.

2. Report from the Law Officers of the Crown, dated the 2nd December, 1873, advising Her Majesty's Government that they had the right to claim for British subjects, under the Treaty of September 1783, Article II, and the Treaties renewed by the said Article, and the Additional Articles of the 28th August, 1814, an exemption similar to that conceded to French, Italian, and Portuguese subjects; the Law Officers adding the opinion that the most-favoured-nation clause contained in the Treaty of the 5th October, 1750, having been confirmed by other Treaties, was still binding.

3. Report from the Law Officers of the Crown, dated the 24th December, 1873, in which they stated that they were clearly of opinion that, in any event, British subjects were entitled to all the exemptions granted to other foreigners.

4. Memorandum by the Librarian of the Foreign Office, dated the 15th October, 1868, relative to the rights and privileges of British subjects in Spain under the ancient Treaties, which contained a summary of what had passed upon the subject up to that date.

That it would be seen from those papers, and the other correspondence sent therewith, that the right of British subjects in Spain to be treated on the footing of the most favoured nation had always hitherto been claimed by the British Government, and, although sometimes demurred to, had been practically conceded by the Government of Spain.

That it was, therefore, most important that that right should, if possible, still be upheld.

That a difficulty had, however, been raised in the matter by the Law Officers' Report of the 20th August, relative to the liability of Richard Tarque to military service in Spain.

In that Report the Law Officers expressed an opinion that the Government of Great Britain was not in a position to rely upon the Treaties as being still in force, and they based that opinion upon an endorsement by Earl Russell upon a memorandum drawn up by the late Mr. Bergne in 1862, in which his Lordship stated that "the House of Commons abrogated the Treaties of 1667 and 1713."

That as that opinion, if adhered to and acted upon, would have a most injurious effect upon British interests in Spain, your Lordship had caused a memorandum to be drawn up in the Foreign Office, copy of which was inclosed, showing the circumstances under which Mr. Bergne's memorandum was written, and Lord Russell's endorsement thereon was made.

That we should see from that memorandum that Mr. Bergne's memorandum did not enter fully into all the bearings of the question, and that Lord Russell's endorsement thereon, besides being founded on imperfect information, merely amounted to an expression of opinion on the part of his Lordship, and was not followed by any action on the part of Her Majesty's Government, nor communicated to the Spanish Government.

That, in those circumstances, it appeared to your Lordship that the opinion thus expressed by Lord Russell in 1868 did not in any way preclude Her Majesty's Government from maintaining the claim which had been consistently upheld by the Government of Great Britain, both before and since that date, that British subjects in Spain are entitled to be treated on the footing of subjects of the most favoured nation.

That, in view of the very important interests involved in that question, Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the matter into our most serious consideration, and that we would be good enough to inform your Lordship, at our early convenience, whether we concurred in the opinion set forth in that letter, or whether we still considered that the Government of Great Britain cannot rely upon the ancient Treaties with Spain as conferring on British subjects in Spain the privileges and immunities of "subjects of the most favoured nation."

We are also honoured with a further letter from Mr. Lister of the same date, stating that, with reference to his other letter of that day's date respecting the right of British subjects in Spain to be treated on the footing of the subjects of the most favoured nation, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us Parliamentary Papers containing the correspondence which passed between the Earl of Aberdeen and the Duke of Sotomayor, the Spanish Minister, in 1845, together with a manuscript volume, in which would be found a Report of the Law Officers of the 30th June, 1845, and other papers bearing on that subject.

That we should see from those papers that Lord Aberdeen then contended, and the Spanish Government accepted, the interpretation that the ancient Treaties were still in force, but that—

1875

1. The West Indian Colonies of both countries were excepted.
2. The most-favoured-nation clauses applied only to the subjects personally, and not to the produce of the respective nations.

That we should also observe that Lord Aberdeen, in his note of the 5th December, 1845, deprecated a reference on the part of the Spanish Minister to proceedings in Parliament.

That your Lordship did not consider that it was now necessary to examine the force of Lord Aberdeen's arguments in regard to commercial privileges, but that your Lordship was of opinion that we should have these papers before us as tending to establish the right of British subjects in Spain to the privileges of the subjects of the most favoured nation, since they show that that right was asserted and admitted by both Governments on one of the principal occasions when the interpretation of the Treaties was in dispute.

We have also the honour to acknowledge a memorandum from Lord Tenterden of the 10th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch from Mr. Layard respecting the excessive war taxes levied in Spain, and to request that we would have the goodness to take the same into our consideration, in conjunction with the papers inclosed in Mr. V. Lister's letters of the 26th ultimo.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden of the 23rd November ultimo, stating that, with reference to Mr. Lister's letter of the 26th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid in regard to the exemption of the subjects of certain countries to pay extraordinary war taxes which might be levied in Spain; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take that despatch into our consideration, together with the other papers upon the same subject then before us.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have taken into our consideration the whole of the papers transmitted to us by Mr. Lister.

It appears to us that in 1845 the Governments of Great Britain and Spain agreed upon and concurred in the sense to be attached to the Treaties subsisting between the two Powers.

And the sense so agreed upon and concurred in was that, by the Treaties, the subjects of the one Government were to be treated by the other Government as coming within the most-favoured-nation clause.

And consequently that the same exemption from taxes of any class which is granted by Spain to the subjects of any other country may be claimed under the Treaties between Great Britain and Spain for British subjects in Spain.

We think that it would be dangerous, inconvenient, and probably impracticable to put the claim to exemption on the ground of any supposed reciprocity.

In reference to the Report of the 20th August last relative to the liability of Richard Tarque to military service, we have come to the conclusion, upon the further information which your Lordship has now directed to be submitted to us, that Great Britain is not prejudiced by the endorsement of Earl Russell upon the memorandum drawn up by the late Mr. Bergne in 1862, nor prevented thereby from relying upon the ancient Treaties (including that of 1814) as being still in force.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
HARDINGE S. GIFFARD.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 106.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 30.)

My Lord,
Temple, December 29, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Madrid, in which he asked for instructions as to how he should act with regard to the property left by William Higgs, a British subject, who had lately died at Madrid, intestate.

That the case which formed the subject of the correspondence in 1872 referred to by Mr. Layard (inclosed therewith) differed from this, but that, in the course of that correspondence, the proper mode of dealing with the property of British subjects dying intestate in Spain was incidentally laid down by the Law Officers of the Crown; and that it was on account of the difficulty of following the course then prescribed that Mr. Layard applied for further instructions.

That we should see that the course prescribed by the Law Officers in 1872 was founded on the provisions of the Treaty between Great Britain and Spain of 1667; and the question now raised was, in the first instance, dependent upon that of the validity of the ancient Treaties with Spain, which question had been referred to us for reconsideration in Lord Tenterden's two letters of the 26th ultimo; since, if those Treaties were ultimately decided to be no longer valid, their provisions would cease to afford any guidance in the matter.

That if, however, we should, on reconsideration, come to the conclusion that the Treaties were still in force as regards British subjects in Spain, it would remain to be considered how the provisions of the Treaty of 1867 could be complied with in face of the difficulties to which Mr. Layard called attention; and it appeared to your Lordship that the intention of the Treaty would be sufficiently met in that, and in similar cases, if, in the absence of any objection on the part of the persons interested, Her Majesty's Consul were to remit the proceeds of the estate in the usual manner to this country, for the benefit of the next of kin.

That Lord Tenterden was to request that we would be good enough to take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer that should be returned to Mr. Layard's last despatch.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, for the reasons more fully given in our Report on the question of the liability of British subjects resident in Spain to war taxes, the ancient Treaties between Great Britain and Spain are still in force.

The difficulties with respect to the property in Spain of British subjects dying testate, but without appointing executors in Spain, arises from the wording of the Articles XXXIII and XXXIV in the Treaty of 1667. The Article XXXIII does not say by whom the property of such persons is to be preserved, whilst Article XXXIV not merely names the Consul or other public Minister who is to act, but excludes the Cruzada or other Judicatory.

It appears that the Spanish authorities interfere only exceptionally, and so long as the Spanish Government is secured the payment of any duty or tax, which it may be entitled to upon the administration and devolution of the estates of British subjects dying intestate in Spain, and with property in that country, but without executors, and so long as the rights of creditors and others in Spain are protected, we should apprehend that the Spanish Government would not care to put the strict construction upon Article XXXIII and claim to exercise its right to preserve the testator's property.

We therefore think that any British Consul or public Minister, although he has no legal right to do so, may, in the majority of cases, venture to get in such property, but in so doing he must exercise great caution with the Spanish authorities, and a power of attorney, or other instrument authorizing him or some one else to act, should be obtained as soon as possible from the person or persons entitled to the property.

The property should not be sent over to England till all legal claims upon it in Spain are settled there.

With reference to the case under Article XXXIV, as to which Mr. Layard suggests a difficulty when two or three merchants cannot be found with whom to deposit the property, books, &c., of the intestate, we would remark that the Article in question does not require the merchants to be British merchants, so that the main difficulty suggested does not arise. With respect to the suggestion that the persons made custodians of the property deposited with them may require some remuneration for their trouble in taking care of it, we do not see that any reasonable claim on their part could be objected to by the persons entitled to the estate.

There is in vol. liii, State Papers, p. 1057, a Decree of the Queen of Spain providing (Article 28) for the case of foreigners dying intestate, and cases of testamentary successions, which may simplify the action of British Consular officers in cases similar to that referred to us, and we suggest that the attention of Mr. Layard should be directed to this Decree.

1875

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
HARDINGE S. GIFFARD.
J. PARKER DEANE.

Sweden.

No. 107.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 3.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 2, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 20th May last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatches from Her Majesty's Consul at Stockholm relative to a difficulty which had arisen in regard to the transfer to the British community in that city of the church property hitherto held by the Church Committee there under the provisions of the Consular Act 6 and 7 Geo. IV, cap. 87; and that he was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instructions which it might be proper to give to Mr. Consul Segrave, with the view to provide that the property in question should be at all times devoted to the purposes for which it was originally intended.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the difficulty seems, from Mr. Consul Segrave's letter (Confidential) of the 28th January, to arise from the refusal of the British community or congregation to take over and make themselves liable for the support of the building.

The schemes suggested by the Swedish lawyers will not solve this difficulty.

Besides, if the British community did consent now to take over the building and to give a mortgage upon it as security that it should be at all times devoted to the purpose for which it was originally intended, and not disposed of or given up to other uses, Her Majesty's Government might hereafter be embarrassed by having to take back the mortgaged property and dispose of it in some way.

We are therefore of opinion that Mr. Consul Segrave should be instructed to make over the building transferred to the British community absolutely, leaving the individuals making up that body to deal with it as may to them seem best, and that Her Majesty's Government should be free from all future connection with, or responsibility arising out of, the British church property in Stockholm.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

Tunis.

No. 108.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 6.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, February 5, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 20th January ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General at Tunis,* reporting the trial and condemnation of Carmelo Villa for the manslaughter of an Italian sea captain at Sfax, and to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Mr. Consul-General Wood's action in the matter should be approved by Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the action of Mr. Consul-General Wood may, in our opinion, properly be approved.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

No. 109.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 26.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 24, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 8th instant, stating that, with reference to the Report of the Law Officers of the 10th April, 1874, on the draft of the proposed Treaty between Great Britain and Tunis, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration, a despatch which he had received from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Tunis,† reporting that, with a few verbal alterations, the modifications proposed by Her Majesty's Government had been accepted by the Bey.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take that despatch, together with its inclosures (wherein the proposed alterations were made), into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to make thereon, as well as with our opinion whether the Treaty, as amended, might be returned to Mr. Wood for conclusion with the Government of the Bey.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was to inclose therewith, for reference, the correspondence as marked in the margin.‡

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Treaty, as amended, may be returned to Mr. Wood for conclusion with the Government of the Bey.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Wood, No. 26, December 23, 1874.

† Mr. Wood, No. 14, April 14, 1874.

‡ Law Officers, April 10; to Mr. Wood, No. 3, Commercial, May 13, 1874; Board of Trade, May 5, 1875.

1875

Turkey.

---

No. 110.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 6, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 23rd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers relative to the circumstances under which the intervention of Her Majesty's Government had been invoked in support of Mr. J. F. H. Reade's claim to the concession by the Porte of the Sari Yeri copper mines; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which it would be proper for Her Majesty's Government to take in that matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have carefully considered the claim put forward for the intervention of Her Majesty's Government on behalf of Mr. J. F. H. Reade, and we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly afford diplomatic assistance to Mr. J. F. H. Reade pending the present legal proceedings at Constantinople, but we think any assistance which can officiously be given may rightly be afforded to that gentleman.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 111.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 11.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 9, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 1st instant, stating that your Lordship had received a telegram from Mr. Vivian, Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Bucharest, asking whether he could legally solemnize a marriage at the British Vice-Consulate at Jassy, in Moldavia, the Vice-Consul, Mr. St. John, not possessing a warrant to enable him to solemnize marriages.

That Mr. Bourke was to inclose copies of the Queen's Commission under which Mr. Vivian held his appointment, and of the warrant which enabled him to solemnize marriages; and that Mr. Bourke was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our early opinion as to whether a marriage solemnized by Mr. Vivian at Jassy would be considered valid.

That a copy of the Act for facilitating marriages abroad was inclosed.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Vivian being Consul for Moldavia, and no directions being contained in the warrant of the 25th November, 1874, which would have the effect of limiting his authority, a marriage solemnized by him in Moldavia, at Jassy, will, in our opinion, be valid.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 112.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 14, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 28th December ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers, as marked in the margin,[*] relative to the increase of the hospital tonnage fee at Smyrna to 2*d.* a-ton, to be levied as at present advised once a-month.

That with this view Mr. Reilly had prepared a draft Order in Council, which formed an inclosure in his letter of the 19th November last; and that he (Mr. Bourke) was to request that we would take the draft into our consideration, in connection with the other inclosed papers, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether it is right and proper to be submitted for the approval of Her Majesty.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft Order in Council, with the necessary correction of the date in Article 1, and the omission of the words within red brackets in Article 5, may rightly and properly be submitted for the approval of Her Majesty.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 113.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 2.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 1, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 8th January ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers, as marked in the margin,[†] relative to petitions from one Leon Franco, a prisoner at Malta under sentence of the Consular Court at Alexandria, praying for a pardon.

That he (Mr. Bourke) was also to transmit the despatch of the 15th January, 1870, from Mr. Lane (No. 1), referred to by Dr. Arpa as bearing on the question of the dispersion of the jury during the petitioner's trial, and a Report of the then Law Officers (February 9, 1870) on that despatch; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether there are any grounds for complying with Leon Franco's petition.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, there are not sufficient grounds for complying with the petition of Leon Franco.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] To Mr. Reilly, October 24; Mr. Reilly, November 19; to Board of Trade, November 26; Board of Trade, December 16, 1874.

[†] Colonial Office (two), March 21; to Mr. Lane, No. 6, March 29; Mr. Lane, No. 5, May 5; Sir P. Francis, June 7; to Colonial Office, June 16, 1873; Colonial Office, July 17; to Dr. Arpa, No. 10, July 24; Dr. Arpa, No. 30, October 27; Sir P. Francis, No. 102, November 21, 1874.

1875

No. 114.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 3.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 2, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 10th February ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Messrs. Stibbard and Cronshey (January 26), applying for permission to inspect and to obtain copies of the correspondence in the Foreign Office relative to a complaint preferred by M. Giuseppe Mirabita against the interference of Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople in regard to a contract entered into by M. Mirabita for the sale of two vessels to the British Government.

That the correspondence in question, as noted in the margin,* was also inclosed; and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our early convenience, with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Messrs. Stibbard and Cronshey's application in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we do not know what course is usually taken in applications similar to that of Messrs. Stibbard and Cronshey, but the correspondence referred to contains matters affecting the character of M. Mirabita, and not connected with the subject of litigation between that person and Mr. Dale.

Messrs. Stibbard and Cronshey may, therefore, in our opinion, properly be answered that their application cannot be complied with.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 115.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence relative to a question which had arisen on the subject of coal duties in Turkey.

That he (Mr. Lister) also inclosed a memorandum which had been prepared in the Foreign Office on the question, and some correspondence connected with it which took place last year, and likewise, for reference in its bearing upon the point, our Report of the 25th August last on coal duties at Port Saïd.

That Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the inclosed papers into our consideration, and that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the instruction which should be addressed to Sir Henry Elliot in reply to his despatches Nos. 3 and 4, Commercial, of the 19th and 22nd January.

That the Treaty of Commerce and Navigation between this country and Turkey of the 29th April, 1861, would be found in vol. xi of Hertslet's Commercial Treaties, p. 561.

We are also honoured with a memorandum from Mr. Bourke of the 23rd ultimo, stating that, with reference to the letter from the Foreign Office of the 11th ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration in connection with the papers on the subject then before us, a letter from the North of England Steam-Ship Owners' Association, protesting against the imposition of coal duties at Constantinople.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we agree, but not without some doubt, with the opinion of Sir Henry Elliot upon the meaning of the XIth Article of the Treaty between Great Britain and Turkey, 1861, that coal shipped, not for re-exportation, but for consumption on board, cannot correctly be exempt from duty under that Article.

But we think that Sir H. Elliot may properly be instructed to inform and press upon the Turkish Government that all rights, privileges, or immunities granted or suffered to be enjoyed by the subjects, ships, commerce, or navigation of any other foreign Power will be claimed on behalf of the subjects, ships, commerce, and navigation of Her Majesty's subjects under the Ist Article of the Treaty with this country of 1861.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

[*] M. Mirabita, February 19; to ditto, February 20; to Mr. Locock, No. 17, Commercial; Mr. Locock, Nos. 30, 31, and 32, Commercial; to ditto, No. 30, Commercial; to M. Mirabita, March 20, 1874.

---

No. 116.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 5.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 4, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 9th February ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General at Bucharest,* inclosing copy of an application from Isidore Gilberg, a Jewish youth of 16, praying to be admitted to British protection; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what instructions should be sent to Mr. Consul-General Vivian for his guidance in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Consul-General Vivian may, in our opinion, properly be instructed that Isidore Gilberg is not entitled to claim protection as a naturalized British subject.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 117.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 9.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 8, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 12th February ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 12th October last upon the subject of the suppression by the Turkish Government of the "Levant Times," an English newspaper published at Constantinople, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence which had subsequently taken place with Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople and with Mr. Hanley on the subject.†

That we would perceive from that correspondence that since the suppression of the "Levant Times" another paper which Mr. Hanley had been permitted to publish, the "Progrès d'Orient," having also been suppressed, Mr. Hanley urges that this second act of confiscation renders it the more incumbent upon him to press his claim for 10,000*l.* compensation on account of the suppression of the "Levant Times;" and that he (Mr. Lister) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should now be pursued by Her Majesty's Government.

That the previous papers regarding the suppression of the "Levant Times" were therewith inclosed for convenience of reference.‡

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

---

[*] Mr. Vivian, No. 8, Consular, January 30, 1875.

[†] To Sir H. Elliot, No. 192, October 17; Sir H. Elliot, No. 266, November 2; ditto, No. 306, November 22; Mr. Hanley, November 26; ditto, November 27; Sir H. Elliot, No. 320, December 1; to Mr. Hanley, December 22; to Sir H. Elliot, No. 294, December 24; Sir H. Elliot, No. 360, December 19; Mr. Hanley, December 23, 1874; to Sir H. Elliot, No. 2, January 6; ditto, No. 3, January 7; to Mr. Hanley, January 7; Sir H. Elliot, No. 27, January 10, 1875.

[‡] Sir H. Elliot, Nos. 123 and 124; to ditto, Nos. 125 and 126; Mr. Hanley, August 14; to ditto, August 29; Sir H. Elliot, Nos. 141, 152, and 159; ditto, No. 170, September 2 ditto, No. 186, September 10; to Law Officers, October 12, 1874.

1875

That we have carefully considered the papers transmitted to us, and particularly the article which caused the suppression of the "Progrès d'Orient," the notice published by Mr. Hanley in consequence of the suppression of his paper, the "Progrès d'Orient," the opinion of counsel forwarded by Mr. Hanley, and the despatch of Sir H. Elliot No. 27, January 18th, 1875, and we are of opinion that Her Majesty's Government cannot properly support in any way the claim of Mr. Hanley for compensation on account of the suppression by the Turkish Government of his paper, the "Levant Times."

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 118.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 24, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to an outrage recently committed upon two British subjects near Galatz; and to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether pecuniary compensation can properly be claimed from the Roumanian Government by that of Her Majesty on behalf of the sufferers through the crime in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, no pecuniary compensation can properly be claimed from the Roumanian Government by that of Her Majesty on behalf of the sufferers through the crime in question.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 119.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 25.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 24, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 19th ultimo, stating that he was directed to transmit to us the papers, as per inclosed list, respecting a charge which had been preferred against Mr. Etienne Pisani, First Dragoman to Her Majesty's Embassy at Constantinople, of having received bribes from certain Mining Companies in Turkey for advocating their cause and promoting their interests at Constantinople.

That as the charges in question appeared to Her Majesty's Ambassador to be not altogether unfounded, his Excellency, in consideration of the long services of Mr. E. Pisani in connection with Her Majesty's Embassy at Constantinople, was prepared to allow him to tender the resignation of his post as Dragoman; he was, however, informed that he would not be entitled to a pension.

That Mr. Pisani had declined to retire on those terms, and had called for an investigation into his case, and the charges brought against him were contained in the papers Mr. Bourke was then laying before us.

That, should these charges be proved, Mr. Pisani would be dismissed from Her Majesty's service.

That Mr. Bourke was to request that we would be so good as to take that case into our consideration, and report to your Lordship—

1. Whether we considered the accusation brought against Mr. Pisani to be proved.

---

* Mr. Vivian, No. 11, February ; to ditto, No. 8, February 27; Mr. Vivian, No. 13, February 23, 1875.

2. Whether further explanations were required from Her Majesty's Embassy or from Mr. Pisani, and whether we considered that he had had full opportunity of defending his conduct.

3. Whether, supposing that we considered those papers sufficient for us to form a judgment upon, and the accusation not to be conclusively established, we saw grounds sufficient for it to be necessary for your Lordship to withhold the certificate required by the Pension Act, that Mr. Pisani had served "with diligence and fidelity to the satisfaction of" the Secretary of State.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we are of opinion:—

1. That the accusation brought against Mr. Pisani cannot be treated as at present proved. In the last letter written by him to Sir Henry Elliot, under date the 18th January, 1875, he expresses his readiness and desire to meet the charges made against him; and in the despatch from the Foreign Office, under date the 26th January, he was informed that Sir Henry Elliot had been directed to investigate the matter.

We should infer also from the papers before us that Mr. Pisani's attention has not as yet been directed to that portion of the evidence against him which is contained in the inclosures in Sir Henry Elliot's despatch (No. 42) of the 24th January.

2. That Sir Henry Elliot should be instructed to prosecute the inquiry in accordance with the directions contained in the Foreign Office despatch of the 27th January; and that every opportunity should be afforded to Mr. Pisani of knowing the precise nature of the charge against him, and of the evidence in support of it.

At present it appears to us to be not necessarily inconsistent with the adduced evidence that Mr. Pisani may have been the dupe of others.

3. But the evidence at present before us is not sufficient to enable us to advise your Lordship upon the question of granting or withholding a certificate.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 120.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, March 27, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 6th January last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople,* relative to Mr. Reade's claim for the concession of the Sari Yeri copper mine.

That he (Mr. Lister) also inclosed, together with the previous correspondence in the case, a copy of a telegram from Mr. Harvey, together with copies of telegrams to and from Sir Henry Elliot, relative to the action of the Turkish authorities in regard to the ownership of the mines; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the further instructions which should be addressed to Sir Henry Elliot in the case.

We are also honoured with a note from Mr. Lister of the 22nd instant, stating that, with reference to the letter from the Foreign Office of the 13th instant, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration in connection with the previous papers in the case already before us, a further despatch, with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople,† relative to the question of the Sari Yeri copper mines.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report:—

That the claim of Mr. Reade against the Mining Council cannot, in our opinion, be officially supported by your Lordship.

Mr. Reade or his agents appear to have entered into a contract for the concession of the mine with persons who had not the power to assign over any rights to such mine. The position of the Mining Council is that they were willing to accept Mr. Reade as the Concessionaire if he got the consent of those who had existing interests in the mine.

---

* Sir H. Elliot, No. 10, Commercial.

† Sir H. Elliot, No. 28, Commercial.

The result of the lawsuit is that the consent of the real or existing Concessionaire was not obtained, and therefore the Mining Council are under no legal or other obligation to Mr. Reade.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 121.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 19.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 18, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd ultimo, stating that we were doubtless aware that for some years past the Egyptian Government had been in negotiation with the different European Powers with the view of substituting for the impracticable Law Courts at present established in Egypt, in which cases between natives and foreigners were tried, Tribunals presided over by Judges selected by the Egyptian Government, partly from among European States, and partly from among Egyptian subjects.

That that project having met with the approbation of the Powers, a Commission was held at Cairo in 1869, when it was decided that the action of the new Courts should be restricted to civil and commercial cases alone. Certain rules of procedure were then laid down, and the scheme of the Egyptain Government was fully discussed. It was finally agreed upon by the Commission that the new Tribunals should continue in force for a probationary period of five years. That Lord Tenterden inclosed a copy of the Report of the Commission.

That some delay ensued in consequence of the war between Germany and France, and that in 1872 a second International Commission was held at Constantinople for the purpose of devising the necessary guarantees for putting into operation the scheme previously agreed upon by the Powers.

That the Imperial Iradé sanctioning those Tribunals was issued by the Porte on the 19th July, 1872.

That the Report of the Commission, which was signed by all the Delegates, we would find at p. 180 of the inclosed vol. i of the Correspondence; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was also to annex a memorandum on the case, drawn up in April 1873.

That although the Report of the Commission was unanimously accepted, the French Delegate had throughout the proceedings interposed every obstacle in his power, in the hope of rendering the project useless, in which policy he was to a certain extent supported by his German and Russian colleagues.

That with that purpose in view difficulties were raised by them with respect to the position of fraudulent bankrupts, the "statut personnel" of foreigners, and the composition of the Parquet; they further required that a second French Judge of Appeal should be appointed, thereby defeating one of the most striking principles of the scheme, viz., that although elected from European States by the Viceroy, the Judges should not hold any representative position, which would have the effect of rendering the Tribunals simply international and not Egyptian; subsequently, they further required, that when the suit of a foreigner was before the Court, the Judge of the nation to which the litigant belonged should be present on the Bench, and they took exception to the proposed Codes, which had been already approved by a Special Commission appointed to examine them.

That a Convention, however, was ultimately signed between the French and Egyptian Governments (see p. 33, vol. ii), modifying the scheme, and that Lord Tenterden was to draw our attention to the Reports thereon from Her Majesty's Representatives at Constantinople and Paris, which we should find at pp. 47 and 50, vol. ii.

That that Convention had been submitted with the whole scheme to the consideration of the French Chambers, whose consent was requisite before the adhesion of the French Government could definitely be given to the new judicial reforms. That we should see from the papers that it was doubtful whether that consent would be obtained, and in the event of the final rejection of the scheme by France, the Viceroy

No. 120*.

Mr. Liddell to Lord Tenterden.—(Received April 3.)

My Lord, Whitehall, April 1, 1875.

I AM directed by Mr. Secretary Cross to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 17th ultimo, forwarding original correspondence,* now returned, respecting the expediency of concluding an Extradition Treaty with Turkey; and I am to transmit to you, for the purpose of being laid before the Earl of Derby, the accompanying copy of an opinion from the Law Officers of the Crown upon the subject, in which the Secretary of State concurs; and to acquaint you, for Lord Derby's information, that, on the question of policy alluded to in the last paragraph of the opinion, Mr. Cross thinks that the matter might very well be left alone for the present.

I am, &c.
(Signed) A. F. O. LIDDELL.

---

Inclosure in No. 120*.

Extradition Treaty with Turkey.

Law Officers' Opinion.

WE are of opinion that Her Majesty has no power at present, by Order in Council, to give authority to the Consular Court in Turkey to deliver up British subjects who are fugitive criminals. Such power might, however, be obtained by Treaty with the Turkish Government.

2. That any Treaty entered into with Turkey for the surrender, whether by the Consular Court or by the Turkish Tribunals, of fugitive criminals, would be curtailed in its operation by the jurisdiction of the Foreign Consular Courts, and could apply to British and Turkish subjects only.

3. We agree with Sir Thomas Henry in thinking that a Treaty even of this restricted character might be found practically useful, but whether it would be sufficiently useful to counterbalance the inconveniences suggested by Sir Philip Francis in his Memorandum of the 2nd January, 1875, is a question of policy which appears to us to deserve the serious consideration of your Lordship.

(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.

Lincoln's Inn, March 22, 1875.

---

* From Sir H. Elliot, No. 238, October 15, 1874; to ditto, No. 225, November 24, 1874; from ditto, No. 7, January 7, 1875.

1875

had signified his intention of proceeding with the reforms without the concurrence of the French Government.

That the other Powers appeared to have given their consent, and that some had already nominated Judges—the Russian Government alone proposed to reserve the right of receding from the arrangements prior to the termination of the five years' probation.

That Her Majesty's Government had given their adhesion to the new scheme, and at the request of the Egyptian Government they had recommended Mr. Scott as one of the Judges of the Court of Appeal.

That they had, however, delayed nominating officers to fill the posts of Judge of the Court of First Instance and a substitute to the "Procureur-Général" until they received satisfactory assurances that British interests would not be placed in a position inferior to that now demanded by France.

That, to guard against any such contingency, your Lordship considered that it would be necessary to conclude with the Egyptian Government a Convention claiming the right of England to enjoy all privileges and immunities which might be granted to other Powers in the new Tribunal; and that Lord Tenterden was to inclose the draft of an Agreement for that purpose, and that he was to request that we would take that draft into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether its provisions would meet the requirements of the case.

That we should observe that the draft was drawn so as to make it optional with Her Majesty's Government whether they would require to be put on the same footing as France or not, although, for political reasons, it was not desirable to allow France to occupy an exceptional position, and Great Britain should have the power to require that whatever was accorded to the subjects of any other nation should also be granted to British subjects, it might not be found in practice requisite to make the demand in regard to all the matters provided for in the French Agreement.

We are also honoured with a second letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 8th ultimo, stating that, with reference to the papers already under our consideration respecting the judicial reforms in Egypt, he begged to forward the accompanying further despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General in Egypt.

We have also the honour to acknowledge a further letter from Lord Tenterden, bearing date the 23rd ultimo, stating that he had the honour, by your Lordship's direction, to request that we would have the goodness to take into our consideration, together with the papers which were referred to us in his letter of the 2nd ultimo respecting judicial reform in Egypt, the two further despatches from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Alexandria, on that subject, which were therewith inclosed.

We are also honoured with a fourth letter from Lord Tenterden, dated the 7th instant, stating that, with reference to the question of judicial reform in Egypt, then under our consideration, he begged to forward a further despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Rome on the subject.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft Convention inclosed in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 2nd April provides for the requirements of the case. As regards the statement in General Stanton's despatch of the 9th April, to the effect that the conviction has been forced upon the Egyptian Government that the best method of overcoming the French opposition will be to institute the new Tribunals, without waiting for the adhesion of the French Government, and which despatch was forwarded to us by Lord Tenterden on the 23rd April, it appears to us, so far as it is within our province to advise upon such a matter, that the adoption of such a course by the Egyptian Government would not be open to objection.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

1875

No. 122.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 26.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, May 24, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 16th December, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further correspondence, as marked in the margin,* relative to the contemplated sale of the disused burial-ground at Smyrna.

Mr. Lister stated that the British residents who object to the sale appear to have confused the operation of the Levant Act with that of the Consular Act. And that your Lordship believes that the Consular property at Smyrna, as having been taken over from the Levant Company, is wholly regulated by the Levant Act, and that the Consular Act is not in any way applicable to Smyrna; so that if the burial-ground had ever been under the joint management of the Consulate and the British residents, which, however, does not appear to have been the case, no lien on the ground could be claimed by the residents on that account.

Copies of the Levant and Consular Acts were inclosed, as well as the previous correspondence,† some of which Mr. Lister stated has already been before us; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the correctness of the views as above stated, and as to whether we see any reason to modify our previous decision.

Mr. Lister stated that your Lordship would also be glad to learn whether we consider that Her Majesty's Government are under any legal obligation not to sell the ground in question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the burial-ground is under the Levant Act and not under the Consular Act, which last is not applicable to this burial-ground at Smyrna.

And we think Her Majesty's Government was not under any legal obligation not to sell the ground in question.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 123.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 9.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, June 7, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th May ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from Messrs. Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke, requesting leave to inspect papers at the Foreign Office bearing upon a suit pending between the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, and Mr. Joshua, of Damascus.

That the correspondence relating to the case was inclosed, as well as a previous one of last year, bearing on Mr. Joshua's antecedents;* and he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship, at our early convenience, with our opinion as to whether the request of Messrs. Clarke and Rawlins could properly be complied with.

---

* To Messrs. Barker, Stevens, and Sons, December 29, 1874; Mr. Wood, February 6; Memorandum, March 16; to Consul Cumberbatch, No. 9, March 23; Consul Cumberbatch, No. 34, April 17, 1875.

† Levant Act (see Inclosure 2A); Consular Act; Smyrna residents, No. 12; Consul Cumberbatch, No. 81, November 13; ditto, No. 86, December 4, 1874.

‡ Mr. A. Sydney, January 9; to Vice-Consul Green, No. 1, January 27; to India Office, January 27; to Mr. Sydney, January 29; India Office, February 5; Vice-Consul Green, No. 1, February 14; to Sir P. Francis, No. 13, March 9; Sir P. Francis, No. 32, April 2; ditto, No. 37, April 13; to Mr. Sydney, April 28, 1874; Mr. Tomkins, February 19; to ditto, February 25; to Sir P. Francis, No. 11, February 26; Mr. Tomkins, March 6; to Vice-Consul Green, No. 4, March 11; to Sir P. Francis, No. 17, March 12; to Mr. Tomkins, March 13; Vice-Consul Green (Telegraphic), March 13; to Mr. Tomkins, March 16; Sir P. Francis, No. 31, March 23; Vice-Consul Green, No. 4, March 13; Chartered Mercantile Bank, received April 2; to ditto, April 12; to Sir H. Elliot, No. 24, April 12; Sir P. Francis, No. 41, April 9; ditto, No. 55, April 29; to Mr. Tomkins, May 15, 1875.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the request of Messrs. Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke cannot, without the risk of establishing a bad precedent, be complied with to the extent which they require.

But as the plaintiff in the Chancery suit proposes to adduce certain letters which were sent from the Foreign Office to Mr. Tomkins, we think Messrs. Clarke might properly be allowed to inspect the letter from the Foreign Office to Mr. Tomkins dated the 15th May, 1875.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 124.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, June 15, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 14th ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Report of the Law Officers of the Crown, dated the 27th April, 1874, respecting the case of Mrs. Rassam, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, and its inclosures, from Mr. Joseph P. Turner, requesting to be furnished, in Mrs. Rassam's behalf, with any information which might be in your Lordship's possession in regard to the matter in question, together with a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General and Judge at Constantinople, forwarding the Report made upon the case on the 15th December last by the Acting British Vice-Consul at Mossul; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether Mr. Peretie's Report above mentioned might properly be communicated to Mrs. Rassam's solicitor, as suggested by Sir P. Francis.

That the previous papers relating to that case were annexed for convenience of reference.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Report of Mr. Peretie cannot properly be communicated to Mrs. Rassam's solicitor.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 125.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 16.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, June 16, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Kirby Green, Her Majesty's Vice-Consul at Damascus, who was then on leave in this country, stating that he had been subpœnaed to appear before a Special Examiner appointed by the Court of Chancery, for his examination as a witness in the suit between Mr. Joseph Joshua and the Chartered Mercantile Bank of India, London, and China, and requesting to be informed whether he should resist an attempt which was being made, on his cross-examination, to force him to give evidence of the reasons which guided Sir Philip Francis and himself in certain judicial matters unconnected with the suit; and that he was to request that we would take that paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course which should be pursued by Mr. Kirby Green in that matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That Mr. Kirby Green may, in our opinion, properly be instructed to decline to answer all questions foreign to Mr. Joshua's suit, or connected with any confidential judicial communications which may have passed between the Supreme Consular Court in Constantinople and Mr. Kirby Green's Court at Damascus.

1875

We are not informed what the questions were to which Mr. Kirby Green objects, and we are therefore unable to say how far, or whether at all, Mr. Kirby Green's apprehensions are well founded.

But the Judge before whom the case may be tried is the proper person to decide whether the question can properly be answered, and we see no reason for the attendance before the Examiner of Counsel on behalf of the Crown.

The Examiner, on Mr. Kirby Green's refusing to answer, must refer the matter to the Judge.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 126.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 23.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 21, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Messrs. Lynch, Brothers, requesting to be informed whether, in the event of the destruction, by order of the Turkish Government, of certain property which they held in the neighbourhood of districts in Mesopotamia stated to be infected with plague, they would be entitled to compensation for its loss; and that he was to request that we would take that paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the answer which should be returned to Messrs. Lynch in regard to the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Messrs. Lynch may properly be answered that they will not be entitled to compensation in the event of the destruction, by order of the Turkish Government, of certain property belonging to them in districts infected by the plague, unless the Turkish Government should compensate Turkish subjects for losses incurred under similar circumstances.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 127.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 23.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 21, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 21st May ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 13th July last, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter, with its inclosures, from Mr. Tipping, the Chairman of the Danube and Black Sea Railway and Kustendje Harbour Company (May 12, 1875), containing observations with respect to the bearing upon that Company's claim against the Turkish Government of certain circumstances connected with the construction of the jetty at Kustendje.

The former papers in this case were likewise inclosed; and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we may have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, as we understand the case, the Danube and Black Sea Railway and Kustendje Harbour Company have contracted, by agreement with the Turkish Government, to execute certain works connected with the harbour, and for which the Turkish Government, in performance of the work, "contre justification de l'exécution d'un tiers au moins des travaux," undertook to pay.

In our Report to your Lordship of the 13th July last we said that, in our opinion, the Turkish Government had a right to see that the works were properly executed, in other words, that the Company had performed its part of the contract, before payment could be insisted upon.

We see no reason to change that opinion; at the same time, it is obvions that the Turkish Government should not indefinitely delay an examination of the work for the purpose of putting off the payments properly due.

We are utterly at a loss to conceive what Mr. Tipping means by supposing that the words of the Report, as contained in your Lordship's instructions, or in Lord Tenterden's letter, conveyed any imputation upon his Company. They mean no more than that the Turkish Government, which has to pay for the work, has, before parting with its money, the right to see that the work has been efficiently and properly done.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 128.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received June 30.)

Lincoln's Inn, June 30, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 31st ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, together with the former papers on the question of judicial reform in Egypt, a further despatch from Her Majesty's Agent and Consul-General at Alexandria, forwarding a copy of a Convention which had been signed by the Egyptian Government and the German Consul-General; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would inform your Lordship whether, in our opinion, the Convention which Her Majesty's Government proposed to enter into with Egypt will secure to them similar privileges to those sought to be obtained by Germany.

That Lord Tenterden was to request the favour of an early reply on that point.

We are also honoured with a letter from Mr. Lister, bearing date the 14th instant, stating that, with reference to Lord Tenterden's letter of the 31st ultimo, he had the honour to transmit to us therewith a copy of the Agreement entered into between the German Consul-General in Egypt and the Government of the Khedive on the subject of judicial reform.

That that Agreement had been communicated to your Lordship by the German Ambassador, and that your Lordship was desirous that it should be compared with the copy of the same Agreement sent home by Major-General Stanton in his No. 64 of the 14th May, which despatch was, together with other papers, before the Law Officers.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the reservations with regard to British churches and schools in Egypt, and to British subjects belonging to the Catholic establishments in Egypt, which are made in the German and Egyptian Convention, should be made in the Convention between Her Majesty's Government and the Egyptian Government.

General Stanton does not suggest any other reservations, but since Conventions will probably be made by other Governments, we think, and suggest for your Lordship's consideration, that the British Convention, in addition to the special reservation recommended by General Stanton, should contain a general clause securing to Her Majesty's Government, if that Government should so desire, reservations similar to any which may hereafter or have already been made in any Convention between the Egyptian and other foreign Governments.

This general clause will not, as it appears to us, interfere either with the most-favoured-nation clause, or the special reservations, and may be useful.

And in answer to Lord Tenterden's letter of the 23rd instant, stating that your Lordship would be much obliged if we would favour your Lordship, at our early convenience, with our opinion whether the Convention which Her Majesty's Government proposed to enter into with Egypt would secure to them privileges similar to those sought by Germany, and that Lord Tenterden was at the same time to inclose the correspondence, from which we should perceive that the Egyptian Government had expressed their hope that the proposed Agreement might be submitted to them as soon as possible, we are of opinion that such a clause will secure to Her Majesty's Government all privileges similar to those sought by Germany.

1875

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 129.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 13.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 13, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 15th May last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to inform us that upon the receipt of our Report of the 24th March last relative to the charges brought against Mr. Pisani, your Lordship instructed Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople to make further inquiry into the matter, it being essential that Mr. Pisani should know the precise nature of the charges brought against him, as it was not impossible that he had been made the dupe of others.

That he (Mr. Lister) was then to transmit to us a further despatch from Sir H. Elliot (No. 222, April 29), stating that he had communicated to Mr. Pisansi the various documents containing the charges brought against him, and inclosing a copy of Mr. Pisansi's reply thereto and that he was also to inclose a letter from Mr. Piansi (May 10), containing a copy of his reply to Sir H. Elliot; and to request that we would again take the case into our consideration and advise your Lordship as to the course which should be taken as regards the pension which Mr. Pisani claims.

That the former papers, as noted in the inclosed list, were forwarded for convenience of reference.

We are also honoured with a note from Lord Tenterden of the 25th May last, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would suspend our Report on Mr. Pisani's case until the receipt of a further communication from the Foreign Office, as a telegram had been received from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople stating that he hoped shortly to send some fresh and important evidence in the case.

We are also honoured with a note from Mr. Lister of the 14th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to Lord Tenterden's letter of the 25th May, he had the honour to transmit therewith a further despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople (No. 270, June 2, 1875), bearing upon the case of Mr. Pisani.

That as soon as Mr. Pisani's reply was received it would be submitted to us.

We are also honoured with a further letter from Lord Tenterden of the 21st June ultimo, stating that, with reference to his letter of the 14th June relative to the charges preferred against Mr. Pisani, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith a despatch from Her Majesty's Ambassador at Constantinople (Sir H. Elliot, No. 279, June 8, 1875), containing further explanations from Mr. Pisani, together with a letter addressed direct to your Lordship from that gentleman (June 11, 1875); and that he (Lord Tenterden) was further to add that your Lordship would now be glad to be furnished with our opinion upon the whole case.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, your Lordship cannot arrive at any satisfactory decision respecting the conduct of Mr. Pisani upon the evidence laid before us.

That evidence consists of statements made, which, if true, seriously affect the character of Mr. Pisani. On the other hand, Mr. Pisani explains away or directly contradicts the statements so made.

We think that an inquiry should be made before a Commissioner, who, having taken all the evidence upon the alleged facts, and examined the witnesses against Mr. Pisani in his presence, and given him the opportunity of cross-examination, should make a full Report to your Lordship.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 130.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 14, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th June ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence with M. Kayat,* who, having been born in Syria, claims to be a British subject in virtue of his father having received a certificate of naturalization in July 1847.

That we would observe that that certificate was granted before any restrictions were imposed in the certificates, as would be seen on referring to the Report of the Naturalization Commission, of which a copy was inclosed, p. 9.

That your Lordship nevertheless apprehended that the grant of a certificate under the Act 7 and 8 Vict., cap. 66, sec. 6, was personal, and did not confer British nationality by descent upon the children of the naturalized alien, born abroad, the Statutes 7 Anne, cap. 5, and 4 Geo. II, cap. 21, only being applicable to the children and grandchildren of natural-born-British subjects.

That a draft answer to M. Kayat had been prepared in that sense, and that your Lordship would be glad to be favoured with our opinion whether it was right and proper.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the draft answer to M. Kayat is right and proper.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 131.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 14.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 14, 1875.

We are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 30th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 7th June in regard to the Joshua case, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration, a further letter upon the same subject from Messrs. Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke (June 21, 1875); and that he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether their application to be furnished with copies of the two letters from Mr. Tomkins, to which reference is therein made, and which were also sent therewith for our information, could properly be complied with.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the request of Messrs. Clarke, Rawlins, and Clarke cannot properly be complied with.

Their clients can answer the interrogatory to the best of their information and belief, without seeing the letters copies of which are requested, and granting the request would lead to further appeals on behalf of both litigants in the present matter, and be an inconvenient precedent in other cases.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 132.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 28.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, July 27, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 30th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us papers relating to the alleged detention at Constantinople of a girl named Catherine Wright by her uncle, Mr. Walsh; and that he (Mr. Bourke) was to request that we would take the case into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to what instructions should be given to Sir Philip Francis with regard to it.

---

* M. Kayat, May 3; to ditto, May 15; M. Kayat, May 25; proposed draft to M. Kayat.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the solution of the question as to the proper course to be pursued in the case of Catherine Wright is one not free from difficulty.

The Judicature Act of 1873, in the 10th sub-section of the 25th clause, enacts that, "In questions relating to the custody and education of infants the rules of equity shall prevail;" but this Act will not come into operation until the 1st November next.

At the present moment the rules of Courts of Equity and of Common Law differ as regards the course to be adopted in the case of a father demanding the custody of his child. The Court of Queen's Bench, upon a habeas corpus, would, in all probability, though possibly with a strong expression of regret as to the obligation upon it, direct the delivery of Catherine Wright to her father, notwithstanding his abandonment of all parental duty for at least twelve years; but a Court of Equity, if Catherine Wright were a ward of Court, so as to give it jurisdiction, would most certainly, before deciding either as to the custody or as to the education, religious or otherwise, of the child, direct a preliminary inquiry as to what was best, under the circumstances of the case, for the interests of the child, and would act upon the results of such inquiry.

In the case of Lyons v. Blenkin (reported in Jac., p. 245) Lord Eldon most distinctly laid down that a father might lose his right to the custody of his child by allowing it to be brought up by other persons, and these views have been since constantly recognized, and notably in the recent case of Andrews v. Salt, 8 Law Reports (Chancery Appeals), p. 622. A stronger case of abandonment of a father's rights over the bringing up of his child can hardly be imagined than that of the father of Catherine Wright.

Under the Order in Council creating jurisdiction in Turkey, the Council has to administer justice "in conformity with the Common Law, the Rules of Equity, and the Statute Law," and it appears to us that, under these circumstances, Sir Philip Francis, as the Judge exercising jurisdiction in Turkey, should, before complying with any application by Mr. Wright for the delivery to him, or to his nominee, of the custody his child, make all such inquiries as a Judge in Equity would, under similar circumstances, make in England, and should act upon the result of such inquiries. So far as the facts of the case can be inferred from the papers before us, it does not appear to us to be a case in which a Court of Chancery in England would allow any change to be made in the religious education of the infant.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 133.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received August 7.)

Lincoln's Inn, August 6, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 19th July ultimo, stating that, with reference to the proposed scheme of judicial reform in Egypt, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying correspondence, as marked in the margin,[*] on the subject of the supposed intention of the Egyptian Government to attribute to the new Tribunals jurisdiction in the matter of the imposition of new taxes upon foreigners.

That we would perceive that that matter had formed the subject of recent correspondence between the French and Egyptian Governments; that the Acting British Agent and Consul-General at Alexandria had requested to be furnished with instructions as to the language he should hold if called upon to discuss it; and that the French Government had asked, through their Ambassador at this Court, to be informed of the view entertained thereon by Her Majesty's Government.

That the "Règlement d'Oganisation Judiciaire," referred to in Mr. Cookson's despatch, was to be found at p. 195 of vol. i of the printed correspondence which was therewith inclosed;[*] and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion on those questions, and as to the course which should be taken thereon by Her Majesty's Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the "Règlement d'Organisation Judiciaire," referred to in Mr. Cookson's despatch, and the construction of which forms the subject of the correspondence transmitted to us, will not give the new Tribunals in Egypt jurisdiction in the matter of the imposition of new taxes upon foreigners.

The power to impose such taxes must, when necessary, be sought in and founded upon the Treaties, and new taxes cannot be imposed upon foreigners in contravention of those Treaties, save with the consent of the parties to such Treaties.

The new Tribunals, however, will, we are of opinion, have jurisdiction to decide upon questions connected with the payment of, or exemption from, a tax, or the amount thereof, where the principle or legality of the tax is not in doubt.

Your Lordship will see that we concur with General Stanton on the construction of the Règlement.

We also concur with him in thinking that "the power of deciding whether a tax imposed upon foreigners by the Egyptian Government be legal or not should not be vested in the new Tribunals."

Therefore, and in order to obviate all future difficulties, and to clear away the possible construction of the Règlement apprehended by the Duc Decazes, your Lordship might, in our opinion, properly direct that the Egyptian Government should be directly informed that Her Majesty's Government refuses to give the new Tribunals jurisdiction to decide upon the legality of taxes imposed by the Egyptian Government upon British subjects.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 134.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 17.)

Temple, September 15, 1875.

My Lord,

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the correspondence, as inserted in the margin;[†] which has taken place since the receipt of our Report of the 14th November last, in regard to the alteration proposed in the Table of Fees annexed to the Turkish Order in Council of the 12th December, 1873. The former papers were also annexed for convenience of reference;[‡] and Mr. Lister was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the Order in Council of which a draft was inclosed in Mr. Reilly's Report of the 12th March, 1874, may now be passed, together with the Table of Fees inclosed in his further Report of the 13th October, 1874.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

---

[*] Lord Lyons, No. 463; Mr. Cookson, No. 79; General Stanton, July 11; Duc Decazes to M. d'Harcourt, July 1 (communicated July 10), 1875.

[*] Vols. i and ii, print: Report of International Commission lately sitting at Cairo, 1869 and 1870.

[†] Mr. Reilly, November 24; to Treasury, November 30, 1874; Treasury, March 17; to Sir P. Francis, No. 22, March 30; Sir P. Francis, No. 62, May 8; to Mr. Reilly, June 28; Mr. Reilly, July 7; to Treasury, July 16; Treasury, August 20, 1875.

[‡] Sir P. Francis, No. 11, January 19; to Mr. Reilly, January 27; Mr. Reilly, February 3; Law Officers, February 17; to Mr. Reilly, February 26; Mr. Reilly, March 12; to Treasury, March 14; Treasury, April 1; to Sir P. Francis, No. 20, April 8; Sir P. Francis, No. 57, May 28; ditto, No. 63, June 22; to Treasury, July 16; Treasury, July 30; Law Officers, August 25; ditto, August 27; to Mr. Reilly, September 8; Mr. Reilly, October 13; Law Officers, November 14, 1874.

1875

That the Order in Council may, in our opinion, be passed, together with the Table of Fees as finally approved. See Mr. Reilly's letter, 24th November, 1874, and Sir P. Francis' despatch, 18th May, 1875, No. 62, Judicial.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 135.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 16.)

My Lord,

Lincoln's Inn, October 15, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 18th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Acting Agent and Consul-General in Egypt, requesting instructions as to the manner in which British Consular jurisdiction should be suspended upon the opening of the new Judicial Tribunals in that country.

That, as it was uncertain whether the new Courts would commence operations before the expiration of the present year, it would be premature to give any final instructions to Mr. Cookson upon that subject; but that your Lordship would be glad, nevertheless, to have our opinion as to the proper course which should be adopted for putting an end to British Consular jurisdiction when the new Courts should be opened.

That we would bear in mind that the new Tribunals were only probationary for a period of five years; and were precluded from dealing with criminal cases, except such as referred to the execution of the sentences of the Judges.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, an Order in Council will be required, applicable to the changes made in the Consular jurisdiction in Egypt by the introduction of new Judicial Tribunals in that country.

The Order, whenever made, should take effect at the same time with the beginning of the working of the new Tribunals, that there may be no conflict of jurisdiction.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 136.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 21.)

My Lord,

Lincoln's Inn, October 20, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 22nd ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to request that we would take the inclosed despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General at Bucharest into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion, at our early convenience, on the validity of the will of which a copy was therein contained.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That it does not clearly appear, from the papers before us, what was the domicile of origin of Miss Greenwood, or what was her domicile at the date of her will, but, upon the assumption that her domicile of origin was English, and that her domicile was also English at the date of her will, we are of opinion that such will was valid, and should be admitted to probate, if it was made according to the forms required by the laws in force at Kronstadt in Transylvania, where, it appears, the will was made (see 24 and 25 Vict., cap. 114, sec. 1), but that, unless the will was made in accordance with the forms required by the laws in force in Kronstadt, it is not a valid will, inasmuch as, not having been signed by the testatrix or by any other person in her presence and by her direction, it was not made in accordance with the forms required by law in England (see 1 Vict., cap. 26, sec. 9).

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 137.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 30.)

My Lord,

Temple, December 30, 1875.

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 24th instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 15th October, in which we stated that it would be necessary that an Order in Council should be prepared to enable Her Majesty's Government to make use of the new Tribunals to be instituted in Egypt, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying letter from Mr. Reilly, inclosing the draft of the required document, and to request that we would have the goodness to take this draft into our consideration, and report to your Lordship whether it will meet the requirements of the case.

Lord Tenterden was also pleased to state that, as it is proposed to put the new Tribunals into operation by the 1st January, he was to request that we would favour your Lordship with our opinion at our earliest convenience.

The former papers were annexed for reference if required.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken this matter into our consideration and have the honour to report—

That the draft Order in Council, in our opinion, meets the requirements of the case.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
HARDINGE S. GIFFARD.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

United States.

No. 138.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 18.)

My Lord,

Lincoln's Inn, March 17, 1875.

WE were favoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 23rd February ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Washington,* together with its inclosures, relative to lands occupied by British subjects in the Island of San Juan and other islands in the neighbourhood, which had become United States' territory under the award of the Emperor of Germany, in accordance with the provisions of the XXXIVth Article of the Treaty of Washington of the 8th May, 1871; and that he was to request that we would take the paper into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion upon the point raised by Sir Edward Thornton.

---

* Sir E. Thornton, No. 1, January 4, 1875.

1875

That he (Mr. Bourke) was likewise to transmit, for our information, the further papers, as marked in the margin, bearing upon the question.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we entirely agree with the view taken of these cases by Sir E. Thornton.

Not one of the fourteen deponents has, in our opinion, a title to the lands occupied by him, except by sufferance. He might on that ground be entitled to the favourable consideration of the Government of the United States. But that favourable consideration has apparently been withheld, and we think that Sir Edward Thornton cannot properly be instructed to press the matter any further.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 139.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 22.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 22, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 8th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter from the Colonial Office, forwarding a despatch from the Governor of Hong Kong relative to a protest made by the United States' Consul in that Colony against a decision given by a Court of Law in a suit for wages between an American seaman and the master of an American vessel, on the ground that the Hong Kong Courts had no jurisdiction over American seamen in matters of discipline; and that Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion as to the right of the Hong Kong Court to exercise jurisdiction in such cases.

That in order to assist us in forming a judgment on the matter, a despatch from Her Majesty's Consul-General at New York, referring to the jurisdiction exercised by United States' Courts in suits brought by foreign seamen, was inclosed, together with a memorandum on Consular Conventions drawn up in the Foreign Office, the Appendix to which contained passages bearing on the subject at pp. 62 and 66.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the Hong Kong Court had the right to exercise jurisdiction in the suit for wages between an American seaman and the master of an American vessel.

That jurisdiction is freely exercised by the United States' Courts, and the decision of the Marine Court at New York expressly recognizes that right (see p. 13 of the Report of the case Petersen v. Brockleman).

And though Chief Justice Shea, at p. 14, expresses a doubt whether the Marine Court, over which he presided, had jurisdiction in a suit in which a vessel is attached for seamen's wages, he grounds his decision (p. 19) substantially upon the Consular Convention between the United States and the German Empire, by virtue of which (p. 22) all local jurisdiction over the discipline and internal order of merchant vessels belonging to the German Empire had been suspended.

In making this Report, in obedience to your Lordship's commands, we have confined ourselves to the question stated by Mr. Lister; but, whilst we are of opinion that the jurisdiction is clear, we think that, in cases where the Consular officer of the nation to which the ship and the parties belong protests, the local Court should entertain the suit only in cases of great urgency. And we doubt whether the local Court should, as a matter of discretion, entertain the suit at all where the Consular officer has determined the questions at issue between his own countrymen.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 140.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received March 25.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, March 24, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 13th instant, stating that, with reference to the Report of the Law Officers (therewith inclosed), dated the 12th August, 1873, relative to the claim of the Great Western Steam-ship Company against the State of New York, on account of head-money wrongfully levied by that State upon passengers from Great Britain; and that he (Mr. Lister) was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a letter (with its inclosures) from Mr. John Miles,* wherein he urges a reconsideration of the decision arrived at in this case by Her Majesty's Government, as communicated to him in a letter from the Foreign Office of the 15th August, 1873.

The previous papers in this case were likewise inclosed;† and Mr. Lister was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with such observations as we might have to offer thereupon.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That we have considered the letter, with its inclosures, of Mr. John Miles, but we see no reason for differing from the opinions submitted to your Lordship in April and August 1873, and we think the request of Mr. John Miles cannot properly be complied with.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 141.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 22.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, April 21, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 11th ultimo, stating that he was directed to transmit to us two despatches from Her Majesty's Minister in Japan, requesting instructions as to whether British subjects serving on board American men-of-war were amenable to American or British jurisdiction for offences committed on shore in Japan, and that he, Mr. Lister, was to request us to take these papers into our consideration, and to report to your Lordship our opinion as to the answer that should be returned to Sir H. Parkes' inquiry.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the question whether a British subject serving on board an American man-of-war is or is not amenable to British jurisdiction, for offences committed on shore in Japan, is one of considerable nicety. If the question had reference to offences committed on shore within the British dominions, we should have concurred in thinking that it should be answered in the affirmative; though, in any such case, the commander of the man-of-war should be apprized of the circumstances attending the arrest, in order that he may secure the due administration of justice. This view, enunciated by Ortolan ("Dipl. de la Mer," vol. i, p. 291), and adopted by Sir R. Phillimore ("International Law," vol. i, p. 401), appears to us to be in accordance with general principles of International Law.

But the question submitted to us by your Lordship has reference to offences committed on shore in Japan, where the jurisdiction is mixed. Upon this our views differ: Dr. Deane is of opinion that a British subject serving on board of an American man-of-war is not amenable to British jurisdiction in respect of offences committed by him on shore in Japan; whilst the Attorney-General and Solicitor-General are of opinion that the British subject is equally amenable to British jurisdiction in respect of offences committed by him on shore in Japan, as in respect of offences committed by him on shore within the British dominions.

We, however, concur in thinking that as, in the case referred to in Sir H. Parkes' despatch of the 18th January, 1870, the American Consul and the American Minister in Japan differ in their views upon the subject, and the latter appears to have referred

---

* Mr. Miles, February 8, 1875.

† Mr. Miles, April 17; Law Officers, August 1; to Mr, Miles, August 15, 1873.

1875

the matter to his Government, it would be expedient to take no further action until the claim for the repayment of the fine imposed by the British Consul is either renewed by the American Government or abandoned.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 142.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 15.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 14, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 3rd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Sir Edward Thornton (No. 120, April 5, 1875), inquiring the views of Her Majesty's Government as to the right of British vessels to import into the United States, free of duty, fish taken in the waters of that country.

That a letter from the Colonial Office (April 27, 1875) on the subject was also inclosed, together with a copy of the Treaty of Washington; and that he (Lord Tenterden) was to request us to take the matter into our consideration, and to report to your Lordship our opinion as to the answer which should be sent to Sir Edward Thornton's despatch.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, fish taken in the waters of the United States may be imported into that country free of duty, in British vessels. But Sir Edward Thornton may properly be instructed, as some doubt may exist upon the true meaning of the XXIst Article, not to raise the question unless it is forced upon him by the United States' Government, and to express no opinion to any individual citizen of the United States.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 143.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 12.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 12, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 4th June ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two letters from the Colonial Office (April 27 and May 28) and a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Washington (No. 127), relative to the refusal of the United States' Customs authorities to allow the importation, free of duty, of fish and fish-oil from British Columbia, under the XXIst Article of the Treaty of Washington.

That Article provided that fish and fish-oil, the produce of the United States or of the Dominion of Canada, should be admitted into each country free of duty. Mr. Lister stated that it must be borne in mind that, at the date of the signature of the Treaty, British Columbia did not form part of the Dominion. The Canadian Government, however, contend that, as the Act of the United States' Congress giving effect to the provisions of the Treaty respecting fisheries was passed after the admission of British Columbia to the Dominion, and applied to "all fish-oil and fish of all kinds (except fish of the inland lakes and of the rivers falling into them, and except fish preserved in oil), being the produce of the fisheries of the Dominion of Canada or of Prince Edward Island," they have a right to claim free admission for fish-oil and fish from British Columbia.

A copy of the Washington Treaty, and a volume containing the Revised Statutes of the United States, were annexed for convenience of reference; and Mr. Lister was to request us to take the papers into our consideration, and to report to your Lordship our opinion as to the course which Her Majesty's Government should pursue in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the words "Dominion of Canada," in the Treaty of Washington, Article XXI, must be governed by the state of things existing in May 1871, and cannot now receive a wider construction from the fact that additional territory has since been added to the Dominion.

We are unable to agree with the reasoning in the Report of the Committee of Privy Council of the 30th April, 1875, upon the XXVIth Article of the Treaty of Washington; and we think no inference applicable in any way to the present case can be drawn from the provision that the navigation of certain specified rivers is to be free.

But we think that some confirmation of the view taken by the United States' Custom-house is given by Articles XVIII and XIX of the Treaty, which apply only to fisheries on the eastern, or Atlantic, side of the continent.

The Article XXXIII provides the means by which the several Articles named are to be carried into operation, but does not provide for extending the meaning or operation of those Articles; and we think the Act of Congress of the 1st March, 1873, and the Act of the Parliament of Canada of the 14th June, 1872, must both be construed with reference to the "Dominion of Canada" as that Dominion was on the 8th May, 1871.

We are therefore of opinion that your Lordship cannot properly instruct Sir E. Thornton to bring the matter before the United States' Government.

Whether the Canadian Government should refuse to admit the similar produce of the United States free of duty, or an Additional Article should be added to the Treaty providing for the case of British Columbia, are questions of policy which we venture to suggest for consideration.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 144.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received July 13.)

Lincoln's Inn, July 12, 1875.

My Lord,

WE were honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 18th June ultimo, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 21st April last on the subject of jurisdiction over offences committed on shore in Japan by British subjects serving on board United States' men-of-war, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Washington,* reporting a conversation which he had had with Mr. Fish on that subject; and Lord Tenterden further stated that he was to request that we would take the despatch into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether, in the event of such a course being considered advisable, Her Majesty's Government have power under the Treaties between China and Japan, and without legislation in this country, to enter into an agreement of a nature similar to that suggested by the United States' Government.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken the despatch into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, an agreement such as that suggested by Mr. Fish could not properly be concluded without legislation in this country, nor under the Treaties with China and Japan. But we think that until some agreement on the subject is come to with the Government of the United States, the British authorities in China and Japan might properly be instructed not to interfere with British subjects serving in United States' or other foreign men-of-war, upon the principle that, having taken service with a foreign State, they are for the time being under the protection of such foreign State, and not that of Her Majesty's Government.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Sir E. Thornton (original), No. 156, Confidential, May 24, 1875.

No. 145.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 17.)

Temple, September 17, 1875.

My Lord,

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 6th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us two letters from the Home Office, relative to the reported intention of the United States' Government to cause one Charles Lewis Lawrence, who was surrendered to them by Her Majesty's Government on a charge of forgery, to be tried on charges other than those on which his extradition was granted.

That it appears from the accompanying telegrams from Sir Edward Thornton, who was directed to inquire into the state of the case, that the United States' Government have been advised by their Solicitor-General that the course which they are pursuing with regard to Lawrence is legal; and Mr. Lister was to request us to take the papers into our immediate consideration, and report to your Lordship, at our earliest convenience, our opinion as to the steps that should be taken in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, Sir E. Thornton may properly be instructed to protest against Lawrence being put upon his trial for any offence other than the offence on account of which he was surrendered.

The reasons for such protest are so clearly put in the Home Office letter of the 4th September, that we suggest, for your Lordship's consideration, that the paragraphs in that letter numbered 1, 2, 3, and 4 should be communicated to Sir E. Thornton as part of his instructions.

We have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.
(For the Solicitor-General and myself.)

---

No. 146.

The Attorney-General to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 26.)

Lincoln's Inn, October 25, 1875.

My Lord,

IN conjunction with the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, I was honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th September, 1875, stating that, with reference to the letter of the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane of the 17th September, relative to the case of Lawrence's extradition, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, received on the 19th September from Sir E. Thornton, forwarding a copy of the argument presented by the District Attorney of the State of New York in support of the right of the United States' Government to try Lawrence for crimes other than those for which he was given up.

That he (Mr. Lister) was at the same time to inclose a memorandum on the subject, which had been prepared in the Foreign Office, and that he was to call our attention to the accompanying Report by the Law Officers of the 25th February, 1865, on the case of Burley, who was surrendered to the United States on a charge of robbery, in which they gave it as their opinion that if Burley was "bonâ fide put on his trial for the offence in respect of which he was given up, it seemed difficult to question the right of the United States' Government to put him upon his trial also for piracy, or any other offence of which he might be accused of having committed within their territory, whether or not such offence was a ground of extradition, or even within the Treaty."

That your Lordship would wish that, before any instruction was sent to Sir E. Thornton, we should take the case again into our consideration, and report to you our opinion upon the following points, as well as upon any others which we might think required notice:—

1. Have Her Majesty's Government the right, in view of the fact that Lawrence was given up unconditionally, of protesting against his trial upon a charge other than the extradition crime, if he is first bonâ fide tried for that crime?

2. Have they such a right if he is tried upon the other charge without being first tried for the extradition crime?

3. If the offence for which the United States' Government proposed to try him was not a crime mentioned in the Treaty of 1842, would that be a ground for protesting, if their right in other respects was admitted?

4. Do the terms of the Treaty of 1842 debar Her Majesty's Government from refusing the extradition of a fugitive criminal without such an "arrangement," that he shall not be tried fer another offence than the extradition crime, as is contemplated by the 3rd clause of the Act of 1870?

That the former papers were annexed for convenience of reference.

That he (Mr. Lister) inclosed a further despatch from Sir E. Thornton, reporting the proceedings in the case, from which it appeared that the prisoner's counsel had waived their right to have him first tried on the extradition charge.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into our consideration; but as we have the misfortune to differ in the views which we take of the subject referred to us, we have thought it convenient to address to your Lordship separate Reports. In my own case, I feel that the adoption of this course is the more convenient, as I was unable to take part in the consideration of the papers upon which the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane reported to your Lordship on the 17th September.

Under these circumstances, I have the honour to report to your Lordship as follows:—

That, in my opinion, the Treaty of 1842, so far as regards the construction to be put upon it and the application of its provisions to the case of Lawrence, is in no way affected by the Extradition Act of 1870.

That, inasmuch as the 10th section of the Treaty provides for the surrender of a prisoner charged with any of the extradition offences, upon such evidence of criminality as would justify his apprehension and commitment for trial if the offence had been committed in the place where he is found, but imposes no condition whatever as to the mode in which the surrendered person is to be subsequently dealt with, it appears to me that, under no fair construction of the Treaty itself, can the Contracting Party who has surrendered the prisoner be entitled to complain of, or to inquire into, the manner in which the other Contracting Party has dealt, or proposes to deal, with him.

It is very probable that, at the date of the Treaty, both Her Majesty's Government and that of the United States contemplated the surrender of the accused party, with a view to his subsequent trial for the offence with which he was charged, and with no other view; but the Treaty is silent upon the subject; and, though doubtless the view that such a condition should be attached to extradition was so strongly entertained in Great Britain that the Act of 1870 was passed, which expressly provides for giving effect to it, I am unable to say that there is, in my opinion, any sufficient ground for contending that the parties to the Treaty must be considered as bound to act upon a presumed understanding that no person extradited under the Treaty should be tried for any other offence than that in respect of which he was surrendered.

As far as I can gather from the papers before us, it is not suggested that there is any evidence of the existence of such an understanding at the time when the Treaty was signed; nor does it appear to me that any argument in favour of the view that such an understanding did exist can be deduced from the way in which the cases which have arisen under the Treaty have been dealt with.

After as careful an examination as I have been enabled to make into the reported cases, I am unable to find any instance in which the right of the party, to whom a prisoner has been surrendered under the Treaty, to try such offender for another offence has been objected to by the other Contracting Party. The question was certainly raised in the case of Burley, to the extent that it was submitted for the consideration of the Law Officers in 1865; they then in substance advised that an extradited prisoner might be tried for another offence, if he were first tried for the offence in respect of which he was surrendered, but that he ought not to be tried for the offence with which he was newly charged unless he had previously been put upon his trial for the other offence.

With every respect for the opinion so expressed, I am unable to concur in it; nor can I comprehend any sound principle upon which it can be maintained, in the absence of any stipulation to such effect in the Treaty. Nor does it appear to me that the case has any value as a precedent, for Her Majesty's Government, acting upon the opinion of the Law Officers, made no protest against the course pursued by the United States, and the Government of that country were not concerned to inquire into the soundness of the reasons which induced Her Majesty's Government to acquiesce in such a course.

The other cases referred to in the memorandum of the Attorney for the Southern District of New York support the view which appears to me the sound one to take of the true construction of the Treaty, viz., that when the prisoner has been legally surrendered under it, he becomes amenable to the laws of the country to which he has been surrendered.

If I am correct in the views I have expressed, it would appear that the following answers should be given to the questions contained in Mr. Lister's letter:—

1 and 2. That, in view of the fact that Lawrence was given up unconditionally, Her Majesty's Government have not any right of protesting against his trial upon a charge other than the extradition crime, whether he is first bonâ fide tried for that crime or not.

3. That it would form no ground for Her Majesty's Government protesting, if the offence for which the United States' Government proposed to try Lawrence was not a crime mentioned in the Treaty of 1842.

4. That the terms of the Treaty of 1842 debar Her Majesty's Government from refusing the extradition of a fugitive criminal without such an "arrangement," that he shall not be tried for another offence than the extradition crime, as is contemplated by the 3rd clause of the Act of 1870.

With respect to the postscript to Mr. Lister's letter, to the effect that Lawrence through his counsel had waived his right (if he had any) to be first tried on the extradition charge, I may state that, though, in my opinion, any right which Her Majesty's Government might possess of protesting against the course proposed to be adopted by that of the United States could not be affected by the act of the prisoner or his counsel, it appears to me that the fact of the proposal to try in the first instance upon the new charge having been made with the consent, if not at the request, of the prisoner, would afford a very sufficient reason for Her Majesty's Government not making or insisting upon a protest which they were otherwise entitled to make.

I have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.

---

No. 147.

The Solicitor-General to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 26.)

Temple, October 25, 1875.

My Lord,

IN conjunction with the Attorney-General and Dr. Deane, I was honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th September ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' letter of the 17th September ultimo, relative to the case of Lawrence's extradition, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, received on the 19th September from Sir E. Thornton, forwarding a copy of the argument presented by the District Attorney of the State of New York in support of the right of the United States' Government to try Lawrence for crimes other than those for which he was given up.

That Mr. Lister was at the same time to inclose a memorandum on the subject, which had been prepared in the Foreign Office, and that he was to call our attention to the accompanying Report by the Law Officers of the 25th February, 1865, on the case of Burley, who was surrendered to the United States on a charge of robbery, in which they gave it as their opinion that if Burley was "bona fide put on his trial for the offence in respect of which he was given up, it seemed difficult to question the right of the United States' Government to put him upon his trial also for piracy, or any other offence which he might be accused of having committed within their territory, whether or not such offence was a ground of extradition, or even within the Treaty.

That your Lordship would wish that before any instruction was sent to Sir E. Thornton we should take the case again into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion upon the following points, as well as upon any others which we might think required notice:—

1. Have Her Majesty's Government the right, in view of the fact that Lawrence was given up unconditionally, of protesting against his trial upon a charge other than the extradition crime, if he is first bonâ fide tried for that crime?

2. Have they such a right if he is tried upon the other charge without being first tried for the extradition crime?

3. If the offence for which the United States' Government proposed to try him was not a crime mentioned in the Treaty of 1842, would that be a ground for protesting, if their right in other respects was admitted?

4. Do the terms of the Treaty of 1842 debar Her Majesty's Government from refusing the extradition of a fugitive criminal without such an "arrangement," that he shall not be tried for another offence than the extradition crime, as is contemplated by the 3rd clause of the Act of 1870?

That the former papers were annexed for convenience of reference.

That he (Mr. Lister) inclosed a further despatch from Sir E. Thornton, reporting the proceedings in the case, from which it appeared that the prisoner's counsel had waived their right to have him first tried on the extradition charge?

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have taken these papers into consideration. I am unable altogether to concur in the opinion at which the Attorney-General and Mr. Deane have arrived, and I have the honour to report that the opinion I have formed is as follows:—

The main question which arises is not whether the alleged criminal can claim the right to be tried only on the charge upon which his extradition was obtained, but whether the Government of this country can interfere and demand that the right of asylum she extends to strangers shall be respected.

The point at issue must, I admit, be decided by ascertaining the meaning of the Treaty of 1842 between Great Britain and the United States.

That Treaty provides in effect that person accused of certain specified offences shall be debarred from claiming asylum, and shall be given up to be dealt with by the Courts of the country in which they are alleged to have committed the crimes imputed to them.

The Treaty is silent with regard to the trial of the person whose extradition is obtained in the country demanding him.

Although, however, no provision for the trial of the accused is expressly made, still I think the spirit of the Treaty demands that there shall be implied a condition not merely that the accused shall be tried for the offence for which his extradition has been obtained, but for that offence only.

What object had the High Contracting Powers in view when the Treaty was entered into?

Surely they merely intended to provide that in certain specified cases the right of asylum might be interfered with.

If this is so, it follows that if the crime for which the person sent into extradition from this country is delivered up is not established, the right to afford him asylum revives. Were it otherwise, a man might be given up on a charge of having committed some crime included in the Treaty, and be tried for a political offence.

If, then, the true construction of the Treaty is such as I have suggested, there is nothing in the Extradition Act of 1870 inconsistent with its provisions, but the Statute merely expresses in words that which is to be implied from the language of the Treaty.

It is, however, contended by the Attorney for the Southern District of New York, in his memorandum of the 28th May, 1875, that the Government of this country is bound to put a different construction upon the Treaty than the one suggested, in consequence of the precedents referred to by him, of the declaration as to the law by the Law Officers when consulted in Burley's case, and of the statements by Lord Hammond in his evidence given before the Committee of the House of Commons in 1867 and 1868.

With regard to the precedents it appears that a few cases have occurred in which persons delivered up for extradition crimes alleged against them were tried for other offences, but in none of these, except Burley's case, does the attention of the Government of the country from which the extradition took place seem to have been directed to the matter; and in Burley's case I do not gather that there was any official recognition at the time by the Government of England that the trial was justifiable. Such precedents, therefore, as have been cited should not, I think, conclude so grave a question as the present.

As to the opinions expressed by the Law Officers and Lord Hammond, I fail to see how this country can be bound by them. The opinions are, no doubt, those of eminent men who occupied official position, but who were not authorized to make admissions with regard to the state of the law.

1875

Having made the above observations, I would, with regard to the specific questions contained in Mr. Lister's letter, answer the first, second, and fourth in the affirmative, and the third in the negative.

I have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.

---

No. 148.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 26.)

Temple, October 25, 1875.

My Lord,

IN conjunction with the Attorney- and Solicitor-General, I was honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 28th ultimo, stating that, with reference to the Law Officers' letter of the 17th ultimo, relative to the case of Lawrence's extradition, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit a despatch received on the 12th ultimo from Sir E. Thornton, forwarding a copy of the argument presented by the District Attorney of the State of New York, in support of the right of the United States' Government to try Lawrence for crimes other than those for which he was given up.

That Mr. Lister was at the same time to inclose a memorandum on the subject, which had been prepared in the Foreign Office, and that he was to call attention to the accompanying Report by the Law Officers of the 25th February, 1865, in the case of Burley, who was surrendered to the United States on a charge of robbery, in which they gave as their opinion that if Burley was "bonâ fide put on his trial for the offence in respect of which he was given up, it seems difficult to question the right of the United States' Government to put him upon his trial also for piracy, or any other offence which he may be accused of having committed within their territory, whether or not such offence was a ground of extradition, or even within the Treaty.

That your Lordship would wish that before any instruction was sent to Sir E. Thornton we would take the case again into our consideration, and report to your Lordship our opinion upon the following points, as well as upon any others which we might think require notice:—

1. Have Her Majesty's Government the right, in view of the fact that Lawrence was given up unconditionally, of protesting against his trial upon a charge other than the extradition crime, if he is first bonâ fide tried for that crime?

2. Have they such a right if he is tried upon the other charge without being first tried for the extradition crime?

3. If the offence for which the United States' Government proposed to try him was not a crime mentioned in the Treaty of 1842, would that be a ground for protesting, if their right in other respects was admitted?

4. Do the terms of the Treaty of 1842 debar Her Majesty's Government from refusing the extradition of a fugitive criminal without such an "arrangement," that he shall not be tried for another offence than the extradition crime, as is contemplated by the 3rd clause of the Act of 1870?

That the former papers were annexed for convenience of reference.

That Mr. Lister also inclosed a further despatch from Sir E. Thornton, reporting the proceedings in the case, from which it appeared that the prisoner's counsel had waived their rights to have him first tried on the extradition charge.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have taken these papers into consideration; but differing, as I have the misfortune to do, from the opinions of the Attorney- and Solicitor-General, I have the honour to submit to your Lordship the following Report:—

That, in my opinion, the Xth Article of the Treaty of the 9th August, 1842, between Her Majesty and the United States of America, is the authority to and by which both Governments must refer and be bound in questions of extradition.

The crimes named in that Article are the only crimes, the alleged commission of which on the one hand founds the demand for extradition, and on the other hand justifies extradition.

No expressed stipulation that the person extradited shall be tried in the first instance or only for the particular extradition crime upon which he was surrendered is to be found in this Xth Article, or elsewhere in the Treaty. But the Treaty is a contract uberrimæ fidei, and its provisions should not be so construed as to enable either Government, having obtained the surrender of a person on the charge of a crime named in the Treaty, to at once pass over that charge and proceed to try the surrendered person on a different offence not named in the Treaty.

The former Report was drawn and signed by me, under the impression that the United States' Government intended to try Lawrence at once for smuggling, and not to try him at all for the forgery on account of which he was surrendered. And although that Report was, perhaps, too strongly worded, I still in substance adhere to the opinion which was then submitted to your Lordship upon the facts as I took them to be.

It appears, however, that in the first instance, and immediately upon the arrival of Lawrence in the United States, Lawrence, but for the act of his counsel, would have been put upon his trial for the crime upon which he was surrendered; and, although the rights of Her Majesty's Government are not affected by the act of Lawrence's counsel, yet the fact totally changes the case as regards the course which it seems the United States' Government is now likely to take; and with the former papers now before me, I am of opinion that no instructions founded upon the former Report can properly be sent to Sir E. Thornton.

In answer to the specific questions put in Mr. Lister's letter, I am of opinion:—

1st. That bearing in view that Lawrence was given up unconditionally, Her Majesty's Government has not a right to protest against his trial upon a charge other than the extradition crime, if he is first bonâ fide tried for that crime.

2nd. That Her Majesty's Government has a right to protest if Lawrence is tried upon another charge without being first bonâ fide tried for the extradition crime.

3rd. That the offence for which the United States' Government propose to try Lawrence was not a crime mentioned in the Treaty of 1842, would not be a ground for protesting.

4th. The rights of the Unittd States' Government under the Treaty cannot be limited by the Act of 1870.

In answering the second of the questions in Mr. Lister's letter, I have borne in mind the very small distinction which may practically be found between trying an extradited person before or after his trial for the extradition offence; but the point was taken in the Report of the Law Officers in February 1865, and in Lord Hammond's evidence, referred to by the United States' Attorney for the Southern District of New York.

The stipulation of the prisoner Lawrence's counsel, referred to by Sir E. Thornton in his despatch No. 260 of the 14th September, 1875, in no way, as I have said before, affects the rights of Her Majesty's Government, but is an answer to any further application on behalf of Lawrence.

Upon the whole of these papers, as they are now before me, I humbly suggest for your Lordship's consideration that Sir E. Thornton may properly be instructed to urge upon the United States' Government that Lawrence, nowithstanding his counsel's stipulation, should be first tried upon the forgery, since that course will clearly bring the case within the provisions of the Treaty and dispose of all possible doubts or difficulties.

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

1875

Venezuela.

---

No. 149.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received January 27.)

Lincoln's Inn, January 26, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 2nd instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship's to transmit to us therewith a letter, with its inclosures, from the Colonial Office, forwarding for your Lordship's consideration a despatch from the Officer administering the Government of Trinidad, inclosing a correspondence which had taken place with the Consul-General for Venezuela in that island relative to the demand made by that gentlemen for the detention of a British vessel called the "Indiana," which was preparing to sail to Venezuela, on account of the alleged complicity of certain passengers on board in a conspiracy said to have for its object a descent upon the coast of Venezuela; and that he was to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the line of conduct pursued by the Administrator on the occasion in question.

That he (Mr. Bourke) was at the same time to transmit to us a further letter from the Colonial Office (January 2, 1875) on the subject, which had just been received at the Foreign Office.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the several facts stated in the correspondence and protests of the Venezuelan Consul show that Trinidad is the resort of and is used by persons disaffected to the Government of Venezula, and we are therefore of opinion that the Officer administering the Government of Trinidad may properly be instructed to exercise the greatest vigilance for preventing any breach of neutrality.

In the particular case of the "Indiana," the Officer administering the Government of Trinidad had to consider whether, first, he had reasonable and probable cause for believing any infringement of the Foreign Enlistment Act of 1870 was intended, and secondly, whether, if the ship had been detained, a conviction could have been obtained.

Considering the information which was obtained and given by the police as to the destination and cargo of the "Indiana," and also bearing in mind the statements made, no doubt with perfect good faith, by the Consul-General, we are unable to say that the Officer administering the Government of Trinidad, and who acted under the advice of the Attorney-General, erred in refusing to detain the "Indiana;" and we are of opinion that the line of conduct pursued by the Administrator in regard to the vessel may properly be approved.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 150.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 21.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 20, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 20th March ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying despatch, with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Minister Resident at Carácas,* respecting the circumstances connected with the detention of the British steamer "Alps" at Puerto Cabello, in consequence of that port being closed against all vessels leaving it; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we may have to offer thereupon.

Lord Tenterden was to add that your Lordship intends to approve the course pursued by Mr. Middleton in the matter.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the circumstances under which the "Alps" was chartered for the conveyance of troops to the coast of Coro should be inquired into, before any further representation is made to the Government of Venezuela on the subject of her detention, as it appears to us by no means improbable that any possible claim which Mr. Drakeford may have had for the detention of his ship was put an end to by the contract entered into by him with the Government authorities.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Middleton, No. 11, February 5, 1875.

---

No. 151.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received April 29.)

Lincoln's Inn, April 28, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 21st instant, stating that, with reference to our Report of the 17th December last, in regard to the case of the vessel "Rosalina," he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a further despatch (No. 24), with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Minister Resident in Venezula in regard to that case.

That your Lordship proposed to instruct Mr. Middleton to confine himself to promoting an amicable settlement of the matter between the owner of the vessel and the Venezuelan Government, and, should that fail, to press for an immediate trial before the proper Tribunals.

That he (Lord Tenterden) was therefore to request that we would take the papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with any observations we might have to offer thereupon, and with our opinion as to whether we concur in the instruction which your Lordship proposed to address to Mr. Middleton.

That the previous correspondence on the subject was therewith returned to us for convenience of reference.*

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the proposed instructions may, in our opinion, properly be sent to Mr. Middleton.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 152.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received May 13.)

Lincoln's Inn, May 11, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Lister's letter of the 24th April ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us therewith the papers noted in the margin,† relative to an Article in the Financial

---

* Vice-Consul Mathison, No. 8; Mr. Middleton, No. 75; ditto, No. 87; Law Officers, December 17, 1874; to Mr. Middleton, No. 51; Mr. Middleton, No. 14, 1875.

† Mr. Middleton, No. 17, Commercial, 1874; Board of Trade, January 25; to Mr. Middleton, No. 1, Commercial; Mr. Middleton, No. 5, Commercial; ditto, No. 8, Commercial; Memorandum, April 17, 1875.

1875

Code of Venezuela, whereby it was required that the papers of ships arriving in the ports of the Republic should be deposited with the Customs authorities instead of with the Consul of the nation to which the ship belonged; and that he was to request that we would take the same into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to whether the regulation in question was contrary to the existing Treaty stipulations between Great Britain and Venezuela as set forth in the Treaties of the 18th April, 1825, and the 29th October, 1834 (Hertslet's Treaties, vol. iii, p. 56, and vol. iv, p. 534).

We are also honoured with a further note from Mr. Lister of the 30th April ultimo, stating that, with reference to the letter from the Foreign Office of the 24th April ultimo, he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us, for our consideration together with the papers then before us, a further despatch, with its inclosures, from Her Majesty's Minister at Carácas,* relative to the Venezuelan Law requiring ships' papers to be deposited at the custom-houses of the Republic.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That, in our opinion, the regulation in the Financial Code of Venezuela requiring that the papers of ships arriving in the ports of that Republic should be deposited with the Customs authorities, instead of with the Consul of the nation to which the ship belongs, is not contrary, in reference to British ships, to the existing Treaty stipulations between Great Britain and Venezuela.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 153.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received December 3.)

Temple, December 3, 1875.

My Lord,

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 10th ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to state to us that serious differences had lately arisen between the Government of the Netherlands and that of Venezuela, and that a report having reached the Government of the Netherlands that in the event of hostilities it was the intention of the Venezuelan Government to issue letters of marque, the Netherlands Chargé d'Affaires at this Court had received instructions to inquire what view Her Majesty's Government would take of such a proceeding.

That, as we were of course aware, the Powers represented at the Conference of Paris, 1856, signed a Declaration on the 16th April of that year abolishing privateering, with the proviso, however, that the Declaration should not be binding except between those Powers who had acceded or should accede to it.

That the Declaration was subsequently acceded to by other Powers, the Netherlands among the number. Venezuela, however, declined to accede to the Declaration, on the ground that, having no national navy, privateering would be her only resource in extreme cases against a superior enemy.

That copies were sent therewith of the Declaration of Paris, of the note from the Netherlands Minister for Foreign Affairs notifying the accession thereto of his Government, and of a despatch from Her Majesty's Minister at Carácas, inclosing a note from the Venezuelan Minister for Foreign Affairs announcing the refusal of the Venezuelan Government to accede to the Declaration; and that Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take those papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion as to the course that should be pursued by Her Majesty's Government with regard to Venezuelan privateers, in the event of war between the Netherlands and Venezuela, and the Venezuelan Government carrying out its reported intention to issue letters of marque.

That the only case at all similar to the present that had arisen since the date of the Declaration of Paris was that of the war in 1865, between Spain and Chile, in which Peru afterwards took part as an ally of Chile, and that even that case was not exactly parallel.

Chile and Peru had acceded to the Declaration of Paris, but Spain had refused to do so, and the Chilean Government maintained that they were only bound by the Declaration towards other acceding Powers. Spain not being one of the acceding Powers, the Chilean Government held themselves free to issue letters of marque in a war waged against her, and announced their intention of so doing.

That the Spanish Government thereupon issued a Circular to the Commanders of Spanish ships of war, laying down certain conditions under which Chilean privateers were to be treated as pirates; but they did not deny the right of the Chilean Government to issue letters of marque under proper conditions; and that we should see from the inclosed copy of a letter from the Earl of Clarendon to the Lords of the Admiralty and to other Departments, that Her Majesty's Government, in laying down rules for maintaining the neutrality of British waters during that war, made no distinction between ships of war and privateers.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Declaration of the Congress at Paris, 16th April, 1856, provides that such Declaration is not and shall not be binding, except between those Powers who have acceded or shall accede to it.

Venezuela has expressly declined to accede to the Declaration.

We are therefore of opinion that it is not binding upon and between the Governments of the Netherlands and Venezuela, and Her Majesty's Government may properly, in the event of a war between the Netherlands and Venezuela, adopt the course towards ships of war and privateers of both countries which was adopted in 1866, in reference to the ships of war and privateers of Spain and Chile and Peru.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
HARDINGE S. GIFFARD.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Mr. Middleton, No. 10, Commercial.

Zanzibar.

No. 154.

Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received February 4.)

Temple, February 2, 1875.

My Lord,

I AM honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 1st instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to me despatches from the Acting British Consul-General at Zanzibar respecting the bankruptcy of Captain Frazer.

That in a previous case of a similar nature the papers were referred to the Board of Trade, and a notice, of which a copy was inclosed, was inserted by that Department in the "London Gazette." In the present case, however, the Board of Trade said that they considered that the matter should be dealt with by the Foreign Office.

That, under those circumstances, Mr. Bourke was to request that I would take the accompanying papers into my consideration, and favour your Lordship with my opinion as to whether the notice relating to Captain Frazer's bankruptcy, inclosed in Captain Prideaux's despatch of the 11th December last, might properly be published in the "Gazette."

In obedience to your Lordship's commands I have the honour to report—

That, in my opinion, the notice relating to Captain Frazer's bankruptcy, inclosed in Captain Prideaux's despatch of the 11th December last, may properly be published in the "Gazette."

I have, &c.
(Signed) J. PARKER DEANE.

1875

No. 155.

The Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received September 16.)

My Lord, Temple, September 16, 1875.

WE, the Solicitor-General and Dr. Deane, in the absence of the Attorney-General, who is at present on the Continent, are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Lord Tenterden's letter of the 20th August ultimo, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us a despatch, and inclosures, from the Acting Consul-General at Zanzibar,* raising several points in connection with the question of the liability of British Indian subjects to trial on charges of slave-holding in cases where their Arab or native wives may possess slaves; and Lord Tenterden was to request that we would take these papers into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion on the points raised by Major Smith.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have taken these papers into consideration and have the honour to report—

That we are unable, from the facts stated by the Acting Consul-General at Zanzibar, to form any opinion either upon the two cases which have actually happened or upon those which he suggests may occur.

As a general rule, a foreign woman marrying a British subject becomes herself a British subject, and her personal property becomes the property of her husband; but this general rule is subject to a variety of exceptions depending upon the law of the country in which the marriage may take place, the rights of the woman over the property, whether it be settled to her separate use, and numerous other circumstances.

So in the case of mortgage, the ownership if the mortgagee is but qualified in this country, and the nature and effect of a mortgage in Zanzibar we are ignorant of.

We therefore respectfully submit, for your Lordship's consideration, that the proper course in the cases referred to will be for the Consul to send over the charges, the sections of the Penal Code of India or other law, whether of Zanzibar or India, under which the offence is supposed to have been committed, the evidence in support of the charges, and the grounds and evidence in support of the defence in each case, before he delivers his judgment.

By this means a knowledge of the particulars of each case may be ascertained, and the chance of mischief from a judgment contrary to the law or to the institutions of Zanzibar be lessened.

We have, &c.
(Signed) JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

No. 156.

The Law Officers of the Crown and Dr. Deane to the Earl of Derby.—(Received October 21.)

My Lord, Lincoln's Inn, October 20, 1875.

WE are honoured with your Lordship's commands signified in Mr. Bourke's letter of the 7th instant, stating that he was directed by your Lordship to transmit to us the accompanying draft of an Order in Council which had been drawn up by the Legal Adviser to the Treasury in Slave Trade matters, for the purpose of giving effect to the Supplementary Treaty which was entered into with the Sultan of Zanzibar on the 14th July last; and that he (Mr. Bourke) was to request that we would take the draft into our consideration, and favour your Lordship with our opinion whether it is right and proper to be passed.

In obedience to your Lordship's commands we have the honour to report—

That the Order in Council, of which the draft is inclosed with Mr. Bourke's letter, may be, in our opinion, rightly and properly passed.

We have, &c.
(Signed) RICHARD BAGGALLAY.
JOHN HOLKER.
J. PARKER DEANE.

---

* Major Smith, No. 91, June 28, 1875.

×

PROPRIETARY STATEMENT

This film cannot be reproduced in whole or in any substantial part by use of film or microfiche either commercially or for gift without the consent of the publisher, Trans-Media Publishing Company of Dobbs Ferry, New York. Users are free to make reproductions of the decisions for reference use.

Copies of this film may be purchased from Trans-Media Publishing Co.

Trans-Media Publishing Co.
Dobbs Ferry, New York 10522

END